SMILEY . . .

Those attending the Goodridge parish Brotherhood meeting on Tuesday evening, April 1st at the parsonage in Goodridge were Rufus Olson, Adam Lendobeja, Lawrence Philipp, Arnold Hammer, Bert Johnson and B. B. Hammer. The men of the Rosendahl church acted as hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson returned Thursday from a two week's visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Froseth in Janesville, Wis. *On their return trip, they visit*ed relatives in Minneapolis and were coffee guests at the Jerry Claffy home in Breckenridge. They also stopped to visit their other daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sorvig in St. Hilaire before returning home.

Plan for 4-H Play

Tentatively set for the week of April 13th, the 4-H play and music contest will be held throughout the county. Smiley's entrant in the play contest is entitled: "A Girl From Brazil." The characters include: Enid, a modern girl by Sharon Knutson, Callie, her younger sister by Caroline Torkelson, Mrs. Holmes, their worried mother by Sharon Rude, Aunt Nollie, a musical aunt by Faye Torkelson, Dorothy Benson, a guest portrayed by Sharon Nelson, Dot, a beautician by Marlys Mostrom, Conchita, the girl from Brazil by Nelda Lee Nelson.

Mrs. Adam Lendobeja is coaching the play, assisted by Mrs. Anton Torkelson and Mrs. Norton Nelson.

The musical numbers to be presented in conjunction with the play contest will be, "The 4-H Pledge Song" and "The Children's Marching Song." Taking part in this are: Donna and Dianne Helgeland, LaDawn Rude, Pamela Torkelson, Holly Knutson and Joan Kramer. They will be accompanied by Faye Torkelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tuomala [illegible] are the parents of a 9-lb. 1-oz. baby girl born a Mr. 15th. She has been named Laura Louise. Mrs. Tuomala is the former LaVonne Diehl and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Diehl, former residents of Smiley. Congratulations to the happy family.

Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja were shoppers in Grand Forks, N. Dak.

Saturday afternoon, April 4th funeral services were held at the Assemblies of God Tabernacle in Thief River Falls for Carl E. Olson. Mr. Olson passed away last Tuesday after having just returned Sunday for Salt Lake City, Utah, where he and Mrs. Olson had spent the winter. Our sincere sympathy to the Olson family from their many friends in Smiley.

The play cast of the Smiley 4-H Club were lunch guests after school Friday at the Adam Lendobeja home, prior to rehearsing their play at the Smiley hall.

Mrs. John Altin of Minneapolis, Minn. and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sorvig and boys of St. Hilaire were weekend guests at the Norman Johnson home.

The friends and relations from out of town who attended the Carl Olson funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Virzi and family of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Tom Peterson of New York City, Mrs. Dora Ringstrand, Mrs. John Altin, Emmett Botten, Mr. and Mrs. Don Evenson, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hanson all of Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Del Smith and family of Crookston, Minn. and Theodore Torgerson of Park River, N. Dak.

Suspension TRF to Dulu Trains Gets OK

ICC in Washington Approves Soo Line Request Thursday

The Interstate Commerce commission in Washington Thursday authorized discontinuance of six daily passenger trains operating in four north-central states.

Two of the trains to be suspended are the passenger trains operating daily except Sunday between Thief River Falls and Duluth-Superior, No. 64 eastbound and 65, west-bound. While the ICC has authorized to ending of service on April 29, E. A. Hamerski, superintendent of the Winnipeg division here, stated Friday that the trains will be continued for about a month to permit time for completing other arrangements for handling the mail.

The Thief River Falls-Duluth trains have been operating for a half-century, and in the pre-automobile days enjoyed good business, but at hearings conducted by the ICC last fall testimony was introduced showing recent losses in excess of $100,000.

Suspension of service had been opposed by many of the 36 communities served by the trains, as well as by the railroad brotherhoods.

At the same time the ICC authorized suspension of service by Northern Pacific trains operating between Staple, Minn., and Oakes, N. D., and between Mandan, N. D., and Glendive, Mont.

Also suspended Saturday, April 18, were Great Northern trains 35 and 36, operating between Superior, Wisc., and Grand Forks, N. D.

Senator R. Wiseth Voices Opposition to Elm Lake Refuge

Speaks at Meeting of Anti-wetlands Assn. Held at Grygla Apr. 11

Opposition to the proposed Elm Lake game refuge and public hunting grounds was brought into the open Saturday, April 11, at the first annual meeting of the Anti-Wetlands Improvement association held at the MarBel hall in Grygla, says the Warren Sheaf.

Sen Roy Wiseth of Goodridge delivered the main address at the meeting, which was attended by more than 90 members.

Gunsten Skomedal of rural Thief River Falls was reelected to the board of directors and Neil Morrissey of Gatzke was elected to the board to replace Delmar Hagen who declined renomination and announced his retirement from membership in the association.

Ole Prestebak of Goodridge is president of the group with other members including Oliver Howland of Grygla, Clarence Lian of Middle River, and Art Norby of Grygla.

Senator Wiseth opened his address by stating he was surprised to notice that group of farmers (Thief River Watershed Development association) had expressed favor of such a project as the Elm Lake Refuge. He expressed the view that the tax forfeited land proposed for the refuge should be left in its present condition until purchased for agricultural use.

The senator also mentioned pending legislation which is aimed at bonding the state for several million dollars to speed the wetlands acquisition program. He voiced opposition to the program in this area of the state.

Senator Wiseth also stated that eastern Marshall county farmers own an equity in the ditch systems which lie within the Mud Lake game refuge and in the conservation area.

Other speakers at the session were Herb Dill, manager of the Mud Lake refuge; Vern Gunvalson of Bemidji, regional game manager for the state department of conservation; and Gunsten Skomedal, member of the anti-wetlands board.

The annual Fly-Up was well attended by parents of the girls and other visitors. Five troops advanced to the intermediate program in the ceremonies.

Telephone Company to Set up Microwave Relay Station Here

A microwave relay station, one of six between Baudette and Grand Forks, will be erected at Thief River Falls this summer as a spur of the northern transcontinental radio relay route which stretches 1,400 miles across the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Washington, it was announced today by G. A. Hale, manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company office in Thief River Falls.

The relay system will provide facilities for additional long distance service and military communication.

A 200-foot tower will be set up here at an undisclosed location. Towers in the system are located not more than 25 miles apart and range in height from 140 to 280 feet. Buildings located at the base of each tower will house amplifying equipment for boosting the signal carried from point to point.

In the radio relay method of transmission, super high frequency radio waves, called "microwaves," are beamed from tower to tower along the route. A new and interesting feature of this system is the placement of the antennas at ground level with large reflectors at the top of the tower to reflect the radio signals down to one antenna, through the amplifier and then back to another reflector at the top of the tower where the signal is then beamed to the next tower in the system. Reliable service is assure by sending two simultaneous messages. The best signal is then selected at the receiving end.

The new radio relay system will provide a "storm-proof" route for civilian and defense needs and is a part of a nation-wide Bell system plan to install trouble-free circuits on important routes throughout the country. It connects at Baudette with a similar system running to Virginia through International Falls.

A unique type of building, constructed of steel, will be used at the Thief River Falls station. A ready-made structure about the size of a large semi-trailer, each unit is brought to the tower location on a flat-bed truck.

8 Lincoln Students to Attend Duluth Parley April 22-23

Six seniors and two juniors from Lincoln high school will attend the annual Minnesota Diversified Vocational Clubs state convention to be held in Duluth April 22 and 23. Students will stay at Hotel Duluth, which is the convention headquarters.

They will have the opportunity to participate in a number of competitive events such as applying for a job, judging of display windows, advertising layout, sales presentation, speech, show-card writing and many others. In addition to this, there will be a combined luncheon and business meeting, a banquet and a dance for the participants.

A number of interesting tours have also been arranged for students who are interested. Duluth-area firms which are cooperating by conducting the guided tours are Diamond Match Co., Wood Conversion Co., the iron ore docks, Northern City Bank, First American National Bank, St. Luke's Hospital, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., Inter-Lake Iron Corp., and the U.S. Air Force Base.

The high school Distributive Education Club has elected Elaine Newton, Bill Haugen and Janet Morben to attend as voting delegates. Other local students attending are Marlien Larson, Geraldine Nelson and Sharon Wendel, seniors. Two juniors, Donald Hill and Ralph Jorstad, will also attend. Clifford Wiklund, club advisor will chaperone the group.

Knox PTA to View Tumblers Tonight

A demonstration of tumbling will be given by the fifth and sixth-rade girls at the meeting of the Knox school PTA this evening, Monday, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The girls, under the direction of Quentin Jones and Lew Johnson, will make pyramids and do stunt rhythms.

Musical numbers will be presented by the American Legion auxiliary chorus and coffee will be served by the kindergarten mothers.

Community Chest to Name Officers Wednesday Night

Officers of the Pennington County Community Chest will be elected at the annual meeting of the group Wednesday evening, April 22, according to Orin Green, president. The meeting, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will be held in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Clock Covering Stage Arrives in Legislature

Additional Time Following Tuesday Deadline Is Needed

With the 90th and concluding day of the 1959 session of the state legislature falling on Tuesday, it is apparent that it will be necessary to "cover the clock" and extend the session for several days if major legislation is to be enacted.

Altho junior college backers haven't yet abandoned all hope, their chances of getting state money to build new two-year colleges seemed about nil.

While the house appropriations committee has recommended five million dollars for junior college construction aid, the senate education committee — where a six-million-dollar bill first was trimmed to two million dollars— held what presumably was its last meeting Friday without taking action on the amended measure.

This would leave a house-senate conference committee nothing to compromise about.

The house appropriations committee Sunday voted, 14 to 13, to bar for two years any spending by the University of Minnesota to expand on the west side of the Mississippi river.

The committee action is certain to provoke a full-scale debate in the house on the issue.

The vote was taken after an hour-long debate during which opponents of the expansion charged university leaders with bad faith in their dealings with the legislature.

Young Bicyclist Injured When Hit by Car on Sunday

A local youth was hospitalized late Sunday afternoon after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle.

James Taggart, 11, was riding his bike north on Pennington av. when a car driven in the same direction by Ralph R. Hill, city, struck the boy's bike in the rear wheel about 5:40 Sunday.

James was taken to Northwestern Hospital where he was said to be in good condition today. Information regarding the extent of his injuries was not available.

CHIMNEY BLAZE BRINGS OUT FIREMEN FRIDAY

A chimney fire at the Ted Aubol home, 609 E. Eighth st., brought out the fire department Friday morning at 8:10, no damage resulting from the blaze.

Steiner Club Winner in Play, Music Contest

4-H Club Gives Top Musical Number and Play in County Event

The Steiner 4-H club walked off with most of the honors at the final county Play and Music contest in the Knox school auditorium Friday night.

The club was the winner in the musical division with the presentation by Lorna and Karen Moe accompanied by Stanley Torgerson on the piano. The girls, dressed in bright Hawaiian costumes, sang the "Friendship Song" and Hawaiian Wedding Song." Second place in the musical competition went to the Deer Park club girls' sextet.

In the play competition, the Steiner club presented, "Keeping It in the Family," a comedy revolving around the teen-age problems of Vickie Summers, played by Ellen Jorde. Others in the cast were Pat Vatsaas, Shirley Fuller, Bruce Russell, Richard Jorde, Larry Anderson, Kathryn Solem and Robert Rausch. Coaches of the winning play were Mrs. Theodore Hornseth and Mrs. Clifford T. Jorde.

Best actress of the final contest was Ellen Jorde of the Steiner club and best actor was Andy Welsch of the Sanders club which presented the play, "Love Hits Wilbur."

Winners of this contest are now eligible to take part in the sub-district contest which will be in Red Lake Falls May 13. Winners of that contest will enter the district contest in Crookston the first week in June.

Mistress of ceremonies for the final county contest was Roberta LeBourveau, Pennington county home agent. Judges of the contest were E. N. Reiergaard, registrar of the Northwest school at Crookston; Miss Marian [illegible] head of the Northwest school home economics department, and Marlin Johnson, assistant county agent of West Polk county.

Henry Carlson left Thursday for Milwaukee, Wis. to spend several days visiting at the home of his brother Howard Carlson.

Speaker Cites Danger of Losing Air Service

State Aeronautics Chief Says Traffic Is Less Than Needed

A depressing picture in regard to the continuance of North Central airline service to Thief River Falls was painted by Dale McIver, state commissioner of aeronautics, at a dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the Elks clubrooms Thursday evening.

McIver said the standard of 1800 boardings per year has been set by the old Civil Aeronautics board (now integrated into the Federal Aviation agency) as a measurement of cities' ability to support airline service, and that several midwest cities already lost their service due to not making the 1800 boardings per year.

He quoted several arguments used by these cities in their attempts to keep their service, all of which were to no avail in previous hearings. His advice to Thief River Falls was to get boardings here to the 1800 minimum, or higher, as a means of continuing service to the city.

Under questioning following his address McIver admitted the arbitrary 1800 boardings-per-year might not be a fair criterion but nevertheless it is the criterion the FAA uses and that midwest cities are stuck with it.

In other matters pertaining to the airport here, McIver said the field is regarded by his department as the hub of air activities in northwestern Minnesota and, as such, is one of the most important in the entire state despite existence of airport facilities in nearby cities.

He praised the city for establishment of the A & E school here, pointing out that a listing of all such schools in the U.S. takes only four widely-spaced typewritten pages. The school here is expected to serve Minnesota, the Dakotas and part of Montana, he stated.

McIver said one of the first questions asked by an industry considering moving into a city,

MUSICIANS Winners of the musical competition in the Pennington county final 4-H Play and Music contest Friday were Karen and Lorna Moe, who were accompanied on the piano by Stanley Torgerson. The girls sang the "Friendship Song" and the "Hawaiian Wedding Song," dressed in colorful native costumes.

To Receive Garments for Needy Overseas Saturday to Tuesday

Used clothing for distribution to needy persons overseas will be received at the north door of the city Auditorium in Thief River Falls Saturday, April 25; Monday, April 27; and up to 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 28.

The drive is sponsored by the Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief organizations, which plan to send the garments to Korea, Hongkong, the Middle East, Hungary, Austria, Poland and West Germany.

Harold G. Rasmussen, local chairman, stated that good quality ready-to-wear garments are desired.

Items most needed include suits and overcoats, trousers and overalls, dresses and skirts, caps, gloves and mittens, sweaters, robes and mufflers, underwear and stockings, shoes — sturdy pairs tied together (low heels, closed toes), blankets and bedding, layettes and infants wear and cloth remants for sewing.

Items that cannot be used are hats, neckties, open toe or high heel and narrow width ladies shoes or bulky bedding such as pillows, mattresses, comforters and featherbeds.

Donors are asked pack the garments in cartons and to tie them securely, ready for loading. A L. B. Hartz Wholesale truck will pick up the packages late Tuesday, April 28, and will transport them to Grand Forks, from where they will go to a processing center.

Lincoln Seniors to Present Class Play on Tuesday

Lincoln high school seniors will present as their class play Tuesday evening, April 21, the comedy hit, "You Can't Take It With You", by Kaufman and Hart. The play will be presented in the school auditorium by a large cast under the direction of Nita Jean Druik, dramatics coach, assisted by Vivian Spray, student director.

Pennington Co. Took Part in National Civil Defense Test Friday

Duluth was the only community in Minnesota theoretically attacked during "Operation Alert 1959," Friday, April 17, when Pennington county took part in the nation-wide civil defense exercise.

According to Bruce Reski, county civil defense chairman, the control center was opened at noon that day in the city Auditorium, a review of material, an explanation of the problem and what was expected of the county, and a discussion of the community's potential in water and power supply, sanitation and welfare.

According to the state plan, Thief River Falls may serve as a reception center for any area in the state. A 200-bed mobile hospital stored here can be set up in an emergency.

At 12:30 p.m., the control center received a call giving the information that Duluth had, theoretically, been hit and that conditions there made the area unliveable. No radioactive fallout was plotted for this area of the state and Bemidji was designated the reception of 5,000 evacuees from Duluth.

The local organization was contacted to furnish four doctors, 10 nurses and 20 practical nurses for treating the injured. The availability of stored blood and of blood donors was also posed in the problem.

The local control center informed the area command of the theoretical crash of an unidentified multi-engine aircraft in the northwest part of the county and dispatched a rescue squad, police and a radiological team.

Local Jaycees at Moorhead Parley

A group of Thief River Falls Jaycees, headed by Glenn Peterson, president, attended a regional convention in Moorhead Thursday evening, when William Touton of Moorhead was elected to succeed Ed Johnson of Bemidji as regional vice president. Also present at the meeting were three candidates for national director. The group voted to support the bid of Detroit Lakes for the 1960 state convention, to be submitted at this year's convention opening in Duluth April 30.

Soil Testing Event Was Big Success

A highly successful soil testing promotion event was held Friday, April 17, County Agent Paul Steimaschuk announced.

One hundred and eight farmers participated by bringing in 249 soil samples. These represent 7000 acres of land in Pennington county and the surrounding area. Farmers delivered the samples to a trailer that was provided through the courtesy of Borchert Trailer Sales, and was parked near the postoffice to serve as a collecting depot.

Special arrangements have been made between the county extension office and the university Soil Testing Laboratory to get the results of the tests back to the farmers in seven to ten days.

Fertilizer dealers in Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, and Goodridge and the Theif River Falls Chamber of Commerce are paying the costs of the soil testing. The results of the tests will be returned to the county agents and the fertilizer recommendations will be forwarded to the farmers.

66 Brownie Scouts Get Girl Scout Pins Wednesday Night

Fourth Graders Took Part in Annual Fly-up at Washington School

Sixty-six fourth grade Brownie Scouts received their wings and Girl Scout pins Wednesday when the annual Fly-up was held in the Washington school auditorium.

The girls advanced to the intermediate Girl Scout rank in the program which opened with the presentation of colors by members of troop 7 followed by the girls giving the pledge of allegiance and singing "America."

Brownies and their parents were welcomed by Mrs. George Martin. The advancing Brownies then gave the Brownie Promise, the Girl Scout Promise and Laws and sang the "Smile" song.

Leaders awarded the girls their wings, signifying the completion of the Brownie program. Each girl was presented with her Girl Scout pin by Mrs. Bob Thorkelson. Three Intermediate Scouts of troop 18, whose leaders are Mrs. Carl Lee and Mrs. Roland Glass, welcomed the new scouts into the Intermediate program.

Morris Owen, area camp chairman, gave a short talk on the established Girl Scout camp which will be at Camp Wabaunaquat, Ogema, on White Earth lake this summer from Aug. 2 to 15 providing two-week sessions for scouts.

The program closed with the singing of "The Golden Sun" and the retiring of the colors.

Leaders of the five troops advanced in the ceremonies are: Mrs. George Martin and Mrs. Del Seefeldt, troop 7; Mrs. Robert Wurst and Mrs. Bruce Hall, troop 8; Mrs. Jack Edmiston and Mrs. Elmer Mickelson, troop 9; Mrs. R. M. Helm, troop 21, and Mrs. Vernon Scholin, troop 45.

Jeanette Kosmatka Henry Bukowski Wed April 7

Miss Jeanette Kosmatka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Kosmatka of Stephen and Henry B. Bukowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burno Bukowski of Middle River, were united in marriage Tuesday, April 7 in Stephen.

Rev. C. J. Cloutier officiated at the single ring ceremony at St. Joseph Mission church with nuptial music provided by the Oslo choir.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white gown of lace and nylon net featuring long sleeves that came to a point over the wrist and the neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls. Her fingertip veil fall from a coronet trimmed in sequins and pearls and she carried a bouquet of white lilies.

Miss Helen Kosmatka, sister of the bride, of Stephen, was maid of honor with Irene Bukowski, sister of the bridegroom, serving as bridesmaid. Their gowns were styled identically in blue la. and net with matching lace hats. They carried bouquets of white carnations and pink roses.

Attending the bridegroom as bestman was Joey Bukowski, his brother, of Middle River with Donnie Osowski, cousin of the bride, of Oslo, serving as groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kosmatka chose a blue dress with pink accessories as did the bridegroom's mother. Their corsages were of red roses.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served in the church basement with the ladies of the Red River Mission as hostesses. Mrs. Don Rivard and Mrs. Henry Polanski cut the tiered wedding cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Eddie Osoki.

For going away the bride chose a biege two piece dress with matching accessories. Upon their return they will make their home in Middle River.

Women Bowlers To Meet Tonight

The Thief River Falls Women's Bowling association will hold a meeting tonight, Monday, April 20 at the Rex Cafe at 7:30.

All captains of the various teams are requested to be present and any member of the A and B leagues is welcomed. Each team should be represented.

Plans for the annual bowling banquet will be discussed as well as tentative plans for next year's play.

Granddaughter of C. E. Hellquists Wed In Wisconsin

St. Lukes Evangelical Lutheran church in Waukesha, Wisc., was the scene of the wedding Saturday, April 4, of Miss Geraldine A. Helquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Helquist of Waukesha, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hellquist of this city, and Jerry M. Renner, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Renner also of Waukesha.

Rev. L. Glenn Coloninger officiated at the ceremony at 7 p.m. with Harold Gaspar playing the traditional wedding music. Mrs. L. G. Coloninger was the soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a princess style wedding gown of white embroidered taffeta with a long train. Its scoop neckline was edged in tiny scallops and detailed with medallions. A crown of silver with rhinestone and pearl shell flowers held her full elbow length veil and she carried a cascade of pink garnet roses centered with a white rose corsage.

Miss Judith Renner was maid of honor, wearing a dress of pink silk organza with a scooped neckline, draped shoulders and skirt with gathered panels. Her matching crown of pink sequins pearls was over net.

Misses Janet Huff and Sandra Schmidt, bridesmaids, were attired in dresses of baby blue dotted swiss designed with full skirts and draped scoop necklines which formed wide hemline streamers. All attendants wore crowns matching their dresses with pearls and rhinestones and held cascade bouquets of white sweet peas with pink garnet roses.

Attending the bridegroom as bestman was Richard Huebner and Glen Katzner served as usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Helquist chose a dress of cocoa silk with white accessories with the bridegroom's mother wearing a dress of Dior blue with white accessories. Both had corsages of white orchides.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall with Mrs. Glenn Katzner cutting the cake, Mrs. James Drew and Mrs. Stanley Zimmerman at the gift table. Joan Kontos and Frances Ziegelman served the punch and Mrs. C. E. Hellquist was in charge of the guest book.

Both the bride and bridegroom are Waukesha high school graduates and following their honeymoon trip to Lake of the Ozarks they are making their home at 731 John St. in Waukesha.

Dist. Horticultural Society Convened in This City Wednesday

The Ninth District Horticultural society voted Wednesday to apply to the state board for a division of the district and will meet with the board in May to make final arrangements, according to Mrs. I. R. Geving, district president.

The discussion of the move was the main item of business in the morning session of the spring workshop in the city Auditorium. The group of 125 representatives were greeted by Mrs. Geving at the opening of the session and by Sig Quam, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

With the proposed division of the district in two, Mrs. Geving will appoint two nominating committees to present slates of candidates at the fall workshop which has tentatively been set for Mahnomen in September.

The following chairmen have been appointed for the coming year: Mrs. Lewis Handegaard, flower show superintendent; Mrs C. L. Olson of Halstad, publicity and Mrs. O. M. Wammer of Badger, historian.

In other business, the society passed a resolution that entrants in district shows be members of the society. The Perley Garden club extended an invitation to have the district flower show in that community Aug. 4 and Miss Marian Parbst of Crookston invited the group to the Crop and Soils day in Crookston in July.

The afternoon session of the society opened with group singing led by Mrs. E. J. Carmen of Ada, and Mrs. Clifford Lusso of Hendrum gave a demonstration of preserving materials in sand and borax. A ladies chorus of 25 voices sang three numbers and Paul Stelmaschuk, county agent, addressed the group.

An illustrated lecture was given by Eldred Hunt, executive secretary of the State Horticultural society, meeting closed with the serving of refreshments.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

The W.C.T.U. met Friday evening, April 10, at the Mission Covenant church. President Mrs. Ripley opened the meeting, stating an election of officers will be held in May. The district meeting will be at Riverside church in Wannaska on Wednesday, June 3, when the state president will be present.

Mrs. Conklin brought attention to a recent article in the Union Signal "How Important Is One."

Devotions were led by Mrs. Eldor Langager which included Prov. 20:1, "wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise;" Isaiah 5:11, "Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink;" Hab. 2:15, "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink;" Eph. 2:18, "Be not drunk with wine, wherein in excess, but be filled with the Spirit."

Gov. Freeman's proclamation was inserted in the last issue of the Times by Mrs. Ripley. Seventeen governors have this same proclamation and 38 governors have given support to its general principles.

Three letters were read which were received in answer to letters concerning bills up before congress and the state legislature. These were from Eugene McCarthy, Audrey Hagen for Congressman Langen, and Ben Wichtermann.

A thank you card from Harriet Jung was read, and Mrs. Langager sang "When I Met My Saviour." Elsie Koglin reported on chapter three of "Shadow Over America."

Mrs. Lanska is in charge of the afghan committee and showed us two she had made; one was blanket size, the other lap robe size. She explained the afghans are needed in veterans hospitals and asked that some ladies take home blocks to crochet around, after which they will be sewn together to the desired size.

The W.C.T.U. wishes to protest "Joe Marsh" in our local paper. The Thief River Falls Times is to be congratulated for articles by Stan Peterson. Thank you. Should the people of this city be given an opportunity to vote on the planned remodeling program of the local liquor store?

Lunch was served by Mrs. David Drotts and Mrs. Elda Anderson.

Pennington Co. Shares in Civil Defense Exercise

from the city took part in the exercise. Brian J. Baden, 107 Arnold ave. N., and Jerald Becker, T-59 Motel, were in constant contact with other operators throughout the 14-county area plotting radioactive fallout.

The alert went out to all schools in the city and in Goodridge and St. Hilaire at 2:08 p.m. and, by 2:20, buses were rolling delivering school children to their homes. Under the civil defense plan, school children are sent to their homes rather than being separated from their families as in some earlier plans.

According to Reski, the control center was closed at 5:45. Civil defense personnel will meet later this month to evaluate the success of their part in the exercise and to hear a summary of the nationwide alert.

City in Danger of Losing Air Service, Chamber Is Told

is "Is your airport adequate to handle our company airplanes?" and that the question often is a rude jolt to cities which have not made adequate provisions for the air age in their planning for coming industry.

The aviation industry is the largest in the nation and Thief River Falls has "instituted today a training program for tomorrow" in the establishment of an A & E school here and Thief River Falls is the logical location for such a school in Minnesota, McIver emphasized.

In explaining the role of air transport, McIver said the present state aviation program is a program of utilizing the air space over the state to best advantage. He called air space a natural resource just as water and land resources, and compared the air space to a broad, limitless highway leading to all distant places.

Although industry tends to bypass cities without adequate airport facilities, McIver said a city's other transportation facilities are equally important. "An airport is merely a means of utilizing the airspace around us," was his explanation.

Carl Benson, aviation representative for the aeronautics department, explained the TVOR station to be established at the airport next fall. The letters, TVOR, he said stand for terminal visual omni-range, and the system is far superior to the old low-frequency radio facilities used in aerial navigation.

Whereas low-frequency radio beamed only four paths the TVOR transmits 360 degrees and planes can home on on a TVOR station regardless of their location. A meter on the set shows the pilot just what heading to take when "homing" on the station.

TVOR provides voice transmission facilities as well as a coded message, Benson said. North Central personnel are expected to operate the station here during duty hours. The station here is one of 14 to be installed or already in existence in the state.

He said the installation of TVOR would probably be made in the fall, as delivery of equipment has been delayed again. About the only cost of the installation to the city will be to heat the small building which houses it, he stated.

Prior to McIver and Benson's addresses Orin Green, president of the Community Chest board, pleaded for more participation in the Chest as board members, etc., by members of the C. of C. A motion was made to form a committee to investigate the possibility of setting up a United Fund drive in the city in the future, with the committee instructed to report their findings at the next meeting.

President Sig Quam presided at Thursday's meeting, while Robert Wurst introduced the speakers.

Field Work Is Getting into Full Swing Here

Unless more moisture is received here to cause further delay, fieldwork should get under way throughout the county this week, County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk said Saturday.

Stelmaschuk said soil moisture conditions here are very good. Top-soil moisture and subsoil moisture are both plentiful and unless the area goes into a drouth cycle, Pennington county farmers should have the beginning of another good crop, he added.

Some field work in the county started as early as a week ago but was not general throughout the county. Most of the work done last week was in the higher townships west and south of Thief River Falls. Probably the first seeding in the county in 1959 was a field of oats drilled by LeRoy Scholin in Bray twp. last Monday. Due to favorable conditions for fall plowing last year most farmers will need to do very little, if any spring plowing.

Shelmaschuk said the lack of much frost in the ground allowed the moisture from this year's comparatively light snow cover soak in rather than run off.

Northern Minnesota is faring much better than the rest of the state in regard to moisture, with the cut-off line generally running across the state from Moorhead to Duluth. Areas north of that line have fair to excellent soil moistures, while areas to the south need moisture badly and soon, according to reports.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

Ten or 11 years ago, city voters were presented with a proposition which would allow the establishment of a liquor dispensary in Thief River Falls.

The matter, probably one of the most discussed and cussed in the history of the city, was approved by the voters after several promises were made by the proponents of the municipal store. One of the more potent arguments for its establishment was that income from the profitable business would be used for street improvement.

Now, a decade later, residents of this city are still waiting for the streets they were promised. Motorists churn through the mud of our residential streets during wet weather and choke on the dust during the rest of the year when Mother Nature doesn't cover the shame of our city with a coating of ice and snow.

Housewives wearily mop up mud and dust in their homes, hang out their laundry knowing that their labor will be rewarded by dingy clothes and look through dirt-covered windows at dust-covered lawns and flowers.

Garages have overhauled their equipment to re-align the front ends of cars knocked askew by the washboarded and chuckholed streets and have laid in their seasonal supply of replacement springs and shock absorbers. New cars develop squeaks and squeaks become rattles as the junk men happily patrol residential streets picking up scrap iron knocked off taxpayers' cars.

I have been told by one of our leading citizens that the condition of our city streets will no longer bother me after I have lived here long enough. That is the same line of reasoning that says that a boil in a most inadvantageous location should be ignored. Both of these sources of irritation and pain need attention, not indifference.

During the past several months, I have discussed the matter of residential streets with public officials. Their reply has been that nothing can be done until storm sewers are installed and the streets themselves completely rebuilt. Admitting that this is probably the final answer to street improvement, are we to believe that we will have to put up with our streets until, in the dim future, these major improvements are made?

With all due regard to the school of "hurry up and get all our improvements in right away," I submit that all the glittering dreams of re-doing the city overnight are fine but the hard reality is that a majority of our streets cannot be permanently surfaced for many years, even if a majority of property owners did petition the city for the work.

In the meantime, many residents of the city will have to endure the misfortune of living on the present city streets and avenues if something is not done.

There is, of course, an unspoken desire on the part of some officials to want taxpayers to present petitions to have street improvements made rather than to have the city do the work with present funds. Any work, they say, comes under the head of "improvements" and is assessable to the property owners. While I agree with these people that any work on the streets must be classified as an improvement, this work should come under another classification.

"Maintenance," according to Webster, is the "upkeep of property." That is what part of the taxes are going for and what some people still think is the duty of the city. In answer to any question involving street maintenance, it has been revealed that "staggering sums" were expended last year for street oil to prevent some of the dust and mud but that the money for oil was "just thrown away." Perhaps it was money foolishly expended. The results have been far from impressive.

"Maintenance," according to some people, involves the brief and ineffectual visits of a motor patrol on residential streets at infrequent periods. To others, who are not as wise and informed, it means scarifying the present surfaces, the application of rock and then a good coating with oil.

Keeping up roads costs money, everyone admits that. Part of our tax money should be used for that purpose and a good share of the cost could be paid from the receipts of the municipal liquor store as voters were told [illegible] years ago.

[illegible] year, the city showed a [illegible] of $71,150.49 in liquor [illegible] was less than the pre[illegible] but even a part of [illegible] put into the street [illegible] it belongs, could have [illegible] long way toward gettin[illegible] [illegible]munity on a city rather [illegible] village basis.

There [illegible] villages and cities in [illegible] smaller than Thief River Falls which have provided the[illegible] with all-weather streets for years although they have no storm sewer systems. [illegible] these are not shining examples of engineering perfection, but th[illegible] have done the job for many years.

Thief River Falls can start getting out of the mud and dust just as soon as funds, earmarked ten years ago, are put where the city was told they would go. This is no time to spend $30,000 for more comfortable and elaborate quarters for our liquor dispensary "regulars."

Rural Youth Group to Meet Thursday

Delegates to Report on State Conference

The April meeting of the Pennington county Rural Youth group will be held Thursday, April 23, at 8:30 p.m. in the court house meeting room.

The five delegates who attended the state Rural Youth conference earlier this month will give their reports. The theme of the conference was "Let's Get Into Orbit," and the delegates have many interesting experiences to tell, states Roberta LeBourveau, home agent.

A movie and square dancing will conclude the evening.

An invitation is extended to all young men and women between the ages of 18 and 30 to attend the meeting.

SOIL SAMPLERS Eugene Randorf, right, a farmer from near St. Hilaire, brought in soil samples for testing Friday afternoon, which Paul Stelmaschuk, left, county agent, recorded and packaged for shipping to the university for testing. Weather was favorable for test sampling and 87 farmers brought in 105 samples for analysis. According to Don Lawrence, Soil Conservation Service fieldman, reports on samples will be sent to the county agent in about a week or 10 days and will be forwarded to individual farmers.

THE BEST Selected as the best actor and actress in the final county play and music contest Friday night at Knox school were Ellen Jorde, member of the Steiner 4-H club, and Andy Welsch of the Sanders club. Winners of the final county contest are now eligible to take part in the sub-district event which will be in Red Lake Falls May 13.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS, BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINN.

April 7, 1959

Pursuant to adjournment the Board of County Commissioners met in the Commissioners' Room in the courthouse at 10:00 a.m., April 7, 1959. Members present: Hanson, Olson, Anderson, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

Robert Farnes appeared with a revised plan for a proposed Goose Lake Refuge and Public Hunting Grounds. The plan included about 8,062 acres in Pennington County, 1253 acres in Polk County and 160 acres in Red Lake County. The Board was not asked for approval or disapproval, as the plan had not been presented to the State Department for approval as yet. It was indicated that should the State approve the plan, the people having property in the area would be contacted for approval before the County Board would be asked to act.

A delegation from Polk Centre Township appeared with a request that the Board take steps to widen two narrow bridges on C.A.R. 54 & 55. The Board indicated that they would inspect the bridges at their earliest opportunity and investigate the possibility of doing the work with County forces.

Mayfield and Wyandotte Township Boards appeared with a proposal that the County participate in rebuilding 2 miles of road on their mutual Town line between Sec. 1 and 12 in Wyandotte and Sec. 6 and 7 in Mayfield Township. The Board agreed to participate with County Patrols with the Townships furnishing other equipment and culverts and retaining the road in their system.

The Numedal Town Board appeared relative to improvement of C.A.R. 8 on the West end of the County. The Board agreed to view the problem and to do necessary work with County Equipment as time will allow.

A petition for Dissolution of Common School District No. 1557 was presented to the Board. Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, a Petition was, on the 7th day of April, 1959, presented to the County Board of Pennington County, Minnesota, purporting to be signed by a majority of the resident freeholders of Common School District No. 1557, of Pennington County, Minnesota, requesting that said school district be dissolved and that the territory embraced therein be attached to other existing school districts or unorganized territory as provided by law.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED, That a hearing be held on said Petition at a meeting of said Board at the Courthouse in the City of Thief River Falls in said County, on Tuesday the 2nd day of June, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock P.M., at which time and place this Board will hear all persons interested, and their evidence and arguments, for and against dissolving said Common School District No. 1557, of Pennington County, Minnesota.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of said hearing be given by the publication of this order for one week prior to said hearing in the newspaper known as The Thief River Falls Times published and printed in said County, by the posting of notice thereof in Common School District No. 1557, proposed to be dissolved, at least ten days before said day of hearing, and by the mailing of notice thereof to the Clerk of the above named school district, and to the Clerk of each adjoining school district and the Commission of Education, etc., at least ten days before said day of hearing, as provided by law.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and declared carried.

A delegation of persons interested in drainage in Star and Highlanding Townships appeared relative to proposed outlets to County Ditches 49 and 38. After discussion Commissioner Hanson introduced the following Resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, Pennington County Board has acted, as a matter of convenience to interested landowners, as Petitioners in the matter of improvement of outlets for County Ditch No. 49 and County Ditch No. 38 and,

WHEREAS, An amended engineer's report has now been filed in District Court,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That as a part of the preliminary hearing, the County Board does now ratify and approve the Engineer's amended report as filed March 25, 1959, with the further addition of a larger culvert at the corner of Sec. 5 in County Ditch No. 49.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and declared carried.

Moved by Lindberg seconded by Hanson that the Bond of James Bache, Secy.-Treas. of the Pennington County Agricultural Society be approved in the amount of $5,000.00 with the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. Carried.

Moved by Olson, seconded by Tasa, that an appropriation be made from the Revenue Fund to the Oakland Park Nursing Home for the proportionate share of an assessment made against the Counties having a proprietary interest in said Home for various obligations. Carried.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Lindberg that $100.00 be appropriated from the Revenue Fund to American Legion Post 117 for appropriate observation of Memorial Day. Carried.

Application for reduction in the assessed valuation of Personal Property was approved for the following Thief River Falls residents after approval of the City Council and subject to approval of the State Department of Taxation, to-wit:

Homer Morgan, 705 Knealo ave. S.,—assessed in North Dakota.

Clayton Klaven, East Grand Forks,—assessed in Hibbing.

Marie Olson, 508 Tindolph S.,—property sold prior to assessment date.

Commissioner Lindberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption.

WHEREAS, State Aid Construction Funds allotted to Pennington County for the year 1958 were not sufficient to pay the final estimates, engineering, pole line moves and other incidentals for 1958 projects.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Pennington County Board of Commissioners, to request the Commissioner of Highways to permit the use of Pennington County State Aid Construction Allotment for the year 1959 to pay the 1958 contract finals, engineering, pole line moves and other incidentals on 1958 contracts as follows:

S.P. 57-[illegible]-01, contractor's balance	$ 3,203.02
Engineering	3,172.46

Engineering	618.61
	$ 2,378.22
Total	$ 13,067.05

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and declared carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Hanson that the Road Committee and the Bridges and Culvert Committee inspect roads and bridges and culverts at 1:00 P.M., April 21, 1959. Carried.

The minutes of March 3rd were read and approved as read.

Boy Scouts Plan Paper Collection

Troop 60 Will Conduct Pickup Saturday, May 2

Boy Scouts of troop 60 ask everyone in the community who has old newspapers to save them for the paper drive that they will hold Saturday, May 2, beginning at 10 a.m.

According to Al Christofferson, scoutmaster, papers can be put on the curb for collection and, if large amounts have accumulated, donors may call him at MU 1-3373 and the papers will be carried from the home by Scouts.

Proceeds from the sale of the paper and from a bean supper May 28 will be used to send boys to camp this summer at Camp Waubanaquat and in Canada.

Rev. James Grant, RLF Pastor, to Go to LeSueur in May Resignation of the Rev. James Ward Grant, minister of the First Presbyterian church of Red Lake Falls, was announced last week by Mr. Grant, effective April 30.

Mr. Grant has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church of Le Sueur and will move there with his family in several weeks. The Grants, both natives of Nebraska, came to Red Lake Falls in September 1954 following his graduation from Union Theological Seminary in New York.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

In accordance with duly published Notice of Hearing in the matter of petition of L. B. Hartz, President L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. and others requesting vacation of a strip of land 22 feet wide on the East side of State Avenue abutting on Block 67 of the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, commencing at the Northwest Corner of Lot 23 of said Block 67, extending South to a point 7½ feet South of the Southwest corner of Lot 32 of said Block; vacation of the roadway comprising the North 20 feet of Lot 6 of Block 67 of the Original Townsite and alley in said Block 67 south of the North line of said Block extended in a Westerly direction, the Council of the City met in Special Session on April 6, 1959 at eight o'clock P.M. in the Council Chambers in the Municipal Auditorium Building. Alderman Lee, Honebrink, Carlson, and Alderman Elect Olaf Dahlen of the Third Ward were present. Aldermen Benson and Rau were absent. Due to the fact that a three-fourths vote of the Council would be required in order to pass and adopt a vacating resolution in this instance, Alderman Benson was contacted, appeared and was recorded as present. No persons appeared in opposition to the said petition. H. E. Simons of L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc., was present in support of said petition.

Alderman Honebrink introduced a resolution declaring the premises described in the petition duly vacated effective on the payment to the City Treasurer of $161.61, the value of the premises so vacated and moved adoption of such resolution. Alderman Lee seconded such motion. The roll was called on the question and the following voted in favor thereof: Benson, Lee, Dahlen, Honebrink, Carlson. The resolution was then by the President declared passed and adopted.

Alderman Lee then moved adjournment, being seconded by Honebrink, carried and the meeting was declared adjourned.

BOB CARLSON,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

(Seal)

RESOLUTION

At a Special meeting of the City Council held April 6, 1959, Alderman Honebrink seconded by Alderman Lee introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS a petition was filed requesting that the City Council vacate certain portions of public streets and alleys in the City of Thief River Falls as hereinafter described which petition complied with the terms of M.S.A. 419 Appendix 2 Section 150 and

WHEREAS the City Council did give notice by publication in the official paper for four weeks at least once a week to the effect that such petition had been filed as aforesaid and stating in brief its object and specifying the time for the hearing thereon and

WHEREAS a hearing on said petition was held in accordance with said notice of hearing on the 6th day of April, 1959 at which hearing no persons appeared in opposition to said petition and a representative of the abutting owner appeared in support thereof and

WHEREAS it is the opinion of the City Council that said petition should be granted

The Council of the City of Thief River Falls, met in Special Session, pursuant to due call, in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on March 30, 1959 at eight o'clock P.M. All members were present.

The meeting was called for the purpose of considering improvements to the Municipal Liquor Dispensary. K. Russell Anderson, Architect, was present and tendered a proposal for architectural services in connection therewith. Alderman Benson introduced a resolution accepting such proposal and moved adoption. Alderman Rau seconded such motion and the resolution was on a call of the roll duly passed.

A claim for architectural services in connection with a proposal construction of a Comfort Station in Tourist Park in the amount of $310.50 was presented by K. Russell Anderson. Alderman Honebrink introduced a resolution directing such payment and moved adoption, being seconded by Lee and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

A proposal was received from Russell Moen of the City offering $50.00 for a 1937 Chevrolet pickup truck now in use by the Department of Streets. Alderman Benson moved that such offer be accepted, being seconded by Rau and the motion was duly carried.

The Council then entered into informal discussion with members of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of future office facilities for the Chamber of Commerce and the City. The Secretary of the Chamber presented 4 proposed ideas in the matter for the consideration of the Council and discussion was had on the same. Representatives of the Chambers stated that they would accept office quarters if provided for in the main Auditorium, such quarters to be of a temporary nature not exceeding 6 months, pending construction of an addition to the Clerk's office on the South. A committee composed of members of the Chamber and City Council was directed to draw plans for office in the main auditorium and to secure estimates of costs of the same.

The meeting was then declared adjourned.

BOB CARLSON,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

Employment Was Down Slightly in City Last Month

Employment in Thief River Falls dropped slightly from 2,690 in the middle of December to 2,668 in mid-March, it was announced Thursday by R. S. Eidevik, manager of the local employment office. He added that the demand for workers has been very light, with the exception of qualified clerical help. Numerous jobs are expected to become available when building and road projects get under way later in the spring.

Quentin Jones to Go to Conference

Quentin Jones of the Thief River Falls school faculty has been invited to attend a state-wide conference on children and youth to be held April 26 and 27 in the Calhoun Beach Hotel in Minneapolis. Jones is a member of the physical fitness committee of the Governor's advisory council.

Sid Bruggeman Has Used Car Lot

Sid Bruggeman, formerly sales manager with a local garage, today announced the opening April 15 of Sid's Motor Sales, located across the street from the National Guard armory. He states he will handle late model used cars and trucks.

Mercury to Stay Below Normal Here

Some Precipitation Is Forecast This Week

Temperatures will average from 10 to 12 degrees below the seasonal normal through Saturday of this week, according to the extended forecast with .25 to .40 inches of precipitation occurring mostly as snow Friday and Saturday.

Maximum temperatures during the week will be from 54 to 59, according to the KTRF weather forecast, and minimums will range from 31 to 37. There will be some warming about Friday but, otherwise, there will be little day-to-day change.

Mostly cloudy weather is predicted for today and partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. Little temperature change is expected today through tonight but warmer weather can be expected tomorrow.

The high temperature for today will be from 45 to 50 and the low temperature tonight from 28 to 32. The warmest weather over the weekend was 50 Sunday and the coldest was 21 Saturday night. Light snow covered the ground Friday morning but disappeared early in the morning.

Public Opinion

Editor the Times:

A sign at the Falls Theatre says "A Buccaneer." A buck-an-ear is too much to pay for corn.

Arrived home two weeks ago and getting back in the groove.

I hear a lot of rumbling about the snow and cold weather you had last winter and about the high taxes that seem to afflict us both summer and winter.

I spent almost two months in Texas this year. Dallas is a beautiful city of 650,000 population. There was a tree-planting craze going on just then, and if anyone had title to a piece of ground only 8-ft. square they had to buy a tree from slick promoter and plant it. Promoters and slippery salesmen are as busy there as here.

Visited at the nice new home of one of our good young men from Thief River Falls, Hardy Israelson. He is a pilot on one of Braniff's big airliners, making regular trips to South America, Cuba and some other islands.

Attended a couple meetings of Toastmasters with my son, Harold, who was president of that club and he had won three trophies in public speaking contests. Am too modest to tell you where he got that gift of gab.

In San Antonio, where my oldest son, Maurice, is in the army at Fort Sam Houston, I mooched around for a solid month. This is the oldest city in Texas with many quaint old buildings which they are trying to restore with varying success. There are the old Catholic missions founded in 1730, the old stone or clay church is still being used. Then they have an old Spanish section, with the old governor's mansion and the Alamo, which has been made famous in song and story.

There are the Chinese sunken gardens, indescribably beautiful, nestled down between some rugged hills, flowers and bushes in full bloom.

Forever yours,
Lars Hylden.

Homemakers Plan Achievement Day Wednesday, May 6

Pennington Co. Women Share in National Home Demonstration Week

An Achievement Day program set for May 6 will highlight Pennington county's observance of National Home Demonstration Week, Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau announces.

Approximately 220 rural homemakers in Pennington county will participate in the event. Achievement Day will feature a tea, a program and exhibits of handicrafts to be held in Thief River Falls.

A cordial invitation is extended to all homemakers in the area.

Committees in charge of planning the Achievement Day program are: tea and food, Mrs. Frank Heinze and Mrs. Edwin Sorenson; exhibits, Mrs. Melvin Molden and Mrs. Alvin Burstad; program, Mrs. Alton Carlson, Mrs. Ronald Tollefson and Mrs. Ted Belswenger; reception and invitation, Mrs. Earl Peterson and Mrs. Emil Sanders.

Some 48,000 members in Minnesota are among nearly 7 million homemakers in the nation as a whole who will join in special observances during National Home Demonstration Week, May 3-9. All of them are women who are taking part in the extension home program. In Minnesota this is an educational activity carried into rural home and communities by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service. Under the professional guidance of the county home agents and state extension home economists, these women study various phases of homemaking and family living.

This year family living included, among other services, information on better understanding of children in the family; time and energy management in the home, care of the new fabrics, outdoor cookery for the whole family and crafts.

Prowler Tennis and Track Schedules Set

The Prowler track and tennis squads opened their 1959 schedule on Friday afternoon. Coach Rodney Max's Prowler track team participated in the Sioux Indoor relays held at Grand Forks. The meet, for the third successive year, was won by the Moorhead Spuds, who scored a total of 40¾ points. Dale Lamski of the winning Moorhead team was the individual star of the meet, winning three first. One of his winning efforts was a new record in the broad jump.

The only Prowler athlete to enter the scoring column was hurdler Phil Hanson who gained a fourth place in the low hurdle event.

Dave Rogers' tennis squad — Kern Olson, Jim Ewing, Dave Jones and Don Ulferts—played a team match at Fertile on Friday afternoon. With a cold drizzle hampering the play of both teams, the Fertile Falcons swept the 3-match series. The Prowlers' Kern Olson, by scores of 6-3, 4-6, and 6-1, lost to Fertile's Wayne Nelson; Jim Ewing of the Prowlers lost to Fertile's Bill Kostick, 10-8 and 6-0; and the Prowlers' doubles combination of Dave Jones and Don Ulferts lost to Fertile's duo, 6-2 and 7-5.

The Prowler track schedule:

Tuesday, April 21, dual meet with Warren, here, 4:00 p.m.

Saturday, April 25, Sioux relays at Grand Forks, 9:00 a.m.

Tuesday, April 28, dual meet with Roseau, here, 4:00 p.m.

The Prowler tennis schedule:

Tuesday, April 21, Bemidji, here, 3:15 p.m.

Friday, April 24, Crookston, here, 4:00 p.m.

Friday, May 1, Crookston, there, 4:00 p.m.

Tuesday, May 5, Bemidji, there, 3:15 p.m.

Tuesday, May 12, Fertile, here, 4:00 p.m.

Saturday, May 16, 31st district meet at Grand Forks, 9:00 a.m.

Friday, May 22, Regional meet at Bemidji, 9:00 a.m.

Dr. Alan McKaig Leaving R. L. Falls

Dr. Alan M. McKaig, resident physician with the Red Lake Falls Clinic since August 1950, announced that he is leaving for the practice of medicine at Chenango Bridge, New York.

Dr. McKaig will join a clinic there and specialize in obstetrics. He and his family will leave around June 1, the end of the school year. While the doctor has been a resident of Red Lake Falls, he has served on the school board and has also served as county coroner.

Fosston Man, 81, Is Crash Victim

A Great Northern passenger train running between Grand Forks and Duluth struck a car at a grade crossing a mile east of Fosston last Thursday, killing the car's lone occupant, Albert J. Lund, 81, was the driver of the car. His death came just two days before the train which struck him was to be discontinued. The train made its last run Saturday.

Rev. Noah Serves Plummer Church

Former TRF Priest Took over New Duties Friday

The Rev. Daniel A. Noah, a native of Crookston, has been appointed pastor of St. Vincent's Catholic church at Plummer.

A graduate of Cathedral high school, Father Noah received his seminary education at the pontifical College Josephinium in Worthington, Ohio. He was ordained to the priesthood in June, 1950, and has served as assistant pastor in parishes of Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls and Moorhead.

The appointment made by the Most Rev. Francis Schenk, Bishop of Crookston, was effective Friday.

Father Noah became the first assistant at St. Francis deSales, Moorhead in June, 1954, going there from Thief River Falls.

While located in Moorhead, the St. Cecelia parish at Sabin has been under his care and he was chaplain for the Newman club at Moorhead State college.

Rev. Noah succeeds the Rev. Jerome Fellon, who is now pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church in Fosston. The Rev. Henry Monroe has moved from Fosston to Baudette.

Supt. I. Mickelson Gets School Post

Named Vice President of School Administrators

Irwin T. Mickelson, superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools and secretary for two years of the Minnesota Association of School Administrators, was elected vice-president of that organization Thursday.

The election, which was by mail ballot, also named Ray M. Stenavad, superintendent of Two Harbors schools, as president of the organization and C. P. Mickelson of Crookston as treasurer. The elevation of Mickelson to the vice-president's post leaves vacant the secretary's post which he filled and an interim appointment will be made.

Officers of the organization were nominated at the regular meeting of the group Easter week.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Record-shattering Series

Wally DuChamp, anchor man on the Hamm's Beer team, piled up the pins at the Family Bowl alleys on Tuesday night in a spectacular fashion, setting a three-game total-pins mark of 728. Wally had games of 257-256-215 in posting his new record. And looking back into our files, it appears that 728-pin total is an all-time high for league bowling.

In his first game, Wally rolled up six strikes, picked up a spare, had a strike, another spare, and then a pair of strikes, carding a 257. In the second game, Wally opened with four strikes, chalked up a spare, then rolled a string of four strikes, and finished with a spare for a 256 game. In his third game, he opened with three strikes, notched a pair of spares, hit for two strikes, a spare, a strike, and then, in the 10th frame, got a split, his only "open" frame in the series, to mark up a 215.

Sparked by Wally's 256 game, the Hamm's, in the second game of their three-game match, rolled a 1008-pin score. That's the first time that a league team has crashed the 1000-pin barrier this season. In racking up their 1000-plus game the Hamm's had Phil LeGault with 166; Jack Boyer, a 222; Bob Wurst, a 199; Jesse DuChamp, a 165; and Wally DuChamp, a 256.

Well, we extend our congratulations to Wally DuChamp on his record-breaking series. It was one for the book. Knowing the Plummer bowler as we do, we are sure that Wally will get a lot of "mileage" out of that series. We'll venture this idea will be given voice a number of times during the golf season: "Lefty, you may be able to beat me at golf, but how about the 728 series I bowled this spring?"

For the Track Fans

The Prowler track schedule for 1959 was released this week and it gives us the pleasant information that the local track will be the scene of several track meets. In fact four meets of high school track competition will be held here, and one tournament, for junior high school athletes, will also be held.

The local track season will open here on Tuesday afternoon when coach Rodney Max' Prowlers engage the Warren Ponies in a dual meet. On Tuesday, April 28, the powerful Roseau Rams will meet the Prowlers in a dual competition. The Rams will be featuring their high-scoring Stan Holland, who was the Region Eight champion last year in the high jump and the pole vault.

The highlight of the track season will, perhaps, be the Northwest Conference tournament to be held here on Tuesday, May 5. The teams competing will be Bemidji, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Roseau, and Thief River Falls.

An Early Start

The nine-team Northern Minny league will begin play on its 1959 schedule on Sunday, May 3. At a meeting held at McIntosh on Friday night, the league adopted the schedule as drawn up by a committee consisting of Doug Tegtmeier, Frank Gunderman and Bob Carlson. A few minor concessions were made, but the slate, a round-robin affair, was agreeable to the team managers.

With the early season-opening, it's probable that there will be a number of postponements, due to inclement weather and the fact that a number of players will not have returned from college. But with most of the league having lighted fields available, there shouldn't be any difficulty in re-scheduling these postponed games for mid-week dates.

The league will be a bonafide Class B circuit, following the rules and regulations of the Minnesota Amateur Baseball association.

Wally Jordet Is Rejoining L.O'L. Creameries Here

Wally Jordet, former manager of the milk and ice cream department of Land O'Lakes Creameries in Thief River Falls, is returning to this city from Grand Forks May 1 to resume his former position, Stuart McLeod, plant manager, announced today.

During the past two years, Jordet has been associated with Bridgeman Creameries in Grand Forks. His family will return here at the close of the school term.

Jordet succeeds Elmer Sandberg, who has resigned and who has not yet announced his future plans.

2 County 4-H'ers Proposed for June Trip to Manitoba

Margaret Peterson of Silverton, Alvin Chapman of Rocksbury Nominated

Two Pennington county 4-H'ers have been nominated by a screening committee as delegates for the Minnesota-Manitoba exchange. They are Margaret Peterson of the Silverton club and Alvin Chapman of the Rocksbury club. They were picked on the basis of their long-time 4-H participation in project and 4-H activities.

Margaret Peterson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson and has ten years of club work. She has completed 21 projects, and has served as president, vice-president, secretary, and reporter in her club. Additional club activities were 3 years of participation in the play contest, Share-the-Fun contest, and good grooming. She attended club camp two years and took part in county fairs besides other 4-H events. She is an active church member, having served as president, vice-president, secretary of Luther League. She has served as a Sunday school teacher and has five-years of membership in Lutheran Daughters of Reformation in which organization she has held various offices. Margaret is 19 years of age.

Alvin Chapman is the son of Ervin Chapman. He has been a club member for nine years and has completed 17 projects in various fields. Alvin has been a junior leader in the Rocksbury club for four years. He has also been conservation and electricity project leader and historian in his club. In September, 1958, Alvin represented Pennington county at the state 4-H conservation camp. Alvin is an FFA member and an active church member and usher.

One of the delegates will be picked by a state selection committee, to participate in the exchange program. The Minnesota 4-H'ers will leave for Manitoba June 27 and return July 9.

12 Bowling Teams in Soo Line Event

M & D Junction Team Winner of Top Honors

Twelve teams — the Mainliners, Branchliners, Soo Line, Roundhouse, Spokers, Hot Boxes, Highballers, Washouts, M & D Junction, Flatspots, Pin Lifters, and Wipers — participated in the Soo Line handicap bowling tournament at the Family Bowl lanes here on Sunday afternoon.

The M & D Junction team, bowling games of 776-709-734, for a scratch score of 2519, carried a handicap of 556 pins to have an aggregate of 3075 and won first place in the team standings.

In the individual bowling results, Alvin Johnson, the anchor of the winning M & D Junction team, posted the high aggregate single game score, having a 221 game, which, with a handicap of 28 pins, gave him a 249 gross score. Tress Noel, pilot of the Washouts, had the high scratch game, a 222; and also the high three-game scratch total, adding games of 171 and 181 to her 222, for a 574 total.

The highly-touted Stan Cockrell-Flo Hameraki-Phil LeGault team, one of the tournament's low-handicap teams, finished "out of the money."

Jr. Chamber Sets Election Thursday

Only One Nomination for Each of Principal Posts

A new slate of officers of the Thief River Falls Jaycee chapter to take over July 1 will be elected at a dinner meeting of the chapter in the Legion club rooms Thursday evening, April 23, at 6:30, Glenn Peterson, retiring president, stated today.

Nominees include Bruce Hall for president; John Elsbrener and Roger Tunberg, vice presidents; Charles Samuelson, secretary; James Winjum Jr., treasurer; and Glenn Peterson, state director. Candidates for four posts on the board of directors are Gary Forsberg, Charles Meister, Reuben Lockrem, Robert Mattson and James Carlson.

Also appearing at the meeting will be Jerry Doren of Duluth, a candidate for election as state president in 1960.

Six or More Teams in '59 Trapshoot League

The fifth annual Thief River Falls Trap club meeting and banquet was held at the golf club on Thursday evening, with forty-five members in attendance. The short business meeting that was held following the chicken supper, found Ole Ekeren and Stan Ranum unanimously reelected to the seven-man board of directors. The hold-over directors are Tony Dorn, Henry Granum, Bill Dahlquist, Frank Rinkel and Stan Wilson.

Three resolutions of appreciation were adopted indicating the group's gratitude to the Remington Arms Co. for replacing a trap, to the Wilson Bros. crew for mechanical assistance on the traps, and to Erling Torgerson for his efficient manner in conducting the club's financial and statistical matters.

Six teams—Thief River Pharmacy, Oen's Appliance, Times, Northern Chevrolet, Wilson Bros., and the Coast-to-Coast store — have signified their intention of participating in the league shooting this season. The matter of adding one or two teams to the league was left to the discretion of the board of directors, and they will appoint a committee to explore the possibility of increasing the league membership. It was agreed by the group that the league shooting for the 1959 season would open Thursday, May 30.

In the presentative of awards, Bob Mattson, on behalf of the Times' squad, accepted the championship trophy as the league champions of 1958. Individual awards were made to Cy Schantzen, Sandy Wilson, and Bob Mattson for breaking "fifty straight"; and Jerry Amundgaard and Walt Fisher were presented with "25 straight" awards.

126 Firemen at Warren Meeting Thursday Evening

Northern Region Group Accepts Invitation to Hold Next Meeting in TRF

The Northern Region Firemen's Association spring meeting was held at Warren Thursday, evening, with 126 visiting firemen registered, representing 24 towns from Northwestern Minnesota. The Warren firemen served a ham dinner in the basement of the city hall.

The meeting opened with Fire Chief Copp introducing Mayor Fournier of Warren, who gave a short history of the fire department and welcomed the visitors. Chief Pederson of Hallock responded.

Lawrence Anderson, Crookston, spoke on methods used at farm fires and conservation of water at fires.

C. A. Sherry, deputy state fire marshall, spoke on the coming state fire school and on laws pertaining to rest homes, and school inspections.

Fires at Red Lake Falls, Strandquist and East Grand Forks this past winter were also discussed.

Harold Johnson, Marshall county civil defense director, told of the Civil Defense national alert slated for April 17 and some of the problems that may arise. He also detailed the method of procuring apparatus and tools used in the fire services from civil defense.

Other speakers on various phases of fire fighting were Chief Herbert of Crookston, Chief Bergland, Clearbrook and Chief Roy Langevin of this city.

Thief River Falls asked for the summer meeting and the invitation was accepted.

Rep. Langen Reports Wheat Bill Advances

The wheat subcommittee of the House agriculture committee Wednesday in Washington passed and sent to the full committee a wheat bill based on principles advocated by Congressman Odin Langen of Minnesota's Ninth district in his bill, HR 5060.

The basis of the subcommittee's bill incorporates the Langen principle of a high price to the wheat farmer through his voluntary participation in reducing the amount of his wheat acreage allotment planted to wheat.

Langen commented: "I am extremely gratified that after many months of study and hearings on the various proposals and opinions relative to wheat legislation the subcommittee has seen fit to adopt the principle of my bill that will provide both a higher price to the wheat farmers and the opportunity for him to achieve this voluntarily."

However, Langen said, he has reservations with regard to certain portions of the bill as it came from the subcommittee.

"I am disappointed," he said, "that the highest parity level available under the proposal has been set at 90 per cent instead of the full 100 per cent of parity which would be possible under the details of my bill."

The congressman expressed his belief that some sort of acreage reserve payment should be provided for wheat farmers who voluntarily choose to retire some of their acreage from production in return for higher price.

He said he hopes the full agriculture committee and eventually Congress will follow the subcommittee's recommendation and pass the basic principle of his bill, restoring provisions making possible achievement of 100 per cent parity and reimbursement to wheat farmers for acreage voluntarily withdrawn from production.

More County Roads Eligible for U. S. Federal Aid Funds

Mileage of Federal Aid Secondary Roads Raised to 222.3 in Pennington

Pennington county now has an expanded system of federal-aid secondary roads of 222.3 miles, according to an announcement today by Minnesota Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman, as he outlined an increase in the state's off-trunk highway federal aid system from 15,386 miles to a total of 26,651 miles. There were 101.7 miles in this county previously, for an increase of 120.6 miles in the FAS system. In Marshall county the increase was from 260.5 to 516.4 and in Red Lake county from 72.9 miles to 159.7.

The new routes included in this expanded system of county highways have been selected by the local county officials in cooperation with the highway department and have been approved by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. In each case the route selected is individually desirable, and together the routes selected form a comprehensive and coordinated network of county highways.

County roads in the federal-aid secondary system are eligible for federal funds for construction purposes. However, the amount of such funds granted to the state and allocated by the highway department to the various counties must be met by the counties on a 50-50 matching basis. The counties for this purpose may use money coming from their share of the road-user fund made up of the state gasoline tax and motor vehicle license fee and with monies in their road and bridge funds.

It should be pointed out that the inclusion of additional mileage in the federal-aid secondary system does not mean additional county highways, but means an increase in the number of miles of county highways on which federal funds may be spent.

TRF Student at 'U' Wins Scholarship

Status of Timber Held Dangerous

Head of State Agency Cites Forest Fire Danger

An 18-month drouth has placed Minnesota's timber lands in serious danger, it was announced today by Dr. Frank H. Kaufert, president of Keep Minnesota Green, Inc.

Dr. Kaufert said the latest reports from the state division of forestry show that 10,000 more acres have been ravaged by fire so far this year than during the comparable period of 1958.

He will discuss fire prevention plans of KMG, Inc., at the organizations 15th annual celebration and Governor's banquet at the St. Paul Hotel May 1.

He cited a report from Donald Wilson, St. Paul, chief of fire control for the division of forestry, to emphasize the threat to Minnesota's 20 million acres of timber.

Wilson said 104 fires destroyed 10,100 acres during the second week of April. This brought the total fire loss for 1959 to 331 fires and 27,800 acres destroyed. Comparable figures for 1958 are 481 fires and 17,368 acres burned out. Thus, 1959 fires have been fewer but far more destructive.

Dr. Kaufert said, "It is plain to see that we must intensify our fire prevention efforts this spring if we are to avoid enormous losses. Lack of moisture has made our forest lands particularly susceptible to fire. Campers and fishermen must exercise great caution."

Pennington Buys $12,152 Savings Bonds in March

Sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in March, 1959 totaled $12,152 in Pennington county, bringing the year to date sales to $17,972, or 21.7 percent of the county goal for 1959, J.M. Roche, county chairman, announced today.

In District 1, of which this county is a part, the three month total reached $128,008 or 33.4 per cent of quota.

Savings Bond sales in Minnesota for the first three months of 1959 total $20,213,113, just slightly under the same period of 1958 and represent 25.6 per cent of the 1959 quota.

Minnesota counties leading in quota attainment are Marsall, 65.9 pct.; Traverse, 55.6 pct.; and Red Lake, 44.7 pct.

Extension Home Program Lessons Chosen for '59-60

Township Councilors Selected Interesting Topics at Session Apr. 14

The extension home program lessons for 1959-60 were decided upon at a meeting of the Pennington county home council Tuesday, April 14.

Twelve township councilors, who represent the women in the homemaker groups throughout the county were present at the meeting, according to Home Agent Robert LeBourveau.

The six lessons that were chosen for next year are mental health, horticulture, co-ordinating home furnishings, a sewing clinic, what's new in bread and roll making, and clothing accessories for women.

Charles Martin, family life specialist, University of Minnesota, will conduct the meeting on mental health. It will deal with the meaning of mental health and the importance of good mental health to the individual and the family.

The lesson on co-ordinating home furnishings includes information on combining furnishings that harmonize in color, style, pattern and texture, thus helping the homemaker to know what to buy to go with her present furnishings.

At the sewing clinic the homemakers will actually sew. Unit construction and efficient handling of fabric will be emphasized while a garment is made.

Selecting and using accessories to complete a costume will be the theme of the lesson on "Clothing Accessories for Women."

Any woman, who would like to participate in the extension home program should get in touch with the county extension office.

Job Placements Continue to Rise

State Agency Found Work for 6,876 During March

Non-farm job placements made by the Minnesota employment service continued during March to set a record pace for the past several years, according to a report issued today by Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, Minnesota department of employment security.

During March, the 33 state employment service offices found people for 6,786 jobs, 308 more than in February, and the highest March figure since 1953, when 7,403 placements were made. Compared to year-ago figures, jobs filled in March were up by 48.7 per cent, Starkey indicated.

Meanwhile, quarterly figures showed the same upward trend, Starkey said. For the first three months this year, job placements totaled 19,605, the highest Januar-March total since 1953, when 21,437 placements were made. Compared to a year ago, quarterly placement figures were up 6,354, or 48 per cent.

Commissioner Starkey said that despite the month-to-month increase in placements by the state employment offices, there remain many jobs with no takers—some of the positions paying as high as $14,500 a year.

Wool Assn. Host to Foreign Growers

Australia, New Zealand Men Due Here This Month

Minnesota's increasing importance as a national wool center will gain added significance this month through the visit of four international sheep and wool industry leaders.

Coming to Minnesota for the first time are; William A. Gunn, chairman of the Australian Wool Board; . W. Wardell, chairman of the New Zealand Wool Board; C. H. Bethall, member of the Board and J. D. Frazer, general manager.

Host to the group will be the Minnesota Wool Growers association. In January, Hiram Johnson, president of the association, along with a group of wool growers from several midwestern states visited both New Zealand and Australia.

The group of wool industry leaders will visit Faribault Woolen Mills, Central Livestock Co-op, St. Paul stock yards, Swift packing plant, the University of Minnesota and the large warehouse operations of the Minnesota Wood Growers.

The Australian and New Zealand visitors will fly on to New York to attend a meeting of the Wool Bureau, an organization representing the wool industry of the United States, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Seeing The Other Side

BY W. E. DAHLQUIST

Time now to bring this story to a close, and I will end the series of reports with a few general observations.

In terms of miles, I travelled far over and across Africa, but, actually, I visited only a few scattered areas and saw only a very small part of all there is to see. I saw enough, however, to come away with an awareness of its enormous size and the greatness of its resources and possibilities.

Cairo is as far from the equator as our New Orleans, and from Nairobi, a little south of the equator, to Cairo, is about the distance from New York to San Francisco. Cape Town is just as far south of the equator as Cairo is north. Much of Africa is in the temperate zone, and much of the area that is in the tropics has a delightful climate because of its altitude.

In each of the areas I visited I saw a different Africa. In terms of what we consider civilization, Africa is both the oldest and the yougest of our continents. Recorded history, and our civilization, starts with Egypt and the Nile. The north coast, along the Mediterranean, was on the main highway of early commerce. Asians and Euorpeans settled along the coasts of the Indian and Atlantic oceans many centuries ago, but only in the last hundred years has the interior of Africa been explored.

North and South America were new worlds 400 years ago. Interior Africa was still a new world 100 years ago, inaccessible because of the desert in the north, mountain ranges along the east and west coasts that made navigation up the main rivers difficult or impossible, and the most formidable of all barriers to the advance of adventurers, disease. Malaria and yellow fever made interior Africa "the white man's graveyard."

To Stanley goes the credit for making a large part of interior Africa accessible by river navigation. His exploration of the great Congo river watershed was accidental. Today he might have been called "Wrong-way Stanley."

In 1877, after having made his memorable visit to Dr. Livingstone, he started to return by what he thought was the way he had come, the Nile river. The plateau country which is the source of the Nile, is also the source of the Congo which flows westward to the Atlantic, and other rivers which flow eastward to the Indian ocean. This African land of lakes shares with Minnesota the distinction of being an area from which the waters drain into the sea in three directions.

Stanley had proceeded downstream some distance before he became certain he was on a strange river, but he decided not to turn back. From the top of the hill down to what now is Stanleyville he had many portages to make around rapids and falls. From that point to what now is Leopoldville he had a thousand miles of easy going. From Leopoldville to the ocean, a distance of less than 300 miles, there is a drop of 1,000 feet and that distance he travelled by foot.

Returning to Europe he sold the King of Belgium on the idea that the Congo country had great possibilities. King Leopold financed a road from the coast to the city that now bears his name, and established commerce on the river from that point into the interior. That was less than 80 years ago. The Congo river basin, which includes much of what is French Equatorial Africa, is seven times larger than the state of Texas.

The Congo river, from Leopoldville to the sea, has a waterpower potential that is estimated to be nearly as great as the total of all power production in the United States at the present time.

Incidentally, Stanley, an Englishman by birth, fought in our Civil war on the side of the South.

Africa is a continent of contrasts. Within Africa there are many Africas. There is the Africa of the North, the Africa of the South, the East Africa, the West Africa and the Central Africa. There is the European Africa, the Asiatic Africa and the Native Africa. There is the Moslem Africa, the Christian Africa and the Pagan Africa. There is the Africa of the great rivers, the Africa of the great lakes, and the Africa of the great mountains. There is the enlightened Africa and the primitive Africa, and there is the Africa that is just emerging from the primitive and starting to travel the long road to enlightenment.

It is the Africa that is emerging from the primitive state that interests us most at this time. The people of Africa are in a revolutionary ferment. The revolutionary pressures are social and economic as well as political.

Most of the changes that can be attributed to the revolution so far have been of a political nature. African colonies have achieved a degree of independence to the extent that they call themselves self-governing. They probably have many years, possibly a few centuries, of trial and error ahead of them before they will achieve the kind of self-government they now visualize, but only by trial and error will that ever be achieved. My guess is that the social and economic progress will be more real in the foreseeable future.

We have a sympathetic interest in their problems, and to whatever extent we are able to, we should assist them. And we very definitely have a selfish interest in their progress. It would not serve our best interests to have the African continent, or any portion of it, come under Communist control, and that must be considered as a possibility. There is every reason to believe that Africa figures prominently in the expansion plans of those who direct the international program of the Communist party.

And in what way could we most effectively check the advance of Communism in Africa? My guess is that the best way would be to help the people of Africa is to help them to help themselves, and toward that end, what they need most at the present time is teachers, doctors, engineers and administrators.

In our country we have many advocates of federal aid for education and scholarships for deserving students. Maybe some federal scholarships could be justified if the recipients of the grants would agree to a number of years of foreign service when they had received their degrees.

I believe professionally trained young American men and women could do a very effective job for us in the backward areas of the world, and ten years of service abroad probably would make them better American cizens when they returned.

The Russians have hundreds of young people in training now for African service, and they are beginning to make their appearance. These disciples of Communism come well prepared, learned in the languages of the areas in which they are to serve and capable of carrying on a conversation in the native tongue of the people they hope to convert.

There appears to be little likelihood of an African uprising on a united scale to rid the continent of all white people. There seems to be general agreement that the racial question is limited to pockets of hatred. Africa is so vast in area and its people are so divided by racial and religious barriers of their own that the possibility of a union among them is very remote. Among the primitive natives there are many hundreds of tribes and many of these are too involved in their differences with their neighbors to be concerned about any other enemy.

And so I bring a very pleasant journey to a close. I saw a little of Africa, very litle in terms of all the vast continent has to offer. But I saw enough to give me a little better understanding of the reports that I read and hear. Having been there and seen a little, makes it all more interesting. And I saw enough to encourage the hope that I may visit Africa again. I would like to see much more of it.

—And Keep It Clean

Clean-up Week starts officially today but from our observation, and the groans we hear at the pie counters about lame backs and blistered hands, most of the yard work has already been completed. Residential property in Thief River Falls generally has an appealing spic-and-span look. An untidy yard is the exception.

Now, with the home work well taken care of, may we suggest that our back-aching and blistered merchants show a little more concern about the appearance of our streets in the business section. Morning after morning, drifts of sidewalk litter that night winds have deposited are pushed around with a broom, but none of the litter is picked up and removed from the street. It is left to blow around and be pushed away again the following morning.

The real answer, of course, is to arouse public sentiment against the litterbugs themselves. We have accomplished this as far as our highways are concerned. Only juveniles and the mentally retarded toss papers or cans out of car windows, but many good citizens still think nothing of littering the streets of a city. Many cities, and some of them in otherwise backward countries, impose embarrassing penalties on the inconsiderate individuals who litter their streets.

The leadership in a war against litterbugs must come from the merchants themselves. Theirs is the responsibility of setting a good example. And with a good example set for them we are sure the people of the community would cooperate. There is just as much community pride in a clean and inviting business section of the city as in the general appearance of the residential area.

It might be helpful, too, if the city would remove the lids from the rubbish receptacles that have been placed at some of the intersections. An open can will get more contributions, we are sure, than one that requires a slow-down and some physical effort.

Progress in Uniformity

Starting July 1, the six major English-speaking nations of the world will have a uniform inch and a uniform ounce. These are the two latest developments in an international effort to standardize weights and measures throughout the world. While the differences have been infinitesimal, the adjustments to uniformity will be beneficial to all in the exchange of goods.

In order to encourage uniform standards an International Bureau on Weights and Measures was established by a treaty signed in 1875. The oustanding achievement of this agency has been the adoption of a standard meter and kilogram, establishing a uniform metric system, now serving the interests of science throughout the world.

But the English-speaking nations have retained their own systems of weights and measures for general uses, and, as the Financial Post of Toronto points out:

> "They have been getting along with a weirdly awkward conglomeration of inches, yards, rods, roods, furlongs, links, chains, gills, pecks, bushels, stones, fathoms, grains, tods, pennyweights, scruples, drams, cords, arpents, hogsheads, minims, hundredweights that may be 100 or 112 pounds, tons and long tons.
> "To compound confusion, these measures do not differ only from country to country, but there are often variations of the same measure within each country.
> "Thus the apothecary's ounce is different from the tea-merchant's ounce.
> "The sailor's mile is longer than the railway engineer's mile.
> "And none of these measurements are used by British or U.S. scientists, who have been on the metric system since 1889".

A survey is now being made in England to estimate the cost of changing completely to the metric system. Dr. A. S. Hughes, who is in charge of the study, says:

> "We want to know just what the change would mean in terms of obsolescence of plant equipment, and to what extent this would be offset by greater appeal to foreign markets, and by the saving of time and effort that would come with the simpler system.
> "In other words, we want to find out whether we can afford to make the change, or whether we cannot afford not to make it.'

Most of the other nations of the world have already adopted the metric system and no doubt the English-speaking nations will also in due time. By recognizing the coming change as a thing that is inevitable, and preparing ourselves for it, we can do much to reduce the dollar-cost of equipment replacement as well as ease the problem of learning to understand a few new words.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

The trouble with the game of golf is that by the time you can afford to lose a ball, you can't hit it that far.

A small girl whose father is a minister would often say she was Rev. Brown's daughter when someone asked her name. Her mother, thinking this might sound snobbish, told her not to make that sort of reply, but simply to say she was Dorothy Brown.

Later someone asked her if she was Reverend Brown's daughter. She replied, "Well, I thought I was, but Mother says not."

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

As governmental machinery gets old, it often needs a complete overhauling job. The organizational structure needs to be changed to meet new conditions and new tasks. Yet it is always difficult to secure an overall reorganization.

Sometimes it is easier to attack the job piecemeal, and to reorganize only one function of government. This is what has just been done successfully with the passage of one important bill that I signed last week.

New Department of Corrections

This law sets up a new Department of Corrections in Minnesota state government. It does not create any new functions or duties, but it reorganizes existing functions in a way that should bring about better and more efficient service.

Under One Head

This new department, headed by a commissioner, will encompass the correctional activities of our state government. There will be two separate divisions in this department, each headed by a deputy commissioner, the Division of Youth Conservation and the Division of Adult Corrections.

Youth Conservation Division

The Division of Youth Conservation will carry out the functions and activities now under the Youth Conservation Commission. The Commission will consist of five persons, including the Commissioner of Public Welfare, the Deputy Commissioner of Corrections in charge of youth conservation, and three others to be appointed by the governor. The Deputy Commissioner will act as chairman.

This set-up will continue in effect the principle that forms the basis of the Youth Conservation Commission, that problems of punishment, correction, and rehabilitation of youth should be handled by specialized personnel, so that the primary emphasis will always be rehabilitation and reform.

Adults Corrections Division

The other division, now to be entitled the Division of Adult Corrections, will be under another Deputy Commissioner. This division will take over the direction of adult penal institutions, now under the Department of Public Welfare. It will also have the functions of probation and parole, and the present Board of Parole and Probation is changed to an Adult Corrections Commission. The chairman of the Adult Corrections Commission will be the head of the Division of Adult Corrections. Its other two members will be appointed by the governor, "each from a different political party."

Rehabilitation Important

Each year the problems of law observance, law enforcement, and corrections become more complicated and more urgent. We want to constantly increase our emphasis on the prevention of delinquency and crime, and on the rehabilitation of offenders. It is well that we now have improved machinery with which to work in carrying out this importnat responsibility.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

from the Desk of SENATOR HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

The public debt — In recent weeks there has been a good deal of discussion on the President's proposed budget for fiscal 1960. To me one of the most distressing features of this budget is the huge amount of money to be spent in interest payments on the public debt. Such payments are expected to increase by $500 million in 1960 over 1959 to a new all-time record high of more than $8 billion. With the exception of defense expenditures, interest payments take the biggest slice of government spending. Almost 11 per cent of our tax dollars go for interest alone.

Interest rates soar—The basic reason for the tremendous increase in interest payments has been higher interest rates. There is in fact no single item in the entire cost of living which has increased so much in the past six years as the cost of borrowing money. For example, interest rates on government bonds are up 40% from 1952, and top grade corporate bonds are up by 39%. This, in my judgment, is real inflation! Those who are concerned about inflation and holding down the cost of government should take a good close look at what rising interest rates are costing us all.

Tight money policy—It is distressing to note that in recent months interest rates have once again started to soar to even higher levels — greatest in a quarter of a century — as a result of the Administration's and the Federal Reserve's renewed tight money policy. Credit restrictions are defended on the grounds of preventing inflation.

There is growing doubt as to the effectiveness of combatting inflation through the conventional means of credit restrictions as employed by the Federal Reserve. Many contend that modern-day inflation is not due to excessive availability of credit. It is not a case of too many dollars chasing too few goods—the conventional explanation of mounting prices. If the tight money policy is in fact ineffective in halting inflation, this error is costing the American people untold billions each year in added interest payments on both the public and private debt not to mention the loss suffered as a result of heavy unemployment and economic lag.

Time for new look—It is time that we take a hard look at the monetary theories of the Administration and the Federal Reserve. I am confident that the Joint Economic committee, under the able chairmanship of Senator Douglas of Illinois, in the study it is undertaking on inflation and related matters, will throw new light on the role of monetary policy in controlling prices. It is time that we fully explore new means of dealing with this vexing question.

As "Business Week" magazine said in a recent editorial:

"More and more, it is being recognized that we are not confronted with the orthodox type of inflation which can be controlled by orthodox monetary policy. What we need is some new thinking and bold new action to put the Treasury's house in order."

PLUMMER . . .

Miss Bernice Orr and Miss Wilhelmina Patnode were guests at the Joel Nelson home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fellman, Ricky and Kathryn and Mrs. Gust Barnes of Crookston visited Friday evening at the Albert Fellman home.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Langlei called at the Harry Sorenson home Thursday.

Mrs. Lillie Halvorson spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Annie Hugget.

The annual meeting of Adams Presbyterial was held at East Grand Forks Thursday, April 9. Miss Bernice Orr of Plummer, president, presided at the day-long meeting. Indicative of the recent merging of the two branches of the Presbyterian church, Miss Orr called the meeting to order after prayer with a short sketch portraying the merging of the two groups. The synodical president, Mrs. Elton Crowell, official guest of honor, explained the purposes and objectives of the newly-formed organization. Dr. Allen Clark, a missionary in Korea, addressed the church women. Miss Marilyn Moening, national area secretary on national missions of Chicago, reviewed the work of the women's organization and discussed many plans under consideration. Miss Bernice Orr had previously resigned and declined the nomination offered her from the floor for a second term. Mrs. Ralph Finkenbinder of Crookston was elected president for the coming term and she and the elected officers were installed by the synodical president, Mrs. Elton K. Crowell. Mrs. Morris Maruska, first vice-president, presented Miss Orr with a corsage in appreciation of her work in Presbyterial. Women from the Plummer organization present at the meeting were Mrs. Gust Westerlund, corresponding secretary for Adams Presbyterial, Mrs. James Gilbertson, Mrs. Gordon Hollus, Mrs. Segrid Tillman, Mrs. Zillah Christenson, Mrs. R. H. Pahlen, Mrs. Walter Peterson, Mrs. L. W. Dobson, Mrs. Geo. Rewertz, Mrs. Fred Vatthauer, and Mrs. Josephine McCrady. Mrs. Walter C. Peterson was elected to attend the synodical meeting to be held in St. Paul in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Langlei of Virginia visited at the home of Henry Torske and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sorenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Foldoe and Linda visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Syverson near Fosston Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Magnell and Randall of Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Melvie and children, Janice Melvie of Thief River Falls and Reuben Sorenson were Sunday guests at the Harry Sorenson home.

Lawrence Waldal spent the weekend at his home here. He is employed at Tapan, N. D.

The Junior Woodmen camp 9042 of Plummer will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 18, in the Plummer hall. Come prepared to play in the pantomine quiz. Prizes will be given. Be sure and bring your pennies for the Penny march. All members are urged to come. Mrs. Lawrence Waldal director.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sorenson and Mrs. Ralph Sorenson visited Wednesday at the Virgil Sorenson home in Gatzke.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen visited with Mrs. Hannah Arveson at the old people's home in Thief River Falls Friday afternoon.

Girl, Grandfather Celebrate Birthdays

Joyce Rindahl, one-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orlean Rindahl, and Edward Erickson, grandfather to Joyce, celebrated their birthdays together at the Erickson home in Oklee Thursday night, April 9. Those who came to wish them a happy birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanson and Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Orlean Rindahl and family, Mrs. Larson, Ann, Elaine and John and Linda Haugen. A delicious lunch was served and the honored guests received many nice and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen received a letter from their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hawk, saying that they will move to Minneapolis Saturday. Mr. Hawk is a Pan-American flight engineer who has recently been stationed at Fort Worth, Tex., for about 5 months but was transferred to Minneapolis.

Mrs. Lewie Bierklie and family visited at the Orlean Rindahl home Thursday afternoon. They came to help Joyce celebrate her first birthday. Linda Haugen was an overnight guest at the O. Rindahl home.

Girl Born

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnsrud who are the proud parents of a girl born at the Fosston hospital Thursday, April 9. They named her Candice Ann.

Hallie Oftelie, who is employed in Thief River Falls, spent Wednesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Engstrom.

Stanley Bakken and David Rindahl, who are employed at the Iron Range, are spending a few days at their parental homes here.

Callers during the week at the Elmer Engstrom home were Osmund Hoydahl of Kratka, Gudvin Txelten, Vernon Iverson and Clifford Jorde of Thief River Falls.

Donna Schlofer and Connie Anderson, both of Goodridge, were overnight guests at the Alvin Bakken home Wednesday. They spent the evening visiting with Janice and Marion.

FHA Suggests Ways To Cut Home Maintenance Costs

The Federal Housing Administration has drawn up a program of suggestions designed to hold down the cost of home maintenance. Among the points covered are the following:

Roofs and the flashing around chimneys should be checked annually for breaks, warping and rust.

Exterior walls of masonry should be examined for cracks and warping.

Exterior windows and doors should be examined for openings, which should be sealed with putty or caulking compound.

Exterior painting should be done every three or four years. Any painted area that peels or blisters should be examined for moisture intrusion.

The cords of electrical appliances should be inspected periodically to see that they are not worn or frayed. If they are, they should be replaced.

Faucets and other valves should be checked for leaks. A small groove in the metal that may require replacement to stop the leak.

Attics and crawl spaces should be checked several times each year for dampness or moisture condensation. Such conditions may indicate the need for additional ventilation or other corrective measures.

Metal railings and other metal work that show rust should be wire-brushed with rust-resisting paint.

Now Is Time To Correct Heating Ills

If it took a break in the weather to make your home fit to live in, then the balmy days should be plan-ahead days to eliminate the household headaches that are sure to be there to plague you when the temperature dips next fall.

Start your inventory of things to be done by re-living last winter's woes, then take the steps necessary to remedy them. Chilly rooms that are "out of bounds" when the snow flies, cold spots, drafts or exorbitant fuel bills all mean that something is wrong with your heating system.

Here's a check list of possible problems and the recommended solutions to each of them:

1. Furnace failure—the unit that produces the heat that keeps you comfortable must be in good working orded. If it did not function properly last season, call the serviceman now whiel there's an off-season slack and have the furnace adjusted. Have broken parts replaced, chinks or cracks in the flue or chimney sealed to prevent heat loss.

2. Clogged radiators or registers — dirt and dust can rob your rooms of warmth. Cleaning them is a do-it-yourself job to be placed on the fix-up agenda. Vacuum registers of warm air systems to let the clean air flow freely, clean or replace air filters in forced air systems, clean the release valve on steam radiators and release trapped air in hot water radiators.

3. Fluctuating temperature—adequate control of the heat supplied by the furnace is of great importance during the frosty days. Make certain that the thermostat you now have is functioning properly; if not, replace it with a new model.

4. Heat leaks — wasted warmth is a common problem, especially in an older home. Cold walls and windows can absorb a great amount of heat, and for this reason insulation, weather stripping or storm sashes should be installed.

IMPROVISED JOB TRAY

Easy way to keep all the tools and hardware needed for one job together is to put them in a pie or bread pan. This type of job tray is especially useful when you're doing work away from your work bench or area.

Paint Brings Fresh Color To the Home

As Nature bursts into the fresh colors of Spring, it is only natural that the home owner should feel a strong urge for an equally refreshing "change of scene" in one or more rooms in his home.

In following this redecorative urge, he is quite likely to think first of repainting the walls, which represent, of course, the biggest area of color in a house. A new paint job can set the tone of the room, "pull together" the decorating scheme, even influence our moods. Color can, indeed excite or relax, soothe or stimulate, warm or cool. It is important therefore that you consider the choice of colors carefully in order that you may achieve just the results you want.

Color Psychology

For example — gloomy north room will brighten and become more cheerful under the touch of a yellow paint brush. An over-bright room will calm down immediately if you add the right shade of green — the cool, peaceful green of a deep forest. A breakfast nook will wake the family up if one wall is bright red, the others white. And a living room done in light-absorbing gray and rose will become a haven for a tired family at the end of the day. You can even "change" the size and shape of a room by using color.

Here are a few basic rules to keep in mind when planning your decorating scheme:

Cool, light colors produce a sensation of distance, enlarge a room; warm, deep colors seem to come forward, to give a cozy feeling.

A white or lighter-than-the walls ceiling appears higher; therefore you can "lower" a ceiling by painting it a dark color.

Dark shades, on the whole, are more masculine. . . light shades, more feminine. (Don't do Dad's den in pink!)

Complementary Colors

It's effective to use complementary colors. You can paint three walls one hue, the fourth in the complementary shade. Or you can add that shade with drapes and slipcovers. (To find a complementary color, get a color wheel; select your basic shade — its complement is the color directly opposite.) Complements include a cools shade balanced by a warm shade.

Colors cannot only complement each other — they can compliment the lady of the house. If she has brown hair, she'll look her best in a setting of slightly grayed colors — soft greens, blues, rosy tones and clear pastels. Brilliant colors are an effective backdrop for those with black hair. Redheads are striking in rooms painted white, golden yellow, rusty red or soft blue or gray. Blondes accent the dusty pastels and all soft shades. And those with gray hair look especially lovely against wine red or medium blue.

SANDING SCROLL WORK

Sanding scroll work is easy when the sandpaper is first wrapped around a heavy dowel. Of course the diameter of the dowel will depend upon the radius of the curve to be sanded.

Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ellingson and Lana, Mrs. Oliver McKenelly, Kathleen and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Iverson, Mrs. Morris Miller and Joyce. Judy received many nice gifts and cards. Lunch with ice cream and birthday cake was served by her mother.

Many have been quite sick with the flu around the past week.

Mrs Alma Miller, Mrs. Edgar Miller, Mrs. Arnold Hovet and Mrs. Morris Miller attended the W.M.F. Rally held at the Our Saviors church in Thief River Falls Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayer Holen and family, Mrs. Ole Sunsdahl, Wanda and Julie of Soudan were Sunday evening supper guests at the Kenneth Sunsdahl home. Later in the evening they visited with the Halvor Holens in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Mayer Holen was a Friday caller at Harold Holen's. Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Mayer Holen and family called at the John T. Coan home.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Magic—Easy Does It

Little Pinky Roberts was so fond of her two baby rabbits Easy didn't have the heart to tell her they had run away.

"Just had to replace those rabbits before Pinky came home from school," Easy said. "Trouble was the only two available were full grown.

"I figured they'd have to do," he went on, "so I just hoped for the best. Then, when Pinky saw the rabbits she ran into the house, yelling, 'Wait'll you see my rabbits! Those vitamins made them twice as big!'"

From where I sit, children see things as they'd "like them to be," but adults ought to see things as they are. For instance, we can't close our eyes to intolerance and call ourselves "good neighbors." If I don't respect your choice of tea or coffee and you don't respect mine for beer, that's intolerance and no excuse. On the other hand, tolerance makes good friends "multiply."

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Nice, big corn ears where he used to get nubbins,—that's the experience of Walter Tattenberg, Cologne. Through fertilizing, contour strips, grass waterways and use of barnyard manure, he stopped erosion and saved his topsoil. According to W. F. Lobitz, SCS aid, the conservation plan resulted in better crop yields, easier and safer working conditions, more "carrying capacity" in his pastures, and more feed for livestock. Corn yields, for example, have doubled.

Getting good crop yields and good forage is one thing—but getting the most return from it is another. Chrisy Skaar, Hayward, has good alfalfa-brome hay to feed his cattle, and feeds them home-grown grain. But according to Eldon Senske, Freeborn county agent, Skaar doesn't feed them indiscriminately. Instead, he feeds according to production. And he knows what each cow produces through individual Dairy Herd Improvement Association records. "You're throwing money away if you give a poor producer as much feed as a heavy milker," he says. The Skaar herd last year returned some $284 per cow above feed costs.

Contour strips more than paid off for Howard Kittleson, Louisberg, in he Lac qui Parle soil conservation district. He says beans on strips yielded better than on nearly level land. The reason: improved crop rotation and better water-holding capacity. He then developed a complete soil and water conservation plan on his 320-acre farm, with help from Hector Olson, SCS worker.

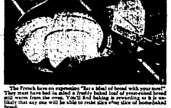
Pipe drop inlet structures for gully control are gaining popularity in Yellow Medicine county. Bill Kimm, SCS technician assisting the local soil conservation district, says Luverne Thielges, Canby, had three such structures installed on his farm last fall. He put them in pasture land, where gully heads were moving into cropland. Two structures were riser type and the third was a hooded inlet type. Total cost: $1,350, partly shared through the ACP program.

HOME-BAKED BREAD IS ITS OWN REWARD



The French have an expression "Eat a Meal of bread with your meal!" They must have had in mind a freshly baked loaf of yeast-raised bread still warm from the oven. You'll find baking is rewarding as it is unlikely that any one will be able to resist slice after slice of home-baked bread.

WHITE BREAD

1 cup milk	1 cup warm, not hot water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
3 tablespoons sugar
2½ teaspoons salt	1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
6 tablespoons shortening

6 cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture. Add 3 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place dough in a greased bowl. Brush top lightly with soft shortening. Cover with a towel. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board. Divide in half. Shape into loaves; place in greased bread pans (9x5x3 inches). Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until center of loaf is slightly higher than edge of pan, about 1 hour. Bake at 400°F. (hot oven) about 50 minutes. Makes 2 loaves.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

Positive Language

We all know the story of the little boy who, when asked what his name was, replied, "My name is Billy Don't." Perhaps that was what he had always heard adults call him.

Two- and three-year-olds do many things that we adults find irritating. They love water, dirt, and mud. They can make a mess of the house. They love to touch, poke, and explore everything they can get their hands on. No wonder we find that every second word we say to a child is "Don't," and every third word "No." Little wonder that they soon learn to say "no" as well.

Experiments have shown that telling children what to do is much more effective than pointing out what not to do. Instead of saying to the child, "Don't hit the window," we can say, "Throw your ball over here." When we want them to do something, we can say, "It's time to eat now," or "It's time to go to bed." When we give a positive suggestion, the child feels we are helping him rather than interfering with what he is doing.

It is important to have clearly in mind what we want the child to do. This will help us state our directions positively and guide the child's behavior more effectively.

Putting directions positively will help us develop better attitudes toward our children. When we think of what the child should not be doing, it makes us angry. On the other hand, if we give our attention to what the child should be doing in the situation, our feelings may be different. We may be able to understand the child's problem better when we try to figure out a solution.

The regular use of positive suggestions is hard to learn, but it is well worth the effort. We can save "no" for safety measures and other important restrictions.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I know that benefits paid veterans by VA, such as GI training allowances, compensation and pension payments and the like, are tax-free and need not be reported on my Federal income tax form. But what about interest earned on GI life insurance dividends left on deposit with VA? Is that taxable?

A—Yes. Any interest paid on dividens held as credit or deposit is taxable.

Q—I have a service-connected disability for which I draw compensation from the VA, and have just learned I should go into a VA hospital for treatment. Will I still receive my disability compensation check while in the hospital?

A—Yes. Your disability compensation will continue while in the hospital, and will be paid directly to you. Special rules, however, cover special cases, such as allotments to dependents, or incompetency.

Q—My GI insurance policy has lapsed through my failure to pay the premium on the due date. How long do I have to reinstate the policy without taking a physical exam? I am in good health.

A—You have three months from the due date of your premium to reinstate your policy. You will have to submit a statement that your health is as good as it was when the policy lapsed.

Q—I am drawing death compensation from VA, as my husband died of a service-connected condition. Does the size of my outside income make any difference in my eligibility to get these payments?

A—No. Your other income has no effect on your eligibility for death compensation. Income limitations, however, do apply to death pensions based on deaths not connected with military service.

Pork is Good Buy

Pork is among the foods that will be plentiful and a good buy during April. The abundance of pork on markets means that your family will be able to enjoy their favorite pork cuts during the month. But why not try a new pork dish. Here is one I like very much. It may be found in the 4-H Jr. food preparation bulletin.

Pork Chop Casserole (6 servings).

6 pork chops, ¾ cup raw rice, 1 large onion, 2 large ripe tomatoes or 2 cups tomatoes, 1 green pepper, 2 cups beef bouillon or tomato juice, 1/8 teaspoon thyme (optional), 1/8 teaspoon marjoram (optional).

Brown pork chops in skillet add salt to taste. Place chops on the top of the rice in the bottom of a fairly deep casserole or pan. Put a thick slice of onion and a slice of raw tomato or ½ cup canned tomatoes on each chop. Add a ring of green pepper. Add tomato juice or beef bouillon to skillet in which pork chops have been browned. Add thyme and marjoram to liquid. Add liquid to pork chops. Cover and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F for one hour.

To Whiten Dacron or Orlon

Do you want to whiten Dacron or Orlon that has become discolored or stained?

Just dissolve a cup of an electrical dishwashing compound (Calgonite or Electrosol) in a gallon of warm water. Use an enameled container and let the garment soak in this solution overnight.

Be careful not to get any of the solution into your eyes or on your skin. Wearing rubber gloves will help. If you do get some in your eyes, rinse with water immediately.

After the garment has soaked, rinse it under the faucet. Allow the water to run so the container overflows for about 10 minutes. Rub soiled areas for a couple of minutes with a soft brush or sponge. Then wash the garment thoroughly.

Easier Vacuuming

If vacuuming the rugs tires you out, you're probably using the wrong technique. Stand and walk in a natural, comfortable position as you operate your vacuum cleaner. Don't be a speed demon, you can get the job done most efficiently—and easily—with two or three slow passes instead of many quick, choppy runs over the same area.

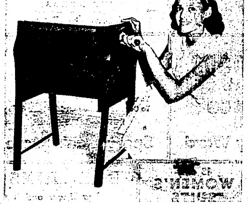
PEEKIN' into the PAST

BUTTER, THE HARD WAY



The paddle churn illustrated above was a luxury even in the early 1900's. Until then the old "dasher" was standard equipment.

A butter paddle was often used to "pat" or mould the butter into loaf shaped lumps for storing in the bottom of a well or in a "cave" where it remained reasonably cool until used. Even then it sometimes became rancid and had to be thrown away.

Many women were proud of their homemade butter and competed with it at the county fairs. Those whose reputation was particularly good as butter makers, found a ready market for their butter at the "general store" where it was traded for other necessities. The buttermilk was a controversial beverage — people either didn't like it at all, or they loved it.

City Council Studies Raise in Water Rate

Plant at Present Operating at Loss, Reports Indicate

The matter of increasing water rates for the city to bring them in line with the charges being made by cities of comparable size and treatment problems was again discussed at a lengthy meeting of the city council Tuesday evening.

Officials pointed out that despite rising operating costs, the only change in charges for water in Thief River Falls since 1927 has been the increase in the minimum made in 1953. The operation, which has been in the red, would be paying its own way with an increase in rates and would be able to pay for needed improvements and expansion. Chief among the necessary additions to the system is a new and larger water tank and storage reservoir, the council said. No action was taken on the matter but further discussion is scheduled for the adjourned meeting April 28.

The council also heard a report by the water and light committee which included a recommendation that sections of water mains on Kinney, State and Arnold aves. under the new highway approach and a longer section on Duluth ave. need replacing. There was some discussion on how the work would be financed but no action was taken.

The council read a letter from the airport commission which requested several improvements. Among these were the extension of the blacktop ramp to include the areas in front of the new shop building and between the shop building and the present administration building; the installation of a new sewage disposal system; a new approach road into the airport; equipment to dispense 100 octane gasoline; the installation of restaurant facilities and the expansion of North Central facilities in the administration building and the repair of T-hangar doors. The council directed D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer for the city, to prepare plans and specifications for the ramp and sewage system work to be submitted to the state aviation commission for state participation in the costs.

An estimate of $799 for materials and $300 for electrical work for the proposed temporary quarters of the Chamber of Commerce on the main auditorium floor of the city Auditorium were given to the council but no action was taken.

The council approved the appointment by Mayor O. D. Beich of Stanley Pladson to the airport commission to fill the unexpired term of Reynold Mattson, who has moved from the city. They also approved the bond of R. G. Mabey, city assessor, but deferred action on the election of a vice president of the council until the council is again complete with the return of alderman A. J. Rau from vacation.

The request of the telephone company to install a telephone booth in front of the building was approved and the club licenses were renewed subject to reconsideration by the council if the state legislature votes to in-

Paper Drive Set Saturday, May 2

Boy Scouts of Troop 60 Plan City-wide Pickup

Residents of the city have again been asked by the Boy Scouts of troop 60 to put aside their old papers for collection Saturday, May 2, when a drive will be conducted starting at 10 a.m.

Proceeds from the paper collection and from a bean supper Tuesday night, April 28 will be used to send boys to camp this summer.

According to Al Christofferson, scoutmaster of the troop, bundles of paper may be placed on the curbs for the drive. Those who have large amounts can make arrangements to have the bundles carried out of their homes if they call Christofferson at Mu 1-3373.

Judge Herman A. Kjos, district president, made the presentation, and reviewed Reierson's 40 years of service as financial secretary and secretary of the lodge, which he is now serving as a trustee. He was initiated February 26, 1909.

Herb Dill Speaks at Lions Meeting

Herb Dill, manager of the Mud Lake refuge, spoke briefly at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in support of the state conservation department's wetlands acquisition program, adding that he believed action should not be hurried, but should be taken only after consideration of all the complex factors involved.

Following a conference between the medical staff of Northwestern hospital and the hospital administrator, Norman Peterson, the institution has restricted visitors to members of the patients' immediate families.

The ban, which is a temporary measure, was brought about by the extremely large number of patients in the hospital and the number of cases of respiratory infections. As of Monday, there were 101 patients at Northwestern, the largest number ever recorded. The hospital administrator in announcing the temporary restriction also pointed to the large number of patients who have been admitted with respiratory trouble, 23 on Monday.

The announcement was also made after considering the large number of absences from schools in the area which had been caused by respiratory disorders and from contagious diseases. "Although the illnesses are usually of short duration and are largely of a type which are not serious when properly treated, we must protect hospital patients who, because of lowered resistance, are susceptible to infection," the announcement stated.

A higher than average absence rate has been noted in the schools of the area and the schools at Hallock were closed last week as a precautionary measure.

Members of the patients' immediate families who have respiratory disorders of any kind have also been asked not to visit during this period. Hospital spokesmen point out that they are endangering the health of not only the members of their families who are patients but also creating a health hazard to everyone in the institution.

Navy Dept. Arranges for New Bombing Area Near Upper Red Lake

Acquisition of a new bombing area in the Upper Red Lake region was announced today by the Naval Air Station at Wold Chamberlain Field, Minneapolis.

The bombing area, 5 miles wide and 10 miles long, is three miles north of Upper Red Lake and eight miles west of Ludlow. It will be administered by the Naval Air Reserve and used by both Navy and Air Force components.

The area is north of a previous area, use of which was acquired by the Naval Air Station in 1951. The new area will be used for training squadrons in use of both practice bombs and rockets which will be loaded on planes at nearby military airfields. No loadings will be performed in the Twin Cities area.

The use of the area by the armed forces was brought about by arrangements with the state conservation department and by treaty with Indian Councils in the area.

No determination has been made yet concerning the extent to which the air force will use the area, but 13 of the 23 squadrons at the Naval Air Station will be trained there. They include six patrol squadrons, three anti-submarine squadrons, two attack squadrons and two Marine attack squadrons. All will be trained under command of Captain E. M. Morgan, commanding officer of the station.

The area is largely marshland and there is no human habitation within any possible danger zone. However, it will be posted for greater safety, and the utmost precautions will be exercised at all times.

$1,239 Collected in Red Cross Drive up to Wednesday

About $200 more in contributions was received during the past week in the fund drive being conducted by the Pennington county Red Cross chapter, bringing the total o $1,239. Ralph T. Hunt, chairman, stated that nearly all the receipts to date have come from the city of Thief River Falls, the only township reporting being Star, which turned in $18.13.

Blaze Hits Large Acreage in Deer Park and Hickory

Grass and Brush Fire Tuesday Hits Area of Seven to Eight Sections

Seven to eight sections of land in Deer Park and Hickory townships were burned over Tuesday when a Deer Park resident started a fire at 8 a.m. to burn off a patch of grass and brush and the blaze, fanned by a strong wind, got out of control.

According to Don Lawrence, Soil Conservationist Service fieldman, one of the fire fighters, every available man in the area responded to the emergency with hand tools and other equipment. The fire spread through Deer Park township east into Hickory township. The heaviest concentration of fighters was north of Glen Tuan's farm and south of the farms of Gilbert Hanson and Eddie Arveson.

Later in the day, fire fighters were starting backfires off the Gully road trying to stop the blaze from spreading into the Indian reservation.

Burned over in the fire was swamp and brush land, some soil bank acreage, hay fields and some good pulp wood acreage. By late in the evening, the fire was under control, but workers were still keeping some peat bog fires under observation Wednesday morning and afternoon. No buildings were destroyed.

Soo Line Trains to Duluth to End Service May 16

Following the recent order by the Interstate Commerce Commission authorizing the discontinuance of service by Soo Line passenger trains 64 and 65, operating between Thief River Falls and Duluth-Superior, E. A. Hamerski, division superintendent here, received notice Wednesday from Minneapolis headquarters of the Soo Line that service by the two trains will be suspended effective Saturday, May 16. This will allow time for the postoffice department to complete arrangements for star route mail service to the communities affected.

Legislature to End Session by Friday Night

Appropriations and Tax Measures up to Joint Committees

The Minnesota state legislature today began its third day of overtime work, and has only until midnight Friday to resolve several important issues if a special session is to be averted.

Conference committees composed of equal numbers of senators and representatives began efforts Wednesday to compromise differences in remaining measures, including the four major appropriations bills.

Major attention centered on the 10-member committee named to work out a tax program.

Members of this conference committee are Sens. Donald Wright of Minneapolis, Thomas Welch of Buffalo, J. R. Keller of Winona, John Zwach of Walnut Grove, and Joseph Vadheim of Tyler; and Reps. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul, Fred Cina of Aurora, E. T. Chilgren of Littlefork, Edmund Tiemann of Sauk Centre and B. M. Witchtermann of Plummer.

The issue before this group appeared to be the question of installing the withholding system of collecting individual income taxes.

House leaders have called this the key to a tax program which

Clothing Drive Is Set This Weekend

Needy persons overseas will benefit from the collection of used clothing which will be made at the north door of the city Auditorium Saturday, April 25; Monday, April 27; and until 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 28, it was announced today by Harold Rasmussen, local chairman.

The Church World Service and the Lutheran Relief organizations are sponsors of the drive to furnish clothing to people in Korea, Hong Kong, the Middle East, Hungary, Austria, Poland and West Germany.

Items that cannot be used are hats, neckties, open toe and narrow width women's shoes and bulky bedding. Donors are asked to pack garments in cartons tied securely ready for loading.

An L. B. Hartz Wholesale truck will pick up the packages late Tuesday, April 28, to deliver them in Grand Forks. From that point, they will be shipped to a processing center.

TRF Week-end Host to 2,500 H. S. Musicians

DEDICATION The attractive new edifice of the Mission Covenant church on the East Third st. parkway will be dedicated Sunday afternoon, April 26, at 3 o'clock Rev. Eldor Langager, pastor, stated today. Guest speaker will be Dr. Clarence A. Nelson, president-elect of the Evangelical Covenant Church and president off North Park college and seminary.

Dedication Services for Mission Covenant Edifice Next Sunday

Dedication services for the handsome new edifice of the Mission Covenant church recently completed on the East Third street parkway will be held Sunday afternoon, April 26, at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Eldor Langager, pastor, announced today.

He added that the guest speaker will be Dr. Clarence A. Nelson, president of North Park College and Theological seminary, and president-elect of the Evangelical Covenant Church.

Ground was broken August 24, 1958, for the church edifice and the adjoining four-bedroom ranch-style parsonage. The sanctuary, measuring 40 by 80 feet with a wing 18 by 36 feet, was planned by W. A. Schaefer and Associates of Minneapolis, and is of contemporary semi-low roof design with laminated beams and exterior walls of tan face brick.

Accommodations are provided for 325 persons on the main floor, while the lower floor has Sunday school facilities and dining facilities for250. The church structure with its large parking area is valued at $75,000.

The local Mission Covenant congregation was organized in 1906, although services had been held before that time in the former edifice located on Markley avenue at East First street. Mr. Langager, the present pastor, came to Thief River Falls in November, 1957.

Incumbents File for Reelection to School Board

Dr. M. D. Starekow, now serving as president of the Thief River Falls board of education, and Wm. Thompson, a member for the past seven years or more, both filed for reelection to the board Monday, the first day on which filings were accepted. No other candidates had entered their names up to this morning. The annual election will be conducted Tuesday, May 19.

Vocational School Is Taking Applications for Aircraft Course

The area vocational-technical school in Thief River Falls will offer a course in aircraft and powerplant technology beginning July 6, 1959. The course will be 18 months in length and the first class will graduate Dec. 23, 1960.

A metal shop building, 60x80 feet in size, is being constructed at the Thief River Falls municipal airport. The major portion of the course will be given in this building, which will enable students to receive practical experience on modern type aircraft. The shop is being equipped to meet specifications prescribed by the Federal Aeronautics Administration.

The technical course has been developed to comply with the standards of instruction set by the federal agency, and will permit graduates to become licensed aircraft and powerplant mechanics upon satisfactory completion of the course, which includes the passing of the necessary FAA examinations.

High school graduates under the age of 21, who are Minnesota residents, are eligible to take the course tuition free. Minnesota residents over the age of 21 and out-of-state students must pay tuition of $30 per month. All students will be required to pay a standard fee to cover the cost of consumable supplies, tools, and aircraft manuals.

Students interested in the course should address their inquiries to Stan Nelson, director of the area vocational school, Thief River Falls.

MOVING DAY Randall Noper, left, owner of Noper's Motel, 1006 Main ave. N., Pete Sorter, center, and Lloyd Howick, on tractor, moved the last of three motel cabins Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the erection of a 38 by 42-foot two-story building north of the motel grocery store. There will be six motel units on the second floor of the addition and an apartment, office and utility room will be included on the ground floor.

State Area Festival Scheduled in City Friday and Saturday

Nearly 2,500 high school musicians from throughout Northwestern Minnesota will assemble in Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday for the annual state area high school music festival. The students will perform at Lincoln high school.

Miles Nelson, Lincoln principal and festival manager, stated that instrumental and vocal ensembles and soloists will be heard Friday, while bands, choruses, orchestras and glee clubs will perform Saturday.

Performing during the two days will be 20 bands, 40 large vocal groups including choruses and glee clubs, 90 vocal ensembles and soloists, and 206 instrumental ensembles and soloists.

Lincoln high school will be represented in the festival by the band, orchestra and mixed chorus, as well as by numerous ensembles and soloists that had won "A" ratings in the recent District 31 festival at Crookston.

Serving as critic judges at the area event here will be Adolph White of St. Olaf college, Philip Knautz of Gustavus Adolphus college and Laurence Gibmark of Fargo, who will judge the vocal numbers, and five judges of instrumental numbers, including Norman Abelson of the University of Minnesota; Robert W. House and Ames Murphy, both of the 'U' of M., Duluth Branch; Ronald Riggs of St. Cloud State college; and Arnold Oehlsen, Devils Lake, N. D.

The Chamber of Commerce will be host to visiting school superintendents and musical directors at a luncheon Saturday noon in the Rex cafe.

Don Wennberg Is Named to Attend Boys State in June

Lincoln School Junior Chosen by Classmates to Go to St. Paul Event

Don Wennberg, a junior at Lincoln high school, has been selected by his classmates to represent the school and community at the annual Boys State to be held June 14-20 on the agricultural campus of the University of Minnesota.

Wennberg's attendance at the conference is sponsored by Ecklund-Holmstrom American Legion post. The week-long conference, sponsored by the Minnesota department of the American Legion with the cooperation of the University of Minnesota, will be attended by 450 outstanding high school juniors from htroughout the state, according to C. A. (Chic) Sweiner, Boys State director since its beginning in 1950.

Wennberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wennberg of this city, is junior class president; a member of band, orchestra and the yearbook staff; and has held positions on homecoming and prom committees.

Selected as an alternate candidate by his classmates was Stanley (Sandy) Wilson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wilson. During the past year Wilson has dent council, a homecoming been on the yearbook staff, stucommittee member and in the junior play cast.

The students were chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character, service, cooperation, and interest in government and community affairs and were finally elected by student vote.

The major activities of the sessions involve the setting up of model local, county and state governments and their various agencies, providing valuable training in citizenship.

Suzanne Humes Becomes Bride of Marvin Jorde

Before an altar adorned with baskets of blue Hydrangeas and white gladiolas and lighted candelabra, Miss Suzanne Humes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph A. Humes of this city, became the bride of Marvin Jorde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorde, also of this city, Saturday, April 18.

The single ring ceremony took place at Trinity Lutheran church at 8 p.m. and was officiated by Rev. Otto Dale. Mrs. Art Hamilton was at the organ, playing the nuptial music while Stewart Folland, cousin of the bride, sang "Wedding Prayer" and "The Wedding Benediction."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown of fabric sheer paper taffeta, appliqued with rose point lace. It featured a sabrina neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a satin crown and she carried a bouquet of amazon lilies.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Glenn Fossum, her sister of Roseau. Bridesmaids were Miss Doris Humes, sister of the bride and Mrs. David Clough, both of Thief River Falls. They wore identical sheath dresses of ice blue embroidered cotton satin with matching accessories and carried bouquets of white carnations and white baby roses.

Bradley Teal of Rochester, Minn., friend of the bridegroom, was best man with Jack Hoppe of Green Bay, Wisc. and Loren Vraa, of Moorhead as groomsmen. Ushers were Dayton Grafstrom of Minneapolis and David Clough of Thief River Falls.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Humes chose a lilac linen suit with white accessories while Mrs. Jorde was attired in a bronze dress with light blue accessories. Their corsages were of white lilies.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 140 relatives and friends. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells centered the bridal table. Mrs. Quinton Brevig of St. Paul, cut and served the cake while waitresses were Jane Kollitz, Sharon Solheim, Marjorie Race and Lynn Wistler all of Thief River Falls. Mrs. Bradley Teal of Rochester was at the guest book while Miss Eileen Helgeland of Minneapolis and Mrs. Richard Bergland of Thief River Falls were at the gift table.

Mr. and Mrs. Jorde entertained the bridal party to a dinner at the Rex Cafe Saturday noon.

For going away the bride chose a brown and white Paisley spring suit with brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Jorde returned to Minneapolis where they will make their home at 146 Emerald St. S. E.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Lincoln high school, class of 1956 and 1954 respectively. Mrs. Jorde also attended the University of North Dakota and is now employed as a receptionist at Theodore Stark and Co. in Minneapolis. The groom is now attending the University of Minnesota.

Relatives and friends from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Montana, Wisconsin, Moorhead and surrounding area attended the ceremony.

Roberta Peterson Wed to Lawrence Ward Saturday

Miss Roberta Gail Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson of this city, and Lawrence Ward of Fordville, N. D., were united in marriage Saturday, April 18.

The ceremony took place at Trinity Lutheran church and was officiated by Rev. Otto Dale.

For her wedding the bride chose a blue sheer dacron dress, accented with small rose figures and white accessories. Her pearl earrings and necklace was a gift of the groom and she wore a corsage of tea roses and carnations.

Her attendant, Miss Arlene Peterson, her sister of Thief River Falls, was attired in a sheer dress of pastel striped colors with white accessories and a corsage of tea roses and carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Durand Ward, of Grand Forks.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardisty entertained at a bridal dinner at their home for members of the bridal party and immediate relatives. Mrs. Millard Peterson, aunt of the bride, poured.

Upon returning from a honeymoon trip to New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Ward will make their home in Grand Forks, where the bridegroom is employed with the fire department.

Mrs. Ward attended school in Thief River Falls and has been employed in Grand Forks. The bridegroom graduated from Fordville high school and served in the U.S. Navy.

N.W. Hospital Auxiliary Presents Fashion Revue

Members and guests totaling 125 attended the spring meeting of the Northwestern Hospital auxiliary held Tuesday afternoon in the Elks club rooms which was attractively decorated for the occasion.

After a brief business meeting presided over by Mrs. L. B. Hartz, president, Norman Peterson, hospital administrator, introduced Frank Harger, who showed movies of rehabilitation work, including pictures taken in the rehabilitation unit of the local hospital.

The tea table, featuring a centerpiece of rose gladioli and blue iris, was presided over by Mrs. Paul Lundgren and Mrs. Hartz. The committee in charge of the tea included Mrs. Irwin Mickelson, Mrs. J. E. Blomquist, Mrs. Frank Bond and Mrs. A. B. Stenberg, assisted by Miss Rose Baldwin and Mrs. Wilma Arnold of the hospital staff and student nurses from St. Olaf College.

With the playing of "April Showers" by Mrs. Curtiss Nelson, the "April Shower of Fashions" style show followed the tea. The models appeared on the stage through a trellised archway and walked among the tables as Mrs. L. L. Tygeson read the commentary prepared by Mrs. J. J. Womack describing a woman's day and the clothes worn for her various activities. The children modeling apparel for the younger set provided a special treat for the onlookers. During intermission a quartet of student nurses from Deaconess Hospital in Minneapolis sang two selections.

At the conclusion of the program door prizes donated by Mostue's, Hall's, Parkins Corner Drug, and The Pharmacy were given the lucky winners, Mrs. A. F. Berge, Mrs. Russ Embury, Mrs. Kendall Gustafson, and Mrs. Wendell Olson.

Table favors were donated by J & B Drug, Sherman Idso, of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and Harold Ask of the Fuller Brush Co. Stage decorations were provided by Solheim and Overum and Mostue's.

P. P. Reiersons Feted Sunday on 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Reierson were honored Sunday, April 19, on their 50th wedding anniversary, when an open house was held at the Evangelical Free church in this city.

Rev. Joseph Swan acted as master of ceremonies at the 2 o'clock program which featured a musical number "Great Is Thy Faithfulness" sung by the Free church male quartet and "All The Way My Savior Leads Me" by Albert Anderson. An original poem, a tribute to the Reiersons, was composed and read by Ruth Shefveland. Greetings were given by Clyde Christensen, representing the church, Mrs. Ole Moen, representing the White Cross circle and Joseph Reierson, from the Reierson families.

Mrs. Reierson was presented with a corsage of roses by her granddaughter Sharon Reierson and Mr. Reierson received a boutonniere.

The church parlors was decorated in gold and white for the reception which was served to approximately 150 relatives and friends. The five tiered anniversary cake, topped with a golden anniversary arch and bells, centered the serving table. Hostesses were Mrs. Louis Hetland and Miss Ruth Shefveland.

Kaye and Margo Reierson, granddaughters of the couple, poured while Lois Dahlstrom, another granddaughter, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Marie Ystesund and Miss Anna Rindal, cut and served the cake.

Since their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Reierson have made their home in Holt and Hazel, Minn., having farmed for many years. All who attended them at their wedding are still living, two of whom attended the anniversary Sunday, Oliver Nohre of Holt and Melvin Nohre of Glasgow, Mont., were present while Miss Julia Nohre and Miss Regina Nohre, were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Reierson have four sons; Vernon of, Hopkins, Leslie of Grand Forks, Joseph of Battle Creek, Mich., and Wallace of Thief River Falls, and one daughter, Mrs. Alvin Dahlstrom of Thief River Falls.

Urges Experimental Plane Chapter Here

By V. M. Draper

(Conclusion)

Despite the fact that the aviation industry has grown by leaps and bounds and new aircraft by the thousands have been produced in the years following the second world war, it is quite ironical that the two "old reliables" should be airplanes that were first built in the mid-30's.

I am speaking, of course, of the Douglas DC-3 airliner and the Piper Cub. Both made their initial appearance about the same time and both have performed faithfully. Of these two, the DC-3 is no longer in production but an improved version of the Cub is still very popular, especially for agricultural users and the like.

There are several instances of rehashed designs in the light airplane field. The industry has followed the lead of the automakers in giving the public slightly different trim and more horses up front but performance-wise there has been little change.

The few airplanes that will cruise 200 or better are all recent designs and are far beyond the reach of the average pilot. Few of us spend more than $15,000 in a lifetime for a home; those of us who can buy airplanes priced at $20,000 and up are about as numerous as frog hairs. Even small plane prices have skyrocketed. A plane costing $2700 in 1946 costs over $5000 today.

And, just between you and me and the fencepost, I blame the "flying school" for a lot of the trouble. In the case of the automobile, the dealers said, "Buy the car—we'll teach you to drive it." In aviation the plane salesman said in effect, "Pay us a fabulous sum to teach you to fly, then we'll sell you an airplane."

You know what happened—cars sold by the millions, but the average person looked at the high price tag on flying lessons and the even higher price tag on airplanes and decided then and there to be a gravel-agitator for the rest of his life.

There are other factors, too; small towns fought to have a main highway go by, or through, them. But, they didn't spend many dimes to furnish a sod strip on the outskirts for airplane owners. This would have made short trips by air far more feasible and encouraged plane ownership. Most towns don't need acres of concrete runways and taxi strips.

A single sod airstrip within walking distance of a town's business section will do more to promote air travel than 10 miles of concrete runway five miles from town. One of the foremost advocates of such airstrips is Bill Piper, whose Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, plant turns out the popular Cubs, Pacers and other well-known planes.

The flying situation as far as the low-medium income person is concerned has deteriorated to the point where there are only two alternatives; buy a used airplane or build one from the many good plans available.

By buying a used airplane a person can, for from $900 up, get a plane that is fully type-certificated for any use desired. For $900 one gets an old Cub or Aeronca in dubious condition, but for no more than $3500 one can get a pretty fair airplane—but still a plane that is well below the 150 m.p.h. cruising speed figure.

Usually the person who wants just a little better airplane, although one restricted to his own personal use, can build his own for less than he'd have to put up for a two-year-old used car. If he chooses his plan carefully he can build himself a plane that is capable of 150 m.p.h. on a low-horsepower engine, and with complete safety.

The reason the Experimental Aircraft Association was formed was to help the fellow in the low or medium income bracket keep flying without spending a king's ransom.

EAA is also a terrific aviation booster in any city where there is a chapter of the organization. The snappy little home-built planes the members own draw enthusiasm wherever they go and in cities where EAA chapters are located there are doctors, lawyers and many other men whiling away their spare hours on building their own planes. Many of these were non-flyers until the home-building bug bit!

I, personally, wish a chapter could be formed here. It should be encouraged if for no other reason than to take local youths' minds off souped-up jalopies or other useless pastimes and get memberships in EAA are within them interested in a more educational field. Furthermore, junior easy reach of any teen-ager. We older pilots could take the lead to encourage the younger fellows in flying for sport, personal utility or a future career in the air age.

crease the license fees which may be charged.

Robert DuChamp, 424 Duluth ave. N., appeared to ask that the city share the expense of replacing the water shutoff valve which was broken in front of his residence. The matter was referred to committee for consideration.

The Pennington county fair board requested the city to donate $1,000 for the fair as it did until two years ago. The matter was referred to the finance committee which will report at the adjourned meeting next week.

The National Guard was granted the use of the land in the city gravel pit for drill Sundays and the request by the Northwest trailer court for garbage disposal service in their area outside the city limits was put in the hands of the sanitation committee.

The request of the Mission Covenant church for the construction of an entrance to its parking lot was granted but action on the proposal of the Readymeter company of Minneapolis to install parking meters in the city on a one-year free trial basis was deferred.

A resolution was passed by the council thanking C. C. Ludwig, secretary of the League of Minnesota Municipalities, for his 24 years of service. Ludwig is retiring from the post in July. A resolution was also passed approving the payment of $2,895.70 to the Forkenbrock Motor company for the street department truck recently purchased.

The council also passed a resolution approving the proposal of D. H. Stewart and Associates for engineering charges for the storm sewer work in district three and called for working drawings and specifications.

Work on the installation of traffic signals at the intersections of LaBree ave. and Third street and at Main ave. and First street will begin April 27, the council was informed in a letter from the state highway department. The council approved a resolution which calls for operating the lights on flashing amber and red between the hours of 1 and 7 a.m.

A firm of bonding attorneys in Minneapolis advised against refunding city bonds at this time, alderman E. B. Benson reported to the council following a conference with the attorneys. Benson also reported that the firm stated that arranging for revenue bonds for improving the water system would be difficult as long as the department was losing money in its operation.

The matter of street work was brought up and the council was in agreement that maintenance was necessary to improve the surface of streets and to alleviate the dust problem. Although no decision was reached, the preparation of plans for the year was agreed upon.

Dr. W. P. Kaisler reported on the city recreation program for the year including the better scheduling of the use of the ball park, the upkeep and policing of those facilities and the swimming program. The council approved the salaries of personnel supervising the recreation program.

Farmers in the Agder, Excel, Norden, Silverton and Smiley townships would pay for their 67% share of the cost of a new fire truck on the basis of assessed valuation using a rate of 20 mills, the council was told by representatives of those areas. Under the proposed assessment, Agder twp. would pay $968, Excel twp. would pay $2,940, Norden twp. would pay $2,294, Silverton twp. would pay $2,170 and Smiley twp. would pay $3,000. This total of $11,373 for a new truck would mean the city would need to pay 33% or $6,627. The matter will be further discussed at the April 27 adjourned meeting.

Three bids totaling $7,849.25 were accepted by the council for piping and equipment to put another water filter bed into operation in the city treatment plant. Successful bidders were B.I.F. Industries for the filter underdrains and flow tube, Infilco, Inc., $3,056 for controller and cables and James D. Clough & Sons, $3,236.25 for valves and other equipment.

All bids submitted to furnish a new garbage truck to the city were tabled until the May 19 council meeting. A wide variety of bids were submitted ranging from a low of $6,995 for a truck and body to $8,622. Much of the variation was due to the different body capacities, truck sizes and equipment and other factors which will need to be studied before a decision is reached.

Building permits were approved as follows; Lutheran Brethren church, Sixth and Dewey, $29,000 edifice; Ingvald Knutson, 928 Horace ave. N., addition to dwelling and garage, $900; O. E. Taxeraas, 920 Main ave. N., garage, $500; William Sandeen, Birch Lane dr., dwelling, $15,000; Iver Nelson & Sons, 415 Maple ave. S., dwelling, $14,000; Stanley Ranum, 526 Kneale ave. S., dwelling, $18,500; Stanley Ranum, 520 Kneale ave. S., dwelling, $18,500; Orville Ostrand, 414 Tindolph ave. S., addition to dwelling, $2,000; Walter Morehouse, 113 Spruce ave. N., addition to dwelling and domestic garage, $3,000; and Orville Dahl, 916 Horace ave. S., garage, $350.

Knox PTA in Final Regular Meeting

Tumblers of Grades 5 and 6 Present Demonstrations

The Knox PTA unit met Monday evening in the school gym with Gordon Ballingrud, presiding. Devotions were given by Lt. R. T. Burkhardt.

It was announced that the District PTA workshop will be held here on April 29 at Lincoln high school, 2:30 and 8:00 P.M. for the benefit of newly-elected PTA officers in the district. The workshop will be conducted by two state officers, Mrs. Struble and Mrs. Baylor.

The local scholarship fund was discussed. It was pointed out that if the local PTA groups contribute to the fund, it is possible that the scholarship may be awarded to someone interested in the teaching profession.

The group discussed the two laws before the state legislature regarding driver education for youth and the unlawful placing of certain vending machines in public places where young people congregate.

It was suggested by the PTA council that old magazines be sent to foreign countries under an International Friendship Magazine Program. This will be further considered by the PTA next fall.

A demonstration of tumbling, pyramids, stunts and rhythms was given by the Knox 5th and 6th grade girls under the direction of Quentin Jones and Lew E. Johnson.

Musical numbers were sung by the American Legion auxiliary chorus under the direction of Miss Nancy Granger.

Coffee was served by the kindergarten mothers, and the cookie jar was won by Mrs. Signe Nelson's first grade room.

80 Students from Newfolden to Join in Area Festival

Approximately 80 students from Newfolden high school will participate in the state area music festival to be held at Thief River Falls on Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25. The vocal groups and soloists are under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Olson and the instrumentalists are under the direction of Dennes L. Borman.

Groups competing at the festival will be the 45-voice mixed chorus and the 42-voice girls' glee club. They will compete on Saturday.

Ensembles competing are the boys' quartet and the girls' sextet. Soloists will be Karen Carlson, soprano; and Sousaphone soloist will be Wendell Wegge.

Washington PTA Inducts Officers

Local School Officials Hold Panel Discussion

The Washington PTA unit held its last regular meeting of the year Monday evening in the Washington gym.

Installation of the new officers was held. They are Dr. H. P. Wendt, president; Mrs. C. T. Reich, vice president; Mrs. Sig Folkedahl, second vice president; Mrs. Howard Brandt, secretary; and Mr. Arnold Hammer, treasurer.

The highlight of the program was a panel discussion of school affairs in general. The panel was made up of Dr. M. D. Starekow, representing the school board, Supt. I. T. Mickelson, Kermit Eastman, elementary school director, and Joseph Iverson, high school director. They conducted a discussion on various issues which were presented to them by the members in the audience.

Lester Vigness reported on the outcome of the Washington PTA production, "Showboat '59." He stated that the event was a success, and netted a fair sum to be applied on the scholarship to be given by the P.T.A.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Rev. H. Friedman Tells Rotary Club about U. S. Parks

Three Lincoln Students Tell of Experiences at Model U. N. in Winnipeg

Rev. Henry Friedman presented an interesting report on the national park system at the Rotary Club luncheon Monday noon. Illustrated by color slides of his own taking on camping trips, much of his talk was devoted to his experiences in visiting eight of the nation's 29 national parks.

Our national park system, which now includes 180 areas thruout the country, is one of our greatest heritages, he said. Last year they attracted 3 million visitors, and their popularity is steadily increasing. This system came into being in 1872 when congress appropriated funds for the establishment of Yellowstone National Park. The 29 parks that are now in the national system constitute more than one-half of the land area of the system.

Preceding Rev. Friedmans talk the Lincoln high school students who had represented the Rotary Club at the model United Nations Assembly in Winnipeg on April 3 and 4 were introduced by Joe Mrkonich of the high school faculty, who, with his wife, had accompanied them. In the assembly proceedings, the Thief River Falls delegates had represented Greece and Mary Demetrellou Greek exchange student, had participated as an observer.

The school delegates were Kay Wik of St. Hilaire and Jerry Jorgenson of this city. Jorgenson had participated in a western bloc discussion of a proposal by the delegates representing Sweden, recommending the occupying power in Germany should convene a meeting to arrange for the establisment of a free and unified Germany. Each of the students responded with a short report on their experiences and expressed their appreciation for the privilege of attending.

Jaycees to Elect Officers Tonight

District 16 PTA Plans Institute Here Wednesday

Mrs. Ellen D. Bieler of National Congress to Hold School of Instruction

MRS. ELLEN D. BIELER

District 16 of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold a school of instruction Wednesday, April 29, at Lincoln high school at Thief River Falls. Sessions will be held from 2:30 to 9 p.m., it was announced by Mrs. James Wells of Goodridge, district president.

Mrs. Ellen Dell Bieler, a field worker for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be in charge, with Mrs. Helen Struble, president of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers, accompanying her.

Mrs. Beiler has traveled thousands of miles all across the country and shared the plans and problems of many thousand of PTA workers in state congresses, districts, councils and local units.

Mrs. Beiler's training in the fields of psychology and human relations especially qualify her as a consultant in parent-teacher work. Her previous experience includes serving as guidance director in the public schools and teaching psychology at Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill. For several seasons she was in charge of health and hospital services at youth camps.

Outside her professional activities, Mrs. Beiler has always found time to participate in activities for community betterment, having been at various times leader and consultant for youth groups and a member of the library board and the recreation commission in her home town, Western Springs, Ill.

It is hoped that every unit in District 16 will send its officers and chairmen to this school of instruction, said Mrs. Wells.

Lincoln Junior to Go to Girls State

Mary Lou Anderson Is Selected by Classmates

Mary Lou Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Metusalem, 220 Merriam ave. N., has been selected to represent Thief River Falls at the annual Girl's State at the state fair grounds in St. Paul June 18 to 25. It was announced by the American Legion auxiliary, sponsors of the event.

Karin Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Larson, 112 Markley ave. S., was selected as alternate.

The candidates, all from the Lincoln high school junior class, were narrowed down to six in number and a vote of the students and the faculty decided the winner. Applicants for the honor were restricted to those in the upper third of the class and the judging was conducted on the basis of leadership, character, courage, honesty and cooperativeness.

Girls who attend Girls' State hear lectures by government officials on citizenship, Americanism, and civic and personal problems, and are taken on conducted tours of the state capitol and other points of interest.

Highlight of the week is the election of girls to state, county and local offices and the holding of legislative sessions.

Lincoln High PTA to Meet Monday

To Hear Musicians and View Project Exhibits

The Lincoln high school PTA unit will hold its last regular meeting of the school year next Monday evening, April 27, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium, Merle Lindberg, president stated today.

The program will be supplied by members of the Lincoln band, chorus and orchestra, which received "A" ratings at the District 31 music festival in Crookston.

Following the program, the audience will adjourn to the school cafeteria to inspect an exhibit of student projects completed during the school year in junior and senior high.

Heart Ailments Conference Topic in Minneapolis

7 Persons Fined in Municipal Court over the Weekend

Speeding Most Common Offense; Minor Charged with Possession of Beer

Two light sessions of municipal court were held Saturday and Monday, with seven persons appearing before Judge H. O. Chommie on a variety of offenses.

Two cases were heard Saturday. The city police brought in Ralph E. Brown, Grand Rapids, on a speeding charge, to which he pleaded guilty and was fined $10 plus $4.

Brought in on the same offense by the highway patrol was Dean A. Larson, city, who pleaded guilty and was fined $12.50 plus $4.

The remainder of the cases were heard Monday. Dean A. Larson, arrested again for speeding by city police, forfeited $17 bond, while the others appeared for hearings.

Charles E. Fournier, Warren, pleaded guilty as charged by the highway patrol of driving over the center line and was fined $10 plus $4 costs, while David E. Bruggeman, rt. 3, paid the same fine and costs after pleading guilty to a speeding charge.

Charged by the sheriff's office with careless driving, Sherman T. Groven, rural Goodridge, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 plus $5.50.

Two cases were brought by city police Monday. Loren D. Klopp, city, pleaded guilty to possession of beer by a minor and was fined $10 plus $4.

Allan D. Alby, rural Thief River Falls, pleaded guilty to driving too fast for conditions and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Teen-age Car Club Offers Services

To Haul Away Trash During Cleanup Week

A local teen-agers' car club is offering their services to help city residents get rid of the winter's accumulation of trash Friday and Saturday.

The youthful drivers, who call themselves the "Road Runners" are offering the services of two trucks to haul spring cleaners' trash at a very nominal 50c a load, they announced today.

Not only is their promotion timed to coincide with clean-up week, but is an effort to foster good relations between club members and the public, Road Runners President Neil Gillespie said. The club stresses good driving habits, sportsmanship, and courtesy on the road, he added.

Those local residents who wish to take advantage of the Road Runners' offer may call MU 1-9908, which is Lund's Standard Service number, all day Friday and Saturday.

Public Opinion

Editor, Times:

I am writing this letter of protest against our State Fish and Wildlife service in respect to the proposed refuge and public hunting ground to be located in the vicinity of Elm Lake. I believe if this area is put into refuge, it would mean more harm than good to our upland game.

The first big mistake in the building of this refuge would be the building of the roads. This would make it another "Thief Lake" where the hunters come by the hundreds. If any of you have hunted in this area during the first day of waterfowl season, you will know what it's like. In some places around Thief lake it would be desirable to install traffic lights.

Why not leave this Elm Lake area as it is now? It's about one of the last places left to hunt without rubbing fenders with another hunter. Then again, if this project is carried out, it would mean an added influx of Twin City hunters (?), who are noted for their hunting tactics of "skybusting" and other unsportsman-like tactics.

I don't claim to be an Anti-Wetland, but here is one time that not only myself, but all of local sportsmen should back and support this organization. If our conservation department is so anxious to build refuges, why don't they build some of these refuges in the central or southern part of the state where the water is more plentiful? Minnesota is noted for being the "land of ten thousand lakes," so you would think they (Conservation dept.) shouldn't have much trouble in finding more desirable sites than the one proposed.

—A Wetland who's gone dry.

Editor, Times:

In the current campaign of attacking railroad workers with the unjust charges of "featherbedding" the carriers have indicated they will attempt to abolish more brakeman and fireman jobs.

The railroads are ignoring the safety factor in this drive. The ICC figures show that in rail mishaps 15 passengers were killed and 1,617 injured in 1957. In 1958 the totals were 61 killed and 1,641 injured.

Among the workers there were 196 killed and 12,252 injured in 1957. In 1958, 187 were killed and 12,899 injured.

Crews of the present size were set up when freight trains averaged about a third of the size that they are today and many freight trains are made up of over 200 cars and will be still increased. These long trains do not call for smaller crews to carry out the operation safely.

W. P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, stated, "Management plans to continue to snub safety by attacking rules which railroad workers and their unions have obtained in collective bargaining to safeguard the lives of 'rail' and the traveling public."

Lunch was served by Mrs. Christ Haugen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kolsness and family called at the Alton Kolsness home in Bray twp. Tuesday evening. The occasion was Mrs. Alton Kolsness' birthday.

Attend Convention

Mrs. Ted Halbasch and Mrs. Clyde Swenson accompanied Rev. Weltzin of Viking to a convention at the Skjeberg Lutheran church near Drayton, N. D., Monday. A group of sixteen delegates went from this area. Mrs. Halbasch and Mrs. Swenson were representatives of the Oakridge congregation.

A special invitation is again given to any school age children in the Oakridge area to come to Sunday school at 1:30.

Sunday guests at the Clyde Swenson home were Mrs. Swenson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nelson of Goodridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Phillip and family of Smiley. They helped Mrs. Swenson celebrate her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kolsness and family were dinner guests at the Alec Jagol home near Angus Sunday. In the afternoon, they called and were luncheon guests at Mr. Kolsness' parents home, the Hjalmer Kolsness, who live near Euclid.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Skadsem and son, Michael of Newfolden were dinner guests Friday at the Clyde Swenson home.

Mrs. Duane Vatsaas (formerly Pauline Halbasch) and family spent Thursday at the Ted Halbasch home. The Vatsaas' live northeast of Thief River Falls now. Mr. Wm. Halbasch and son, Bruce, of Thief River Falls were lunch guests Wednesday afternoon.

4-H CLUB NEWS

New Solum 4-H

The New Solum 4-H club met at the Rosebank school April 16. Business for the evening was a reminder of the share-the-fun contest and the good grooming contest on May 15, and a reminder also that the 4-H club will be giving the program at the Rindal Luther League on May 3 in observance of 4-H Rural Life Sunday. It was decided to buy a Mothers Day plant to be given to a mother who has been ill or any community mother.

Paul Steimaschuk told of the rodent bait that could be ordered through the county extension office and also told the club that the final date for changing projects is May 22. Mr. Steimaschuk stressed the importance of the electrification project and encouraged all members to participate.

The program consisted of group singing, demonstrations by Judy Anderson on "How to Make a Centerpiece for the Table," and by Karen Kron on How to Make Lemonade Eggnog. At the close of the evening a film on the 1958 Northwest Dairy Day was shown.

Lunch was served by the Bert Kron family. —Elaine Hellquist, reporter.

Sanders 4-H Club

Sanders 4-H club held its April meeting in the Town Hall Wednesday evening.

A motion was made and passed to have a roller skating party and Lloyd Hoefer and Loren Swanson were named to arrange it. Linda Cameron, Sharon Swanson, Lloyd Hoefer and Earl Hoefer were chosen to take part in the good grooming contest in May.

Demonstrations were given by Andy Welsch and Loren Swanson. Linda Cameron and Sharon Swanson gave project reports.

The program consisted of readings and jokes and indoor games were played.

Refreshments were served by the Richard Swanson family. Our next meeting will be May 13 at the Town Hall. —Barbara Wold, reporter.

Steiner 4-H

The Steiner 4-H club met Friday evening, April 10, at the hall. The meeting was called to order by Pat Hornseth, president. New business was the good grooming and share-the-fun in May. Also 4-H club Sunday was discussed. Pat Hornseth appointed Richard Jorde, Bruce Russell, Kathy Solem and Pat Vafsaas to take charge of the program for 4-H Sunday.

The following program was given: The "Friendship Song" and the "Hawaiian Wedding Song" by Karen and Lorna Moe; a play, "Keeping it in the Family," by a group of 4-H members; a film by Les Kelfenheim of the REA in Red Lake Falls; and a song by Judy Kaushagen, Ruth Torgerson and Charlotte Myers.

Lunch was served by the Ted Hornseth and Elton Cummings families. —Ellen Jorde, reporter.

Four Grass Fires Here During Week

Fire Department Warns Against Setting Fires

City firemen have been called out four times in the past three days to extinguish grass fires, and issued a warning to residents that the dry, windy conditions that have prevailed for some time make burning without proper safety measures extremely hazardous.

Monday afternoon at 12:57, the rural fire truck was called out when fire from an incinerator spread to grass and rubbish endangering buildings at the Einar Meyer residence immediately west of Long's bridge.

Tuesday, city firemen were called at 12.10 p.m. when a grass fire, started by three small boys in the 500 block on Crocker ave. S. spread through dry grass. The fire was put out with hand extinguishers and the boys received a lecture by police.

Wednesday afternoon, two alarms were answered. The first, at 1:45 o'clock, was at Kife's cafe where a fire, set to burn off dead grass, got out of control. The blaze was put out with no damage reported. At 2 o'clock, the rural fire truck was called to the William Robson residence north of the roundhouse where fire of unknown origin burned over several acres of grass and destroyed a pile of baled hay.

Chilly 22 Degrees Noted Here Today

Low Temperatures Are Forecast Again Tonight

A mass of cool Canadian air pushed down as far as Iowa Wednesday night sending temperatures into the low 20's in this area during the night.

The thermometer at the KTRF weather station recorded an overnight low of 22 and is not expected to get above 38 to 48 today. Continued cool is expected tomorrow with partly cloudy skies. The last measurable amount of rain, .15 inches, fell April 6 but no really good precipitation has fallen since Feb. 8 when 5 inches of snow fell.

The highest temperature this week have been the 63's recorded Tuesday and Wednesday. The low tonight is expected to be in the 20's.

Warren Track Team Winner of TRF Meet

The Warren high school Ponies, showing fine all-round squad balance, won the track meet held at the Lincoln high school field here Tuesday afternoon, scoring a total of 86 points. The Thief River Falls Prowlers scored a total of 49 points; while coach Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles, with only four boys participating in the meet, scored 17 points.

The meet's double winners were the Prowlers' Phil Hanson, who won the hurdle events, and Warren's Bill Gilbert, who won the high jump and the broad jump.

Phil Hanson, gaining a fourth place in the 220-yard dash, tied Warren's sturdy Brian Black for high-point honors, with each athlete having eleven points. Black, who won the 220-yard dash, picked up second place finishes in the 100-yard dash and the shot put.

Coach Rodney Max will take his Prowler track squad to Grand Forks on Saturday for the 13th annual Sioux Relays.

The results of Tuesday afternoon's meet.

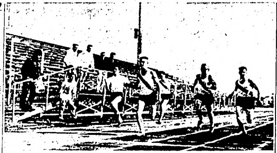
Roger Anderson Named to 'U' Post

Roger E. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Anderson of St. Hilaire, has been elected to a two-year term on the student council of the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota, representing the college of agriculture. The council is the governing body for students on the St. Paul campus. Roger, a 1957 graduate of Lincoln high school, also is a member of Farm House fraternity.



DASH WINNER Arlan Hjelle (foreground) of the Prowlers breaks the tape in the 100-yard dash event to score a first for the Prowlers in Tuesday's meet. Hjelle's time for the "century" was 10.9.

COACH Ralph Skay, Lincoln high school athletic director and baseball coach, will be starting his seventh season as Prowler baseball mentor on Friday when the locals meet Goodridge on the Fair Grounds diamond.

HURDLER The Prowlers' Phil Hanson skips over the first hurdle on his way to a first place win in the high hurdle event in the three-school track meet held here Tuesday afternoon. Hanson also won the low hurdle event later on in the program. The Warren Ponies won the meet with 86 points, Thief River Falls was second with 49 points, and Red Lake Falls third with 17.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Prowler Season-opener

Coach Ralph Skay will send his baseball Prowlers, dressed in their new uniforms, out on the Fair Grounds diamond Friday afternoon to engage the Goodridge Huskies in a schedule-opening game. The game will be called into action at 6:00 p.m.

Coach Skay announced that the Prowler pitching staff would share the hurling duties against the Huskies, with Drees, a four-year veteran, starting the game.

Six of the players in this starting lineup were starters in last season's opener against Goodridge, and which was won by the Prowlers, 9 to 1. Missing from this season's campaign are Dean Bergland, Tony Wald and Mike Poole, the trio having graduated last spring.

Skay's Seventh Year

Friday evening's tilt will mark the beginning of Ralph Skay's seventh year as Prowler baseball coach. During the six years that Ralph has coached the locals, the Prowlers have racked up a total of 81 victories and lost but 23 games. Included in those victories are five district championship final triumphs, one regional championship win, and one state high school turnament consolation victory.

It will be recalled that last year the Prowlers had their district championshp winning streak, which had reached seven (Bob Nick coached the Prowlers to district titles in 1952 and 1953) broken by the Crookston Pirates, who defeated the locals, 1 to 0, in the finals of the tourney played here.

And if you miss Friday evening's opener, you will have another opportunity to watch the Prowlers in early-season play when, on Monday evening, they meet the Roseau Rams at the Fair Grounds.

An Object Lesson

It's hockey playoff time in Winnipeg, and we've been making pilgrimages to the Winnipeg arena to witness several of these playoff games. Last week, Carl Wennberg and I drove up there to cheer the professional hockey Winnipeg Warriors in their Western Hockey league playoff game against the Calgary Stampeders. Our cheers proved to no avail as the burly Calgary team, with former Denver University center-ice star, Bill Hay, scoring twice, defeated the Warriors, 5 to 4.

The past two weekends we have been in a group that included hockey Prowlers Dale Wennberg, Arlan Hjelle and Eddie Holmes (and such future Prowler hockey performers as Elroy Frolland and Bobby Stordahl) that made the 160-mile trip to Winnipeg for the western Canada junior hockey finals.

The Winnipeg Braves won the western Canada finals, four games to two, by defeating the highly-touted Flin Flon Bombers. In the games that we witnessed, the Braves defeated Flin Flon, 5 to 2 and 3 to 0.

The games should have provided an object lesson to the Prowlers, for the Braves were definite shortenders in their series against Flin Flon. The Flin Flon team outweighed the Winnipeg team an average of 20 pounds per player; and on advance publicity and prestige, the Bombers had a tremendous advantage. The Bomber lineup boasted such players as Gord (Red) Berenson, Dick Meissner, and Cliff Pennington, a trio that has been labeled as Canada's best young hockey prospects with a professional league future. The Braves, refusing to be awed by the Flin Flon reputation, put on a tenacious checking exhibition, and the Bombers, except for the first two games, which they won, were unable to unwind their high-scoring offense.

This week the Braves begin play in the Memorial cup finals, for Canada's junior hockey championship, meeting the Peterborough Petes. Games will be played at the Winnipeg Arena on Friday night, Sunday afternoon, and Tuesday night.

Calling All Senior Baseballers

There will be a practice session, for the Thieves and the Bums baseball squads, at the Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon.

Following limbering-up exercises, and batting drills, if there are enough players available, the two teams will engage in an informal game. 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon is the time.

Prowler Ball Club to Start Season Friday

Coach Ralph Skay has arranged an attractive sixteen-game schedule for his Prowler baseball squad. The season will open on Friday evening when, in a game that will start at 6:00 P.M., the Prowlers meet coach Julian (Curly) Gasperlin's Goodridge Huskies on the Fair Grounds diamond. Last season the two clubs met in a game played on the Goodridge diamond, and the Prowlers scored a 9 to 1 win over the Huskies.

On Monday evening, April 27, the Prowlers will play the highly-rated Roseau Rams of district 32 on the Fair Grounds diamond, with "play ball" time stated for 6:00 P.M.

A look at the Prowler schedule reveals that the local club will be playing such teams as Bemidji, Ada, Fertile, Crookston, Fosston, Roseau, Bagley, and others. These teams are district and regional contenders.

It is probable that coach Skay will give his pitching staff — righthanders Harlie Drees, Arlan Hjelle, and Mickey Hanson—an opportunity against the Huskies on Friday, with each pitcher hurling two or three innings. In last season's opener against Goodridge, Drees, Hjelle and Paul Saurdiff shared the pitching chores, with Drees being the starter.

The 1959 Prowler baseball schedule:

April 24, Goodridge, here, 6:00 P.M.
April 27, Roseau, here, 6:00 P.M.
April 30, Red Lake Falls, there, 5:30 P.M.
May 1, Climax, here, 6:00 P.M.
May 4, Warren, there, 8:00 P.M.
May 7, Oslo, here, 6:00 P.M.
May 8, Fertile, there, 8:00 P.M.
May 11, Warren, here, 8:00 P.M.
May 14, Red Lake Falls, here, 8:00 P.M.
May 15, Ada, there, 8:00 P.M.
May 18, Cass Lake, here, 8:00 P.M.
May 21, Crookston, there, 5:00 P.M.
May 22, Bemidji, here, 8:00 P.M.
May 25, Fosston, here, 8:00 P.M.
May 27, Bagley, there, 8:00 P.M.
May 28, Crookston, here, 8:00 P.M.
31st district tournament here, June 3, 4, and 5.

Physical Fitness Is Parley Topic April 26

Governor Orville L. Freeman has announced that the first Governor's Physical Fitness Conference will be held Sunday and Monday, April 26th and 27th in the Calhoun Beach Hotel, Minneapolis.

The conference, sponsored by the Governor's advisory physical fitness committee, is Minnesota's initial step in answering an urgent plea from the President's council on youth fitness that all states develop fitness programs for youth at local community levels.

Plans for the conference were started more than a year ago when Governor Freeman appointed a pre-planning committee to investigate the problems concerned with youth physical fitness and to formulate a plan of action for a state-wide youth fitness program. As a result of this investigation a physical fitness committee has been established as a panel within the framework of the Governor's council on children and youth. William E. Proffitt, M.D., of Minneapolis, accepted the Governor's request to head this panel. James K. Michie, superintendent of schools at St. Cloud, Minn. and Ruth Schellberg, Ph.D., of Mankato State College were appointed to serve as co-vice chairmen.

The first meeting with full membership of the advisory committee was held January 30, in the form of a physical fitness workshop where plans and materials were prepared for the first Governor's physical fitness conference.

Proffitt said that 350 community civic leaders and educators from all parts of Minnesota have been invited for the two day conference. Included is Quentin Jones of the Thief River Falls school faculty.

The conferees, representing law, business, medicine, labor, ministry, recreation, school administration, teachers and parents, will be asked by Governor Freeman to spearhead district and local conferences which will develop fitness programs for youth in every Minnesota community.

The purpose of the state conference will be to familiarize the participants with the effort and objectives of the Governor's Advisory Committee, Proffitt said. This will be done by providing the conferees with a kit, previously developed by the committee, which includes all facets of a physical fitness program. The primary work will center around the technique of organizing, developing and maintaining a fitness program in a community.

Concert Given by Newfolden Band

The senior band of the Newfolden high school played its annual spring concert Tuesday evening, April 14, before an appreciative audience of over 200 persons. The band, under the direction of Dennes L. Borman, presented an excellent concert. On Sunday afternoon, April 26, the junior band, also under the baton of Mr. Borman, will present its spring concert.

Heeding Law Key to Reduction of Traffic Mishaps

Complete Understanding of Regulations Needed, Safety Leader Declares

Knowledge and complete understanding of Minnesota's traffic laws was pointed up as one major key to a substantial reduction of traffic accidents today. Mark Markson, head of the Minnesota highway department's safety promotion division, explained that this feeling among traffic safety workers stems from a gradual but constantly enlarging traffic problem in Minnesota.

Markson pointed out that Minnesota is not alone in this situation, almost every state in the Union faces a similar problem. He cited several reasons for this rise. The act of driving has graduated from the part-time recreational status it once enjoyed. In the early days, a time of few vehicles and few roads, the automobile was locked upon as a novelty. It wasn't taken seriously. But today the automobile has left the luxury class and has become a necessity. A comparison might be made with education.

Very few people teach their own children. Formal education, whether in the public school system or in a private school, is required for all. But it is not unusual for a father to teach his sons or daughters to drive the family car. Formal driver education is still the exception, rather than the rule. Yet, with the ever increasing numbers of motor vehicles on the highways and the similarly increasing numbers of drivers, the automobile has grown out of the luxury status it once enjoyed. Markson emphasized that all drivers, not just truck drivers, must attain professional status in ability and attitude, with concern for the welfare of others.

Highway Patrol to Aid in Prevention of Forest Fires

Announcement was made today that the job of preventing forest and grass fires will be stepped up by a cooperative agreement between the division of forestry and the Minnesota Highway department.

Effective today, state highway patrolmen will maintain a constant watch for people starting fires along the highway, and question suspicious actions in an effort to apprehend violators of the burning laws and reduce the number of fires experienced this spring.

Actual arrest and prosecution of violations in court will be done by forestry personnel, Don Wilson, forester in charge of fire control in the division, and Paul R. Martz, highway patrol chief arranged the cooperative agreement.

Many Moose Found in N.E. Minnesota

Nearly 1,000 Counted in Lake & Cook Counties

A recent aerial census of moose in Cook and part of Lake counties indicates that as many as 1,000 of these animals may be present in the areas surveyed.

A warden service airplane out of Ely piloted by Warden Robert Hodge teamed up with a federal forest service plane to fly transects across this forested northeastern area in search of animals, winter yarding areas, tracks and other moose signs.

Warden Supervisor Earl Lhotka at Duluth reported the surveys were conducted in late February and throughout March. Snow depths during this period ranged from twelve to sixteen inches.

"The census teams covered all of Cook county, and township 55 and north in Lake county," explained Lhotka. "The transect lines they were flying were located on the township lines, thus giving good coverage for sampling purposes."

"Moose sign was evident everywhere throughout the area," Lhotka reported "except immediately along the North Shore. The census teams reported that as high as 30 animals were present in certain townships. They also reported the ratio of bulls to cows to be approximately 5:2."

"Deer sign was general throughout the area but heaviest along the North Shore. The aerial observers reported not seeing any moose kills from wolves."

"I feel certain that if we were able to census the entire moose range in Minnesota as intensively as we did this area, we would be surprised at the number of moose there are in this state," concluded Lhotka.

Good Job Prospects for '59 College Grads

Employment prospects for June college graduates of '59 are "better than pretty good," according to a preliminary report from Northwestern National Life Insurance company's annual college placement survey.

Defense industries, a badly curtailed area of the job market last spring, are active recruiters this year, particularly for engineers. Peacetime industries generally show only a small pickup from 1958 as yet, and some placement fields are still down. But salaries are creeping up again, all across the board — and 1958, which after a slow start turned out to be a pretty good year for college employment, with engineers nearly all placed by graduation, and with almost all available business and liberal arts graduates employed by fall.

But the '59 job market is unlikely to rival the hectic rush of '57, which is mighty good thing for Joe College himself, say placement officials. Flattest note in the preliminary report is the summer job outlook for undergraduates, which is very poor so far, say various schools consulted.

In contrast to a rash of cancellations of recruiting visits last spring, most of the cancelling firms have their scouts back on campus this year, along with some new concerns represented. The most optimistic early reports come from schools in the middle west, the south, and the pacific coast, says the insurance firm, which has begun its 24th annual survey of employment prospects at some 120 universities, colleges and technical schools.

Typical of the preliminary appraisals of the 1959 employment outlook was this from the University of Minnesota:

"Many more jobs available for science and liberal arts people; perhaps 25 per cent more offers so far for business graduates; too early to compare engineering demand with last year, but it looks as if there would be more jobs available at higher salaries. Situation is about right—graduates not being rushed,' but looks as if there would be jobs for all, with just enough competition."

Instrumentalists from Newfolden in District Event

Forty-five members of the Newfolden Community school instrumental department under the direction of Dennes L. Borman, participated in the District 32 instrumental music festival held at Greenbush Friday and Saturday, April 17 and 18. Wendell Wegge, senior tuba soloist, received an A— rating for his solo and will advance to the state area music festival on April 24, and 25, at Thief River Falls. Eleven soloists, four ensembles and the band competed in the festival. It was termed the largest representation from the Newfolden school to date.

The band received a B rating. The only band in Class IV, in which Newfolden competes, to receive an A rating was Hallock.

A program will be given Sunday afternoon, April 26, by the Junior band, also under Mr. Borman's baton. These future band members are working diligently to prepare for their concert.

"The world has become one city. We begin to see that only a sophomoric and stupendous conceit can justify the claims of any race of people to be wholly superior to any other. Hear! Hear!

John Foster Dulles has been a controversial figure during most of the time he has served our country as Secretary of State. Time and again, during the years of his leadership, we have been on the brink of war, and critics coined a new word, brinkmanship, as a descriptive of his policy. Now that he has retired, former critics have joined with those who have defended his policy, in recognition of the important contribution he has made, under most trying conditions, to the preservation of world peace.

Now that failing health has forced his retirement, the awareness of impending death no doubt is softened considerably for him by the fact that in his last days he is able to enjoy the satisfaction of recognition and success.

The following comments by Business Week are typical of the many tributes now being paid to Mr. Dulles and we are happy to pass them along with our own "Hear!-Hear!" of approval:

"Dulles has never faltered in his belief that the free world must meet Soviet agression with boldness and courage, that appeasement would only increase the danger of war. From his knowledge of the origins of World Wars I and II, he derived a strong conviction that the Communists must never be left in any doubt about our capacity, and our will, to meet any outright agression with force.

"His formulation of this policy frequently frightened the timid and less far-sighted. His phrase "massive retaliation" aroused a furor at home and abroad among many who failed to realize that Dulles was talking the only language the Communists could understand. When he frankly said that in dealing with such a foe we had to be ready to go to the brink of war, his enemies used the epithet "brinkmanship" in an effort to tear him down. Yet, today, it is generally recognized that Communist ambitions can be held in check only by our retaliatory power and by our determination to use it as a last resort rather than to surrender our principles.

"For all his toughness, Dulles has never been a warmonger. At least once, in his early days in office, the idea of preventive war was presented to him as a possible answer to the Soviet menace. He rejected such a course as repugnant to the whole American tradition. He has been convinced that if the U.S. maintained both its power and its principles, we could win the East-West struggle without subjecting the world to a holocaust. And his record proves what a master he was in the difficult art of keeping an appropriate balance between power and principle—the two essential attributes of an effective foreign policy in a democratic nation.

"If Dulles often seemed rigid in his diplomatic approach, it was not because he was inflexible, as so often charged. In beginning to prepare the U.S. position on Berlin, just before he was stricken down, he showed himself ready for a flexible approach to Soviet demands—one that would allow for the power realities in Berlin and still preserve basic Western rights there.

"Like many another American Secretary of State before him, Dulles has had to bear the slings and arrows of partisan attack at home. From abroad he has had to meet a constant stream of poisonous propaganda from the foe and more than a few malicious barbs from our allies. Fortunately, he always had the unfailing support of President Eisenhower. And though he may have been prone to run a one-man show at the State department, he also has had the loyal support of an able group of assistants.

"Perhaps the most extraordinary tribute to Dulles came when the nature of his illness was revealed some two months ago. Almost overnight, his detractors began to speak and write of him as an 'indispensable man.'

"To serve his country and his fellow men everywhere, Dulles has given his strength without stint. He has earned the respect and gratitude of all Americans. He has set a standard of devotion to duty and high principle that will be an inspiration for those who must now take up the unfinished business of securing peace and freedom in the world."

Direct Distance Dialing

Direct distance dialing is now available to phone users in our national capital, the Wall Street Journal informed us. Any Washingtonian can now dial direct to any one of 46 million phones in 2,500 cities in the United States and Canada. Thief River Falls is not one of the 2,500 cities, according to Al Bacon, in charge of Northwestern Bell operations in this area.

When will Thief River Falls phone users be able to dial direct to 46 million phones throughout the North American continent? On this question Mr. Bacon was a little evasive. There is no official guesstimate. Only the official reports of the company's unofficial supposers were available. Probably in 1960 or 1961 would the company proudly proclaim to an anxious world that Thief River Falls now is in contact by direct dialing.

And with all the equipment that has been installed here, why the delay? It is an distance calls requires a tape recording of accounting problem. Direct dialing of long whatever information may be needed for bookkeeping purposes. That sounds reasonable. Thank you, Al Bacon, for the answers.

Not the Time to Retreat

There has been some criticism here at home, and also among friendly nations in Europe, of the refusal of our government to yield to the demands of the Russians that our planes, flying the corridor to Berlin, confine themselves to a low altitude. In this matter the extent of the limitation is not important. The real question is whether or not we are going to recognize the right of the Russians to impose any limitation. If they can order our planes to remain under a 10,000 ft. ceiling, they of course have the right to any the ceiling shall be only 1,000 ft.

It is our declared intention to fight if necessary to maintain the freedom of West Berlin. That declaration has the support of the leaders of both of our political parties, and, we think, an overwhelming majority of our people. We are not going to turn West Berlin over to the Communists and if that means a fight then let's slug it out now. When we start backing up from the Russians, that is the time we will really be in trouble.

Feted on Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dahlen, Mrs. Olaf Dahlen and Becky, Mrs. A. B. Johnstud all of Thief River Falls and Mrs. G. Skreland, Martha, Walter, Gloria and Marion of Goodridge surprised Mrs. Arnold Hammer on her birthday Saturday, April 11. The guests brought a birthday cake and gifts for the honored guest. The afternoon was spent visiting, after which lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja drove to Breckenridge last Friday to pick up their grandchildren, Terry and Michael Claffy, returning home the same day. Mr. and Mrs. Claffy then left for the weekend in Minneapolis where they attended the Ice Follies and did some shopping. The Claffys came here Sunday to get their youngsters and returned to Breckenridge Monday morning.

Sunday afternoon guests at the Adam Lendobeja home were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Ada and Olaf Jorde, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jaenette and James and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson. The reason for the family gathering was to honor Mrs. Lloyd Johnson on her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stenseth and Carol were in Fargo last Wednesday. Mr. Stenseth took care of several business matters while Mrs. Stenseth and Carol went shopping.

Miss Ruth Shelveland of Thief River Falls was a supper guest Wednesday evening at the Vivian McCrum home.

The folks from this area who attended the 4-H elimination plays contest at Goodridge Monday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, Mrs. Norton Nelson, Shawn and Nelda, Mrs. Olga Konickson, Mrs. Anton Torkelson and Corrine.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Heltne and family of Goodridge were Friday evening visitors at the Adam Lendobeja home.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

from the Desk of SENATOR HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Department of science — Last week I began hearings on legislation which could have a tremendous effect on the future scientific life of our nation, my proposal that we set up a new Department of Science and Technology — headed by a cabinet-level secretary. These hearings are the culmination of well over a year of study and research by the staff of the committee on government operations, into the question of whether the scientific efforts of our government are sufficiently organized and staffed to deal with the increasingly great problems of modern technology.

Science in the wings—Fourteen years ago, the eminent statesman Vannevar Bush declared: "We have no national policy for science. The government has only begun to utilize science in the nation's welfare. There is nobody within the government charged with formulating or executing national science policy. . . . Science has been in the wings. It should be brought to the center of the stage." And this, of course, is exactly what we are trying to do with my bill for a Department of Science. You know, everybody's business is liable to become nobody's business. And that is about the situation today—as it was in 1945. If we continue to leave the job of encouraging and strengthening scientific effort in the hands of men scattered through a score of federal agencies, I am afraid we are simply not going to be able to meet and cope with the bold and vigorous scientific and technological challenge of the Soviet Union. Surely, one step forward in our effort to mobilize our best brains and talent in the growing political, economic and military struggle with the Soviets, will be to assign this prime responsibility to a Secretary of Science and Technology.

Communications — In scientific effort, as well as in diplomacy and commerce, knowledge of foreign languages is vital. Here again, in foreign language training, we see the caliber of the Soviet opposition emerging: each of Russia's 15 million high school students is required to study a foreign language. Forty-five per cent are studying English! Yet less than 15 per cent of our own high school students is studying ANY foreign language, and only ten high schools in the country offer Russian as a course. About half the Russian scientists can read directly our scientific publications in English. Yet, not more than 1000 or perhaps a million American scientists and engineers can read Russian.

Language training — A sharp stimulus to language teaching in our schools was given in our National Defense Education Act passed last year by Congress, but there is much yet to be done. I have just issued a subcommittee report on language training in our federal government, which indicates a real need for overhaul, reorganization and strengthening of these training programs for our diplomats, our military personnel and other officials who represent us overseas in a hundred different areas. Here again is a problem and a challenge which demands informed, active national leadership to meet deep and pervasive national problems.

GOPHER STATE OIL WANTS ESTABLISHED OIL DISTRIBUTORS

Increased production capacity at their Twin Cities oil re-refinery plant has just been announced by Gopher State Oil Company. As a result, the firm is now in a position to supply Index Re-Refined Motor Oil to established dealers and jobbers all over the Northwest.

This is the first time that Index Re-Refined Motor Oil has been generally available for consumer use, in quantity. So much was required by large industrial users including major air lines, railroads, bus and trucking companies, there just was not enough to go around. Now motorists will be able to discover for themselves how big commercial users get top lubrication, at less cost, with Index Re-Refined Motor Oil.

According to Gopher State Oil Company, their new Index Re-Refined Motor Oil is the finest they have yet produced. It is tougher and better because it is triply refined. Index is available in quarts, drums, and bulk. Every gallon is unconditionally guaranteed.

Established dealers and jobbers who take on Index Re-Refined Motor Oil now will enjoy increased revenue, and bigger profits. Write or phone for complete information today!

TOP TV—The Dinah Shore Chevy Show—Sunday—NBC-TV and the Pat Boone Chevy Showroom—weekly on ABC-TV.

In this Kingswood, every window is Safety Plate Glass.

Nicest wagon that ever joined your family!

Chevy's station wagons should really be called family wagons. You can choose from five models, including the four-door nine-passenger Kingswood, with its rear-facing rear seat.

Here's a brisk and breezy wagon that'll take on any chore you name, from a trip to the beach to a journey home from the lumberyard. There's room, you see, for a whole half-ton of cargo—a space ten feet long, with the rear seat and tailgate down.

These wagons are easy to load, too—you just roll the rear window into the tailgate and flip it down flat. No liftgate to wrestle with.

Chevrolet's so easy to handle it's a natural for the lady of the house. Big, safer brakes, too. Chevy's even got bigger tires—they come as standard equipment on every one of our wagons. But why not fall in love with a Chevy firsthand—at your Chevrolet dealer's!

CANDID COMMENT

by Mack Draper

The speaker at last Thursday's Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting put all the cards on the table.

Dale McIver, state commissioner of aeronautics, echoed the CAB ruling of, "Use it or lose it," in regard to North Central airline service to our hometown airport, and said that if we can't bring our outbound traffic up to 1800 boardings a year (that's a mere five per day) we have had it.

There are those in town who don't give a hoot either way. Then there are those who would be happy to see the airline leave. BUT TO EVERY CITIZEN OF THIEF RIVER FALLS WHO IS INTERESTED IN MAINTAINING OUR CITY'S GROWTH AND PROGRESS, LOSS OF AIRLINE SERVICE HERE WILL BE A SAD LOSS.

For the past few years we have maintained traffic at the rate of over 1200 boardings but just can't seem to squeeze out enough to make the required 1800.

McIver recognized that we need the service. He recognized that we have a hard time making the required number of boardings. He also recognized that a lot of northwest Minnesota people board the Northliners at Grand Forks when they could just as well get on here.

These matters will carry little weight when the FAA hearings are conducted at some future date, however. Those FAA examiners have all the answers because they've heard all these excuses before.

McIver didn't say we should desert the trains, buses or private automobile just to patronize the airline. Each has its rightful place and one is just as important as the other in every community. BUT, he did say that when the proper need and opportunity to make use of the airline service arises we should use it —and try to talk others who could profit by using it into doing so as well.

I'll admit, I've never been on any airliner—the only time I've ridden a DC-3 was when they were equipped with bucket seats and were known as C-47's. But, the reason I've never ridden an airliner is that I seldom go anywhere. It's that simple, and we have no quarrel with anyone who gives the same reason for not using the service.

However, there are lots of folks who take trips occasionally and could save precious time and easily afford to ride the planes too. These are the people who can make the difference between losing the line and keeping it here, merely by leaving the car at home and going by air.

If North Central bypasses us in the future we will have lost a badly needed service, but worst of all, Thief River Falls will have also lost prestige. This isn't a loss just to a few of us—this affects us all whether we use the airlines or not. We need the airlines to assure our future growth. We have it—LET'S NOT LET IT GO BY THE BOARDS!

While chiding us for not making use of one facility at the airport, McIver patted us on the back for being the hub of aviation activity in northwest Minnesota. Perhaps you don't realize the importance of our installation.

Perhaps you'll be a little more impressed when you are informed that our presently inadequate repair and maintenance facility is servicing two aviation firms from Fargo and Grand Forks. That's right. They look to Thief River Falls for service and when we get our FAA Class I and III repair station going, even more out-of-town people will become users of our fine airport.

Not too bad for being a convenience some local folks said we didn't need, don't you agree? As McIver said, we in Thief River Falls are aware of the Air Age and are doing something about it, to the benefit of our youth and all of us. But, let's not rest on our laurels — let's keep the airline here, too!

GRAVEDIGGER? . . . Farmer August Bruns Jr. doesn't worry about ghosts although his farm in Illinois is located above an ancient prehistoric burial site.

Must Remove Objects on Auto Windshields

Dice, baby shoes, dolls and other assorted objects must roll from all Minnesota cars as the state's traffic code was amended by the legislature to prohibit "any objects suspended between the driver and windshield, other than sun visors and rear vision mirrors."

The amendment to Section 169.-71, Minnesota Statutes 1957, was made by Chapter 174 of the session laws signed into law on April 3 by Governor Orville L. Freeman. The law became effective upon signing.

The complete section reads: 'No persons shall drive or operate any motor vehicle with a windshield cracked or discolored to an extent to limit or obstruct proper vision, or with any objects suspended between the driver and windshield, other than sun visors and rear vision mirrors, or with any sign, poster, or other non-transparent material upon the front windshield, sidewings, side or rear windows of such vehicle, other than a certificate or other required to be so displayed by law, or authorized by the state director of civil defense."

"This is a very important safety measure," Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director pointed out. "Over 90% of a driver's reaction to a situation depends upon how clearly he sees and how quickly he sees. Anything which might obstruct his vision to any extent could contribute to a serious accident."

Sieben said the American Optometric association has been studying the use of dice, dolls, shoes and other dangling items and discovered that a surprisingly large area was hidden from the driver. The association pointed out that a pair of four inch dice hanging from a mirror, will block out an area slightly in excess of 3,000 square feet at a distance of 100 feet.

Too often, Sieben added, those objects suspended from rear view mirrors have a motion imported by the movement of the car. This pendulous motion camouflagues a very critical area of vision, almost completely obscuring cars approaching from the side or children running which would otherwise be seen by the driver.

GARRY OATS REACH ALMOST 100 BU. ACRE

An adjusted grand average of oats yields on eight University experimental fields places the honors on Garry variety with a yield of 85.2 bushels per acre, puts Bonda low at 51.2 bushels. Individual high was 99.6 bushels per acre, by Garry at Morris, low was 39.3 by Bonda at SW station. Minland was earliest heading, June 18, Vicar latest, June 30, also tallest, 42 inches, with Ransom shortest at 36 inches. Minhafer had the lowest lodgin count, Branch the highest, Andrew the lowest hull perfentage, 26.9, Branch the highest, 33.7. Minland averaged lightest, 30.2 pounds per bushel, Vicar heaviest, 35.8 pounds.

In the United States, the word "coal" is now almost synonymous with bituminous or soft coal, since the output of Pennsylvania anthracite, or hard coal has dwindled to a mere 5 per cent of the total.

4-H Plays and Music

Last week was a grand tour of entertainment with the elimination contests for 4-H plays and music held three nights, consecutively at Goodridge, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls. The finalists in the plays, Sanders, Kratka and Steiner gave their plays in Thief River Falls on Friday night with Steiner chosen from the county to be the contestant at Red Lake Falls. In the music, Smiley, Deer Park, St. Hilaire, Mavie and Steiner were the finalists, and from this group Steiner and Deer Park were chosen. The best actress and actor picked were Ellen Jorde and Andy Welch. Our congratulations to the winners and to all who took part. A great deal of hard work, time and energy goes into such a production. A pat in the back to 4-H leaders, coaches and members who helped to make several evenings of good entertainment for the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Benson and children were callers last Sunday at the J. C. Lendobeja home. The J. C. Lendobeja's accompanied them home for supper and to see the newly constructed Benson home near the Thief River Falls airport.

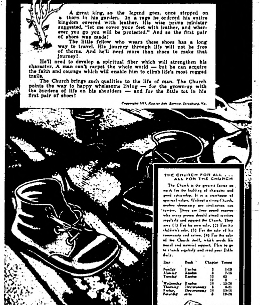
OUR FIRST PAIR OF SHOES



A great king, so the legend goes, once stepped on a thorn in his garden. In a rage he ordered his entire kingdom covered with leather. His wise prime minister suggested, "let me cover your feet with leather, and wherever you go you will be protected." And so the first pair of shoes was made!

The little fellow who wears these shoes has a long way to travel. His journey through life will not be free of thorns. And he'll need more than shoes to make that journey!

He'll need to develop a spiritual fiber which will strengthen his character. A man can't carpet the whole world — but he can acquire the faith and courage which will enable him to climb life's most rugged trails.

The Church brings such qualities to the life of man. The Church points the way to happy wholesome living — for the grown-up with the burdens of life on his shoulders — and for the little tot in his first pair of shoes!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Lincoln Wins Share of A's Area Festival

Band, Mixed Chorus, Groups and Soloists Given Top Ratings

Approximately 2,500 young musicians put in a busy two days Friday and Saturday participating in the annual state area high school music festival in Thief River Falls.

Lincoln high school won its full share of "A" ratings. The band and mixed chorus both earned the coveted top rating, as did four groups and ensembles and three soloists.

The Lincoln brass ensemble, a large group, received an "A," and so did the flute quartet consisting of Judy Wold, Vivian Spray, Sandra Skay and Norella Solum; and the woodwind quartet made up of Dave Thorstad, oboe; Judy Wold, flute; James Terrian, clarinet; and Carole Ewing, bassoon.

Others receiving "A's" were the drum duet, Diane Lindquist and Sharon Klein; Dave Thorstad, oboe solo; Steve Embury, snare drum; and Stan Torgerson, vocal bass solo.

Additional high schools awarded "A" ratings for their bands were Roseau, Fosston, Hendrum, Argyle, Stephen, Hallock, Fertile and Red Lake Falls. The Twin Valley orchestra rated an "A," and so did mixed choirs from Ada, Blackduck, Warren, Climax, Hendrum, Roseau and Bagley.

Boys' glee clubs winning the top rating were Karlstad and McIntosh, while girls' glee clubs rating "A" included Warren, Baudette, Greenbush, Newfolden, McIntosh, Crookston, Hendrum, Roseau, Kennedy and Climax.

Dental Cards Due Last Week in May, Says School Nurse

Mrs. Edna Kankel's Fifth Grade at Knox First to Achieve 100 Pct. Goal

Parents are reminded that only one month remains of the school year. Dental cards will be called in the last week in May and the report sent to the state department of health by June 1, Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, stated today.

Mrs. Edna Kankel's fifth grade at Knox has already reached their goal of 100 per cent return of pink dental cards. This is an admirable achievement in itself, but it is also the earliest date that any class has had all cards returned, said Mrs. Race.

The child who has good mouth hygiene and makes regular visits to the dentist will be the adult of the future who still has good looking, serviceable teeth, she added.

Parents are asked to check with their children to see if their dental cards have been returned to the school. For those who have not, this is a good time to arrange an appointment with the family dentist, Mrs. Race said.

No. Central Alters Flight Schedule

Four Changes Announced by Station Manager Here

Four time changes for North Central Airlines flights affecting local service have been announced by Lowell Vraa, station manager.

The morning flight to Minneapolis will now leave at 7:22 central standard time rather than at 8:09 and will arrive in Minneapolis at 9:20 a.m. central standard time. (10:20 DST) The afternoon flight will leave at 3:22 instead of 8:09 and arrive in Minneapolis at 5:20 central standard time. (6:20 DST)

The morning flight from Minneapolis will leave there at 11:30 a.m. central standard time (12:30 p.m. DST) instead of 1 p.m. and will arrive in Thief River Falls at 1:36 p.m. central standard time. The later flight will leave Minneapolis at 8:10 p.m. central standard time instead of 8 p.m. and will arrive here at 10:16 p.m. central standard time.

Lincoln Athletes to Be Guests at Banquet Wednesday Evening

SPEAKER Steve Myhra, a graduate of the University of North Dakota, where he was a stellar football player, and now affiliated with the UND athletic department, will be the guest speaker at the annual athletic banquet at Zion Lutheran church Wednesday evening, April 29, at 6:30. Myhra played with the Baltimore Colts, professional football team in 1957 and 1958, playing linebacker and offensive guard, in addition to being a placekick specialist. Four local civic organizations are sponsoring the banquet, at which nearly 70 Lincoln high school athletes will be honored guests.

Tickets are now on sale at the three local drug stores for the athletic lettermen's banquet to be held in Zion Lutheran church Wednesday evening, April 29, at 6:30.

To be honored at the dinner are 69 Lincoln high school lettermen and their coaches. Varsity letters will be awarded for participation in football, basketball, hockey, baseball, track, tennis, golf, wrestling and cross-country. Coaches from high schools in this area also will be introduced.

Dennis Rolle, general chairman of the event, announced that Doug Tegtmeier, KTRF sports announcer, will serve as toastmaster, and will introduce the guest speaker, Steve Myhra of the University of North Dakota athletic department and former outstanding UND and Baltimore Colt professional football player. Dr. Walter M. Pedersen will offer the invocation.

The program also will include instrumental and vocal selections by members of the Lincoln high band and chorus. The evening will close with the showing of movie highlights of the 1958 University of Minnesota football season.

As in past years, the banquet is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber, Rotary club and Lions club.

Committees in charge include general arrangements, Dennis

Bruce Hall Is Elected President of Jaycee Chapter for 1959-60

BRUCE HALL

Bruce Hall, proprietor of Hall's Flower Shop, was named to succeed Glenn Peterson as president of the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce in its annual election last Thursday. Peterson was named to the post of state director.

Other officers elected include John Eisbrener and Roger Tunberg, respectively first and second vice president; Charles Samuelson, secretary; and Ralph Foster, treasurer. Named to the board of directors were James Winjum Jr., Reuben Lockrem and Richard Stokke, two-year terms; and Kermit Kemnitz and Gary Forsberg, one year.

Ed Johnson, regional vice president from Bemidji, introduced Jerry Doran, national director from Duluth, and Bill Jensen, and Doran Vantrucci, also from Duluth, who appeared before the local chapter seeking its support of Jerry Doran for state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at the convention which will be held at Duluth, April 30, May 1 and 2. A large delegation of local Jaycees plan to attend.

John McGinley reported on the desirability of the JayCees continuing their support of the athletic banquet. It was pointed out that funds are available at this time. The JayCees unanimously approved participation.

Kermit Kemnitz introduced John Duke, new owner of Bell Cabins, and N. H. Kortuem introduced Robert Flynn, who is the new insurance agent at the Union State bank.

The next meeting was set for May 7, at the American Legion club rooms. As this will be an orientation meeting, all new members are urged to attend and old members are urged to bring a guest.

SADDLE CLUB TO MEET AT JOPPRU'S THURSDAY NIGHT

Members of the Thief River Falls Saddle club will meet Thursday evening, April 30, at 8 p.m., at Joppru's Sales Barn.

Lunch will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Air Mail Must Be in Postoffice by 2:30 p.m. in Future

Postmaster R. J. Dryden stated that effective today, Monday, there will be only one dispatch of air mail each day out of the Thief River Falls postoffice. Air mail must now be deposited by 2:30 p.m., instead of 7:30 p.m. as was previously the case.

GOOD HOPE LOCAL MEETS

The Good Hope local of the Farmers Union will meet Tuesday evening, April 28, at 8:30 at Smiley Hall. The program will include movies and musical numbers, and lunch will be served.

District 16 PTA to Hold Institute Here Wednesday

District 16 of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold a school of instruction Wednesday, April 29, at Lincoln high school at Thief River Falls.

Sessions will be held from 2:30 to 9 p.m., it was announced by Mrs. James Wells of Goodridge, district president.

Mrs. Ellen Dell Bieler, a field worker for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be Struble, president of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers, accompanying her.

Planting of 20,000 Trees Started in County on Friday

Don Lawrence of SCS Supervises Work, Using Planter Loaned by Banks

Tree planting in Pennington county started Friday, April 24, under the supervision of Don Lawrence, unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation service. The tree planter which was purchased by the local banks to aid with this conservation practice will be used with the farmer providing a tractor and one man to aid with the planting.

Fifteen farmers will plant 20,000 trees, according to county agent Paul Steimaschuk. The largest plantation will be on the Andrew Skaar farm in Norden township where 7,000 trees will be planted. These will be used as farmstead shelterbelts and for beef feed lots shelterbelts and shade purpose.

Because of critical shortage of trees available from the state conservation department, the farmers secured most of their stocks from SCS district nurseries in North Dakota, and willow cuttings from the SCS at Twin Valley, Minnesota. Other tree stocks were purchased from commercial nurseries.

Trees being planted on farm and field shelterbelts are American elm, white spruce, norway pine, white pine, Ponderosa pine, Colorado blue spruce, and bush golden, laurel leaf and weeping willow. One of the plantations will use spruce for Christmas tree purposes.

Elks to Observe Youth Day Friday

Mayor O. D. Beich today issued a proclamation designating Friday, May 1, at Youth Day, and endorsing the action of the Thief River Falls Elks lodge in arranging a program for that evening to recognize the junior citizens for their accomplishments.

The local lodge will be host to teen-agers of the community at their annual May Day party in the club rooms Friday evening. Gordon Reierson, exalted ruler, will welcome the group, and Alvin Christofferson will serve as master of Ceremonies.

As in past years, acting city officials will be inducted into offices by their real-life counterpart, and several awards will be made to outstanding Lincoln high school students.

Hot dogs, sandwiches and pop will be served to the young people.

Freeman Calls Special Term of Legislature

Members Failed to Adopt Tax Program at Regular Session

The special session of the 61st legislature convened Saturday racked with bitterness between the senate's ruling Conservatives and Gov. Freeman and the Liberals.

Most members expected the session to be an extended one.

The regular session ended Friday night with the house and senate deadlocked in a dispute over Gov. Freeman's revenue-raising program.

The dispute was of such intensity that major appropriation bills to carry on state government after July 7 were deliberately shelved to force them onto the special session agenda until a tax settlement can be reached.

The likelihood of a wide-open special session—rather than one confined to taxes and appropriations—was apparent in the senate rules committee decision to reactivate all of its 17 standing committees.

The house reactivated only its committees on rules, taxes, appropriations, education, judiciary and enrollment and engrossment.

The senate, after formalities of opening Saturday, was set to adjourn until 10 a.m. Thursday.

But is was not certain the upper house would get to work even then.

The constitution permits either house to adjourn for a maximum of three days without permission of the other.

Some veteran Conservatives, angered by the governor's insistence that the extra session begin at once, were talking of taking another three-day breather after gathering Thursday.

"It all depends on what the house does," one senator said.

"If they decide to take next weekend off, there's not much point in our being here."

Rep. D. D. Wozniak, house tax committee chairman, reintroduced the controversial Freeman tax package, made even fatter by inclusion of eight other tax bills the house passed in the regular session but which died in the senate.

School Officers of 2 Counties to Meet Here Apr. 29

The annual school officers meeting for Pennington and Red Lake counties will be held Wednesday, April 29, starting at 10 a.m. in the district court room in the court house in Thief River Falls, it was announced today by Mrs. Martha Matheson, county superintendent of schools. She added that the session will be conducted by Eugene Meyers of the state department of education.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALL TO PUT OUT CHIMNEY BLAZE

The rural fire truck responded to a call Friday night at 10 o'clock when a chimney fire was discovered at the H. A. Dietz home two miles west and one mile north of the city. No damage was reported.

Lund Retiring as Sec'y. of Local Production Credit Assn. Friday

ROBERT J. LUND

PAUL ROY

Robert J. Lund announced today that he is giving up his duties as secretary-treasurer of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association effective Friday, May 1, having reached retirement age. He has served the association continuously since its incorporation in 1933 under the federal Farm Credit act.

Mr. Lund will devote his full attention in the future to his insurance agency, and will retain the present office quarters on the corner of LaBree av. and second st. The Production Credit association will announce its new office location shortly.

Paul Roy, employed by the association for more than 21 years, and currently assistant secretary-treasurer, has been appointed by the board of directors to take over Lund's duties.

Succeeding Roy as assistant secretary-treasurer will be Phillip L. Bergland, at present serving in a similar capacity with the Fargo Production Credit association. He is a native of Roseau county, and is familiar with agricultural conditions in this area.

Mrs. Harwood Olson will continue with the Lund Insurance agency in the capacity of secretary.

Long active in public affairs, Mr. Lund is now serving his seventh year as a member of the board of trustees of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America. He formerly was for 16 years a member of the board of managers of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, sponsor of the state fair, and served for two years as president of the state fair board.

220 Women in County Share in Extension Home Project in '59

You can't afford to grow rusty in the job of homemaking any more than in any other line of work. For techniques in homemaking are changing, just as they are in any business.

Believing that homemaking is a business, some 220 women in Pennington county are working at keeping themselves up-to-date in their job. Follow them around the county through the course of the year and you can find small groups of them, in nearly every township, getting together at regular intervals.

Sometimes they're gathered together in someone's home, learning about new fabrics, what to look for when buying and how to care for them; or they may be planning and preparing well-balanced outdoor meals, under the guidance of the home agent or a state extension home economist.

Another group may be learning shortcut methods of sewing; still another may be learning how to remodel the kitchen and save steps, or how to buy wisely. Still another group of women may be learning how to make

George Hale New Head Pennington Community Chest

GEORGE A. HALE

George A. Hale, manager of the local office of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., was elected president of the Pennington county Community Chest at the group's meeting April 22.

Hale will succeed Orrin Green, president last year, and Roy Jorgenson will replace Philip Hess as vice-president. Harold Storhaug will serve another term as secretary-treasurer of the group. Terms of the new officers will expire in 1962.

New directors elected are Harry Paulson of Goodridge, Elmer Sandberg, Orville Hanson, Reuben Lockrem, whose terms expire in 1961, and Al Christofferson and George A. Hale. An additional director, whose term will expire in 1962, will be named from St. Hilaire at a later date.

Holdover directors whose terms expire in 1960 are Rolland Sande, A. K. Bacon, Walt Larson and R. J. Dryden.

Other business of the meeting included a discussion of preliminary plans for the Comunity Chest drive in October. Work will begin at an earlier date this year, it was decided.

Orthopedic Clinic Starts on Wednesday

Woman's Club sets up Two-day Session for Crippled Children

Youngsters in this area with crippling bone and muscle conditions may be examined at this spring's orthopedic field clinic in Thief River Falls Wednesday and Thursday, April 29-30. Patients will be served at the Trinity Lutheran parish house.

Sponsoring the series of clinics which will be conducted in 15 areas of the state this spring is the crippled services division of the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare. Cooperating agencies are the Gillette State hospital, the state division for vocational rehabilitation, the state Chrismas Seal organization, Minnesota-Dakota-Manitoba Orthopedic Society, Minnesota State Medical Association, Northwestern Pediatric Society, local medical societies, public health nurses and county welfare agencies.

Children up to 21 years of age in Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties will be served at the local clinic.

Parents are asked to make appointments in advance with the public health nurse in their area so that each child will have time for a thorough examination by the clinic pediatrician and orthopedic specialist. Patients who need corrective surgery, physical therapy, vocational counseling or other special help will be referred for further care.

Local registrations are being taken by Mrs. Harold Buck in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Roy Oen, 204 Kendall Ave. No. in Thief River Falls is chairmand Mrs. L. B. Hartz, 340 N. Kendall Ave., is co-chairman. The Thief River Falls Woman's club is the sponsoring agency.

Grand Opening of Stan and Otto's Red Owl Store Is Set

Large Number of Prizes to Be Awarded Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Free prizes and the appearance of a well-known television personality will highlight the grand opening of Stan's and Otto's Red Owl store Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 30-May 2.

Visitors to the store may register for many merchandise prizes and Jane Johnston, hostess of the television program, the Red Owl Theater, will be on hand to greet visitors Friday from 10 to 12 a.m. and from 1 to 4 p.m.

The first 200 women shoppers Thursday will each receive a valuable prize, according to Otto Stenberg, co-proprietor of the store.

The owners took possession of the business Feb. 24 and, since then, have completely remodeled and redecorated the interior. Checkout counters were moved farther toward the front of the store after the removal of the lunch counter, making more space available for merchandise and presenting a more attractive appearance.

New refrigeration equipment has been installed in the meat, produce and frozen foods department and a semi-self-serve meat department is now available for the convenience of customers.

Orvin Johnsrud, Goodridge, Killed in Hibbing Mishap

A Goodridge resident, Orvin Johnsrud, 20, was reported killed Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding alone crashed near Hibbing. He was the son of Cornelius Johnsrud of Goodridge, and had been employed on the Iron Range prior to his death.

The body is lying in state at Gulbranson Mortuary after being brought here Sunday. No further details are known at present of the one-car crash which killed Johnsrud, but a complete obituary will be published in Thursday's Times.

LINCOLN BAND The Thief River Falls Lincoln high school band is pictured as it presented its contest number during the state area music festival Saturday morning in the school auditorium. Arlene Marie Gauthier Weds Micheal E. Newland

Miss Arlene Marie Gauthier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Severin Gauthier of Plummer and Michael E. Newland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newland Sr. of Shevlin, Minn. were united in marriage Saturday, April 11 at the St. Vincent de-Paul Catholic church at Plummer.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Jerome Fellon with Beverly Audette at the organ, Jahatel Audette and Fr[illegible]er Noah singing the mass. [illegible] servers were Jerry Gauthier and Jimmy Perrault.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of [illegible] net and lace over satin [illegible] tured a sweetheart ne[illegible] a lace bodice and long sleeves which came to a point over her hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of red [illegible] white prayer book. [illegible] earrings and necklace [illegible] a gift from the bridegroom.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Idella Gagner of Grand Rapids, cousin, while Marilyn Perreault of Brooks and Carol Braaten of Crookston were bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns of light blue net over taffeta with matching headbands, and carried bouquets of dark and light pink carnations. Their pearl necklaces and earrings were a gift of the bride.

Little Nancy Trandy was flower girl, attired in a gown similar to that of the bride, while Barry Gauthier served as ring bearer.

Elroy Newland, brother of the bridegroom, was best man with Ronnie Gauthier and Lloyd Perrault acting as groomsmen. Ushers were Donald Perreault and Bernard Newland.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gauthier chose a light pink dress of lace over taffeta with white accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore a light blue dress of lace over taffeta and white accessories. Both wore corsages.

Following the ceremony and dinner a reception was held in the Plummer auditorium. A tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Madonna Derosier, cousin of the bride, centered the bridal table. Mrs. Art Tranby and Mrs. Don Swenson, aunts of the bride, cut the cake while Mrs. Irvin Sletten, sister of the bridegroom, poured. Waitresses were Thersa Asselin and Yvonne Gagner, Shirley Casavan and Vickey Jorgenson were at the gift table while Mrs. Jay Martell was at the guest book.

For "going away" the bride chose a light blue suit with a corsage of red roses. Following honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Newland are making their home at 301 4th Ave. N.W. in Mandan, N. Dakota, where the bridegroom is employed.

Bridal Parties Honor Garnet Peters

Members of the senior choir of the Community Methodist church honored Miss Garnet Peters at a surprise bridal shower Thursday evening April 23, following their weekly rehearsal.

Friday evening Miss Peters entertained her 6th grade Sunday school class at the annual spring party, with games being played and lunch served. Miss LaVerda Peters was assisting hostess.

At the close of the party the children surprised Miss Peters with bridal gifts. She will be married to O. Annenson May 23 at Fosston.

Herb Gulseths Feted In Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Gulseth, formerly of Thief River Falls, and now residents of West Palm Beach, Florida, were pleasantly surprised Sunday evening, April 19, when a number of relatives and friends gathered to help them celebrate their birthdays.

A birthday cake, made by their daughter, Mrs. Frank Somerford Jr. nee Rose Gulseth, was the featured attraction of the turkey dinner served by the self invited guests. Following the dinner a social evening was enjoyed, after which the honored guests were presented with many lovely gifts. A tour of the Palm Beaches was made at the close of the day.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Somerford Jr. and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Myers and children and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pierce and children of Delray Beach, Florida.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU

By JO ANNE WEDUL

Matching your makeup colors to the predominant color of your dress makes it possible for you to wear certain colors which you may have avoided in the past as "off bounds" for your type.

Reds (from light to dark)—match your lipstick and rouge to the color of your dress as closely as possible. Do not use pink tones in your makeup and powder.

Greens (including chartreuse)—lipstick and rouge of clear, dynamic red without purple tones. Makeup and powder of a creamy color without pink or purple tones.

Grays (from light to dark)—lipstick and rouge pink with fuchsia tones. Makeup and powder warm with pink tones.

Yellows — Lipstick and rouge of scarlet or russet tones. Makeup and powder rachel without pink tones.

Blues and Purples—lipstick and rouge of fuchsia red and makeup and powder with radiant pink shades.

Browns (including beige) — rust-red lipstick and rouge and makeup and powder of clear beige or ivory.

Match your new wardrobe this season with a NEW HAIRSTYLE planned PERSONALLY FOR YOU and PROFESSIONALLY given at JO ANNE'S BEAUTY SHOP, 107 EAST THIRD STREET. Call MU 1-4405 for your appointment today.

CANDID COMMENT

by Mack Draper

While scanning through one of the wife's magazines the other night I came across an article which jibes 100 per cent with a thought that has been in the back of my mind for quite some time.

The gist of the article is that we've put too much accent on youth. Not that there's anything wrong with youth, understand—it's just that so much emphasis has been put on youth in every been growing up.

In short, people have been so mesmerized by this overemphasis on youth they have refused to act their mature age when they leave the early twenties and get on the hoary side of 25 and even up to the far side of 35.

We'll go along with the thesis that too many people don't act their age. But, I'll go even a step farther and say we've carried this youth emphasis to the point where it's difficult to find literature, music or entertainment that's pitched beyond the 16-year-old level. We have rock-n'-roll music horror movies and movies about teen-agers. As for literature. . . . so far as we can see there just isn't any I've seen that is worth the name. The magazine titles alone are enough one could get messy sick by digging deeper.

"The citizens of tomorrow" is what they call our youth crop. Well, may Heaven help us if that crop doesn't mature a great deal more than they have been in recent years. One cannot be a kid all one's life.

There come a time in one's life when jitterbugging should cease and waltzing begin. That point isn't far beyond the 18-year-old stage, either. We could go too far the other way, of course, as it was back in the last century but this, too, is undesirable.

Why is it we Americans can never seem to find a middle ground? We go all-out for everything, or not at all.

This definitely is a mixed-up crazy age we're living in. In the nuclear era when preparation to cope with that era should begin at the grade school level, our youth lack the ability to make intelligent decisions even after getting a so-called high school education. Even those who persevere to get a college education act as though they were in college for some other reason.

Work? That's something one does to make money to spend on this, that or the other frivolity, it would seem. It's never something one does to achieve a goal of some kind apparently. It would be interesting to know what goals today's youth are choosing—if any.

The really unfortunate part of this whole business is that we so-called adults responsible for giving youth the right kind of send-off just aren't living up to our responsibilities. If we sell the kinds rock-n'-roll and hot-rods who are we to blame them for dancing and driving like crazy?

If we don't act our ages, how are those who emulate us to achieve an accurate pattern of maturity?

There is one faint ray of hope for us oldsters. In the space age some of the glitter is being taken off youth and maturity is given respectibility by the fact it takes mature men to man our defenses. In Korea the average fighter pilot was 33, contrasted to world war two when their ages ranged from the late teens to the early twenties.

In Korea maturity paid off in better fighter pilots. Today, there are seven men training to be the first space-men—and all of them are in their thirties, some on the shady side of 35. But, they're mature.

They're mature enough to carry responsibility, young enough to enjoy life. Aren't they much better examples to follow than some of us aging juvenile delinquents?

Mercury Slumped to 22 Here Sunday

Showers Are Forecast Tonight or Tuesday

After dipping to a low of 22 degrees early Sunday, the thermometer crept up to 52 degrees Sunday afternoon and, aided by a south wind, dipped no lower than 32 Sunday night.

Monday dawned cloudy and with a smell of rain in the air. The KTRF forecast calls for partly cloudy today and tonight with occasional rain tonight or early tomorrow.

Warmer weather is expected today and tonight with highs in the upper 50's and the low tonight around 40.

The extended forecast for the period ending Saturday is for temperatures two to five degrees above the seasonal average of from 58 to 64 degrees. Normal lows are from 35 to 42. Rain is also expected later in the week.

Precipitation is expected to be moderate and will occur as showers and/or thunderstorms tonight and tomorrow. The total precipitation for the week is expected to be from .25 to .75 inch.

The coldest spot in the nation last night, excluding Alaska, was Grand Marais, Mich., where it was 20 and the hottest spot yesterday was at Presidio, Texas, where it was 101.

Friday, May 1, Set Aside as Law Day

Citizens Asked to Join in National Observance

In many places and in many ways, Law Day U.S.A. will be celebrated Friday, May 1. This is the second national observance of the day proclaimed by President Eisenhower to dramatize the contrast between individual liberty under law in the United States and the lack of it in Iron Curtain countries that stage May Day demonstrations on the same date.

In his Law Day proclamation President Eisenhower stressed that "appreciation of the importance of law in the daily lives of our citizens is a source of national strength which contributes to public understanding of the necessity for the rule of law and the protection of the rights of the individual citizen."

Governor Freeman in his proclamation issued from the state capitol on April 1 said, "Public bodies, schools and colleges, and private organizations of all kinds are urged to participate in the observance of Law Day U.S.A. with appropriate programs and ceremonies. The occasion is an appropriate one for recognition by every citizen, and by every professional, religious, business, fraternal and civic organization in this state."

M-SGT GLENN CARLSON IN EXERCISE IN GERMANY

Army M/Sgt. Glenn N. Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carlson, Route 5, Thief River Falls, participated with the 526th Quartermaster Company in a NATO command post exercise conducted April 13-17 in Germany.

The exercise, sponsored by the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, was designed to strengthen communications and tactical teamwork among NATO countries and to test the combat readiness of units making up a part of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

Carlson, an operations sergeant in the company in Karlsruhe, entered the Army in 1947.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Reasons for an Oat-Pea Crop

A crop which is especially suited for livestock feed in Pennington County is oats-peas silage. Its good feed for dairy cows, beef, or sheep. Don't overlook this oats-peas in your crop plans this year, states county agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Oats-peas has done well on most farms where it has been tried.

First Reason—Good Silage

Oats-peas silage is easy to make. No one has yet reported trouble with oats-peas silage. If its cut when the first several kernels have turned white and it packed properly it seems to cure much easier than other straight grass or legume silages.

Two—Good Yields

Oats and Peas tolerate the high-lime soils we have in the county, and good yields have been reported of oats-peas silage wherever its been tried.

Three—Labor Distribution

It affords good labor distribution. The silage is taken off the field before the rest of the harvest is underway. Corn silage is one of the last jobs in the fall and because frost usually hits the corn there are only a few days when the corn can go into the silo to make good silage. Oats-peas silage gives better labor distribution because it's put up before harvesting other grain.

Four—Wild Oat Control

Oats-peas silage give good wild oat control. This is a major problem in Pennington county. One crop of wild oats is destroyed in the spring prior to seeding the oats-peas. If any wild oats comes up through the summer its removed from the field with the silage. Late cultivation in the fall permits further wild oats control.

Five—No Extra Equipment Needed

No row-crop machinery is needed to cultivate oats-peas over the summer months as in the case of corn.

Reason Six—Good Feed

Oats-peas silage is equal to other silages in food value so livestock will do as well on it, as far as milk production or growth gains are concerned. So try oats-peas silage for feed this summer, Stelmaschuk added, if you haven't done so already.

The rate for seeding oats-peas is one to two bushels of oats plus ½ to one bushel of peas. Use a tall variety of oats like Rodney, Garry or Branch for best results, with Canadian field peas like Chancellor or Dashaway. The oats and peas can be mixed and seeded together.

It's important to remember to inoculate the peas. Innoculant can be purchased at any elevator or seed house. Mix it with the peas which will then use nitrogen from the air and not take out of the soil.

A complete fertilizer such as 5-20-20 or 8-24-12 would also increase the yield of oats-peas silage, but it's best to fertilize according to a soil test.

If you will need feed on your farm next winter it would be well to consider the advantages of oats-peas silage for planting this spring.

220 Women Share in Co. Extension Home Projects

the most of minutes and energy.

All of these women are taking part in the extension home program, an out-of-school educational activity sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the University of Minnesota and the local county. The county home agent, a trained home economist, gives professional guidance to the program. In order to teach a varied study program in homemaking and family living, she trains homemakers who volunteer to serve as project leaders of various groups. In Pennington county 150 women served as volunteer leaders this past year to bring the latest information on homemaking to local women.

During the past year, Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau reports, hundreds of county families have received help in improving home and family living through the extension home program. Through meetings, demonstrations, or direct help from the home agent, 750 families have been assisted with problems in foods and nutrition; 350 with questions about clothing; 810 in home safety; 150 in home management.

Last Rites For Abraham Hetland Set For Today

Funeral services for Abraham Hetland were held today, Monday, April 27, at 2 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church with Rev. Joseph Swan, assisted by Rev. Thorvald Myhrer officiating. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery. Green Funeral home was in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Hetland died Thursday evening, April 23, at the Northwestern hospital at the age of 79. He was born in Bjerkren Egersund, Norway, Jan. 25, 1880. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith, attended school, and grew to manhood there.

He came to America at the age of 22 and settledinThief River Falls, where he was engaged in the carpenter trade. On Dec. 15, 1905 he was united in marriage to Maria Larson Haarsland at Thief River Falls. Following the marriage they lived in Thief River Falls until 1928 after which they moved to their farm home in Rocksbury township, where they have since resided.

Surviving are five daughters: Helga, Mrs. Earl Parker of St. Paul; Esther, Mrs. John Rollinger of Chicago; Lucille, Mrs. Helmer Myhrer of Thief River Falls; Lillian, Mrs. Homer Smith of Calif.; Betty Lou, Mrs. Roy Peterson of Thief River Falls; four sons; Trygve of Eau Claire, Wis., Clifford of Norfolk, Va.; Roy of Kennewick, Wash. and Lue of Thief River Falls. Also 15 grandchildren and two brothers, Eneval of Norway and Salemon of rural Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by his wife, two sisters and one brother.

Father of Local Man Dies Friday at Crookston

Funeral services for Oscar H Bergos of Crookston will be held Tuesday, April 28, at 2 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran church in Crookston. Mr. Bergos died Friday, April 24 in a Crookston hospital at the age of 77.

Officiating at the rites will be Rev. Ralph Tellessen with interment to be made in the Crookston cemetery. The body will lie in state Monday evening at the Stenshoel Funeral home at Crookston and at the church one hour before time of services.

Mr. Bergos was born Oct. 6, 1881 in Sweden, coming to this country at the age of six. He moved to the Crookston area as a young man and married the former Selma Sylvester on Jan. 13, 1910. The couple homesteaded in Montana until 1929 when they returned to the Crookston area to farm until 1943, when they retired.

Surviving are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Luverne Rolland of Grand Forks, Mrs. Arthur Bakken of East Grand Forks and Mrs. Kenneth Olson of Fargo; one son Oscar Jr. of Thief River Falls, seven grandchildren and tow brothers.

Mrs. Don Hanford Dies At Crookston

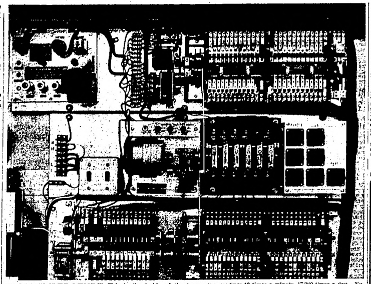
Mrs. Donald Hanford, 48, resident of the Mentor community died Wednesday morning, April 22, at St. Francis hospital in Crookston.

Funeral services were held Saturday, April 25, in the Congregational church at Mentor at 2 p.m. with Rev. Melton J. Coleman officiating. Interment was made in Rose Hill cemetery at Mentor, with the Petterson Funeral home of Red Lake Falls in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Hanford was born June 27, 1910 at Thief River Falls to Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald. In 1916 she moved with her parents to Goodridge where she graduated from high school in 1928. She also graduated from Moorhead Teachers college and taught school in the area. She was married to Donald Hanford August 5, 1936 at Goodridge. They resided at Maple Lake near Mentor, where Mr. Hanford was engaged in trucking and operated a hardware store with his brother.

Mrs. Hanford was a member of the Congregational church at Mentor, serving as organist and treasurer and was an active member in the ladies missionary organization of the church and of the PTA.

Surviving are her husband, [illegible] two sons and two daughters, Hugh, Bruce, Claire and Mary, all at home, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McDonald of Anoka; and one brother, Harry of South St. Paul.



TIME-TEMPERATURE This is the inside of the master control unit which controls the new time-temperature sign installed on the front of the First Federal Savings and Loan association.

The complex mechanism of switches, relays, motors and other electronic gear flashes to people on Third st. alternate time and temperature readings 12 times a minute, 17,280 times a day. Numerals on the sign, 24 inches in height, are visible two blocks away during daylight or evening hours.

Temperatures are electronically measured on the roof of the building by a device similar to those used by the weather bureau and wind and sun have no effect on temperature readings.

William Shanley Dies at Cloquet

William J. Shanley, a former resident of the Grygla and Goodridge community, died Saturday, April 11, at the age of 65 in Cloquet, Minn.

Funeral services for Mr. Shanley were held Monday, April 13 in Cloquet with interment made in the church cemetery.

He was born May 16, 1893 in Iowa, attended school in Redwood county, Minn. While living in the Grygla and Goodridge community he was a turkey farmer. At the time of his death he was retired, after having worked for a Cloquet paper company for many years.

Surviving are his wife, Alma; three daughters, Pat at home, and Evangiline and Geraldine; one son, Walter; five sisters, one of whom is Mrs. M. R. Levorson of this city and two brothers.

Isabelle Fulton Dies Sunday At 91

Mrs. Isabelle Fulton, resident of Thief River Falls for the past 27 years, died at the Northwestern hospital Sunday morning, April 26, at the age of 91.

Funeral services have been set for Wednesday, April 29, at 2 p.m. at the Congregational church in Ada with Rev. Herriot officiating, assisted by Rev. Herbert. Interment will be made in the Ada cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral Home tonight, Monday and until 10 a.m. Wednesday and at the church one hour before time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

—Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representative at the Grand Forks V9 office.

Q—My World War II permanent GI life insurance policy lapsed two months ago and I am making application to V9 to reinstate it. Must I pay interest on my premiums in arrears when I send them in?

A—Not if your application and the premiums in arrears are submitted to VA within three months of the due date of the first premium you missed. Interest is charged only if application is made after three months from date of lapse.

Q—I get two benefits: my monthly training allowance, and compensation for a service-incurred disability. Do I have to report either on my 1958 Federal income tax report?

A—No. Veterans benefits are tax-free. Interest on GI insurance dividends left with VA on deposit, however, should be reported.

Q—My father died as a result of war service, and I am eligible for schooling under the War Orphans program. If I should go into military service, could I take my War Orphans training in uniform?

A—No. Under the law, persons in military service may not receive War Orphans' schooling. You would have to wait until you were discharged before you could enroll.

Q—I have a service-connected disability. Can my family doctor treat my disability and send his bill to the VA?

A—If he had prior approval from VA, yes. Under law, that is necessary before he may treat your service-connected condition at Government expense.

LINE CONTAINER

To store a chalk or plumb line, wrap the line around an empty adhesive tape spool. Then snap the spool into its original protective cover.

KEEPING BRICK CLEAN

Easy way to keep bricks used indoors decoratively clean, is to coat them with a thin layer of clear, three-pound cut shellac.

MIXING CONTAINERS

To make two convenient containers for mixing small amounts of patching plaster, just cut a large rubber ball in half.

Divide Perennials

Perennials that have been growing in the same location for several years often become root bound and bloom poorly. Dividing and transplanting them this spring will give them a new lease on life. They'll produce bigger flowers, bloom for a longer period and be bothered lass with disease and insects.

Perennials that can be divided in spring include garden phlox, chrysantemum, sweet William, delphinium, gaillardia, Shasta daisy, hollyhock, astilbe, painted daisy, daylily, lythrum, evening primrose, hosta or plantain lily, false dragon's head, primrose.

Make the divisions by lifting the entire plant and dividing it with a sharp knife or shovel. The number of divisions depends on the size of the plant or clump. Inspect the clump for presence of disease or insects and discard any infested plants.

Set the plants in the border about the same depth as they were growing before. Firm the soil around the plants to exclude any air pockets. Water thoroughly. Usually it's well to apply a complete fertilizer after transplanting. Use it at the rate of 1 pound per 25 square feet or 4 to 5 pounds per 100 square feet of area.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Television and Our Children

There seems to be a great deal of concern about the effects of television on youngsters. One often hears questions like — How is TV affecting children's health? Is it reducing their out-door activities? Is it producing serious eye-strain? How has TV influenced their attitudes and their behavior?

No doubt TV is changing children but it is hard to determine its precise effects. Recent studies show, that children sleep about the same amount of time, on the average, as children did eight or ten years ago. As for strain on the eyes, a pamphlet on "Television and Your Eyes" by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness" says, "You can't wear out your eyes by watching television." Of course, undue fatigue should be avoided. We can do this by setting apart certain times when children can watch TV with frequent breaks to rest their eyes. If the picture is focussed clearly, if the room lighted properly and everyone sits at the right distance, there will be no danger of eye-strain.

There are different opinions regarding the relationship of televiewing to emotional problems and undesirable attitudes. Some psychologists feel that youngsters take television in their stride and adjust their total pattern of activities and interests with this in view. Other studies indicate that televiewing may be related to certain kinds of undesirable behavior. However, other factors such as poor home conditions, unfortunate experiences and lack of interests and hobbies also contribute to the youngsters' difficulties.

Television does present problems and excessive viewing of crime and violence adverse effects on the child's thinking, but it also provides a challenging opportunity. It is a way of learning; children are learning much about science and about the people and culture of other lands. Although earlier studies associated excessive viewing with somewhat lower academic attainment, librarians now report that children are learning more than ever.

Taking television a family activity and talking about what we've seen helps children discriminate between good and bad programs. We can capitalize on the worthwhile interests it arouses. Whether television becomes a problem in our home or a way of learning depends largely on the way in which it is used.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Back in April, 1948, Red Wing "closed shop" one day and rural and town citizens went "to the hills"—to plant 68,000 trees in the Hay Creek Valley This demonstration sparked the "Arbor Day" in the county, which has been an annual event since. According to Goodhue county agent G. J. Kunau, 340,000 trees have been planted in the valley by farmers and youth groups since 1948. The goal is to start trees on land too steep or erodable for other use. Progress of the venture has been a result of cooperation among farmers, civic and youth organizations, and several public agencies.

Following the contour with corn rows can mean more efficient use of moisture. Grant Lee, cooperator in the Redwood county soil conservation district, recently told Robert Feldt, SCS work unit conservationist, that last summer—a dry season—his contour-planted corn yielded more than corn in straight rows on the same kind of land.

Don't wait until the last minute to send soil samples in for testing this spring. According to John Graves, supervisor of the University of Minnesota soil testing laboratory, it takes from 7 to 12 days to get samples processed and the results returned to your county agent. The agent, in turn, makes up the fertilizer recommendations for your farm, based on the test results.

Farmers who have followed soil conservationist recommendations are, in the long run, those making more income, having higher net worth and getting highest crop yields. At the University of Wisconsin, USDA scientist R. A. Christianson recently made that statement. He pointed out that management practices that promote conservation also build up the soil's fertility level. Such steps, where necessary, include terracing, contour cropping and grass waterways.

Trap Shoot League to Start Play Thursday

At a meeting of the Thief River Trap club's league directors, Thursday night, it was agreed that competitive shooting, with eight teams participating, will begin on Thursday, April 30. In addition to six teams previously listed — Coast-to-Coast, The Pharmacy, Northern Chevrolet, Oen's Appliance, The Times, and the Wilson Bros.—two new teams, the Starekow Clinic and Dr. Jim Disse's Optimists, were welcomed to the league. In the schedule-opening shoot on Thursday, the Starekow Clinic and the Disse squads will [illegible]ted against each other, [illegible] these teams have not established handicaps the actual score will determine the winner.

The squad members of the six teams listed with league secretary Erling Torgerson are as follow: Coast-to-Coast — Don Olson, Walt Fisher, Fred Mittelstadt, Darrell Wood, Emil Malwitz, John Peterson, Ted LaCoursiere, Ivan Hoglin, and Arnie Johnson; The Pharmacy — Ole Ekeren, Tony Dorn, Russ Embury, Stan Ranum, Ray Thyren, Don Stew[illegible] R[illegible]y Johnson and Gordon J[illegible]; Northern Chevrolet — Frank Rinkel[illegible] Jorgenson, Howard Bra[illegible] Torgerson, George Ma[illegible], Walt Jung, Walt A[illegible], Henry Granum, and Dr. [illegible]atrud; Oen's Appliance — [illegible] Oen, Orvis Olen, Hank [illegible], Everett Amundgaard, [illegible] Amundgaard, Dr. Paul [illegible], and Carl Peterson; Thief River Falls Times — Clarence Mattson, Bob Mattson, Bill Dahlquist, Mel Zitzow, Leif Erickson, [illegible] Rude, and Mack Draper; Wilson Bros. — Stan Wilson, Sandy Wilson, Si Schantzen, Roy Peterson, Allen Tonder, Merv Skadsen, and Orville Feragen.

The traps will be available for open shooting every Sunday throughout the season, with shooting to start at noon, and also on Wednesday evenings. League shooters who cannot be present for the team matches on Thursday evenings will have the opportunity of shooting their match rounds on Sundays or Wednesdays by declaring their intentions beforehand.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL

"Just how stupid can you be, Kimball—asking for a hunting season on Minnesota moose? You would kill off the few moose we have in a week. You guys must be really hungry for the old license dollar." This is not a statement from a crackpot, but from a sincere conservationist who logically draws a conclusion from what he heard and read.

Of course, there are a few "details" he had not heard or read. The conservation department already has authority to open a moose season along the northern boundary of the state, but cannot, under present law, limit the kill. A recent aerial survey revealed over a thousand moose in two counties alone with more than two bulls for each cow.

The infamous, and now dead, moose bill would have permitted a limited number of hunters (we had 100 in mind), to be selected by an impartial drawing. These lucky 100 could be sold licenses to hunt for a moose. Of course, the details of handling such a special hunt would cost far more than the license revenue derived.

I believe the straight newspaper reporting of conservation legislation has been better this session than I have seen before, but the rumors, gossip and the quoted opinions have provided an overdose of public confusion.

For example, there is the bill which would permit hunting of mourning doves in Minnesota. At the time of this writing, this bill has passed the game and fish committees in both houses, but my guess is that it does not have the chance of the proverbial snowball of being passed on the floor of either house. This legislation was not introduced by the department, but when a state employe is asked to testify he gives the facts as he knows them. And the facts are that the mourning dove is the number-one game bird in the U.S. as far as number harvested is concerned. More of them are shot each year than the kill of all species of ducks and geese combined, and still the number of doves is increasing. The harvest is strictly controlled by federal regulations. If we had to choose, because of limited numbers, between having the dove as a game bird or a song bird, I would certainly vote for his song-bird status. But, while hunting them here could mean that less would be shot in the south, we would see no appreciable change in the number that nest here.

I'm a bird watcher and proud of it. One of my most prized possession is an autographed set of Birds of Minnesota by the late and great Dr. Thomas S. Roberts, under whom I studied. I also hunted doves in Minnesota many years ago and know they are sporting targets and good eating. They provide Minnesotans with many wholesome hours of outdoor recreation late in September. Someone is sure to brand this bill as another license sale scheme, but can you imagine anyone buying a license to hunt doves who doesn't buy one anyway for the other game he can hunt?

I think the dove will remain on the books as a song bird. Sentiment will beat out cold facts. All it will take is a vivid word picture of this lovely bird—this beautiful, harmless, soft-cooing harbinger of peace with an olive branch in his beak. And possibly, the bill should be defeated — I wouldn't know. There is a place for sentiment, and perhaps Minnesota people just want the dove as a song bird. We will soon know.

We were pleased to support a bill putting hawks and owls on the protected list, as well as the bill eliminating the $2.50 nuisance beaver permit, and reducing beaver seals from $1.00 to $.25. Too many trappers were throwing away small beaver kits having limited fur value rather than pay $1.00 for the seal. Complete control of the harvest of beaver is still retained. This department sponsored legislation will cut revenue by over $10,000 a year. Now there is a paradox for you!

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Most Important

The most important item on this week's sports agenda is the athletic banquet, the ninth annual high school athletic banquet, which, this year, will be held in the basement parlor of Zion church on Wednesday evening, April 29.

The gathering will give an opportunity to the town's folk in paying homage to the Prowler athletes and their coaches.

As the featured speaker for the evening, the committee in charge of arrangements has secured the services of Steve Myhra, the former Wahpeton and North Dakota U athlete and who is now a member of the world's football champions, the professional Baltimore Colts. Myhra will follow an illustrious list of speakers who have participated in the banquets in previous years. Among this list are such personages as Ozzie Cowles, Wes Fesler, Murray Warmath, Bob May, Joe Hendrickson, George Mikan, Johnny Mariucci, and Jim Adelson.

Myhra, who was a freshman at the University of Minnesota and then transferred to North Dakota, where he gained Little All-America recognition in football, was a valued performer with the Baltimore Colts the past two seasons. Myhra, whose specialty is booting field goals, was a featured performer in the Colts' spectacular win over the New York Giants last fall, giving the Colts the world's professional football title. That game, which was viewed by millions on TV, has been rated, and rightly, as the "greatest football game ever played."

Make it a point to be in attendance at Zion Lutheran church on Wednesday evening.

Will Try Again

The baseball Prowlers had their schedule-opening game, against the Goodridge Huskies, called off Friday afternoon because of the cold and threatening weather. Coach Ralph Skay's boys will try again this evening, Monday, to open their season when they meet the Roseau Rams on the Fair Grounds diamond. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

The game could develop into quite a test for the Prowlers, and especially rugged for a schedule-opener. This Roseau club will be composed, in the main, of the players that were on the Roseau Junior Legion team last season. And it will be recalled that the Roseau Juniors surprised the Crookston Juniors in an American Legion sub-district tournament game here, defeating the Pirates and righthander Jim Turner, 5 to 2. Roseau, after beating the Pirates, dropped a 3 to 1 decision to the East Grand Forks team in the semi-finals. Jerry Ulvin pitched the 5 to 2 win over Crookston, and Don Ross, he of the slap shot in hockey, hurled the 3 to 1 loss. The two boys are perhaps available for the Rams high school team this season.

Ben the Candidate

Ben Comeault of Dominion City is the Conservative party's candidate for the Emerson district in the Manitoba parliament. Comeault, who was a standout defenseman with the Emerson and Letellier teams in the States-Dominion hockey league, is well-known to hockey fans in Northwestern Minnesota.

According to the pre-election polls (the election will be on May 14) Comeault will have an uphill battle to unseat the Liberal candidate, who is up for re-election. Comeault, a French Canadian, will poll heavily in the western section of the district, but his opponent, of Ukrainian descent, will carry the central and eastern precincts.

Just a Note

Did you notice that item stating that the Drayton high school baseball team, the North Dakota champions, had opened their season with a pair of victories? In the season-opener, lefty Tom Knoff pitched a no-hitter, and struck out 16 batters, as Drayton defeated Ada, 18 to 0. Ada, of course, is the defending district 30 and Region Eight champion.

Aged Driver Flees Scene of Mishap

T. J. Lillevold, City, Faces Police Charges

A minor traffic mishap at 5:20 p.m. Sunday at the Main av.-Eleventh st. intersection did not cause much damage but an elderly man involved required a chase before he was caught afterwards.

John F. Whisler, Jr., city, was making a left turn off Main av. onto W. Eleventh st. when his car was struck by another vehicle driven by Torval J. Lillevold, city, who was making a right turn off Eleventh st. after going through the stop sign at Main av.

After the collision Lillevold, who will be 82 on his next birthday, proceeded toward the business district at a high rate of speed, but was located and apprehended with the aid of the police squad car. He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and failure to heed a stop sign.

Damage was estimated at $10 to Whisler's car and $20 to Lillevold's.

Announcement of Red Lake Bombing Range Premature

Authorities at the Naval Air Station, Minneapolis, announced today that information regarding the Navy's intent to utilize released inadvertently and prematurely a portion of the Red Lake area as a practice bombing target was prematurely.

During a telephone conversation with Roger Jourdain, chairman of the Red Lake Council, the executive officer of the air station assured him the proposed bombing area, which includes certain Indian lands, would not be used until a meeting with the Council for Indian Affairs could be arranged and all legal requirements of both the Council for Indian Affairs and the state of Minnesota, have been fulfilled.

Three Local Men Attend Druggists Meeting in Fargo

Three local men returned Saturday from Moorhead where they attended a dealers' conference sponsored by the Northern Drug Co., wholesale druggists of Fargo.

Lloyd Brunsberg and James Parkins of Parkins Corner Drug and Ted Kusmak, instructor in the veterans agriculture department of the area vocational school, received certificates stating that their knowledge of the animal and poultry health field has been broadened and improved by their participation in the conference.

About 200 dealers attended the meeting April 23-24 in the Frederick Martin hotel.

Youth in Hospital Following Mishap on County Road

George Cummings Was Passenger in Car Driven by Jerry Christianson

A one-car crash about 1 a.m. Sunday, six miles southwest of Thief River Falls sent one youth to the hospital, while two others in the car, including the driver, escaped without injury.

Sheriff Charles Richards said the three youths were driving east on SAR 7 in Smiley township when the car driven by Jerry Christianson, 19, city, ran off a small bridge that had no protecting guard rail.

After leaving the bridge the car continued on until it hit the abutment on the far side, then slewed around so that it came to rest facing 180 degrees from its original heading. It did not roll over, Richards said.

David Gall, city, one of the passengers with Christianson, was not injured, but George Cummings, rural Thief River Falls, required hospitalization for treatment of injuries received in the crash. The exact nature and extent of Cummings' injuries was not available at this time.

$600 Damage from Crash Near Holt

Three Cars Involved in Mishap Sunday Morning

A three-car mishap Sunday at the intersection of highways 32 and 59, six miles north of Holt resulted in approximately $600 damage to the cars involved, the highway patrol said today.

The 10:15 a.m. crash came as Thomas Burkland, Henning, and DeWain Smith, Detroit Lakes, both northbound, had stopped their cars to let oncoming traffic by prior to making a left turn onto highway 59.

A third car, driven by Mrs. Darlene Hagen, Helmdal, No. Dak., who was also going to make a left turn, struck the Smith vehicle in the rear, sending it crashing into the Burkland car ahead of it. The patrol said Mrs. DeWain Smith, Mrs. Albert Thompson, Albret Lea, and Mrs. Hagen, were brought here for treatment of cuts and lacerations received in the crash.

All three cars were traveling together at the time of the crash and Mrs. Hagen is related to Smith, the patrol stated. Damage to the Burkland car was estimated at $40 to the Smith car, $150 and to the Hagen car $400. Mrs. Hagen was cited for following the other cars too closely.

African Violet Exhibit Sunday in Crookston Home

Violets in all colors and types, both single and double flowered will be shown. Anyone interested is invited.

Locals Fail to Score in the Sioux Relays

The Prowler track squad failed to score a point on Saturday as they participated in the Sioux Relays at Grand Forks. Coach Hartvig Strand's Moorhead Spuds with Dale Lamski scoring four first—the high hurdles, low hurdles, broad jump, and high jump—and setting a record in the high jump, totaled 51½ points to win squad honors. The Grand Forks Redskins were runners-up with 34 5/14 points; and Fargo Central was third with 33 6/7 points for fifth place.

In addition to Lamski's high jump of 6 feet 1 inch, breaking the old record of 6 feet ½ inch set by Elmon Johnson of Bemidji in 1954, three other new marks were entered into the record book. Dennis (Red) Harvey of Willmar tossed the discus a distance of 150 feet, 7 inches to break the old record of 145 feet ½ inch. In the shotput event, Bruce Chamberlain of Fargo Central uncorked a heave of 50 feet, 11½ inches, breaking the previous mark of 50 feet 10 inches.

The Grand Forks Central mile relay team was clocked at 3:38.8. This marks the first time that the mile relay has been on the program of the Sioux Relays, and therefore the mark enters the record book. The Grand Forks relay team was composed of Joel Mondry, Pete Rice, Tom Alderson and Gary Uglem.

The Prowlers will meet the powerful Roseau Rams in a dual meet on the Lincoln high school field on Tuesday, April 28, at 4:00 p.m.

Highway Employes of District to Receive Safe Driving Awards

Employes of the Crookston maintenance district of the Minnesota highway department will be among the 2,300 men who will be presented with department and National Safety Council "Safe Driving" awards at the annual safety meetings to be held Wednesday, April 29, at 1:30 in Crookston.

Department awards will be presented to all employes who have operated motorized equipment or motor vehicles throughout 1958 without a preventable accident. In addition, those drivers who devoted more than half of their working time to the operation of motorized equipment and had no accidents during the year will receive special awards from the National Safety Council for their contributions to safety.

The following men from this locality are among those who will be recognized at Crookson: Fred Hollander, TRF, 28 years; Harland P. Lee, Grygla, 23 years; Theodore Laniel, Brooks, 18 years; Harry M. Largis, Erskine, 17 years; Donald K. Pream, TRF, 11 years; Arthur L. Benson, Erskine, eight years; Matthew J. Bimler, TRF, two years; Adrian B. Nelson, TRF, one year; and Glenn L. Davidson, Holt, one year.

This is the 28th year motor vehicle safety awards have been presented to hghway department employes as part of its accident prevention program. Many of the men will receive awards showing they have driven that entire period without an accident with state-owned equipment.

Among the districts holding safety meeting this week, District six with headquarters in Detroit Lakes will be honored for having gone five consecutive years without being charged with a preventable motor vehicle accident. First place honors in district competition also go for the second consecutive year to Detroit Lakes and Bemidji among the construction districts.

Individual awards will be presented by George A. Meksal, chief maintenance engineer, St. Paul. The maintenance personnel at the meeting will also hear from Paul R. Martz, chief highway patrol officer, and Eugene R. Smith, highway department administrative director, who will discuss labor-management cooperation.

State Hospital at Fergus Falls Open House This Week

Institution to Share in National Observance of Mental Health Week

The Fergus Falls mental health committee and the Fergus Falls state hospital will join a nationwide program to bring 750,000 visitors to the nation's mental hospitals during Mental Health Week, April 26 to May 2, Dr. W. L. Patterson, superintendent of the hospital, announced today.

The project known as Operation Friendship, is sponsored by the National Association for Mental Health and its 800 affiliates.

A quota of 1,850 visitors—one visitor for each mental hospital patient at the Fergus Falls hospital is the goal set by the hospital administration.

"I want to assure the residents of the area, they are cordially welcome to the Fergus Falls state hospital," said Dr. W. L. Patterson, hospital superintendent. "I want them to see what we have done, and what we are trying to do."

Some of the events scheduled for the hospital during Mental Health Week include daily tours through the hospital starting at 1:00 and 2:00 p.m. Coffee will be served in the employees dining room during the time the "Treatment Story" is shown and narrated by Hospital personnel.

Minneapolis to Get Big New Hotel

Sheraton Chain to Build 21-story Structure

Plans for an eight-million-dollar, 400-room hotel to be built in Minneapolis' new gateway center were announced Thursday by Sheraton Corp. of America.

The 21-story hotel will be in the center of an eight-square-block area being developed as a federal urban renewal project, adjoining the city's central business district. The gateway center, described as another New York City Rockefeller Center concept, will be completed by 1962.

The hotel itself will include retail shopping centers, malls and an outdoor skating rink. Adjacent to it will be a multidecked parking area for 600 cars.

The big tract also will contain municipal and commercial office buildings, shopping centers and parks, according to Don Knutson, builder and contractor.

The hotel will be a square tower having all outside guest rooms, according to Fred S. Kummer, Sheraton vice president in charge of engineering. It will have a ballroom seating 600 and a speciality restaurant overlooking the skating rink in a sunken plaza.

Most Bike Riders in Mishaps Violate Law

Most bike riders in accidents with motor vehicles are violating traffic laws.

"In four out of five accidents, the bicycle rider is violating a law," the National Safety Council asserts. The fact was one of many obtained from a Council study of the circumstances of bike accidents in the United States. Forty-two states took part in the study, and provided this information:

1. Between 400-500 bike riders are killed each year in accidents with motor vehicles. More than 25,000 bike riders suffer disabling injuries.
2. More than eight out of 10 victims are under 16 years of age.
3. Nearly nine out of 10 are males.

Strangely enough, the Council pointed out, in one accident in three the bicyclist struck the motor vehicle.

What suggestions does the Council have to keep bike riders safe?

1. Obey traffic laws—traffic lights and signs are for bike riders, too.
2. Stay on the right. Ride with traffic.
3. Ride single file. Never zigzag.
4. Make sure your bike's in good condition.
5. When traffic is heavy at a corner, get off and push your bike across the street. Stay within the crosswalks.
6. Don't ride your bike at night unless you have to. And then, make sure your bike has a light and rear reflector. Wear clothing that is light colored or that shines in the dark so you can be seen easily by motorists.

John Howard to Retire at ND 'U'

The University of North Dakota band played for the last time under the baton of Director John Howard at the annual home concert sponsored by the Grand Forks Rotary club Tuesday, April 21.

In the past 32 years, the band, under the directorship of Howard, has earned the reputation of being an outstanding musical organization in the community and state. Howard will retire at the close of the school year.

Howard estimated that 4,000 University students have played under his direction in the University band since he came to the campus in 1927.

Many Careers Open in Dairy Industry

State Committee Tells of Outlook at 'U' Ag School

Opportunities for professional careers in Minnesota agriculture—the dairy industry in particular—are virtually limitless, state high school juniors and seniors were told at the fifth annual Dairy Industry Career Day.

"The dairy industry, and agriculture in general, has developed to a point where it can appeal to urban as well as rural high school students who plan college programs," Keith McFarland, assistant director of resident instruction on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus, told the group. More than 60 students from throughout the state attended the day-long sessions April 18 sponsored by the University and the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

"Financially rewarding opportunities for scientists, technicians and many other specialists are abundant in agriculture today for those willing to train for them," McFarland said.

Along with presentations and advice from trained University and dairy industry personnel, the young men also heard from lovely Diane Schroeder of Rindal who told briefly of her public relations work as the Minnesota dairy industry's fifth Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

"The worst of errors is to believe that any one religion has the monopoly of goodness. For every man, that religion is good which makes him gentle, upright and kind." —Ernest Renan

A Great Heritage

An error in reporting provides us with an opportunity to comment on our state and national parks, the subject of a recent talk by Rev. Henry Friedman. The daily Times reporter quoted Rev. Friedman as saying there were three million visitors to our national parks last year. That was the number of visitors to our state parks here in Minnesota. According to Rev. Friedman the number of persons who visited the 180 areas in our national park system was nearly 60 million.

Here in Minnesota substantial progress has been made in recent years in the expansion and improvement of our state park system. This progress can be attributed in a large measure to the fact that visitors to these parks now pay a small fee for the privilege, and the money made available by the collection of these fees is used to improve the facilities available to the public.

There were complaints when this visitors' fee was first imposed. The purpose was not understood. To many it was just another tax collection scheme. Now the program has proven itself and the 3 million people who visited Minnesota's state parks last year, with few exceptions, made their contributions to that program ungrudgingly.

We agree with Rev. Friedman that in our state and national park systems, developed in comparatively recent years, we have created a truly great American heritage that all future generations will enjoy.

The Right To Know

Several years ago Minnesota's Commissioner of Education called a meeting of representatives of the Minnesota School Board Association, the Minnesota Editorial Association and the State Department of Education for the purpose of clearing up some misunderstandings about the publication of school board proceedings and the reporting of news pertaining to the operation of public schools. After several meetings, at which the problems were considered in all of their aspects, the representatives of these groups agreed to publish a statement relating to public information about school affairs in an effort to clarify some points on which the laws were not clear.

Copies of these statements were mailed to school officials throughout the state. We secured extra copies for local school officials lest their names might have been omitted by error from the mailing lists. We are sure therefore that the contents of the statement had been made available to them. We called to the attention of several of the officials the fact that the proceedings, as they were being published, served no good purpose because they no longer were informative.

We did not press the matter. The members of the school board might defend their position as proof of their concern about the taxpayers' dollars. Any evidence of economy by public officials should be applauded. We had a cash register interest in the proceedings and some might say that that was a stronger motive than our public interest. We decided to make up for the lack of information in the public proceedings by being a little more thorough in our own reporting of the things we thought the public has a right to know.

We soon discovered, however, that our ideas and the ideas of the superintendent of schools differed on an important point. We thought salary schedules should be made public. Mr. Mickelson thought salaries and pay schedules should be considered confidential information. We have gotten most of the information we have asked for, but it has come grudgingly. A reminder that we could get a court order authorizing an examination of the records did speed the process a little. We regret however that it became necessary to threaten legal action to get information that is a matter of public record. The reluctance with which information is made available to us to be reported as news indicates that the failure to make the proceedings informative is not prompted by a desire to cut costs.

In case there is any question on this point of the public's right to know, we quote from the statement made by the representatives of the State School Board Association, the Minnesota Editorial Association and the state Deprtment of Education as to what information should be included in the published school board proceedings. They agreed:

> "School boards are required to keep accurate and complete official minutes. The school board's minutes are the records of all decisions and actions of the board and are necessary to give legal sanction to the decisions and actions.
> "State law requires that independent school districts, common school districts of ten or more townships, and certain other districts publish official proceedings. This is based on the fact that public education is one of the essential and generally the largest unit of local government. Schools generally require the largest share of local taxes. The public is entitled to know the actions which school boards take and the purposes for which money is expended. Adequate publications help create public confidence and understanding which are vital to school progress.
> "It is recommended that the published proceedings correspond with the minute book of the board. If an item is important enough to include in the minute book, it is usually important enough to publish.
> "It is obviously impossible to include a complete list of the material which might be expected to constitute reasonably complete official minutes or publish proceedings based on them. But the following items include those which come up most frequently and would be included in published proceedings."

From the list of 16 recommendations as to what information should be included in the public proceedings we present the following:

(8) Reports of meetings with teachers regarding contract negotiations, including any action which may be taken.

(9) Reports of contracts for newly employed teachers including the names and salaries and where possible the teaching and other assignments.

(10) Any change in existing contracts, including action on resignations.

(11) Reports of employment of personnel other than teachers including the names of employees, rates of pay and basis of pay.

In reporting on the official actions of those who are elected to direct our public schools we are performing a proper service as a community newspaper. It is our intention to continue to provide such a service.

Thief River Falls, Minn. 202 LaBree Ave. Dial MU 1-2932

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

Two years ago the Minnesota Legislature gave new status to Arbor Day, which has long been recognized in our state. Under the 1957 law, schools are authorized to give special attention, up to one half of the school day, to emphasis on programs to develop our tree and forest resources.

Women's Clubs Cooperate

Arbor Day in Minnesota is now set as the first Friday in May. This year, schools and communities all over the state are observing it. The Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which has for many years sponsored an essay contest in this field, is now cooperating—and leading—in community efforts to make Arbor Day a time of general participation in better planning for our forest resources.

I should like to pay a special tribute to the value of the Federation's efforts in this field.

Renewable Resource

Trees, and forest resources, are examples of one of the few natural resources that are renewable. Iron ore, once used, is gone forever, except for whatever use may be made of scrap. Petroleum resources, one consumed, are gone. But trees can continue to grow, and forests can be managed to produce a sustained and even increased yield over the generations. This is why the lessons that are involved in the observance of Arbor Day are of such great importance.

Minnesota forests were once rapidly exploited and sadly depleted. But in recent years, efforts to renew our forest wealth have brought about most promising results. These efforts have been made by state government, by private industry, by farmers planting woodlots and shelter belts, and by thousands of citizens planting trees. They has been stimulated by voluntary organizations and civic groups, by sportsmen, by soil conservation groups and the Keep Minnesota Green committee.

Every one of us will benefit from these efforts. And even greater benefit will result to our children.

Tree Planting Goals

Our state forestry program has an immediate goal of planting 50,000,000 trees annually, with a long range goal of 100,000,000 trees a year. This year more than 20,000,000 seedlings are being provided for planting.

Citizen Responsibility

Thousands of citizens are helping in this tree planting program And every citizen can help in one important way—to prevent the destruction of trees by their greatest enemy, fire.

Emergency Precautions Needed

It is possible that by the time this column appears, rain will have helped to alleviate the danger that now threatens Minnesota's timber lands. But as of now, an unprecedented 18-month drouth has aggravated a serious fire hazard.

During the second week of April alone, fire destroyed more than 10,000 acres of timber. There have been fewer forest fires this year than during the same months a year ago, but the fires have been more destructive.

Appeal for Caution

Therefore I would like to add my appeal to that of others for utmost caution to prevent fires. Campers and fishermen must take special care. Young and old alike can learn and practice the best fire prevention measures. Remember that years and decades of work, of slow growth, can be destroyed by one match.

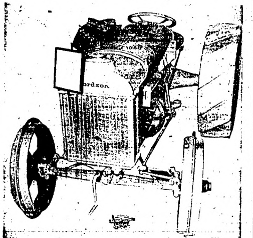
PEEKIN' into the PAST

THE 1913 FORDSON



Henry Ford made no public announcement before introducing this, his first tractor, in 1913. It was named the "Fordson."

This was a compact little "powerhouse" developing 20 horsepower at 1,000 RPM, and was priced at $750.00, which was considered inexpensive at the time.

Features of the Fordson included a "road gear" that gave it up to 15 miles per hour and a kerosene carburetor that sucked air through water to remove dust. Farmers bought them by the thousands.

Why Gamble?

Yes, why gamble . . . when there's no chance of winning? That's the kind of gambling you're involved in when you drive your car beyond the recommended period without having the oil changed.

Although you may use the very best motor oil, such as Phillips 66 Trop-Artic*, there comes a time when the accumulation of impurities in the oil reduces its efficiency.

That's why lubrication experts say: the best motor protection is to use the best motor oil, and change it every 1,000 miles under average around-town driving conditions.

Be sure to let your Phillips 66 Dealer change oil for you on schedule.

New Trends Spur Interest In Wallpaper

To please the American homemaker, each season brings with it hundreds of new ideas for the home. The new spring ideas for wallpaper are in the way colors are combined and in their clear, fresh look. Also new is the trend ward a distinctive surface interest in the textured effects created by wallpaper designers.

And, this season, more than ever before, the choice of subject matter selected for wallpaper designs is novel and exciting. New and improved methods of manufacture make today's wallpaper durable and practical as well as pretty.

To give the amateur decorator a feeling of ease and assurance, leading interior designers started a trend toward the use of one family of colors in all room furnishings. It is almost a sure-fire plan. For example, in the family of blues, the wallpaper background might be a subtle blue mist, with touches of true-blue in the design plus a dash of strong, bright larkspur blue as one of the accent colors.

Fabrics used in the room carry out the 'one family of color' idea by using different values of blue with accent colors in for example, deep night-blue and larkspur.

This delightful color clannishness holds true in other colors too, such as yellows, greens and reds. Many of the new wallpapers continue to have neutral backgrounds, but the fashion swing is toward warm beiges rather than the cold grays.

New designs in the 'quiet' wallpapers, or the papers used as a background rather than as a focal point in a room, are unusual and colorful. Added to the textured effects of simulated grass cloth, soft woolen weaves, silk-like surfaces are designs such as those giving the effect of old Chinese rubbings.

More and more papers are made with impregnated vinyl colors that may be scrubbed to free them of grease stains, lip stick markings and ugly dirt smudges. Some come in solid colors, others have dramatic patterns that would decorate one wall of a kitchen, bathroom, bedroom or hall, with the other three walls papered in a harmoniing paper in a solid or "quietly designed" paper.

While wallpaper has been put up for many years, one of the new ideas for this versatile decorating tool comes in the way wallpaper can be used.

Ways of fooling the eye have been the game of artists for centuries and today's visual trickery can be found in wallpaper murals, borders, panels and screens.

Remodeling Job Should Start With Kitchen

You don't have to start from scratch with a brand-new house to have an efficient, attractive kitchen. By judicious planning it is often possible to create a modern kitchen in a house that's twenty-five, or even seventy-five years old.

You can take that statement on the authority of Montgomery Ferar, noted industrial designer, who in cooperation with his partner, Carl Sandberg, has probably had a hand in the development of as many labor-saving appliances for the modern kitchen as any man alive.

Since your kitchen is likely to be the costliest room in your entire house, the task of modernizing it is not one to be undertaken lightly. Furthermore, there is no such thing as 'the perfect' kitchen, Ferar points out. Every family's requirements are different, and the kitchen that the Joneses, who live across the street, may prove completely inadequate to your needs.

This being so, the first thing to do, when you start to remodel your kitchen, is to sit down and take an inventory of your requirements.

For example: Do you use mixers and blenders often? Do you do much or very little baking? Are you left, or right handed? Do you prefer your cutting board exposed or hidden? Do you use a lot of small appliances?

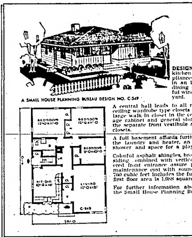
After you have considered each of these points, and discussed them with the other members of your family, you'll be in a position to write out the prescription for a useful, livable kitchen expressly suited to your needs.

In modernizing your kitchen, there are three basic floor plans that you can follow. They are: (1) the galley, or back-to-back arrangement; (2) "L" plan; and (3) the "U" plan. Each has points to recommend it.

The "galley," in which the appliances and work spaces range along opposite walls with a corridor between, provides the most complete utilization of space. On the other hand, it tends to become a traffic route.

The "L" shape quite frequently adapts itself most easily to the physical characteristics of the room area available. The appliance arrangement in this shape is generally good, although it does tend to result in more steps and by-passing.

The "U" shape is generally preferred by architects and modernization experts because it reduces steps, eliminates "cross traffic, and results in more continuous work surfaces, with work areas adjacent to each appliance. One objection to the "U" shape is the lost storage area in the corners; however, "Lazy Susans" revolving shelves successfully overcome this handicap.



A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-549

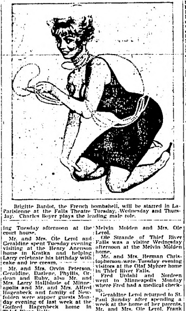
DESIGN C-549. In this plan, the kitchen-dinette has built-in appliances, cabinets and counter in an L-shape, with generous dining space beneath the cheerful windows overlooking the side yard.

A central hall leads to all rooms. There are floor-to-ceiling wardrobe type closets in the two rear bedrooms, large walk-in closet in the center bedroom, linen storage cabinet and general storage closet in hall. Both the separate front vestibule and rear entry boast coat closets.

A full basement affords further storage area, room for the laundry and heater, an additional lavatory or shower and space for a play area.

Colorful asphalt shingles, broad eaves, wide horizontal siding combined with vertical siding around the covered front entrance assure pleasing appearance, low maintenance cost with sound frame construction. 20,760 cubic feet includes the full basement and the total first floor area is 1,088 square feet.

For further information about DESIGN C-549, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.



Brigitte Bardot, the French bombshell, will be starred in La Parisienne at the Falls Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Charles Boyer plays the leading male role.

This could be your home—this year, next year or the year after that. Wildfire does not respect homes or even towns. This year carelessly started forest fires will destroy someone's home—it could be yours. They will burn millions of acres of our priceless forests. This loss cannot be replaced in our lifetime. A terrific price to pay for carelessness; yours, mine or anyone's. Yes, 9 out of every 10 forest fires are man caused, largely through carelessness, and thus are preventable. Let's prevent this tragedy and waste by being careful. This message sponsored by:

Seeding Wel Along in Area Says Co. Agent

Stelmaschuk Sees More Legume, Oats and Barley Seeding

Seeding is now well under way throughout Pennington county, according to a survey by County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Windy spring weather is contributing to rapid drying of soil in the county and dusty conditions prevail, particularly in the western part of the county. East of Thief River Falls moisture conditions are still good. In the western part a rain would prevent wind soil erosion. Pastures generally would benefit from a rain.

Most of the wheat acreage has been seeded in the county since acreage allotments of this crop are small on most farms. Oats and barley seeding has also started with 10 per cent of these crops being planted to date. Most of the field work through the week, however, was cultivation of fields and preparing of seed beds for later planting. Cold weather has delayed seeding operations.

More legumes will be used for seed purposes, especially red clover, will be increased. Both legumes and grass seed acreages are still small in the county.

Flax acreage will remain low after the peak of 44,000 acres reached in 1956. In 1958 only 14,000 acres of flax were grown. This acreage is not expected to change substantially this year.

The oats acreage will remain to stay high. In 1958, 60,000 acres were devoted to this crop. Oat acreage is expected to continue high since oats and wheat both tolerate high lime conditions which prevail in most county soils.

Barley is showing some strength and an increase in the 1958 acreage of 12,500 is expected.

Oats-peas for silage is also gaining in popularity. This crop does well to county high-lime soils. It also yields well, is used to control wild oats, is easy to cure, and makes a good protein feed. Acreages devoted to this crop are expected to increase.

Corn acreage of 4,000 is expected to remain constant. This has been true for the last 13 years. If cool, dry conditions continue, the acreage may be reduced somewhat.

CLOTHING DRIVE O. O. Hofdal, 931 Duluth ave. N., on the right, who was in charge of the used clothing reception center at city Auditorium, gets some help from Martin Carlson, left, auditorium custodian in stacking boxes of used clothing donated to needy people overseas. The drive, sponsored by the Church World Service and the Lutheran Relief organizations, collected enough clothing from April 25 to 28 to fill half of a 26-foot van of L. B. Hartz Wholesale. According to Harold Rasmussen, chairman of the drive, the truck delivered the clothing Wednesday to Grand Forks, where it was shipped to a processing center before being sent overseas to people in Korea, Hong Kong, the Middle East, Hungary, Austria, Poland and West Germany.

To Elect Officers of New American Field Service Unit May 11

Steps were taken Monday afternoon to organize a Thief River Falls chapter of the American Field Service when representatives of several sponsoring organizations met at Lincoln high school. The American Field Service directs student exchange activities, making American high schools available for students of foreign countries and sending American students to foreign schools.

Roy Oen presided at the meeting and offered a constitution and by-laws as recommended by the national organization. These will be acted upon at a meeting to be held Monday, May 11, when the organization will be completed and officers will be elected. Mr. Oen was authorized to appoint a nominating committee to recommend a slate of candidates. All interested individuals and organizations are invited to attend this meeting which will be held in the Home Economics room at 7:15 p.m.

Organizations that are contributing toward the cost of sending a local student abroad this summer are the American Legion and auxiliary, Eagles and auxiliary, Elks, high school PTA, Lions, Rotarians, high school administrators and representatives of the junior class. Judy Wold, who has been selected as this year's visitor to a foreign country, was present.

The Rotary Club, which during the past four years has sponsored the foreign student visiting here, will continue to assume this responsibility.

1st Baptist Church Begins Construction of Its New Building

The First Baptist church, located at 414 Horace ave. N., is engaging in a building program this year to erect the superstructure of their church edifice. At a special business meeting held early this year the congregation voted to go ahead with building plans this spring. During the latter half of 1958 the church raised its building fund to a total of $10,500.

The building committee consulted with several contractors before choosing Leo Schoenrock, contractor of Garretson, S. D., to build the superstructure. Various parts of the construction will be sublet to local firms.

Actual construction began this week with the installation of special anchors to hold the large arches in place. The laying of brick and tile will commence shortly and that part of the work will be completed in about a month.

The church has been meeting in the basement which was finished several years ago. The building is 40 by 100 feet and has seven Sunday school rooms, a large auditorium, kitchen and furnace room in the basement. The superstructure, when completed, will have a sanctuary seating over 200 people with room for 50 more in the balcony, also a mother's room, four more class rooms and the pastor's study. One of the special features of the church will be the baptistry which will be located in front of the sanctuary.

The building will be of tile with brick facing and laminated arches, inside walls of plaster and the ceiling finished with a special acoustical planking. Spot lights hidden behind the arches will light the sanctuary and the floors will be of asphalt tile on a cement base. The pews and other furnishings will be of red oak furnished in blond color. The total cost of the building will run to over $60,000 including furnishings. It is expected that the edifice will be completed some time in September.

The building committee con-

Entries Invited for Pennington County's 'Share Fun' Festival

4-H'ers will be singing and dancing soon in preparation for Pennington county's Share-the-Fun festival at the city Auditorium in Thief River Falls Friday, May 15, says Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau. A good-grooming contest will be held the same evening.

Three acts will be chosen from the county contest to appear in district audition, July 15, at Red Lake Falls. District 4-H club leaders and a committee will pick a total of 12 to 18 acts from the six district auditions. These acts will appear at the state Share-the-Fun festival to be held during the Minnesota state fair.

Miss LeBourveau urges 4-H'ers to begin work on their acts as soon as possible. Not just individuals, but clubs also are encouraged to enter. The number of participants in any one act is not limited.

Acts may be musical, dramatic, folk and square dancing, or novelty numbers such as stunts or skits.

Any 4-H member is eligible to enter the contest. Accompanists need not be members. Each act should be no longer than six minutes. Further information can be obtained at the extension office.

The University of Minnesota Agriculture Extension service and Cargill, Inc., sponsor the Share the Fun program.

There will be four classes in the good grooming contest. One each for boys and girls 13 and under and for boys and girls 14 and over. The contestants will be judged on such things as poise, care and choice of clothes and

To Arrange Plans Friday for Tenth Annual Dairy Day

Association's Board of Directors to Meet with County Agents at Rex

Plans for the tenth anniversary edition of Northwest Dairy Day, scheduled in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 9, will be completed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsoring group, in the Rex cafe Friday evening, May 1, at 6:30.

Stuart McLeod, president of the organization since the first annual Dairy Day was held in this city in June, 1950, stated that Lew Conlon, originator of the event and manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee, will be present to make suggestions for the program for this year's Dairy Day.

Also invited to attend are county agents from the ten participating counties, who are largely responsible for lining up the dairy calf and dairy princess entries for the show.

CHIMNEY BLAZE BRINGS OUT FIREMEN WEDNESDAY

The local fire department was summoned at 7:20 Wednesday morning to the Alfred Stokke residence at 1021 Dewey av. N., where a chimney fire developed. The blaze was extinguished before causing any damage.

Contest Assured in School Board Election May 19

With two more filings this week for the two positions on the Thief River Falls board of education to be filled in the annual election Tuesday, May 19, four aspirants are now in the field. The latest to enter their names are Dr. Ralph Helm, local chiropractor, and Dr. J. O. Disse, optometrist. The two incumbents, who filed previously for reelection, are Dr. M. D. Statekow, president of the board, and Wm. Thompson. The filing period expires next Thursday, May 7.

Postoffice Asks Bids on Carrying Mail to Soo Depot

The post office department is advertising for bids for mail messenger service between the Thief River Falls post office and the Soo Line depot twice a day, at 4:05 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. respectively. Bids must be in the office of the distribution and traffic manager of the post office department in Minneapolis by 3:00 p.m. May 13, and delivery service is to begin May 16. Full particulars are posted on the bulletin board at the post office.

JR. CLASS PLAY SLATED AT NEWFOLDEN FRIDAY

"Adam's Evening," a comedy in three acts, will be presented by the junior class of Newfolden high school in the school auditorium Friday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock.

9th Annual Athletic Banquet Wednesday Drew Big Attendance

The city's four service organizations—the Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees, the Rotary, and the Lions—were hosts to the Prowler athletic lettermen and their coaches, and visiting coaches, at the ninth annual athletic banquet held in the parlors of Zion Lutheran church Wednesday evening.

Doug Tegtmeier, sports director and announcer of KTRF, ably presided as master of ceremonies at the gathering. He introduced Dennis Rolle, who welcomed the guests and visitors to the banquet. Visiting coaches, in attendance and who acknowledged their introduction by Tegtmeier were Jack Junker, coach of the Newfolden Nordics, and Al Droen and Linton Lehrer of the Crookston Central coaching staff.

Ralph Skay, director of athletics at Lincoln high school, introduced the Prowler coaching staff to the gathering — Joe Mrkonich, John Matchefts, Alan Adams, Dale Folger, Rodney Max, Dick Edlund, Dave Rogers, and Jack Boyer. The varsity coaches in turn introduced the captains or co-captains of the various squads, and these captains or co-captains presented their teammates to the gathering.

The featured speaker of the evening, Steve Myhra of the Baltimore Colts professional football team, and a one-time Little All-America football performer with the North Dakota Sioux, was introduced to the near-capacity crowd by Tegtmeier. In his address, which was interspersed with comments on his experiences with the Baltimore Colts, Mr. Myhra stressed the benefits that the youths derive from athletics, pointing out that "teamwork and cooperation in athletics are lessons that are useful and valuable in later life."

He emphasized that athletics should be entered into with spirit and desire, and that the athletes should, while engaging in athletics, be preparing a goal for later life. "If," said Myhra, "you lose that spirit and desire, you have lost everything."

The gathering was concluded by a showing of a reel of film on the highlights of the University of Minnesota football season.

Musical groups that participated in the banquet were the Lincoln high school's clarinet quartet — James Terrian, Carol Anderson, Janice Anderson and Darby Nelson — and the high school quartet — Gary Christofferson, William Haugen, Mark Chommie and Bruce Nelson.

Dr. Walter M. Pedersen, pastor of the host church, gave the invocation.

Council Puts Off Session to Monday, May 4

Not to Open Bids on Remodeling Liquor Store until May 26

A special meeting of the city council Tuesday night was adjourned until Monday, May 4, without transacting any business when the presiding officer, President Bob Carlson, was unable to attend.

No vice-president has been elected by the council since the resignation of Stan Sandvig earlier in the year. An election, scheduled for April 21, was postponed until the return of alderman A. J. Rau, who is on vacation.

Matters which were to be taken up Tuesday night included the examination of bids for a new garbage truck; further discussion on the joint purchase of a city-rural fire truck with the townships of Silverton, Smiley, Agder, Norden and Excel and the opening of bids on the remodeling of the municipal liquor dispensary.

At the request of the architect, bids for the liquor store remodeling will be opened May 26. The one month postponement was asked to allow further work on the preparation of plans and specifications.

The aldermen present at Tuesday evening's meeting, E. B. Benson, Olaf Dahlen, Sam Honebrink and Roy Lee, examined specifications of the garbage trucks offered in the bids submitted April 23 before adjourning.

Zone Meeting of Lions Here May 6

James Parkins, Lions deputy district governor, reported at the luncheon meeting of the local club Wednesday, that arrangements had been completed for Lions clubs of this zone to take part in a visitation meeting next Wednesday evening, May 6, at 7 o'clock in the Elks club rooms. Lions and their ladies are invited, he said.

In view of the affair Wednesday night, the club voted to dispense with its regular noon meeting that day.

Parkins also joined with other Lions clubs in an appeal for contributions by local citizens of discarded spectacles, which will be turned over to the CARE organization to distribute to needy persons in India who have defective eyesight.

County ASC Paid Out $3,500,000 In 1958

$1,004,000 Soil Bank Payments; CCC grain Loans Hit $2,100,492

In a report on 1958 activities of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Pennington county, P. W. Culkins, manager, revealed that benefit payments and loans under the various ASC programs aggregated $3,504,000 during the past year.

Largest payments were $1,004,619 under the conservation reserve of the soil bank program, while Commodity Credit Corp. grain loans totaled $2,100,492.80.

Following is Culkins' detailed report:

Agricultural Conservation Program

Under this program 578 producers requested federal assistance for carrying out soil and water conservation practices on their farms in 1958. The target of the federal government under this program is to maintain the fertility of the soil, control wind and water erosion, conserve the water and soil resources of the nation, and maintain a high state of productivity in the land that will continue to supply an adequate supply of food and fiber for our steadily increasing population.

Of the 578 producers requesting federal cost shares, 473 producers performed the practices according to specifications and were paid $65,835.50 for their performance.

Acreage Reserve

(Part I of Soil Bank program)

267 wheat producers with established allotments were paid $76,734 for retiring 3,891 allotment acres from production in 1958. The goal under this program was to reduce the huge supplies of wheat now in storage.

Conservation Reserve

(Part II of Soil Bank program)

769 landlords, tenants, and farm operators were paid $1,004,619 for retiring 96,506 acres of cropland from production for

E. O. PETERSON

J. J. WOMACK

Peterson Retires as Head of Union S. Bank; Womack Is Successor

After 24 years of service with the Union State bank, including 21 years as president, E. O. Peterson is giving up his duties Friday, May 1, having reached the official retirement age. However, he will not give up all connection with the bank, since he will continue as a director and was named to the newly created position of chairman of the board.

Succeeding Peterson as president and chief administrative officer of the institution is James J. Womack, who has served since last July as executive vice president, and was previously affiliated for 23 years with the Stockyards National bank of South St. Paul. He also is a director of the local bank.

Mr. Peterson began his banking career in 1914 in Warwick, N. D., going from there to Browns Valley, Minn., in 1917, following which he served two years with the U. S. Navy in World War I. He later served from 1922 to 1935 as president of the First National bank of Belle Plaine, coming to Thief River Falls in September, 1935, to become cashier of the Union State bank. He was named president in 1938 to succeed Leon J. Kallher, who was transferred to Red Wing.

During his residence here, Peterson served as a member of the county fair board for 13 years, is a former treasurer of the Civic and Commerce association and of the Sportsmen's club, and now is treasurer of Thief River Falls Jobs Incorporated.

Pre-school Pupils May Get Physical Tests after May 1

Children who will be starting kindergarten here next fall may receive free physical examinations and immunizations at either of the local clinics, starting May 1 and continuing thru June and July, it was announced today by Mrs. Mar Race, school nurse and member of the PTA preschool roundup committee. She urged those who have May appointments to call the clinic for a definite date.

Fertile Man Buys Soft Water Firm

William Sandberg of Fertile has purchased the Falls Soft Water Service from C. L. Williams effective May 1, it was announced today. The present firm name will be retained, said Sandberg, who with his son-in-law has operated the Culligan Soft Water Service in Fertile for the past ten years. He plans to move to this city with Mrs. Sandberg as soon as arrangements can be completed.

Chairman of Red Cross Makes Final Plea for Support

Ralph T. Hunt, chairman of the Pennington county Red Cross chapter, today appealed to local business firms to respond as quickly as possible to the request recently mailed them for contributions to the current fund drive now drawing to a close. He added that only a small amount has been received to date from the rural areas of the county. He stated that if the campaign does not come reasonably close to achieving its objective, it probably will be necessary for the chapter to restrict its participation in the Red Cross training course in life-saving, as well as other activities.

Valley Home Society Names Stuart McLeod and R. Wurst to Board

Following a meeting of the board of directors of the Valley Christian Home Society, held at the Rex Cafe Friday afternoon, announcement was made of acceptance into membership in the society of William E. Dahlquist, Melvin Fjeld, the Rev. Henry Friedman, the Rev. Eldor Langanger, Robert J. Lund, Eugene Nesland, L. W. Rullen and Robert Wurst.

Two resignations from the board, those of Jesse Vedum and the Rev. Joseph Swan, were accepted, with appreciation voiced by the board for their excellent past service and their continued support.

In his letter to the board Mr. Swan said that he was especially gratified by the growth of interest in the new building and that his interest in the work of the Society would not be diminished in any way. Mr. Vedum, in his resignation, expressed a long-felt need for a new building to better care for the aging in our community, but felt, due to his type of work, that it was difficult to attend meetings and be as active as a board member should be.

To fill the director vacancies the board appointed Robert Wurst and Stuart McLeod, the latter also to take over the duties of secretary formerly performed by Mr. Swan. Commenting on the change of secretary, Chairman Waldie Christensen praised the excellence of Mr. Swan's service. "He has done a tremendous job," said Mr. Christensen, "and we have greatly benefited from his counsel." He continued, "In Mr. McLeod, we are fortunate, too, in having a man of leadership in the community who is deeply interested in the welfare of our aging citizens."

Referring to the continual growth of interest in the com-

Kenneth Rafteseth Takes Bride at Alexandria Apr. 11

AT ALEXANDRIA Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rafteseth, nee Darlene Zarbok, were married Saturday, April 11 at Zion Lutheran church in Alexandria. They are pictured here with their attendants, Mrs. Douglas Ost and Duane Rafteseth. The Rafteseths are now making their home in Minneapolis.

In a setting of yellow snapdragons, white carnations and lighted candelabra, Miss Darlene Zarbok, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zarbok of Parkers Prairie became the bride of Kenneth Rafteseth, son of Hjalmer Rafteseth of Thief River Falls, Saturday, April 11, in Alexandria, Minn.

The double ring ceremony took place at Zion Lutheran church 3 p.m., and was officiated Rev. K. K. Hill. Miss Shirley Steinbrink was at the organ, playing the nuptial music and accompanying Duane Rafteseth of Moorhead as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street length dress of spring satin with an Empire waist. A small hat, trimmed in seed pearls and sequins, held her shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Douglas Ost, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a street length dress of irridescent green crystalure and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Duane of Moorhead, as best man, while Norbert Zarbok, brother of the bride, and Charles Damskey, friend of the bridegroom, were ushers. Raymond Fiebranz lit the candles.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Zarbok chose a Nobel navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rose buds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 120 guests. Friends of the bride from Minneapolis were hostesses at the gift table and also served the punch. Mrs. Arthur Fiebranz and Mrs. James Schable, sisters of the bride and bridegroom respectively, cut and served the wedding cake, while Mrs. Norbert Zarbok, sister-in-law of the bride, was at the guest book.

For going away the bride chose a grey tweed suit with matching accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Following their honeymoon trip to South Dakota, Mr. and Mrs. Rafteseth will make their home at 3515 24th ave. S., Minneapolis.

The bride is a graduate of Parkers Prairie high school and is now employed as a secretary at the Armstrong Cork Co. in Minneapolis. Mr. Rafteseth is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Dunwoody Institute of Minneapolis. He is now employed at the RCA Co. in Minneapolis.

Guests from a distance attending the wedding included the groom's father, Hjalmer Rafteseth of Thief River Falls, and relatives and friends from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Thief River Falls, Moorhead, Minot, N. D., and Phillip, S. D.

Hill-Blokzyl Vows Spoken At R. L. Falls

Miss Yvonne Arlene Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urho Hill of Red Lake Falls and Harold Duane Blokzyl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Blokzyl of Crookston were united in marriage Saturday, April 11 in Red Lake Falls.

The double ring ceremony took place at St. John's Lutheran church at 2 p.m. and was officiated by Rev. O. C. Poellot.

For her wedding the bride chose a street length dress, sheath style, of white Chantilly lace with a detachable overskirt of light blue net. Accenting her attire was a white hat, gloves matching the dress and a corsage of red and white roses.

Mrs. Gerald Blokzyl of Crookston, cousin of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, wearing a ballerina length dress of light blue embroidered taffeta with matching gloves and hat. Her corsage was of pink and white roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his cousin, Gerold Blokzyl, of Crookston.

Sunday, April 19, an open house was held for Mr. and Mrs. Blokzyl at the home of the bride's parents, in Red Lake Falls.

Following a honeymoon trip to Northern Wisconsin they are making their home at Parks Apt. No. 7 in Crookston.

The bride is a graduate of Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls and was employed as a sales clerk at the Federated Store in Red Lake Falls. The groom served the United States Navy for two years and is employed at Morris Standard Oil Co. in Crookston.

Detroit Lakes Woman Heads Ninth District

Mrs. Fred Kwako of Detroit Lakes was installed as president of the Ninth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs at the convention held in Fosston Saturday, April 25. Mrs. Kwako has been serving in this capacity for the past two weeks, with Mrs. John Michels of Breckenridge, president, having moved out of the district.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Warren Saetre, Warren, first vice president; Mrs. Norman Arneson, Crookston, secretary; and Mrs. Harold Nord, Pelican Rapids, treasurer. The installing officer was Mrs. M. W. Kiesau of East Grand Forks, past district president.

Special guests at the convention were Mrs. M. L. Malmquist of Grand Rapids, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs and Mrs. Floyd McDunn of Pelican Rapids, a past president.

During Mrs. Malmquist's address, she urged the women to "analyze the field where your work lies, see the pressing needs, and there is your project." She expressed the support of CARE, and told how the General Federation had worked hand in hand with the government in trying to get distressed nations on the way to self-support after World War II.

Miss Mary Demetrellou, exchange student of Greece, who is making her home with the J. W. Ewings in Thief River Falls, was the guest speaker at the noon luncheon. One hundred and thirty women heard her tell of the problems of adjusting to the American teen-age way of life and of the education and home-life of her own country.

Mrs. McDunn, afternoon guest speaker, gave inside information on the preparation for participation in the National Conference on Aging set for 1961. As a member of Governor Freeman's conference, she explained the informal surveys of needs, which they will be making in their respective communities.

Mrs. Ole Aune of Underwood, conservation chairman, who has won statewide recognition and was awarded a plaque by the Northwest Sportsmen's organizations for outstanding service, was given special recognition. She urged the observance of Arbor Day, a project which the Women's clubs have adopted for 1959.

Hostesses for the convention were the member of the Athenian club of Fosston headed by Mrs. Arvid K. Magelssen, president. Music was povided by the Women's trio of the Mac-Dowell Music club of Fosston. The 1960 convention will be held at Halstad.

Home Ec Research Is Brought to County in Extension Program

Have you ever wished you lived in the "good old days," say at the turn of the century?

Suppose you stepped out of your modern push-button kichen into one 50 years ago. The electric refrigerator, gas or electric range, dishwasher, automatic washer, dryer, electric toaster would all be missing. You'd probably have a wood-burning range, an ice box, a washing machine operated by hand.

Research has brought amazing improvements in household equipment, just as it has been responsible for changes in homemaking techniques and in practically every area of home and family living. Keeping abreast of this research is one of the ways the modern homemaker can help her family adjust to changing times, according to Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau.

Purpose of the extension home program, she points out, is to bring to homemakers the results of home economics research which will make for more satisfying family living. Such research is being carried on continually in colleges and universities and in industry. Through their home extension groups, women may learn the latest reliable information based on research studies in such fields as nutrition, clothing, home furnishings, consumer buying, home management, health, safety and family relationship. Publications are available from the county extension office and the University of Minnesota on almost every area of homemaking.

Recent studies on time and labor-saving methods are an example of the practical help research can give, in this case especially to the busy young mother and to the woman with the double job of wage earning and homemaking. Nutrition surveys show that the average American family eats more wisely and has better food than in time past, but also shows the need for emphasis on more calcium and vitamin C in family meals. New fibers and fabrics create the need for information on buymanship and care. Such information, Miss LeBourveau points out, is available to Pennington county women through the extension home program, open to all women.

Homemakers who are interested in securing information about participating in the extension home program or organizing a neighborhood group may contact the county extension office.

Several speakers will discuss adult services during an afternoon session starting at 2 p.m. Robert H. Simonds will talk on library bindings and editions; Myrtle Rundquist, Moorhead librarian, will discuss films and libraries; Crookston librarian Cleo Thompson will speak on notable books; and sources of inexpensive materials will be discussed by a state library division staff member.

A trustees' meeting, also scheduled for 2 p.m., will consider budget making and qualifications for trustee appointees. O. J. Hemmingson, president of the Crookston library board, will preside.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m., followed by progress reports for the Minnesota Library Assn., the federal regulations chairman and library extension in Minnesota.

Winnipeg Choir to Be at Tabernacle

35-voice Group to Appear In City Sunday Evening

Appearing here Sunday evening will be the 35-voice Calvary Temple choir of Winnipeg under the direction of Rev. D. R. Tanner, assistant pastor and music director of the church.

The choir is on a weekend tour to Fargo, Moorhead and Thief River Falls, appearing here at the Assemblies of God Tabernacle at 7:45 p.m.

In addition to choir renditions of favorite hymns, the group will feature duets, trios, quartets and a bass soloist. Rev. Tanner will deliver the evening message.

Calvary Temple, located in downtown Winnipeg, has a congregation of well over a thousand persons, and is affiliated with the Assemblies of God of Canada. The pastor is Rev. H. H. Barber.

The local public is invited to hear the choir here. A free-will offering is to be received. Rev. Robert Abbott is the local pastor.

Lincoln PTA Has Musical Program, Exhibits Monday

The Lincoln high school PTA, at its last regular meeting of the school year Monday evening, enjoyed an excellent musical program supplied by members of the high school band under the direction of John Moum, and by the orchestra directed by James Solsten.

Following the program in the auditorium, the members adjourned to the cafeteria to inspect a large exhibit of work projects completed by the high school students during the year, revealing much cleverness and ingenuity.

Walther League Banquet Sunday

14 St. John's Confirmands to Be Guests at Dinner

Fourteen boys and girls to be confirmed in St. John's Lutheran church Sunday, May 10, will be guests of honor at the annual Walther League birthday banquet to be held in the church parlors Sunday evening, May 3, beginning at 7:00. The meal will be served by St. John's ladies aid.

Master of ceremonies will be Marvin Koop, youth counselor. The main address of the evening will be given by the Rev. Roger Fischer of Warren, who will speak on the evening's theme "More Hands for Christ." A special film will also be shown.

On the program will also be installation of the new Walther League officers: Bob Benke, president; Arden Arlt, vice president; Faye Fuller, secretary; Leonard Geske, treasurer. Outgoing officers are Hillard Koop, Ruby St. Martin, Sandra Jensen and Roger Fuller.

The installation rites and the Walther League candle lighting ceremony will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. C. Seltz. Members and friends of the Thief River Falls parish are cordially invited.

ST. JOHN'S MEN'S CLUB TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

St. John's Lutheran Men's club will meet Monday evening at 8:00. The topic "Castle or Filling Station?" discussing the function of the Christian home, will be presented by Albert Koop, elder of the congregation and chairman of the stewardship committee. Don Pream, president, will be in charge of the business meeting.

Half-pints to Join in Fergus Falls VFW Parade May 2

The Ninth district convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held in Fergus Falls Saturday and Sunday, with the convention parade set for Saturday at 3 p.m. Included in the line of march will be the Bridgeman Half-Pints of this city under the direction of Mrs. Ed Sullivan. Heading a Thief River Falls delegation to the parley will be Roy Jorgenson, past district commander, and H. J. Rafteseth. Arthur Bakken of Fergus Falls is retiring commander.

Rotary Hears Talk on Heart Ailments

Dr. Mochal Tells of New Methods of Treatment

Dr. M. A. Mochal of the Starekow Clinic was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon Monday noon, his subject being the heart and the progress that is being made in dealing with its shortcomings. Encouraging gains are being made in the understanding of the heart and its operations, he said, but much that is written for popular magazine publication should be taken with a grain of salt.

The diet and emotional stress appear to be factors in the cause of heart trouble, and heredity seems also to be important in some instances, he said. No one has all of the answers. New methods of rehabilitation, including a more general use of exercises, are bringing encouraging results.

As an example of progress in this field he cited the case of President Eisenhower who has been able to resume a normal work load following severe attacks.

Too many meetings are held each month for no better reason than that it has been a month since the last one. —Bill Vaughan.

Municipal Court Has Heavy Grist of Cases

A busy session of municipal court was held Monday, with numerous stop sign violations and minors charged with possession of beer accounting for many of the cases. Judge H. O. Chommie presided.

One person was brought to court by Sheriff Charles Richards. John Howard Erickson, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to possession of beer by a minor and was fined $10 plus $5.50 costs, while Edward Benton, Hayward, Wis., forfeited $20 bond for failure to heed a stop sign.

Several cases were listed by the highway patrol. Percy D. Noble, rt. 1, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to failure to heed a stop sign and paid a $10 fine plus $4 costs.

Speeding 90 m.p.h. at night and subsequent arrest and plea of guilty to the charge, cost William P. Brosius, East Grand Forks, $30 fine plus $4 costs.

Kenneth E. Thoreson, rt. 1, Goodridge, was arrested and charged with careless driving by the highway patrol on a citizen's complaint. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 plus $4 costs and his driver's license was also suspended for 30 days.

Dennis L. Kezar, rt. 5, failure to heed a stop sign, pleaded guilty, and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Five minors charged with possession of beer furnished most of the city police action in court Monday. The five were: Wendell L. Johnson, Phillip L. Hanson, Darrel Wilson, Rolland Amiot and Jay Baker, all of the city. All pleaded guilty and Johnson and Hanson were fined $10 plus $4 costs, while the other three were fined $10 only.

Torval J. Lillevold, city, pleaded guilty to failure to heed a stop sign in which he was involved in an accident as a result thereof, and was fined $10 plus $4 costs. On the additional charge of leaving the scene of an accident he pleaded guilty and was fined $25 plus $4 costs.

Nels Stallmo, city, pleaded guilty to running a stop sign and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Wednesday, Stanley Efteland, city, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $100 plus $5 costs or 90 days in jail. On another charge of driving after license revocation he was fined $10 plus $4 costs after he pleaded guilty.

Penning on ASC Office Paid out $3,500,000 in '58

periods varying from 3 to 10 years. Included in the above figure is payment for establishing a permanent vegetative cover on the soil bank acreage.

Storage Facility Loans

Loans in the amount of $69,620 were serviced on 17 farm storage facility loans in the county in 1958. These loans are made to producers of eligible commodities for the purpose of storing grain on their farms instead of hauling their grain directly to warehouses at harvest-time. These loans draw interest at the rate of 4% per annum. The main purpose of this program is to have grain stored on thousands of farms throughout the country instead of concentrating huge supplies in terminals where it may become the main target of the enemy in the event of an atomic attack. Interest collected in 1958 on these loans was $2,784.80.

Wool Incentive Program

$4,229.13 was paid to 261 wool producers in the county. The purpose of this program is to promote increased production of wool in the United States. The need for increased production is most desirable due to the fact that our nation's wool producers do not produce a sufficient quantity of wool to supply the nation's requirements and have an adequate reserve in store. The past several years it has been necessary to import some wool in order to satisfy our nation's needs, and transportation of imports may be seriously affected in the event of a global war.

Purchase Agreements

133 producers placed 106,781 bushels of 1958 crops under price support, totaling $135,597.37. Under this program producers are guaranteed county support rates for the commodities placed under agreement in the event that the crop market drops below the price support level. Service fees totaling $980 were paid by producers for this service.

Commodity Credit Corp. Loan Program

1,682 CCC loans were serviced in the county during 1958 which represents loans on 3,140,487 bushels of oats, barley, wheat, rye and flax. The funds invested in these commodities are $2,100,492.60. Funds under this program are loaned to producers at an interest rate of 3¼% per annum. The producer is charged a service fee of ¼-cent per bushel for elevator-stored grain and 1-cent per bushel for farm-stored grain. $26,170.31 was collected from producers for this service on the above loans. These fees are used for administrative purposes for all price support programs.

National legislation under this program permits producers to secure loans on their crops and retain control of the commodities up to a specified date in lieu of being forced to sell the commodities on the open cash market at harvest time when cash prices are generally at the lowest level.

Loan Reseal program

$46,877 was paid to 193 producers for storing 379,472 bushels of grain on their farms for an additional year. Under this program CCC pays the producer approximately the same amount for storage that warehouses would receive for the same service.

Wheat Allotment and Marketing Quotas

731 wheat farms were inspected and measured by field employes. 123 of the farms overseeded their allotments and were requested to reduce the acreage or pay a penalty on the excess. 119 producers disposed of the excess acreage and received marketing cards. The remaining 4 producers paid a penalty and were then permitted to market their crops through normal channels.

Government Bin-Sites

Fourteen government bins were rented to warehousemen at the Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire bin-sites for the storage of grain during the year. Rental periods on these bins varied from 2 to 8 months, and rental fees collected on each bin were $10.25 per month.

Gross administrative expenditures for the Pennington County ASC office for the year were $37,908.73. This includes salaries, both office and field employees, rent, telephone service, supplies, office equipment, etc. 32,158 documents and reports were prepared by the county office. 6,924 letters and cards were prepared and mailed to producers, bankers and warehousemen. 398 1956 and 1957 CCC grain loans were settled with producers.

In addition to the above there were other official activities pertaining to the various programs service by the ASC office during the 1958 program year.

Isabelle Fulton Interred At Ada

Funeral services were held Wednesday, April 29, at 2 p.m. at the Congregational church in Ada for Isabelle Fulton, 91, who died Sunday, April 26, at Northwestern hospital.

Officiating at the rites was Rev. Gordon I. Heriot, with interment in the Ada cemetery. Green Funeral home was in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Furton was born Dec. 8, 1867, at Newburg, Minn., and as a small child came to Ada with her parents, where her father was engaged in the general merchandising field. She attended school, grew to womanhood and taught school for a number of years in Norman county.

On Sept. 5, 1920, she was united in marriage to John H. Fulton at Morris, Minn., and they resided at Euclid before coming to Thief River Falls in 1930.

Surviving is one stepdaughter, Mrs. Beth Kennel of Mameron, Missouri; two step-sons, David of LaMesa, Calif., and Samuel of San Diego, Calif.

Last Rites For Orvin Johnsrud at Goodridge Today

Funeral services for Orvin F. Johnsrud will be held this afternoon, Thursday, April 30, at 2 p.m. at the Eklund Lutheran church at Goodridge. Rev. A. B. Heltne will officiate and interment will be made in the Eklund cemetery. The body will lie in state at the church one hour before time of services. Gulbranson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Orvin Johnsrud, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Johnsrud of Goodridge, was killed in a one-car accident, Sunday, April 26, near Hibbing. He was born June 24, 1938 in Pennington county and was baptized and confirmed in the Eklund church and attended school at Goodridge and the A.C. at Crookston. He was employed at Hibbing at the time of his death.

He served with the United States Army, taking basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif. and school at Ft. Rucker, Ala. He returned from Germany in February, 1959 to receive his discharge.

Surviving are his parents, three brothers, Obert, Clayton and LeRoy all of Goodridge and his grandmother, Julia Johnsrud and Minnie Rindal also of Goodridge.

Mrs. K. Syversrud Succumbs; Rites to Be Held Friday

Mrs. Andrea Elisabeth Syversrud, a resident of the community for 29 years, died Tuesday, April 28 in Lambert township, Red Lake county, at the age of 88.

Funeral services will be held Friday, May 1, at 2 p.m. at the Gulbranson Funeral Chapel. Officiating will be Mr. Harry Johnson of Roseau. Interment will be made in the Garness cemetery at Oklee.

Mrs. Syversurd was born in Hallingdal, Norway, December 20, 1870, where she grew to womanhood. She was married to Knute Syversrud Jan 5, 1888, in Norway. They came to the United States in 1896 and homesteaded in Garness township in Red Lake county.

In 1910 they moved to Pennington county and farmed near River Valley until 1930, and since she has made her home with her daughter Mrs. Gladys Borgen. For the past six months she has been living with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Swenson of rural Brooks.

Surviving are four daughters and four sons, Synneva, Mrs. Selmer Swenson, of Brooks; Mrs. Christine Vidden of Fertile; Mrs. Gladys Borgen of Thief River Falls; Ruth, Mrs. Oscar Mosbeck of rural Red Lake Falls; Edwin of rural Thief River Falls; Ned of Seattle, Wash.; Carl of Hibbing and Adolph of El Cajon, Calif., also 35 grandchildren and 47 great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, three daughters and one son.

C. Anderson Dies Suddenly April 29

Curtis Anderson, proprietor of the Fix-It Shop, died suddenly Wednesday, April 29, at Northwestern hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services have been set for Tuesday, May 5, at the Seventh Day Adventist church. Gulbranson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

Rural Youth Hear State Agent May 6

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford to Speak Wednesday Night

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, home agent at large, University of Minnesota, will speak at the next Rural Youth meeting to be held Wednesday, May 6 in the court house meeting room. The subject is "Understanding Ourselves and Others."

At the monthly meeting held last week, the group heard two reports from the state Rural Youth conference in St. Paul, given by Margaret Peterson and Marlene Hanson who reported in behalf of the five county delegates attending the state conference.

Margaret reported on the talk of Keith McFarland who spoke on the topic, "Are you Powered for Takeoff" which dealt with personality and the aspects to be considered when taking on a permanent job. She also reported on Larry Adams' trip to Portugal as a Minnesota exchange delegate.

Miss Hanson reported on the tour through the Ford plant in St. Paul and Dr. Finn Larsen's talk on exploring exciting new scientific frontiers. He is a former Nobles county farm boy and is now director of research for Minneapolis Honeywell. Eleanor Gifford spoke on the subject "Understanding Ourselves and Others." The banquet speaker was Dr. Philip Raup, professor, University of Minnesota. Dr. Raup showed colored slides of Russia and spoke on "What's Behind the Iron Curtain."

A movie, "Helpful Henry" was shown and square dancing completed the evenings porgram.

4-H Clubs to Note 4-H Sunday, May 3

419 Pennington Members to Share in Observance

A total of 419 Pennington county 4-H'ers along with 4-H'ers across the state will observe May 3 as 4-H Sunday according to the county extension office.

Four-H Sunday is an out growth of the ancient tradition of blessing the land and the seed during planting time, said club agent Roberta LeBourveau. It is observed annually on the fifth Sunday after Easter.

The second H in the 4-H clover stands for the heart. In keeping with this Heart-H, this Sunday emphasizes the spiritual values and character building qualities of 4-H club week. Spiritual development is necessary to develop a full and well rounded personality.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

This week, I was asked, "What right do newspapers have to criticize the actions of civic groups? What business is it of yours?"

The questions were asked with some heat and I believe it fair to take that into account. If the questioner had taken some time to think about the query he made, I doubt if he would have asked it.

Since the nation was founded, newspapers have accepted the duty of informing their readers of the events, local, state, national and international. Freedom of the press to inform the public is one of our most precious possessions. What has happened in other countries where this freedom has been taken away is well known.

What right do we have? What business is it of ours? We have every right and information is our business.

During the course of a week's work, I, like other reporters on newspapers in every country which has freedom of the press, report the events as objectively and as completely as possible. This includes activities with which I might not agree or which, after digging, I find are not what they first appeared to be.

There is no place in the news columns of any paper for anything rather than the statement of occurrences exactly as they happened. There is, however, a chance that there are moving forces behind the occurrences which need revealing or that the events as they happened are only half the story. The place for this phase of the news is in a personal column or on the editorial page where the reasons for certain actions may be told.

"Where do you dig up this stuff?" I was asked by one person. There is little reason to dig for subject matter. There is so much lying around uncovered but undisturbed which needs to be discussed that it takes little effort to find conditions which need to be brought out into the open.

There are those who buttonhole me on the street, call on the phone or write letters expressing dissatisfaction with some activity or another. In some cases, I find, after looking into matters, that these people have a justified complaint—in others, I find that the people would be unhappy even if they lived in Paradise. And, in some cases, I have found that there are those who have personal axes to grind but prefer to have someone else grind them with all the attendant dangers.

Those in government at any level must remember that their actions are subject to the scrutiny of those who pay for every item that is purchased. That has been written into the law for the public's protection and no one in government has any reason to feel abused when, sooner or later, the public wants to know what is going on. Public records and the doings of public bodies are not, never have been and never will become the personal property of government officials.

On the other hand, the actions of government employees may often be misconstrued. The time and place to get the information about the workings of the government is at the meetings of governmental groups, not over a cup of coffee the next day. Meetings are open to the public and, generally, are ill-attended.

There is a saying that "You get the kind of government you deserve." If you are unhappy about what is going on, why don't you do something about it rather than sitting around and complaining about it? Public officials are not mind readers.

Burglars Enter 4 Places in M. River

Little Loot Apparently Obtained by Intruders

Three business places were burglarized in Middle River Monday night, and one Friday night.

Burglars gained admittance to Carriere's Service Station Friday night, by breaking open the side door. They looted the peanut machine and pop cooler coin container, but found only a small supply of cash in each.

Larson's Hartz Store was entered Monday night after breaking the lock on the back door. As far as could be determined only the cash register had been emptied of change.

Only $18.80 in change was taken from the cash register at the Central Lumber company after the locks on both doors had been broken to gain entrance.

Overvold Hardware was entered through the office window, but the burglars left empty handed, as no cash was left on the premises and nothing of value seemed to be missing.

Sheriff Oscar Erickson was in Middle River Tuesday morning to investigate the break-ins.

Social Security Man Here May 5th

Agent Also Will Visit Goodridge Wednesday

A representative from the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, May 5, at 10:00 a.m. He will answer questions about social security and accept claims for benefits. He will also be in Goodridge at the Fire Hall May 6, at 9:00 a.m.

Is your neighbor receiving social security benefits? If so, you may be tempted to rely on him for advice. However, each case is different.

If you wanted to have your shoes repaired you would not go to a butcher, would you? Likewise, the person who wants accurate social security information does not go to his friends or neighbors. Instead he gets the fact from his social security representative.

Origin of the $ sign is a mystery, but the most widely accepted theory is that it evolved from the Spanish abbreviation "Ps" for plasters or the same Mexican symbol for pesos.

STAN & OTTO'S New refrigeration equipment has been installed in the frozen foods, produce and meat departments of Stan and Otto's Red Owl store which is having its grand opening today, Friday and Saturday. Free prizes and the appearance of Jane Johnston, hostess of the Red Owl television program, will be two of the highlights of the grand opening which also included free prizes to the first 200 women who visited the store today and special bargains for shoppers during the three-day event. Stan Sandvig and Otto Stenberg, owners of the store, took possession of the business Feb. 24 and have extensively remodeled and redecorated the store.

Soil Stewardship to Be Stressed at Grygla Wednesday

Grygla Lutheran Parish Cooperates With SCS in Arrangements for Event

Soil stewardship will be emphasized in the Grygla Lutheran parish by a special rogation service Wednesday, May 6, at 8 p.m. at the Mar-Bel Hall. "Soil Stewardship Week is the time of the year when man's relationship to the soil is explored," Pastor H. Arthur Dale of the Grygla parish explained. "Because man's existence is tied to the soil, it is proper that we celebrate that bond with a religious ceremony."

Accordingly each parishioner is asked to bring a cupful of soil to the service which will be placed on the altar. The resulting heap of soil will be symbolic of the rich soils in the Grygla parish, and will be a visual reminder during the service of the members' dedicated job of preserving and improving the soil for their use.

"This type of service is unique in the celebration of Soil Stewardship week," said Oliver Howland, member of the board of supervisors of the Marshall-Beltrami soil conservation district. "We would like all people of the area to participate regardless of occupation or religious affiliation," he added.

The event was planned by Pastor Dale, the board of supervisors of the Marshall-Beltrami soil conservation district; Fred Heck, Marshall county extension service; and John McMartin, USDA Soil Conservation service.

Lincoln Bands in Concert May 7th

Three Groups to Perform Next Thursday Evening

Three Lincoln high school bands comprising 168 young musicans will take part in a concert next Thursday evening, May 7, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium, it was announced today by John Moum, director, who will be assisted by David Thorstad, student director.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

What happens when a 35-car coal train roars down a three-mile grade into an S-curve with the engineer dead at the controls and a passenger train approaching on the same track? Another skilled engineman—the locomotive fireman—takes over, expertly applies the brakes and runs the train into the siding so that the passenger train can come through safely. These were the circumstances that brought King E. Barnett of Monet, Mo., the B.L.F.&E. May Safety Award.

Barnett was the fireman on the coal train that left Fort Smith, Ark., early on March 18, 1958. His engineer was Fran Simpson.

The coal train was four miles from Van Buren, Ark., and headed down a three-mile grade when Barnett noticed Simpson leaning over his seat. The engineer had not cut back his speed for the S-curve at the bottom of the hill.

Fireman Barnett then realized that Simpson was dead. He took control of the train, slowed it enough to avoid derailment, and took it into the first available siding to give the oncoming passenger train a clear track.

This is an example of the fireman's duties, just one example; also, this is one of the jobs Daniel P. Loomis, president of American Railroads, has branded as "featherbedding!"

Chevrolet Garage to Get Traveling Exhibit May 6-9

'59 Featurama Includes Intricate Animated and Mechanical Displays

The 1959 edition of the Chevrolet Featurama, one of the nation's most spectacular traveling shows of automotive engineering advances, is on its way to Thief River Falls.

Consisting of a group of intricate, hand-built, animated and mechanized displays, the unusual exhibit dramatizes the latest progress in automotive design. It will be open to the public at Northern Chevrolet, Inc., from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 6 through May 9, under the sponsorship of the local agency.

A number of new exhibit pieces never before shown in this area are included in the 1959 Featurama. One of the most spectacular is a Chevrolet passenger car sliced almost in half to show many engine and chassis parts.

An intriguing "truck selector" makes choosing a truck colorful and exciting. The safety of the latest brakes, tires and other automotive parts is ably displayed in a special mechanical exhibit.

The cutaway car exhibit will give visitors the opportunity to see how the new "Level Air" suspension system automatically compensates for additional passengers to keep the 1959 Chevrolet on a constant level.

Farm Borrowers' Earnings up in '58

Expenses Also Higher, J. P. Rosengren States

A summary of records kept by Pennington and Red Lake counties farmers using Farmers Home Administration credit, indicates an average gross income of $7549 for 1958, an increase of $1861 over 1957, it was announced today by J. P. Rosengren, county supervisor.

However, farm expenses, living expenses, and cost of capital goods were sharply higher than in 1957.

Credit is extended by the Farmers Home Administration only when commercial credit cannot be secured.

Loans are mainly made for farm buildings, farm development, farm enlargement, also, expansion and improvement of operations on a chattel loan basis.

When a loan is reduced sufficiently to be eligible for other credit, refinance is required.

The local Farmers Home Administration office serving Pennington and Red Lake counties has outstanding loans in the amount of about $780,000. Collections for the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1958, total about $235,000.

Prowler-Roseau Game 5-5 Tie in 5 Innings

With the game called at the end of the 5th inning because of darkness, the Roseau Rams and the Prowlers were forced to share a 5 to 5 deadlock in an inter-district high school baseball game played on the Fair Grounds diamond Monday evening. The Prowlers will meet coach Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles at Red Lake Falls in the afternoon, with game time slated for 3:30 P.M.

The Prowlers had an opportunity to shove across the winning run in the last half of the 5th on Monday evening, having the bases loaded with one man out; but Roseau's Jerry Ulvin forced Jerry Jorgenson to hit a bounder to the mound, and Gary Anderson was forced at the plate, and Harlie Drees was a strikeout victim, ending the threat.

The Prowlers, playing without the services of first baseman Phil Hanson and shortstop-pitcher Mickey Hanson, who have been dismissed from the squad, gained a one-run lead in the opening inning. Arlan Hjelle, leading off, was safe at first when shortstop Dale Olson made a low throw to first; Jorgenson dumped a sacrifice bunt to the mound, and both runners were safe when pitcher Ulvin fumbled the ball.

Drees sacrificed, pitcher to first, moving the runners to third and second. Paul Saurdiff strolled, filling the bases; and on a passed ball, Hjelle sprinted across the plate with a run. Gene Weckwerth was called out on strikes, and Jim Wegge sent a fly ball to right field.

Roseau evened the game at 1-all in the 2nd inning when, with two strikes and a ball on the call, southpaw batting Dale Olson lofted a towering home run over the right-field barrier.

The Prowlers rolled up a four-run cluster in the 3rd inning, scoring on an error, a single by Weckwerth, a walk to Wegge, a double by Gary Anderson, and a two-run single by Eddie Lietzow.

Roseau, on three unearned runs, moved back into contention in the 4th inning. Young Jerry Hovda, the Yogi Berra of the Roseau club, punched out a single to left field; Larry Stordahl struck out; Keith Brandt struck out, but when the ball eluded catcher Wegge, Brandt reached first base safely; Rod Nelson was set down on strikes, swinging; Jim Stordahl doubled to the fence in center field, scoring Hovda and Brandt; and when Ulvin slashed a double to left field, Stordahl tallied. Harlie Drees came in to the mound to take over the Prowler hurling chores from starter Hjelle, and the chunky righthander forced Dave Backlund to lift an infield fly to retire the side.

Roseau, in the top of the 5th and the fast-gathering gloom, knotted the score when Olson opened with a walk, stole second, and scored on Hovda's binge into right field.

The Prowlers made a strong bid in the last half of the 5th inning when Anderson and Lietzow drew walks; Gary Klungness whiffed, but Hjelle walked to fill the bases. Roseau's righthander, Ulvin, hitched up his trousers and retired Jorgenson and Drees to preserve the 5-all tie.

3 Wins, 1 Loss Is Newfolden Record

Nordics' Next Home Game Against Argyle Tonight

The Newfolden Nordics baseball team has won three games and lost one in four outings to date. The Nordics lost their home opener to Strandquist, 4 to 3. Into the win column went victories over Karlstad, 3 to 2, Greenbush, 7 to 4, and Badger, 10 to 5.

The next home game for the Nordics is on Thursday, April 30, when they entertain the Argyle Eagles in a non-conference game. The Nordics' baseball field is rapidly rounding into shape and will be the site of the 1959 district 32 baseball tournament on June 4 and 5. Game time for Thursday's tilt is 3:30 p.m.

The most interesting game on the Nordics slate last week was the 3 to 2 win over the Karlstad Rabbits. Dennis Bakke, the Nordics' winning pitcher, drove in all of the Newfolden runs. Getting a home run with a man on in the 3rd inning, and a game-winning single with the bases loaded in the last half of the 7th inning. Bakke had a two-bagger to go with his homer and a single.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Trap Shoot Season Opens

The Thief River Trap Shoot league, with its membership increased to eight teams, will begin competitive shooting tonight, Thursday. The first week's schedule will find the Wilson Bros., meeting the Northern Chevrolet; the Oen's Appliance meeting the Thief River Pharmacy; the league champion Times meeting the Coast-to-Coast; and the new members, the Starekow Clinic meeting Dr. Jim Disse's squad.

Considerable color should be added to this season's competition by addition of the two new clubs, and their squad members. The Starekow Clinic squad has the following roster: Dr. Milt Starekow, Jim Winjum Jr., Bob Craik, Ivan Bundy, Lloyd Brunsberg, Jub Prichard, Phil LeGault, Dennis (Cotton) Langevin, Art Christianson, and Jim Winjum, Sr. Dr. Disse's squad is composed of the following Jim Disse, Jim Womack, Bill Ranta, Milo Gulbranson, Glen Anderson, Bill Disse, Gene Gaer, Bob Baker, and Don Lawrence.

In spite of the fact that the champion Times squad will be in action on Thursday evening, no admission charge will be levied against the spectators. In fact, one of the league directors made the disparaging comment that it would perhaps be more proper to pay the fans to watch those "clownish" Times shooters perform. This director, and his team, will rue the day he made this remark!

It Was Unfortunate

The Roseau and Prowler baseball players were unhappy, coaches Ray Kavanaugh and Ralph Skay were unhappy, and the fans were unhappy when Monday evening's game, between the Rams and the Prowlers, was called at the end of the 5th inning, because of darkness, with the score knotted at 5-all.

The Prowlers have contracted for ten night games, and Monday evening's game was a "day" game, and for that reason authority to turn on the lights had not been obtained. Coach Skay announced yesterday that the city recreation board has given the Prowlers the right to turn on the lights, if necessary, for the two remaining "twilight games on the local schedule. The Prowlers will play the Climax Vikings here on Friday evening, with game time at 6:00 P.M.; and on Thursday, May 7, Oslo will play here in a twilight affair, starting at 6:00 p.m.

It was unfortunate that Monday's tilt could not have been played to a decision, and if it had been played to a result it's not a cinch that the Prowlers would have won. That was a pretty good Roseau team, and we give fair warning to the Newfolden Nordics that the Rams will be in contention for the District 32 title.

It did seem strange, though, to see that all-state high school hockey tournament quartet of Rams, Don Ross, Dale Olson, and Jim and Larry Stordahl, performing in baseball uniforms. They provided Roseau with the infield, with Ross on first, Jim Stordahl at second, Olson at short, and Larry Stordahl at third. And another all-state hockey player was performing for the Rams, too, with Keith Brandt in center field.

Shorty the Captain

Larry (Shorty) Perkins is captain of the Moorhead State Teachers College Dragons golf squad this season. During last season's play, Shorty was the number two man on the four-man Dragon squad that gained runner-up honors in the State Teachers college tournament.

Lyle Hornbachr, well known to local golfers, and a brother-in-law of John Moum, was the captain of the Dragons squad last season. Lyle is still in school, but the Moorhead golfer is ineligible for further college golf competition, having filled in four years of play.

Shorty has moved up to the number one position vacated by Hornbacher, and, according to the reports, is shooting near-par golf.

Good News for the Golfers

Arnie (Sociable) Lee, president of the local golf club, announced the course will be open for play on Friday, May 1. The course wintered in fine style, and if a soaking rain would fall within the next week or so, the fairways and greens should "bloom." The greens were "spiked" last season, and this aerating treatment should be of great benefit.

It Will Help

That the Canadian authorities are aware of the low water level in Lake of the Woods is evident by this excerpt from the Winnipeg Tribune: "Drought has forced the Lake of the Woods Control Board to reduce sharply the flow of water from the lake to Manitoba-owned power plants on the Winnipeg river. The reduction was requested by Manitoba's representatives on the board at its meeting in Toronto last week, in order to conserve the water for late fall when it will be needed most. Effective May 1 only 6,000 cubic feet per second of water will be available from Lake of the Woods for the Winnipeg river power plants. Normal flow is 10,000 cfs, but the flow has been 8,500 until now due to the drought. The flow has not been at normal levels since a year ago May. Lowest ever recorded was 4,000 cfs during the dry 1930's. Total water available on the river has been about 21,000 cfs, with the balance coming from Lac Seul, Lake St. Joseph, and small streams."

This action by Manitoba should be an aid in increasing the water level of Lake of the Woods. The situation up there is discouraging, but not hopeless.

Lincoln High Prom Set for Saturday

The Lincoln high school junior-senior prom is scheduled for Saturday evening, and the young people will make a night of it. Following the prom, the young people will adjourn to the Elks club rooms for a chaperoned dance which will continue until 4 a.m., when breakfast will be served. Morris Howick, Elks youth activities chairman, is in charge of plans for the post-prom party.

Prowler Track Team Trims RLF, Plummer

Coach Rod Max' Prowler track squad, scoring 62 points, won the triangular track meet held here Tuesday afternoon. Coach Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles totaled 50 points; and Arnold Stengel's Plummer Cardinals scored five points. The gale-like winds that swept the Lincoln high athletic field hampered the athletes considerably.

Double winners in Tuesday's meet were the Prowlers' Gary Klungness and Dave Hauswirth; and Red Lake Falls' Andy Fladeland and Jason Huseby. Klungness won the 100 and 220-yard dash events, while Hauswirth swept the hurdle events. The Eagles' Fladeland won the mile run, and the high jump events. Huseby monopolized the field events, winning the shot put and the discus throw.

The Northwest conference track and field tournament, with Bemidji, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Roseau, and Thief River Falls competing, will be held here on Tuesday afternoon, May 5. The tournament will begin at 1:30 p.m.

The summaries:

120-yard high hurdles — won by Russ Moga, T.R.F., 2nd, Knott, R.L.F.; 3rd, Hauswirth, T.R.F. Time—23.5

Water Sports Club to Remove Debris from River May 12

Club Decides Tuesday to Hold Bee for Removing Navigation Obstacles

Floating debris endangering navigation in the river will be removed by members of the Thief River Falls Water Sports club when they have their next meeting Tuesday, May 12, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in Boy Scout park.

Using ropes attached to their boats, the club members will tow tree limbs, boards and other hazards to shore where they will be destroyed. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

The project was announced at the club's meeting Tuesday in the Legion club rooms.

Ivan Bundy will head a new committee of the club which will determine which of two projects should be undertaken this year, either a launching ramp or more dockage space. Others on the committee are LeRoy Lokken and Bill Thompson. Clarence Mattson was appointed publicity chairman of the club.

All dues collected from new members since Sept. 1, 1958, will be counted as dues for 1959, it was decided, and a motion was passed that the club would patrol the river again this year if that help was solicited.

Arbor Day Friday to Be Widely Observed

"Arbor Day 1959 will be the biggest in the history of the state because the young people in more than 400 schools, and the members of youth organization such as the Scouts, 4-H, FFA and others are going into the fields and highways to plant trees."

That is the statement of Ray Clement, forester in charge of nurseries and planting, division of forestry. In the ten days prior to Arbor Day, which is Friday, May 1, orders for trees have been shipped. The weatherman has cooperated by having an early spring, Clement said, so that digging trees in the three state nurseries could be done. However, the weatherman has not been so cooperative with ample spring moisture, and trees planted during this dry period should be watered generously.

The state-wide school Arbor Day planting is a new program, "Operation Arbor Day," of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with the department of conservation. School superintendents and teachers have ordered trees for planting in school years and programs are being arranged to commemorate the plantings. A few schools in northern Minnesota have school forests and have been planting larger blocks of trees each year.

Clement estimates up to 20,000,000 trees will be planted this spring, about one-half on privately owned lands for windbreaks, woodlots and soil protection purposes. Trees will also be planted on public lands, including highway rights-of-way, institutional areas, state forests and state parks.

A considerable amount of the planting on private farmlands will be in conjunction with the soil bank and conservation areas including Pennington county, under agreement with the U.S. Agricultural committee.

Air Force Looking for College Grads

Taking Applications for Membership in Reserve

The new Air Force officer training school program has begun accepting applications from college graduates.

Selected applicants will take a three-month training course at Lackland AFB, and after completing the training will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Reserve.

Those applying will need a degree from an accredited college or university, and be between the ages of 20½ and 27½ at time of application.

The program, which was first announced in October 1958, will produce a limited number of officers in required specialties. However, it provides the Air Force with a short lead-time method for acquiring officers in field where a need might develop suddenly. It also permits college graduates who did not attend a school with an Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps unit to apply for a commission.

There will be 75 students accepted for the first class to begin in November. Another class starts six weeks later. Applicants will be considered for places in two classes before their applications are returned. If not accepted, an applicant may apply a year later.

The OTS program has tentatively set up needs for officers in the fields of navigation, weather, supply, communications, electronics, research and development (physical and biological sciences), supply and administrative services.

Further information can be obtained from the Air Firce recruiter, M/Sgt. Delbert F. Bursau, Room 304, Postoffice Bldg., Grand Forks.

Cases of Animal Rabies Mounting, Says Health Dept.

461 Cases Reported in 1958; Skunks Were Most Frequently Afflicted

The number of animal rabies cases reported to the Minnesota Department of Health reached an all-time high in 1958. There were 461 cases reported from 77 of the state's 87 counties, and skunks accounted for more than 50 per cent of the total.

The 1958 figures represents an increase of 98 cases over those reported from 71 counties in 1957. It also made Minnesota the state with the second greatest incidence of animal rabies in the nation last year, exceeded only by Texas, according to the U.S. Public Health Service.

There were 238 cases of rabies reported in skunks. An additional 53 cases were reported in raccoons, squirrels, foxes, gophers, and other wild life. The 170 infected domestic animals included 87 cattle, 39 cats, 35 dogs, 6 swine and 3 horses.

The rising incidence of animal rabies is regarded as a serious problem to public health, agriculture, and conservation interests in Minnesota.

According to Dr. Robert N. Barr, executive officer of the Minnesota Department of health, rabies in animals is a threat to humans because they may be bitten by infected animals. "Treatments are costly and unpleasant, and there is always the possibility that persons receiving anti-rabies therapy may develop severe reactions to the vaccine," Dr. Barr explains.

Rabies is an economic burden to agriculture because of losses in livestock and other farm animals, Dr. R. L. West, executive officer of the Minnesota Livestock Sanitary board, says. "Between 1951 and 1958, there were 392 cases of rabies in cattle, 28 in swine, 12 in horses and 7 in sheep. A conservative estimate of the cattle alone that had to be destroyed during this period is in excess of $100,000," Dr. West states.

Crookston Pupils Win Scholarships

Karen Mickelson, John Kronholm Win Awards

Karen Ann Mickelson and John S. Kronholm of Crookston, students at Central high school, have won National Merit scholarships in nationwide competition. No Thief River Falls students were among the winners this year.

The scholarships are awarded by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. Today about 325 such awards are being made, in addition to the wide range of merit scholarships being awarded by, and named after, business and industrial corporations and philanthropic organizations. In case a participating sponsor wishes to remain anonymous, its sponsored scholars are also called National Merit Scholars.

The scholarship corporation is an independent non-profit organization whose purpose is to devise and administer a nationwide system of scholarships for higher education. It was organized as an Illinois not-for-profit corporation in 1955 with basic grants of $20.5 million. The funds are used to provide scholarships for outstanding students.

In the four years of the operation of the program, NMSC has itself committed approximately $8 million in scholarships. The total estimated value of all merit scholarships in force — those offered by NMSC and private sponsors combined—now exceeds $15 million.

National Merit scholars are selected from the finalists in each program by the National Merit Scholars selection committee—a panel of professionals in academic selection.

Drinking in Cars Is Banned under New Law

Drinking while driving received a blow from the legislature with the passage of Chapter 255, Minnesota Statues 1959, which prohibits the carrying of open bottles containing intoxicating liquors in motor vehicles.

Prior to passage of this law, it had not been illegal, under highway traffic regulations, to carry partially consumed bottles of liquor or to drink liquor in motor vehicles.

Chapter 255 has two parts which cover different situations.

Section one provides that no person shall drink or consume intoxicating liquors or non-intoxicating malt liquors in any motor vehicle when it is upon a public highway.

Section two provides that it shall be illegal to have in possession or on one's person while in a private motor vehicle, upon a highway any bottle or receptacle containing intoxicating liquor or non-intoxicating malt liquor which has been opened.

Section three provides that it shall be unlawful for the owner of any private motor vehicle or the driver to keep any bottle or receptacle containing intoxicating liquor or non-intoxicating malt liquor which has been opened, or the seal broken, or the contents of which have been partially removed except when such bottle or receptacle shall be kept in the trunk of the motor vehicle. In those motor vehicles not equipped with a trunk, such as station wagons, an opened container may be kept in some area of the vehicle not normally occupied by the driver or passengers.

No open liquor bottle or beer container may be kept in the utility or glove compartment as the law considers these to be within the area occupied by the driver or passengers. Violations are misdemeanors under the law, which became effective when signed by Governor Freeman on April 15.

Chapter 255 covers the above action anywhere upon a public highway which means the entire width between boundary lines, i. e., the entire width of the right of way including traveled portion, shoulders, ditches and similar areas.

In 29 per cent of all fatal accidents in Minnesota last year, one or more of the drivers involved had been drinking. The "open bottle" law is aimed at the driver who may be tempted to drink while driving.

"Forbid that I should judge others, lest I condemn myself. Let me not follow the clamor of the world, but walk calmly in my path. Give me a few friends who will love me for what I am; and keep ever burning before my vagrant steps the kindly light of hope. And though age and infirmity overtake me, and I come not within sight of the castle of my dreams, teach me still to be thankful for life, and for time's olden memories that are good and sweet; and may the evening's twilight find me gentle still." —Max Ehrmann

Best News of the Week

Most encouraging news of the week, we think, was the 93 to 0 vote of approval for Christian A. Herter as secretary of state to succeed John Foster Dulles. The unanimous vote is significant only because it represents unity in our country on the question of foreign policy.

There was some criticism of President Eisenhower because he waited a couple of days before announcing his appointment. Mr. Herter was being examined by the medics for his physical condition, so the news releases informed us. But the important examination was no doubt being made by the leaders of the two political parties. The fact that they agreed on Herter is evidence of national unity in the highly controversial field of international politics.

We are sure that the unanimous approval of Mr. Herter was not accepted as good news in the Kremlin.

"Hustling Hubert"

Walter Ridder's sketch of "Hustling Hubert" Humphrey, which appeared in last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, presented the aspirant for the presidency in a very fair and interesting manner. The Senator's good qualities were emphasized, as they should be in an article of this kind, but his shortcomings were also noted.

An unprejudiced person might come to the conclusion, after reading Ridder's sketch, that Humphrey is serving a useful purpose in the United States senate but that he is not the executive type and probably would not be a good president. Ridder says:

> "He does, too often, go off half cocked. There are few topics on which he does not have immediate, ready-made opinions — some of which he is later forced to change. For every problem, Humphrey proposes a multipoint solutions which sometimes contains more points than practicality. His speeches are needlessly long."

These traits are not entirely bad in a deliberative body such as the senate, where action is slow and ideas generally get a thorough study before they are adopted. But in the office of president we need a man who is capable of remaining silent as well as being able to think and talk. One member of congress can make many mistakes and "the world will little note nor long remember." But we have only one president, and a talk-first-and-think-later president could get us into a peck of trouble fast.

Our country probably would be safer with Hubert Humphrey in the senate than in the president's chair.

Great Tacticians

Congress recognized the importance of aviation in our national defense structure by creating the Air Force as a separate branch of our military organization. A new academy was authorized and an appropriation of $136.9 million was approved for the purpose of building a school for flyers in Colorado.

First up in the construction program was a magnificent set of dormitories. Then came a $3 million sports field house, a $500,000 NCO club, 22 garden pools, 18 basketball courts, two ballrooms, an 18-hole golf course and a $53,642 lavatory for visiting brass. Now, with the money spent, the airmen have practically everything they need — everything except an airfield to be used, presumably, for the teaching of flying.

We are sure Congress will appropriate the additional millions that will be needed to build a modern airfield up in the mountains. Had the airfield been built first, and the school authorities were now asking for additional grants in order to provide play facilities, the attitude of Congress might be different. Our Air Force leaders have proven themselves to be great tacticians.

Special Session

The calling of a special session of the legislature had been predicted by many observers and came as no surprise. The battle lines were formed early in the session but the issues had been quite clearly defined in the election campaign. It was Governor Orville Freeman versus the conservatives, then as now. About the only change that has come with the passing of time is increased bitterness.

Governor Freeman lost his big gamble in that election. In a long-shot effort to get a liberal senate he campaigned personally in support of liberal candidates. His attempted purge backfired, as did a similar one attempted by President Roosevelt. And instead of getting a legislature he could control he got one that was more antagonistic and resentful than any he had previously dealt with. He asked for it.

In the closing days of the regular session there was no indication of a willingness to compromise the differences. Both houses have agreed on the appropriation bills. The question on which they disagree is how the money that will be needed to pay the costs will be raised. A huge sum of new revenue must be found, and the Governor does not like to be reminded of his campaign declarations that the state is in excellent financial condition.

In the background of the deadlock is the sales tax, which has strong individual support among both liberals and conservatives. Our guess is that out of the present mess we will come a lot closer to having a general sales tax.

Minnesota taxes on incomes and property are already excessive in comparison with similar taxes in other states. The sales tax is the only unharvested field of possible tax revenue into which we can move and it is the only possible source of the huge new revenues we will need that will not be discouraging to industry and payrolls.

Talk to individual members of the legislature and they will agree that this is true. But "sales tax" is an ugly word in Minnesota politically, in spite of the fact that sales taxes have been approved time and again by the voters of other states where they have had experience with the tax. The evidence indicates that there are some things to be said in favor of it.

We know that these are the things our representatives in the legislature will be thinking about as they tuck themselves into bed after long days of trying to look important in the corridors of the capitol, as they, too, wait for information about the progress of the war which will be conducted in a small committee room.

Merit Pay Increases

(Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch)

Over at Albert Lea the school board has thrown salary schedules out the window and announced there will be no automatic increases. That doesn't mean no increases. Boosts will be given teachers the superintendent and board think "measure up." The district will, of necessity, pay better teachers as much as other districts pay, or lose them. Losing the less capable could hardly be considered a calamity. One would think the move would be approved by the better teachers, disapproved by the poorer instructors. Strange as it may seem, this isn't so,

Your Office in Washington

by Congressman
ODIN LANGEN

We would certainly be derelict in our duties if we were not to recognize the fact that in the resignation of John Foster Dulles this nation lost a true and devoted servant. In that most difficult of all human tasks— dealing morally with immoral opposition—no one has devoted more time and energy to the ideals of his country than Secretary Dulles. Three hopes come to mind at a time like this. First, that he will receive the blessing of improved health; secondly, that through this first blessing the whole of our country may receive the second blessing of his continued counsel; and thirdly, that new Secretary of State Christian Herter may be given strength for the difficult days which lie ahead.

Something to Think About

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson said on April 20, "To ignore the obligation of paying off some part of our debt during prosperous times is contrary to all of our American traditions of good faith and performance. Failure to reduce our debt when we can means passing on the problems of the debt to another generation, which we have no moral right to do." This, I believe, is something to think about.

The Vice President

Last Thursday I had the opportunity to spend about forty-five minutes talking with Vice President Nixon in his Capitol office. This was an appointment which our office had made some ago, for the expressed purpose of discussing the agricultural situation.

Rural Life Sunday

This coming Sunday, May 3, marks the traditional observance of Rural Life Sunday in our churches. Those of us who live in rural areas and communities are certainly aware of the spiritual values which rural living gives us, and the fifth Sunday after Easter is set aside each year as a reminder of and a thanksgiving for these blessings.

The Herring Run

While the smelt have been running in Lake Superior and Minnesota's pike fishermen have been busily cleaning their tackle in preparation for the opening of that season, the Nation's Capitol has had a little angling activity of its own. Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. Langen and myself quite accidently came upon hordes of people lined up on the banks of the Potomac, each one armed only with a large hook tied to a string to a stick. With this rather makeshift "tackle" they were snagging vast numbers of herring, which pick this time each year to "run" on the Potomac. We saw one little fellow trudging along home with a string of the fish thrown over his shoulder which extended down the entire length of his frame and dragged a little on the ground behind him for good measure.

Some 25,000 communities in America depend entirely on truck transportation for deliveries of every item needed for daily living.

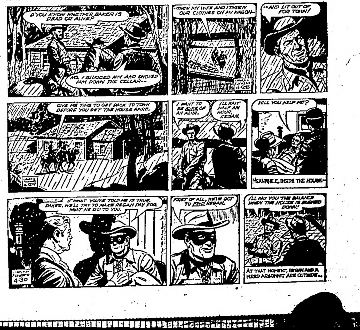
THE LONE RANGER

By Fran Striker



D'YOU KNOW WHETHER BAKER IS DEAD OR ALIVE?
NO, I SLUGGED HIM AND SHOVED HIM DOWN THE CELLAR--
--THEN MY WIFE AND I THREW OUR CLOTHES ON MY WAGON--
--AND LIT OUT OF FOR TOWN!
GIVE ME TIME TO GET BACK TO TOWN BEFORE YOU SET THE HOUSE AFIRE.
I WANT TO BE SURE OF AN ALIBI.
I'LL WAIT HALF AN HOUR, REGAN.
WILL YOU HELP ME?
MEANWHILE, INSIDE THE HOUSE--
IF WHAT YOU'VE TOLD ME IS TRUE, BAKER, WE'LL TRY TO MAKE REGAN PAY FOR WHAT HE DID TO YOU.
FIRST OF ALL, WE'VE GOT TO FIND REGAN.
I'LL PAY YOU THE BALANCE WHEN THE HOUSE IS BURNED DOWN!
AT THAT MOMENT, REGAN AND A HIRED ARSONIST ARE OUTSIDE..

Youthful Deaths Are Adult Responsibility

Minnesota highway department officials today expressed deep concern for the seeming adult lack of concern for responsibility in the rising toll of child motor vehicle deaths. That this concern is justified is more obvious when the latest child motor vehicle accident fatalities are studied. In 1958, 78 Minnesota children under the age of 15 died in traffic accidents, 11 more than the previous year. The toll of injured under fifteen years of age rose an alarming 350 over the previous year to more than 3,500.

Admittedly, the heedless actions of some children place them in potentially dangerous situations. But even more, adults must assume responsibility.

Their youthful age and lack of maturity make children often heedless and unthinking. Adults know this, yet expect these same children to realize that an automobile is a potentially dangerous monster. Adults somehow expect children to know more about reaction time and stopping distances than do most drivers.

A bright note, according to these state officials, is the reduction in youthful bicyclist fatalities from eight in 1957 to six in 1958 within the same age range of 0 to 14 years.

"Both drivers and the children themselves are becoming more cautious when bicycles are involved," continued the officials.

They point out that it's time for all adults to face up to their full responsibility for the high child traffic fatality toll. Adults must be especially careful of child pedestrians. Over 600 children under fourteen years were injured last year. Every parent must attempt to prepare, even harder than before, his children for the hazards of traffic. When it comes to the lives of children, all must be "our brothers keeper."

Committee Announces No Changes to Be Made

The Red River Valley potato committee, at a meeting Saturday, voted not to change the U.S. No. 1 shipping regulation for the balance of this marketing year, according to John P. Bushee, chairman of the committee.

With the USDA diversion program ending May 1, the committee had received some requests to change the grade restriction regulation. It was the committee's opinion that a change in regulations at this time did not seem warranted.

The regulations now in effect automatically terminate at the end of this shipping season.

In other business, the committee appointed a sub-committee to develop plans for the 1959 crop advertising and promotion program.

Newfolden School Holds Style Show

The girls in the home economics classes seven through 12 of the Newfolden high school presented an excellent style revue of the clothes they had made during the year, on Thursday afternoon, April 23. Other present were Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Pederson and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Olson and family of Numedal, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foster and son of Thief River Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Beecher and family left for their home at Norma, N. D., on Tuesday.

In His IMAGE

How small man seems, compared to a mountain or even a tree. And yet, how great is his potential! Man can fashion a tree into a chair, a boat, or a house. And he can, if he wants, tunnel through a mountain.

Man has been created in God's own image; he has been given dominion over the earth and over all other creatures on the earth. Among the many gifts which God has given to man are intelligence, initiative and will power. But the use of these gifts must be motivated by the love of God if man is to be rewarded with peace and happiness.

Down through the ages, the Church has been teaching man that the misuse of intelligence and power brings on sin and self-destruction, while love-motivated use of God's gifts brings joy, peace of mind and salvation.

Church attendance, prayer and worship will help anyone understand the proper relationship between God and man.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SAVE UP TO HALF THE COST WITH POLE BUILDINGS

One big reason pole buildings are so popular is that they go up for half the cost of conventional farm buildings.

Easy to Build with Poles
Pressure Treated Pole buildings for bunker silos, corn cribs, machine sheds, poultry buildings, and barns can be built by US at a BIG SAVING or you can build them yourself.

Pole Barns Last a Lifetime
These versatile buildings are easy to work around and when built with Wheeler pressure treated poles they resist rot, moisture, insects and fungus. They give a lifetime of maintenance free service.

Ask us about Plans and Costs
We have a wide assortment of plans and building costs to suit your needs. Stop in soon and look them over.

Mercury I 86 Mark H Last Satur

Half-inch of Most Welcome Rain Falls In This Area Sunday

The first really warm spell of the current spring season saw the mercury climb to a high of 86 in Thief River Falls Saturday, with an 84 recorded the day before, to give local residents a foretaste of things to come the next few months. Sunday's high was 77 and lows ranged from 57 Friday to today's 39.

Elsewhere in the upper midwest temperatures records toppled as the mercury climbed into the low and mid-nineties at Minneapolis, Fargo and Grand Forks and other major reporting points.

Most newsworthy of all about the weekend's weather was the rain—exactly one-half inch fell, .08 late Saturday and .42 Sunday and it was heartily welcomed by everyone. Parched lawns in the city sprang into life as the result of the moisture and warm weather combined. The sound of power mowers shall soon be heard in the land.

The moisture was sorely needed by some parts of Minnesota, particularly in central and southern counties, but farmers in our own area said the rains came at a most opportune time. The small amount received probably will help, rather than hinder field work, and will greatly improve pastures.

The KTRF forecast is for considerable cloudiness today and tonight with scattered showers or thundershowers over eastern and southern Minnesota, cooler and cloudy west and central.

Tuesday will be partly cloudy and cooler. The high temperature today will be in the 50's and the lows tonight will be in the 35-45 range.

79 Children Visit Orthopedic Clinic Conducted in City

26 from Pennington Co. Examined April 28 and 29 in Trinity Parish House

Orthopedic specialists examined 79 boys and girls at the clinic conducted by the crippled children services of the Minnesota department of public welfare at the Trinity Lutheran parish house April 28 and 29.

Patients came from Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

Among those examined were 26 from Pennington county, according to local chairman, Mrs. Roy Oen, Thief River Falls.

The children, all of whom have or may be developing crippling disabilities, were also examined by a pediatrician. The doctors recommended medical care or surgery to improve or correct some of the children's conditions. Public helath nurses and a consultant from the crippled children's services assisted the doctors and aided in arranging for needed hospital or home care.

In most cases, according to department of welfare nurses, help can be given the children whether their crippling disability is due to acident or disease, or has been present since birth.

Assisting in the field clinic arrangements were volunteer workers as follows: Mrs. Harold Buck, Mrs. L. B. Hartz, Mrs. H. G. Halverson, Mrs. F. L. Monroe, Mrs. Ames Pederson, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. Walter Anderson, Mrs. C. W. Vorachek, Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Paul Lundgren, Mrs. Randall Noper, Mrs. Otis Wold, Mrs. Leonard Hanson, Mrs. Tom Aasland, Mrs. J. M. Roche.

Mrs. Margaret Race, Thief River Falls school nurse, also assisted.

Rural affiliate student nurses who worked were Miss Sally Pope and Miss Sandra Petersen from St. Olaf Dept. of Nursing, Miss Betty Lou Johnson, Miss Clarice Gunhus, Miss Lucy Nygaard and Miss Edith Sperr from Lutheran Deaconess School of Nursing.

Student practical nurses who were present were Mrs. Pearl Brenna, Miss Joyce Sandland and Miss Connie Weberg.

Rev. O. Dale Resigns Trinity Church Post; Accepts Florida Call

THE REV. OTTO DALE

The Rev. Otto Dale, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church for the past 4½ years, has resigned his office there to accept a call from the home mission department of the Evangelical Lutheran church. His letter of resignation was read at both worship services on Sunday, May 3, by Gordon Ballingrud, president of the congregation.

Pastor Dale will begin the work of establishing a new Lutheran congregation, to be named Holy Cross Lutheran church in Sarasota, Florida. It is expected that the Dale family will leave Thief River Falls the latter part of August and Pastor Dale will begin his work in Sarasota about September 1. Sarasota is a city of 40,000 population on the west coast of Florida. It has experienced a phenomenal growth in the past eight years and all indications are that this growth is likely to continue. It is also a well known resort area.

Trinity congregation held a special congregational meeting on Sunday evening at which time Pastor Dale's resignation was accepted. At that time, the congregation requested the church council to name a call committee.

Pastor Dale and his family came to Thief River Falls from Minneota, Minn., in December, 1954. During the time that he has served as the pastor of Trinity church, he has held a number of positions of responsibility. He has served as president of the Thief River Falls Circuit of the ELC for several years and has also been a member of the district council of the Northern Minnesota district. He served as president of the Northrop PTA for one year and helped direct the Community Chest Drive in 1957. In 1957-58, he was Ninth district chaplain of the American Legion.

St. Hilaire Farmer Helped by Seeding Bee on Farm May 2

Friends and Neighbors Aid Woodrow Almquist, Suffering from Pneumonia

Friends and neighbors of Woodrow Almquist, a St. Hilaire farmer stricken with pneumonia, gathered at the farm ½ mile south and ½ mile west of that community Saturday with their equipment to prepare the fields and plant the seed in the Almquist farm.

Starting at 8:30 a.m., 17 farmers brought their tractors with seven cultivators, five drills and two drags to put in 219 acres of barley, oats and wheat. Urged on by darkening skies and the promise of rain, they completed the job by nightfall.

Almquist was stricken with pneumonia April 26 and was taken to Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. By Tuesday, his friends and neighbors had started the formation of plans to help him with his work. Everyone volunteered to help in the project and, by Wednesday, all plans had been completed.

Released from the hospital Friday night, Almquist watched through the window of his farm home as the work was done while his wife, together with the wives of the workers, prepared dinner in their homes and set the table in the St. Hilaire community hall.

Farmers who worked in the fields were Ronald Anderson, Ole Olson, Arno Cords, Fred Eckstein, Raymond Gunstad, Ardell Lundgren, Leonard Brekke, Ed Vik, Lloyd Johnson, George Norman, Birdean Anderson, Rupert Swanson, Dale Carlson, James Gaven, Leonard Pietron and Charles Morehouse.

Women who served the dinner were Mrs. Rupert Swanson, Mrs. Wendell Corbet, Sharon Pietron, Mrs. Elmer Carlson and Mrs. Almquist.

Fee for Drivers Licenses Will Be $3 from Now on

An amendment to Minnesota laws governing the issuing of drivers licenses and fees charged was signed recently by Governor Freeman which raises the fees charged for securing driver licenses.

Under the new law a drivers license will cost $3.00, which rate also applies for provisional licenses. Fees for instruction permits were raised to $1.00 and the fee for duplicate licenses will be 50 cents. The increase goes into effect immediately.

May 7 Final Day for People to File for School Board

With no additional filings since last Thursday for posts in the annual school board elections to be held in Thief River Falls Tuesday, May 19, Arnold Peterson, clerk of the board, today issued a reminder that Thursday afternoon, May 7, is the last day on which candidates may enter their names.

D. Silk Residence Damaged by Blaze

Neighbors Report Fire Early Sunday Morning

Fire early Sunday morning severely damaged the Dayton Silk residence at Gleason avenue N. and Sixth street W., north of the fair grounds.

The Silk family was sleeping at 7:31 a.m., when neighbors noticed smoke coming from the attic vents of the house, called firemen and awakened the occupants of the house. By the time the Silks left their home, fire had already broken through the living room ceiling and had set the rugs afire.

According to Roy Langevin, fire chief, the fire was extinguished with little trouble and the largest part of the damage was confined to the attic and living room, although there was smoke damage throughout the house. Cause of the fire was apparently defective electrical wiring.

PLUMMER DINNER HONORS ATHLETES

An athletic banquet honoring Plummer high school letterment will be held at the Plummer auditorium Tuesday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock. Louie Bogan, head basketball coach at the University of North Dakota, will be the main speaker.

Action Is Due in Legislature Next Few Days

Senate Again Given Revenue Raising Bill by Lower House

This may be the week that tells the tale in the special session of Minnesota's deadlocked 61st legislature.

Last week the house worked five days and passed 24 bills, including the all-important omnibus tax bill and five major appropriations measures to finance state operations for the two fiscal years beginning July 1.

Senators rested the first three days of the week. They returned Thursday and Friday to pass a single non-controversial bill.

An earnest desire to settle the house-senate tax dispute could be felt Saturday among members at the close of the legislative week, first of the special session.

No break was sighted in the deadlock, no new proposal mentioned. But the atmosphere was encouraging.

The Liberal house, somewhat miffed that the senate stayed in recess until Thursday, routinely handled the major appropriation and tax bills that had been spiked at the close of the regular session.

Gov Freeman's omnibus revenue-raising bill was made fatter when the house added eight other tax bills, mostly non-controversial, that failed to pass earlier.

The senate tax committee promptly cut them out, Chairman Donald O. Wright wrapping them into a neat bundle which the committee then sent to the senate floor as a separate package.

That left the governor's bill temporarily intact, in the shape it was before Wright's committee skinned it to the bare bones of cigaret and whisky increases toward the end of the regular session.

The senate also was sent the multi-million-dollar appropriation bill for state departments, to which the house hitched a $500,000 item the senate scuttled in regular session. It was the electronic data computing center Freeman has insisted the state needs.

The house passed and sent to the senate the two bills on reapportionment, both having been close to compromise when the session closed.

Robertson Lbr. Co. Gets New Manager

Carl Gustafson, manager of the Grafton, N. D., office of the Robertson Lumber company for 1½ years, has taken over the management of the Thief River Falls yard of the company, succeeding John Peterson, who is now with the Home Lumber company.

Gustafson, who was born in Stephen, was a resident of this city six years before moving to Grafton. From 1952 to 1955, he was with Bredeson Cleaners and joined the Robertson company in 1955 in this city as assistant manager. He was transferred to Grafton in 1957.

He and his wife have two daughters; Lunda Kay, eight years old, and Lo Ann, four years old. The family will move into their home at 713 Knight av. N., in about three weeks.

Plans Advance for 10th Dairy Day on June 9

To Observe Decade of Progress at '59 Event in T. R. Falls

All counties participating in Northwes Dairy Day were represented at a meeting of directors and county agents held at the Rex cafe Friday evening, called for the purpose of completing arrangements for the 1959 event which will be held Tuesday, June 9. This being the tenth year of the highly successful promotion, special consideration is being given to a decade of progress theme and a reunion of the star performers is being planned.

This year's program will follow the general pattern of past shows with special emphasis on a speed-up of the day's activities and an earlier parade and finish. A special committee will select the candidates who will enter the final competition in the showmanship contest and these selections will be based on conduct and performance thruout the day. This is now the accepted practice at the larger livestock shows.

The Arena will again be available for the housing of animals and if the weather is threatening the large tent will be set up to serve as a shelter for judging. Last year's experience, when a rainy morning made it necessary to move the entries into the Arena, assures a show regardless of weather.

The princess contest is getting under way at the county levels this week and reports indicated that all counties will be well represented at the final contest which will start at 11:00 o'clock on the morning of Dairy Day. J. M. Roche, secretary, stated that definite arrangements have not been made for the various judges.

Honored guests at decade of progress banquet will be the grand championship and showmanship winners and the princesses of the ten annual events. President Stuart McLeod was instructed to appoint a special committee to arrange for this part of the day's festivities. Lew Conlon was present at the meeting and contributed to the discussions and reported on Dairy Day activities in other areas.

Over 400 Teen-agers Share in Elks Youth Day Program Friday

More than 400 Lincoln high school students were entertained by the local Elks lodge Friday at an enjoyable Youth Day program in the Elks club rooms. Over 200 of the group shared in a roller-skating party arranged by the lodge in the arena preceding the program.

A highlight of the evening was the installation of four Youth Day city officials by their real-life counterparts. Mayor O. D. Beich presented a key to the city to acting Mayor David Carlson, while Stan Mortenson, special municipal judge, turned over his gavel to David Thorstad.

Gerald Jorgenson took over the duties of police chief from Elton Cummings, and Fire Chief Roy Langevin pinned his badge on Lynn Nicholson. Alvin Christofferson served as master of ceremonies, and the group was welcomed by Gordon Reierson, exalted ruler.

In behalf of the lodge, Reierson presented $25 savings bonds to James Terrian and Katherine Wik, winners of Elks scholarship awards, while similar Elks leadership awards were given to Virginia Lanska and Jerry Wedul.

Dancing was provided for the entertainment of the teen-agers, who also disposed of huge quantities of hot dogs and pop.

Home Demonstration Achievement Day Set for Next Wednesday

MRS. ELEANOR GIFFORD

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, home agent at large, University of Minnesota, will be the featured speaker at the Pennington county Achievement Day program Wednesday, May 6, at 2:00 p.m. in the Zion Lutheran church. Registration will begin at 1:30 and the program will get under way at 2:00 p.m., Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau announces.

Subject of the talk will be "Understanding Ourselves and Others." Mrs. Gifford did graduate work at the University of Maryland, with special work in human relations and human development.

Other program highlights are, musical selections, exhibits, a skit and introduction of members of the extension home council. The program is open to the public.

The Achievement Day program will focus attention on National Home Demonstration Week to be observed nationwide May 3-9 by nearly 7 million homemakers. All of them are women who take part in the home demonstration program, or, as it is known in Minnesota, in the extension home economics program.

This is an educational activity planned by local women and conducted cooperatively by the Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the University of Minnesota and the county. The long-range goal of homemakers enrolled in the program is to become more efficient homemakers and better citizens

Three Lincoln High Bands to Present Concert Thursday

Junior High, Prowler and Concert Bands to Play in High School Auditorium

Three Lincoln high school band groups, aggregating 168 young musicians, will appear in their annual spring concert on Thursday evening, May 7, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The three groups, the junior high school band, the Prowler band and the concert band, will perform under the direction of John K. Moum, assisted by David Thorstad, student director.

Included in the numbers to be presented are "Teddy Bears Picnic," the overture, "Titus," by Mozart, and "Intrada," from the Second symphony for band, a new modern overture by Frank Erickson.

The final number will be a march to be played by the massed bands.

HELPING HANDS When Woodrow Almquist was hospitalized April 26 with pneumonia, these friends and neighbors gathered with their equipment to prepare the fields and seed 219 acres of the Almquist farm ½ mile south and ½ mile west of St. Hilaire. Starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, May 2, they worked until late in the afternoon and finished the job in time for the rain which blessed the area Saturday night and Sunday.

Dorothy Sollund M. Anderson Married May 4

Miss Dorothy Louise Sollund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sollund of Kennedy, Minn., became the bride of Marvin Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole M. Anderson of Greenbush, Saturday, April 2.

The double ring ceremony took place in the Bethel Lutheran church in Greenbush at 7 p.m. and was officiated by Rev. Helgeson.

The bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of lace over taffeta, featuring a sabrina neckline and long sleeves of lace. Her fingertip veil fell from a jeweled crown and she carried a bouquet of red roses and pink and white carnations.

Her maid of honor, Shirley Sollund of Minneapolis, her sister, was attired in a ballerina length gown of pastel green with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of red roses and pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by Lester Johnson of Minneapolis.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for immediate relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left then for Minneapolis where they will make their home. For "going away" the bride chose a brown and tan striped cotton jersey dress with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Kennedy high school and is employed by the Johnson Printing Co. in Minneapolis. The bridegroom graduated from Greenbush high school and is employed by the Minnesota Rubber and Gasket Co. in Minneapolis.

Beauty Tips From ME to YOU

By JO ANNE WEDUL

"What about accessories for my costume? What is 'right' for me and what is wrong?"

One rule we should always remember is to buy accessories according to our size.

Big women look silly in tiny hats, carrying tiny handbags and using tiny bits of jewelry just as do little women who wear supercolossal hats, bags or lapel ornaments.

Keep your accessories in harmony with the rest of your outfit. Don't wear flippant pumps with a saddle-leather bag or a cocktail hat with low-heel oxfords.

Buy accessories that can be worn with more than one outfit. Don't buy the prettiest hat you ever saw if you don't have anything to go with it.

A good haircut is the basis item for an easy hair-do that can be kept looking smart. Let one of the expert operators at JO ANNE'S BEAUTY SHOP design a cut that fits your personality. See us TODAY for an appointment at 107 EAST THIRD STREET or call MU 1-4405.

Contract Let for Building to House Plant at Fosston

By a contract signed at Fosston last Monday night, Valley Construction Co. of Warren was awarded the contract to construct two large buildings which will house the Fosston Potato Products, Inc. flaking plant.

Specifications call for construction of a plant building 80 feet by 200 feet, a storage building 100 by 150 and office space 24 by 32.

The contract specifies that everything will be completed by Sept. 1 and construction is expected to begin the first part of June.

The plant will convert locally-grown potatoes into what is known as potato flakes, which can be shipped and merchandised with a great deal more ease than raw potatoes.

114 Passengers Board No. Central Here During April

Eighteen more passengers boarded North Central Airlines planes in Thief River Falls during April of this year than did during the same month in 1958, according to Lowell Vraa, the airline's local station manager.

The report shows that 114 passengers boarded the flights leaving the city during the past month compared to 96 a year ago. Passengers who deplaned here during April totaled 131 compared to 102 a year ago.

Although the boardings have shown an increase the past year, the CAB has set a minimum of 150 passengers leaving the city each month if service is to be continued.

$735 Damage Results from 2 City Mishaps

Two traffic mishaps, involving a total of $735 damages to vehicles involved, was reported by city police over the week-end.

The first occurred when a car driven east on E. First st. by Emil Anderson, city, was struck on the right-rear fender and bumper by another car driven by Mrs. Rose H. Forst, Strathcona, who was pulling away from the curb in front of Robertson Lumber Co. to make a left turn onto Horace av.

Damage to Anderson's car was estimated at $100, to the Forst car, $35. Mrs. Forst was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

The second accident occurred at 7:55 a.m. Friday when Thomas J. Hogenson, 73, a retired farmer from Fertile, ran through the red light as he was going north on Main at the Main av.-Third st. intersection.

Hogenson was struck by a car driven west on Third st. by Jerome J. Skjerping, city, who was proceeding with the light in his favor. Hogenson then hit a car driven by Mrs. George Werstlein, who was facing south waiting for the light to change, and then struck the bumper of another car driven by Ole Feragen, city.

After the series of collisions, Hogenson continued north, leaving the scene of accident, and was finally apprehended at Strathcona about 10:10 a.m. by Patrolman Mitchell Johnson of the highway patrol.

Damage to the Hogenson car was listed at $150, to Skjerping's $300, to the Werstlein car $150, none to Feragen's. In municipal court, Hogenson pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $50 plus $4 costs, of which $25 was suspended on condition he pay damages caused to the other cars.

On the other charge of failure to heed a red traffic signal he also pleaded guilty and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

FIELD CLINIC Mrs. Jorgen Boe, left of Climax brought her 18-month-old daughter, Joy, to the spring orthopedic field clinic which was held Wednesday and Thursday, April 29-30, at the Trinity Lutheran parish house. Others in the picture are, from left: Miss Sandra Peterson, a student in the rural nursing program; Mrs. Roy Oen, chairman, a member of the Woman's club, sponsoring agency of the clinic; and Dr. K. W. Covey of Crookston. A total of 70 children under 21 years of age from Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties weer examined at the clinic.

PAPER PICKUP Boy Scouts Roger Peterson, John Olson, Arden Peterson, and Scoutmaster Al Christofferson of Troop 60 load up their trailer on north Main Av. The troop collected over 10 tons of waste paper. The proceeds of the paper drive will be used to finance camping trips this summer.

.31 Inch Precipitation Registered in April

Despite a total rainfall of only .31 inches, April, 1959, has been "average," a comparison of weather statistics shows.

Temperatures ranged from a high of 72 during the daylight hours of April 14 to a low of 20 the nights of April 10 and 11. Fourteen of the 30 days during the month, the mercury was in 40's and dropped only to 36 once during daylight hours.

Snow flurries were noticed three days in the month—on the 7th, 10th and 17th, and the first good rain of the season passed the region leaving it dusty and dry but enabling farmers to get seeding underway. East of the city, moisture conditions were still good but in the western part of the county, rain was needed to prevent wind erosion of the soil. About 10 per cent of oats and barley seeding had been completed by the end of the month.

The average high temperature of the month was up to 50.4 degrees in comparison with 32.7 in March and the average low was up from 13 degrees in March to 28.9 in April. Only .37 of an inch of rain has fallen in the past two months.

Here is a summary of the temperatures and rainfall recorded in April:

Legion to Conduct Election Tuesday

Ecklund-Holmstrom post of the American Legion will conduct its annual election of officers Tuesday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock following a dinner served at 7. Ormond Johnson, retiring commander, reminded members today. He added that awards for continuous membership in the post also will be awarded.

House Backs Veto of REA Measure

Votes by Close Margin to Support President

The House of Representatives in Washington Thursday upheld President Eisenhower's veto of a rural electrification bill.

The vote was 280-146 in favor of passing the bill over the president's veto. This was four short of the two-thirds necessary to override. It killed the bill.

The President vetoed the bill last Monday and the Senate overrode the veto Tuesday by a vote of 61-29.

The House decision kept intact Eisenhower's record of never having had a veto overriden.

This bill was the 138th vetoed by the President since he took office early in 1953.

The bill would have stripped from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson his power to veto loans to cooperatives for rural electric and telephone service.

Four Democrats joined 142 Republicans in upholding the President. Six Republicans and 274 Democrats voted to override.

Smiley and Kratka Clubs to Observe 4-H Sunday May 10

The Smiley and Kratka 4-H clubs will observe 4-H Sunday May 10 at 8 p.m. at the Telemarken church. The Kratka club is in charge of the program and lunch. Interne Nels Lillejord of Trinity church will be the speaker. The public is invited.

Jaycees to Give Awards Thursday

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its next meeting Thursday evening, May 7, at 6:30 in the Legion club rooms. The program will include the presentation of awards to winners in the "My True Security" essay contest sponsored by the Jaycees. All members and others ages 21 to 35 are invited to attend by Glenn Peterson, president.

If you haven't been taken to the cleaners lately, we just want to remind you that we are open six days a week, and we can take you on any of these days without any appointment.

Many Club Members Joined in Observing 4-H Sunday, May 3d

Pennington county 4-H'ers observed May 3 as 4-H Sunday. It is observed annually on the fifth Sunday after Easter, according to the county extension office. Four H Sunday emphasizes the spiritual qualities of 4-H club work, in keeping with the Heart-H in the 4-H clover.

New Solum 4-H'ers gave the entire program at the young people's meeting at the Rindal Lutheran church Sunday evening. At this time they also honored a mother in the community.

Rev. Harold A. Anderson spoke at a special program held Sunday afternoon by the the Steiner 4-H club. Devotions were given by Carol Jaennette and musical selections were rendered by Kathleen Torgerson and Karen and Lorna Moe.

The Mavie 4-H club also held a special program Sunday afternoon. Pastor Helme of Goodridge spoke and Rodney Wayne gave the welcome.

Silverton 4-H club put on a program at the Silvercreek church in co-operation with the Luther League. Nels Lillejord was the guest speaker.

Smiley and Kratka 4-H clubs will have a joint observance May 11. This year the Kratka club is responsible for the program. The ideas of joint observance with these two clubs began in 1945.

A special 4-H hymn was sung at the Evangelical Lutheran church as part of the St. Hilaire 4-H club's observance.

Wyanriver 4-H'ers sang a hymn during church services.

Deer Park, Highlanding, Black River, Rocksbury, Sanders and Star had 100 percent attendance of 4-H members at various churches. All other 4-H clubs were also striving for 100 per cent attendance at church yesterday.

The Engineer as Part of the Hospital Team

Following is another in the series of articles dealing with hospital personnel, supplied by the First district of the Minnesota Hospital association.

In the earlier days of hospitals as we know them, the physical plans were simple structures, consisting of four walls and a roof, enclosing a unit which contained a limited amount of apparatus for use in patient car. True, it was complete, insofar as supplying the most and best equipment known at the time, but due to the limited knowledge of science, the equipment as well as the facilities was simple. The care and operation of this equipment was relatively easy and the common practice was to employ someone who could be classified as a "Jack-of-all-trades" to take over the responsibilities of janitor and handyman. This system was effective and satisfactory.

With the advancement of modern medicine as well as modern science in all fields, the hospital has changed also. Each advance in the field of medical and surgical procedure has brought with it new machines and devices to carry out the procedures.

With the advance of medical science came also the need for changes and ideas in plant construction; larger buildings, lighter, more pleasant rooms; floors, walls, ceilings which could be kept cleaner, more sanitary; areas which could be isolated for patients with communicable diseases; areas to inclose types of work which might be hazardous to patients, such as X-ray; areas for such services as laundry, food preparation, housekeeping; facilities for immediate care of emergency cases; storage space for the innumerable supplies used daily.

New procedures in the practice of medicine called for more concern in physical comfort and safety of the patient and the employee. The building had to be heated properly and supplied with fresh clean air. Each area needed adequate and proper lighting. Water had to be supplied, at proper temperatures, to fixtures designed to meet specific needs. The surgical area, with its anesthetic gases, needed special equipment to prevent the danger of explosions. Soiled clothes and linens meant laundry facilities. Power supply can fail at critical times, so a stand-by electrical plant had to be installed, ever-ready to supply vital current.

These and many hundreds of items of equipment became commonplace in the hospital field, and with each item of equipment came the task of learning its operation and teaching the user, maintaining it in constant useable condition with service, adjustment and repair.

With all these changes, it was evident that the day of the handyman, the "jack-of-all-trades", the janitor with the pliers and screwdriver, was ended. With the constantly increasing load of installing, operating and maintaining the complex system of pipes, wires, controls, motors and machines, the need for a department capable of performing these duties became increasingly evident and the engineering department came into being.

Now the engineer is a key man on the hospital team. His is the responsibility of keeping his fingers constantly on the pulse of the physical plant. Each item of equipment, each supply line, each control, each wire plays a vital part in the over-all efficient operation of the entire complex system that is the modern hospital. The good engineer is cost conscious, realizing that each dollar wasted in faulty operation is reflected in the patient's costs. He is conscious also of the fact that the patient's care is also his first consideration.

As a key man on the team, the engineer must be able to give sound, accurate advice on each phase of construction and design of the building proper. He must be able to soundly evaluate the merits and deficiencies of each item of equipment purchased. He must be thoroughly familiar with the operation of all equipment in the building, especially in outlying areas far from service centers. He must have initiative and imagination to aid him in designing, when necessary, special equipment to meet specific needs.

The engineer is the key man in the safety program of the hospital, both in patient safety and personnel safety. He must be constantly on the alert for the hazardous conditions which might cause injury to patient or employee. It is his responsibility to maintain a fire prevention program and an organized system of control, should a fire break out.

By doing his job well, the engineer plays an important part on the hospital team as an efficient, smooth-running organization, better able to provide, for the people of the community it serves, a facility that is vital to its health and well-being.

Finish Financing of New Baudette Bridge

The village of Baudette moved one step closer to the culmination of a dream of many years, when the village council last Monday evening received bids for $1,400,000 of bonds for the construction of an international bridge between Baudette and Rainy River, Ontario.

The Frst National Bank of Baudette submitted an offer to purchase $140,000 of the issue. The balance of $1,260,000 was awarded to the Housing and Home Finance Agency. Both offers were at a rate of 4.25%. The bid of the First National Bank of Baudette was made on behalf of the people of the areas who have subscribed to $140,000, of the bonds.

Construction of the approach on the Canadian side has been begun by Barnett-McQueen, Ltd. of Ft. William. Equipment will arrive shortly for the pouring of the center pier. Completion is scheduled for 1960.

The bridge will link the communities of Baudette and Rainy River which are separated by the Rainy River. It will provide easy access to the beautiful Lake of the Woods area.

Engineers for the project are Bettenburg, Townsend, Stolte and Comb of St. Paul. The work is being done under the personal supervision of S. L. Stolte of that firm.

One of the innovations of the bridge will be the installation of automatic toll takers which will be the only installation of its kind in the Northwest.

O. R. Springsted, of Moody & Springsted, Inc., which has assisted the village of Baudette with the financial phase of the bridge program, advised the council Monday evening that the bonds are expected to be ready for delivery about May 15. At that time Mayor O. A. Weum and Clerk Idris G. Lyons will go to Chicago to sign the bonds at the Federal Reserve Bank there.

Automobile - bicycle collisons during 1958 injured 59,300 persons.

Prowlers Defeat RLF Club Thursday, 10-5

With their sophomore righthander, Gary Anderson, pitching fine ball in his first starting assignment for the locals, giving up but two hits and one run in the four innings that he hurled, coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers defeated the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 10 to 5, in a district conference game played at Red Lake Falls on Thursday evening.

Tonight, Monday, with game time at 8:00 P.M., the Prowlers will play the Warren Ponies on the Emory Johnson field in Warren.

In Thursday evening's tilt, the locals picked up a pair of runs in the 1st inning when Harlie Drees led off with a single, Jerry Jorgenson whiffed, Eddie Lietzow walked, Arlan Hjelle was nicked by a pitched ball to fill the bases, and Paul Saurdiff drove a two-run single into center field.

The Eagles scored in the bottom half of the 1st inning when, with two men out, Bob Luxenberg sliced a triple down the right-field foul line, and Jason Huseby banged a single into center field to score Luxenberg. In the following three innings, Anderson set the Eagles down without a hit, and only one man, on a walk, reached base.

The Prowlers added a three-run cluster in the 2nd inning on three walks, singles by Jorgenson, Hjelle, and Gene Weckwerth, and a sacrifice fly by Saurdiff. The locals added singles runs in the 3rd, 4th, and 5th innings, and finished off with a pair of runs in the 7th inning.

Righthander Jack Goulet assumed the Prowler pitching duties in the 5th inning, but he was plagued by wildness, giving up three bases on balls and a single before Arlan Hjelle came in relief. Hjelle uncorked a couple of wild pitches and a pair of walks, giving the Eagles three runs in the outburst, before settling down to throw his fast ball past the Eagle batters. In the three innings that he pitched, Hjelle struck out seven batters, retiring the side on strikes in the 6th inning.

Bob Berry, who replaced Huseby on the mound for the Eagles in the 2nd inning, was tagged for base hits in every inning that he hurled, but he proved quite effective as the Prowlers stranded fourteen men on the bases.

Paul Saurdiff, with three for three, and Harlie Drees, with two for three, led the Prowler 13-hit attack.

Prowler Golfers Edge Crookston in Local Match

Coach Jack Boyer's Prowler golf squad scored a one-stroke win over the Crookston Central squad in a match played over the local course on Thursday afternoon. The Prowler trio of Ron Solheim, Mark Chommie, and Steven Embury had a 268 total, while the Pirate trio of Les Gorder, Dick Droen, and Charles Hillier had a 269 total.

For the Prowlers, Solheim had rounds of 46-44 for a 90; Chommie carded a 43-47 for a 90; and Embury had a pair of 44's for an 88. Crookston's Gorder and Droen shared medalist honors, with each golfer scoring an 87, having scores of 43-44; while Hillier had a 48-47 for a 95.

Local Firms Low Bidders on Church Parish Building

Bids for the proposed parish education building for Our Savior's Lutheran church in Warren, were opened Tuesday at the church with a total of 13 contractors submitting bids on general, mechanical and electrical work. Action on the bids was tabled by the church board pending further negotiations and discussion with low bidders before any final action can be taken.

Dean L. Witcher of Minneapolis, the firm which built the present church building and Warren hospital, submitted the low bid on the general contract of $115,370.

Lee Plumbing and Heating of Thief River Falls had the low mechanical bid of $22,755 and L. W. Best of Thief River Falls had the low electrical bid of $4,375.

Total of the low bids was $142,500. Total of the high bids was $168,855. The architect's estimate as listed in a brochure prepared for circulation to the congregation was $136,360.

8 Lincoln Students Back from Parley

Diversified Vocations Club Members at Duluth

Eight Lincoln high school students attended the Minnesota Diversified Vocations club annual convention in Duluth last week and returned to Thief River Falls with reports of a highly enjoyable and educational convention.

Hotel Duluth served as host to approximately 300 students from all over the state. Highlights of this sixth annual convention were competitive events, a banquet, dance, field trips, and a colorful award ceremony. Main speaker for the event was Frindley Hartzler, Distributive Education teacher-trainer from Kansas, who spoke on the topic, "Open Your Eyes and Look." Recreation also was provided for the group of future business leaders.

The Lincoln high school D. E. club was honored at the award ceremony by being chosen as one of nine honor clubs in the state. The award, a bronze cup, was accepted by club delegates Elaine Newton and Bill Haugen. Othe local D. E. students who attended were Janet Morben, Marilen Larson, Geraldine Nelson, Ralph Jorstad, Don Hill and Sharon Wendel.

Rural TRF Man Is Charged after Accident on No. 1

A rural Thief River Falls man was charged with following another car too close after a mishap on highway 1 west of the city last Tuesday, in which combined damages to the two vehicles involved was $400.

A car driven by John Shimpa, Greenbush, was proceeding east on highway 1 when it was struck in the rear by Leonard D. Skaar, who was going in the same direction.

Damage to the Shimpa car was estimated at $250 and to Skaar's, $150. Skaar was tagged for following too close, city police stated.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Pains

The Northern Minny baseball league has been experiencing all sorts of pains this spring, and none, have been growing pains. First there were to be nine teams in the league, and a schedule was drawn up and adopted for that number, but when the Bemidji Chiefs dropped out, there were eight. And now that the Red Lake Falls Lakers, one of the charter members of the Northern Minny, decided to forego league baseball, there are seven teams remaining in the circuit.

We were not too surprised with the decision of the Lakers to quit the Northern Minny, for the club down there has been hard-pressed for native-talent ball players. The Red Lake Falls representative had requested player aid from Grand Forks and the North Dakota Sioux, but this request did not generate too much sympathy or enthusiasm. It's surely a loss for the league to lose the colorful Lakers, a team that has been a "natural" as a rival for the Thieves.

We were surprised, though, that the Bemidji club decided to withdraw from the loop. Bemidji has had a fine baseball tradition, and it has been only a couple of years since the Chiefs won the Minnesota Class 'B' title. We can recall the days when Bemidji had Tommy Fairbanks as pitcher, and Joe Lawrence (the father of Dick, Jim, and Bill Lawrence) played at shortstop.

The Chiefs, perhaps, were unpleasantly surprised at the caliber of ball exhibited in the Northern Minny league, and were disappointed that they weren't able to run "rough-shot" over the other teams in the league. It would be nice if we could "shame" Bemidji, the largest city in the league, into getting a team on the field again.

For the Record

We will give you the results of the shooting at traps last Thursday of the "rookies" on Dr. Milt Starekow's trapshooting squad. And it's in no sense a down-grading or belittling, merely to establish the figures and to compare the improvement that the boys will make after they have been a competition for a couple of months. Bob Craik, puffed left cheek and all, had eleven; Lloyd Brunsberg, the former Fertile Falcon, but whose wings have been clipped, had an eleven; Phil LeGault also had an eleven; Ivan Bundy tallied a twelve; and Dennis (Cotton) Langevin also had a twelve.

We'll make a modest wager that these boys will be crowding into the twenty's before the season closes.

Incidentally, that was quite a turnout for the league-opener, with about fifty-five shooters participating. League secretary Erling Torgerson says that they can always find room for additional shooters.

Golf Invitation

It is to be hoped that a large delegation of local golfers will attend the stag to be held at Bemidji's Birchmont country club on Thursday, May 7.

According to the information that we have received, the local golfers can make up their own golfing parties or foursomes, and enjoy the hospitality of the Bemidji club. A fee of $3.00 per player will, according to Russ Embury, cover everything.

The Bemidji golfers will return the gesture by attending one of the local clubs stags later on in the season.

Memorial Cup Winners

Not since 1946, when the Winnipeg Monarchs won the trophy, have the Winnipeg hockey fans had an opportunity to cheer for a Canadian junior hockey champion, but this year the drought was ended when the Winnipeg Braves won the Memorial Cup. The Braves, a "farm" club for the professional hockey Winnipeg Warriors, defeated the Peterborough, Ont. Petes, four games to one. The Braves closed out the series on Friday night, defeating the Petes, 6 to 2, in a game played on the Brandon rink.

St. Hilaire Youth Rolls over in Car on T.H. 59 Sunday

No one was injured in the only traffic mishap recorded over the past weekend in the Thief River Falls area by the highway patrol, Capt. Walter Anderson said today.

The mishap occurred about 1:30 a.m. Sunday when a car driven by Herbert Duane Peterson, 20, St. Hilaire, rolled over several times, two miles north of Plummer on U.S. 59, Anderson said.

The 1954 Oldsmobile was a total loss but Peterson escaped serious injury in the crash. Anderson's investigation of the mishap is continuing.

Greenbush Sheep Days to Be Staged This Year June 4-5

Sheep Shearing Event Set for June 5; Picture Contest Also Scheduled

The annual sheep days program at Greenbush will be held on Thursday and Friday, June 4 and 5. Again this year the committee has arranged for a group of popular speakers for the event.

The Thursday afternoon program will include Dr. A. L. Pope, of the University of Wisconsin, who will report some of the latest work in sheep production has been done at that station; Merle Leite from the department of animal husbandry, North Dakota Agricultural College, Fargo, will speak regarding sheep breeding work done at the North Dakota Station. Herelm Johnson will give an account of his observations about sheep production in Australia.

Skuli Rutford, director of extension for Minnesota will give the main address at the banquet to be held in the Greenbush high school at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, June 4. Claude Ebling will be on hand with some of his magic and wit and philosophy at the banquet as well as during the afternoon program.

The annual sheep shearing contests both junior and senior, will be held on Friday, June 5, as will the 4-H and F.F.A. judging contests. The fat lamb class this year will be a pen of ten market lambs. The pen of three will still be maintained for 4-H and F.F.A. entries.

A new feature in 1959 will be the sheep picture contest. Any black and white picture telling a story of sheep production can be entered. If your prints are 4" by 5" send them as is to Mr. Stanley Evans by May 20th, if they are any other size send a negative to date and a 4" by 5" print will be made and entered in the contest. $25.00 in prizes for this contest: $10.00—first prize; $5.00—second; and 5 prizes of $2.00 each.

The wool show will again be held as usual.

Rail Commission to Hear Five Pleas at Warren May 12

A hearing will be conducted by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission in Warren Tuesday, May 12, at 9:30 on the application of five parties in the area for irregular route common carrier trucking permits, it was announced by Oliver A. Ossana, secretary of the commission.

Included is the request of Peter Jepson and Floyd Hageman of Thief River Falls, who propose to haul grain from the Red River Valley area to Minnesota terminals in addition to intrastate hauling of turkeys.

Other applicants are L. A. Cormican of Euclid, Harold Oberg of Angus and Thomas E. Kuznia and Duane L. Setterholm, both of Stephen.

N.W. Conference Track Meet Set for TRF Tuesday

Lincoln high school in this city will be host Tuesday afternoon to the Northwest conference track and field tournament which will be held on the Lincoln high athletic field. The teams participating in the tourney are Bemidji, Thief River Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks, and Roseau. The meet on Tuesday will mark the first time that the Roseau Rams, a newcomer to the conference, will have competetl in the tournament. The Rams, coached by Ambrose Kramer, have long been a track power in district 32 circles, and Roseau will enter Tuesday's meet with several athletes who are certain point-winners.

The tournament is slated to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Nine Law Officers from TRF Attend G. Forks Meeting

Valley Peace Officers Assn. Conducts Spring Session Last Wednesday

A total of nine lawmen from Thief River Falls attended the meeting of the Red River Valley Peace Officers association held last Wednesday at the DAV-VFW clubrooms in Grand Forks.

In the election of officers at the meeting, Richard Gaynor, Fargo, was elected president of the association and Eddy Fuller, Mayville, N. Dak, was elected vice-president.

Among the speakers at the meeting were Capt. Walter Anderson, highway patrol head at the local headquarters, who explained new laws passed by the last session of the Minnesota legislature, and Roy T. Noonan, supt. of the Minnesota Crime bureau, who also spoke on new laws affecting police work in Minnesota.

State Sen. George Longmire, Grand Forks, spoke on new North Dakota laws affecting police work in that state. District Judge Roy Redetzke, Fargo, presided at the meeting.

Those attending from here, in addition to Captain Anderson, were Police Chief Elton Cummings, Patrolmen Renie Werner, Donald Myers and Richard Nelson, Sheriff Charles Richards, Crime bureau Agent Max Graham, Soo Line Investigator Marshall Kays, and Milton Olson, YCC parole officer.

'U' Agriculture College Grads to Convene on May 9

All local alumni of the college of agriculture, forestry and home economics at the University of Minnesota are invited to the first meeting of the college's alumni association this Saturday, May 9.

The meeting will be in conjunction with the Minnesota Royal on the St. Paul campus, and will be held in the new $1,200,000 Student Center there.

According to Howard Olson, St. Paul, association president, the session will include a tour of new campus buildings, a coffee hour and get-together and an evening alumni dinner and variety show.

Reservations for the alumni meeting can be made through the Minnesota Alumni association, 205 Coffman Union, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

Climax Vikings Lose to Prowler Club 5-2

Coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers scored their second win of the young baseball season on Friday evening when they defeated coach Bud Ellingson's Climax Vikings, 5 to 2, in a district conference game played on the Fair Grounds.

The Prowlers took advantage of the lack of control exhibited by righthander, Rand Rogenes, Climax' starting pitcher, to score two runs in the 1st inning and three runs in the 3rd inning.

With one away in the 1st frame, Jerry Jorgenson looped a single into short left field, Eddie Lietzow and Paul Saurdiff walked to fill the bases; a wild pitch allowed Jorgenson to score; and after Hjelle had struck out, Gary Anderson and Jim Wegge were given walks, forcing Lietzow across the plate with the inning's second run.

In the 3rd, Hjelle opened with a walk, Anderson singled to right field, Gene Weckwerth sacrificed, and Jim Wegge singled into right field to score Hjelle and Anderson. Wegge's single ended Rogenes' stay on the mound, with coach Ellingson calling in centerfielder Stan Erickson to pitch. Gary Klungness beat out an infield hit; Drees hit into a force play, second to short, and when the shortstop heaved the ball past the first baseman, Wegge came in with the Prowlers fifth run.

The Vikings broke up Drees' shutout pitching by plating a run in the 4th inning on a walk to Rogenes followed by Kent Peterson's double to the fence in center-field. Climax added another run in the 5th inning on a walk to Erickson, a sacrifice by Duane Palm, and an error. The Vikings put together a pair of hits in the 6th inning, which with a hit batsman, loaded the bases with two out, but Klungness gathered in pinch-hitter Rod Peterson's short fly to end the threat.

Postmaster Asks Support vs. Filth

Dryden Asks Reports on Obscene Mater in Mail

Postmaster R. J. Dryden today appealed for public support in the intensified war the post-office department has declared on ruthless mail order merchants of filth who are violating the homes of the nation in defiance of the federal government.

Using the precious privilege of the uncensored letter, purveyors of obscenity today are sending unordered lewd materials thru the mails, much of it directed to teen-age youngsters, Dryden said.

Postmaster general Arthur Summerfield stated, "There appears to be two basic reasons for the increasing volume of filth in the mails — first, the tremendous profits that are realized from a small investment; and second, the very broad definition of obscenity handed down by certain courts, notably in New York and Los Angeles."

The adage, "He who hesitates is lost," is true partly because thinking draws the blood to the head, and the persons who pauses to think gets cold feet.

Farm Census Will Be Made in State in Fall

Each of Minnesota's 150,000 or more farms will be visited by a U. S. census representative this fall, as part of the 17th nationwide farm cenus.

The last such farm cenus was held in 1954, according to Luther Pickrel, extension economist at the University of Minnesota.

Pickrel says all farm owners will be urged to cooperate with the census enumerators. All census information is kept strictly confidential, but all farms must be counted.

Cenus takers will ask for three kinds of information:

1. A count of farm resources—farms, area, acres of cropland, livestock numbers, number of workers and kinds of equipment.
2. A record of farm products produced and sold in 1959.
3. Information on selected farming activities — such as how many days the operator worked off the farm, how much gasoline and oil was used and how much fertilizer and lime he applied.

Representatives of several farm organizations, including the Farmers Union, the Farm Bureau, the Grange and several cooperatives served on an advisory committee to determine what questions would be asked.

The 1954 Minnesota farm census showed 165,324 farms in the state. Of this number, 146,527 were classified as "commercial" farms. This means that either the operator worked on the farm less than 100 days or the off-farm income of operator and family was less than farm income.

Farms not listed as commercial were part-time, residential or institutional farms.

Of the commercial farms in 1954, 46,975 were in the $5-9,000 category on value of farm products sold annually —J more than any other category. Numbers in other categories were: $250 to $1,199—9,350; $1,200 to $2,499—23,102; $2,500 to $4,999—40,588; $10,000 to $24,999—23,503; over $25,000—3,008.

Since 1954 there have been a number of changes between and within these classifications. But Pickrel says we do not know where they have taken place nor to what degree. The census will provide this information.

The census also benefits farmers in a number of other wayts.

First, it serves as a bench mark for the crop reporting and outlook work being used by more and more Minnesota farmers.

Second, it is the most effective means we have of learning of trends and changes in our communities and in the various commodity and livestock sectors of agriculture. It serves as a basis for decision-making in local, state and national programs, both public and private.

Polio Mounting in Nation This Year

Foundation Launching Drive for Inoculations

Polio epidemic "storm warnings" across the country are becoming so serious, the National Foundation announced today, that it is setting aside $500,000 to launch a sustained vaccination program aimed at "demonstarting that outbreaks can be prevented if polio soft spots in big cities are located in advance and wiped out."

Basil O'Connor, president of the organization that sponsored the development of the salk vaccine when it was still known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, described "polio soft spots" as heavy concentrations of unvaccinated persons in large population centers where epidemics are mostly likely to develop.

Noting the serious warning implicit in a jump of 83 per cent in paralytic polio cases during the first quarter of this year, compared to the first three months of 1958, O'Connor said. "The polio virus cannot be diverted any more than a storm, but the people polio might strike can be protected against paralysis if they are vaccinated in time."

Mr. O'Connor explained that March of Dimes funds, which now are used for work in arthritis and birth defects as well as polio, would underwrite purchase by health departments of more than 1,000,000 doses of Salk vaccine for use in cities of less than 1,000,000 and over 400,000 population. He said that statistics which have been studied recently indicate that the larger cities offer the best opportunity for the use of the limited funds. Operation Softspot will supplement an extensive vaccine education promotion sponsored by the National Health Council in cooperation with The National Foundation, the American Medical Association, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Advertising Council.

SCHOOLWORK Darlene Srnsky, left, of St. Hilaire and Ardella Tweten, 724 Conley ave. State Physicans Give Scholarship

Belle Plaine Student at 'U' Gets Medical Award

LeRoy Earl Mueller, a University of Minnesota medical school freshman from Belle Plaine, has been named to receive the rural medical scholarship sponsored by the Minnesota State Medical association.

Established by the association to assist worthy and outstanding students to meet the expense of a medical education and to insure a supply of physicians in non-metropolitan Minnesota communities, LeRoy Mueller is the seventh person to receive the award.

According to the provisions of the scholarships, LeRoy will receive $1,000 each year for four years on the condition that he premises to practice medicine, for at least five years after graduation from medical school, in a rural Minnesota community.

The 1959 winner is a graduate of Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minnesota. His elementary education was obtained in the Belle Plaine public schools. LeRoy is one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mueller who live on a farm near Belle Plaine.

Planning Session Scheduled May 13 in Minneapolis

Planning for cities and towns under 25,000 population will be the subject of a "small twon clinic" discussion to be held Wednesday, May 13, during the 25th annual conference of the American Society of Planning Officials in Minneapolis, according to general chairman Arnett W. Leslie, president of the Minneapolis city planning commission.

More than 1600 persons from all parts of the United States, Canada and other countries are expected to attend the affair to be held at the Leamington hotel May 10-14.

Participating in the 3-man panel on small community planning and problems will be Erling Helland, a 1937 graduate of Minnesota school of engineering. Helland is now a planning consultant in Tulsa, Okla. Other participating panparsotaj5drster participants will include Lachlan F. Blaine, Providence, R.I., and J. K. Smith of the Colorado State Planning Commission, Denver.

A perfect score of 100 earned John A. Musty, Mazeppa, the first place trophy in the first of Minnesota's four annual statewide buttermaking contests it was announced Saturday.

Musty competed with 285 other expert buttermakers in the spring contest. He is employed by Mazeppa Farmers Cooperative Dairy association where he started his acreer inn 1951. He will receive his trophy at the annual June Dairy Month kickoff luncheon later this month.

Second place winner is John Steele, Lakeville, whose score was 99.83, and third place honors go to Boyd G. Fleming, Mora, who scored 99.82. First-place winner in junior or apprentice competition is Robert A. DuBois, Starbuck, who scored 99.67.

The Minnesota state champion buttermaker is determined each year by averaging scores in the four statewide contests. Remaining 1959 statewide contests and their closing dates are the June educational contest, June 3; State Fair contest, July 1; convention contest, August 5.

Although the state champion must be a Minnesota resident, buttermakers in other states compete in the Minnesota events which are recognized as the most exacting in the nation. Minnesota leads the United States in butter production.

The four annual buttermaking contests are sponsored by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, the Minnesota State Fair and the Minnesota Creamery Operators' and Managers' Association.

"Argument is an exchange of ignorance. Discussion is an exchange of intelligence." —George Barrett.

A Border That Unites Us

President Eisenhower's order exempting Canadian petroleum products from import controls recognizes the common interest of the two nations in the economic development and the military defense of the North American continent. It will help much in restoring confidence in our country and friendship for our people among our Canadian neighbors who, in recent years, have looked south of their border with growing apprehension.

If a common market can be justified for a group of nations in Europe then certainly the removal of all barriers to trade between Canada and the United States makes sense. A half a century ago President Taft recognized the benefits that would come with a free exchange of goods and services across the border, and there was considerable support for his proposed reciprocal trade treaty.

Canada at that time was largely agricultural and much of the opposition to Taft's proposal came from our farm states. Since then, there as here, agriculture has declined steadily in economic importance and farmers on both sides of the line have a common marketing problem.

A gradual reduction of import duties, leading to a final removal of all trade barriers, would be in the best interests of both countries and would simplify immeasurably the problem of defending the North American continent. The international border should be looked upon as a line that unites rather than separates Canada and the United States.

A New Labor Law

The Senate agreement on the Kennedy bill idicates a strong likelihood that a new labor law will be passed by the present congress. The fact that the Senate approved this bill in its final form with only one dissenting vote justifies the hope that the new law will be an improvement over the present statute.

The bill as passed by the Senate is a compromise measure and probably few will be satisfied with all of its provisions. As finally approved, the Kennedy bill was much less satisfactory to labor leaders than as it was introduced. Senator McClellan, chairman of the committee that had investigated racketeering in labor organizations, succeeded in getting some of his ideas included. But, as approved, the bill failed to include some of the regulations asked for by the administration. The one dissenting vote came from a conservative who thought the bill should have been more restrictive.

It is reasonable to assume, therefore, that the new labor law will not be the final answer to our labor union problems. Future congresses will be caled upon to make more changes. Whether these future congresses will make the law more restrictive or less restrictive probably will depend largely on the conduct of labor organizations during the intervening years.

Hail the Self-Righteous

The Twin Cities newspaper that shed most tears in deploring the lack of respect for constitutional authority when public officials down in Arkansas ignored a court order, did not seem to be at all concerned about the failure of its local officials to comply with an order issued by Minnesota's Supreme Court. The self-righteous can always justify their own conduct.

When Chief Justice Roger Dell issued his order for a delay in the pending shift to fast time in the Twin Cities area he was in effect referred to as a meddler. What right had he to tell the good people of Minneapolis and St. Paul how to set their clocks? The local Governor Faubuses said, "To heck with him. Besides he owns a building in Fergus Falls that is rented to a theater man."

The propriety of that order has later been admitted by some of the early critics. Good judges decide questions according to the laws and they issue orders in compliance with established procedure. That, as we understand it, is what was done by the state's Supreme Court when an issue involving muddled laws was brought before them. When court orders are ignored because they are not popular then we have a condition that is closely related to the anarchy of mob action.

Governors Orval Faubus and Orville Freeman please note.

Colleges Seek Students

In his "Education In Review" column in the New York Times, Loren Pope points out that:

> "Most of the 100-odd colleges that are crowded enough to be selective have, or soon will have, filled their freshman classes for next fall. In the process, they have turned down thousands of high school seniors. Some of these have accepted admission at second or third choice colleges, but many have not yet been admitted anywhere."

That gives the impression that our country has a serious shortage of college classrooms. But in this statement Mr. Pope is referring only to the 100 colleges that are crowded enough to be selective. They are the popular schools that, for one reason or another, have achieved national recognition. More significant is his analysis of the situation in the vast majority of our colleges. Of these he reports:

> "But there is a real shortage of students in many of the rest of the 1,800 colleges in the country, particularly in the South and Midwest. Many of the good engineering colleges in particular have not enough students."

He then tells an interesting story of the efforts that are being made to bring students and colleges together. Several non-profit clearing houses have been established thru which student applications and qualifications are distributed to colleges seeking increased enrollment. Students meeting established standards are then invited to enroll. On this point he makes the interesting observation:

> "Some colleges do not want it known that they are looking for students. Some do not want to reveal just what student qualifications they will accept. And some are prestige schools looking for certain types of student interest or geographical distribution to get the balance they want—and they do not want complaints from parents of able students they have rejected."

Assuming that Mr. Pope knows what he is talking about, there seems be no immediate need for doubling facilities of the University of Minnesota. According to the thinking of many of our leading educators, our University is already about twice as large as it should be to function as a truly-great center of learning. The immediate need probably is to make better use of the facilities already available.

Vital Changes

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Canadian industry has been placed on the same footing as American industry as far as the U.S. armed services are concerned.

The penalty of six per cent imposed on foreign manufactures by the Buy-American Act has been waived in the case of Canadian firms. Moreover, the additional 12 per cent advantage given American bidders whose plants are in high unemployment areas and will not apply to bids by Canadian companies.

This seems to be recognition that cooperation in defence must apply to defence procurement as well as to military action. This recognition is of the utmost importance, particularly to Canada.

The changes in the regulations reflect credit on Defence Minister Pearkes and Trade Minister Churchill for the forceful way they presented Canada's case. Credit is also due to the Washington government for making the changes in spite of the opposition by certain members of Congress.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS from the Desk of SENATOR HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

United we stand — The 13 separate weak colonies of England strung out along the Atlantic Seaboard in 1776 won our independence only when they finally realized that united they would stand, divided they would fall. "We must all hang together, or we shall all hang separately," was another way of putting it. These words strike home in 1959, as the Western powers face up to still another, and potentially the most serious, of the crises precipitated by the Soviet Union since World War II. I do not believe that we are on the brink of war. But I am confident we can contain this crisis only if the community of nations that is NATO stands firm, militarily strong and united on common policy.

Firmness not enough — We will not be pushed out of Berlin by force. But firmness before the Soviet threat is not enough. It must be matched by imagination and a willingness to negotiate. If we are strong, if we are united, than we can negotiate from a position of strength on the great questions of the freedom of Berlin, on Germany, and on general European security.

Negotiation — Negotiation is the alternative to both surrender and to war. Surrender is intolerable; war is a calamitous alternative that must ultimately be accepted only when every possibility of coming to agreements has been exhausted. We must be patient and persistent. Nothing is going to be solved overnight; settlements may, in fact take years to accomplish. We face a long hard road of continued uncertainty and insecurity. The Soviet leaders are tough, shrewd, and tenacious. They will try to wear us out, wear our patience thin, provoke us into making mistakes. They will come prepared—having done their homework—to every negotiating conference. They will try their best to split the Western allies, to exploit every crack in the alliance. We must be stronger, more supple, more tenacious and determined than they are. We must secure concessions from them at least as important as those we are prepared to give. That is true negotiation — the opposite of appeasement.

Sleight of hand — We must guard, too, against the Communist effort to focus all our attention on one crisis — on Berlin, for example—while more quietly they are moving toward takeovers in other areas. They would like nothing better to have us concentrate exclusively on the Russian right-hand in Berlin while the Russian left hand is operating in Iraq, against Iran, in Africa, in Southeast Asia. We cannot allow ourselves to be conjured into thinking that only Berlin is important. Perhaps even more important, we must not permit the Communists to keep us on the political and economic defensive. It's time we began to force the Soviet leaders to do a little worrying and reacting.

The trouble with most of these elected politicians is that they think what they got from the public last November was not a mandate but a charge-a-plate. —Richard Mayer.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

Last week I spent one day in Washington, to fulfill a long standing commitment to serve as co-chairman, along with Charles P. Taft, of the sixth National Conference on International Economic and Social Development. This is the third successive year in which Mr. Taft and I have served as co-chairmen for this organization.

Widespread Interest

The Conference is a bi-partisan occasion, which accounts for the fact that it chooses two chairmen, one from each major party. Participants include representatives from business and labor; from voluntary, cooperative and civic organizations; from every major religious group; and from many governmental agencies. On the program this year were men representing Congress, the United Nations, and the national administration.

Our Nation and the World

It is a hopeful and heartening thing to attend one of these conferences. On such an occasion it becomes evident that Americans realize how important it is to them that conditions that will promote peace should be advanced throughout the world. We see that people from the farms, the villages, and the cities all over the nation now recognize that it is of utmost importance to them—in their own everyday lives—that we do what we can to bring peace and decent standards of living to people in other lands.

The Point Four Program

The main theme of the Conference this year was a review of the Point Four program of technical assistance, a program launched ten years ago by President Truman in his inaugural address. At the evening banquet Mr. Eric Johnston presented a citation to Truman for inaugurating that program, along with written application expressed by scores of countries that have been helped during its ten years of existence.

A Continuing Program

It is a continuing part of American policy to help to arise the standards of living in underdeveloped areas where there is real hunger. We are hoping to work with other nations toward better health and education programs. We know that by these means we can work most effectively to prevent the spread of Communism in many parts of the world. These efforts cost us very little in terms of the benefits that result.

People and Government Cooperate

It is especially encouraging to note how both non-governmental organizations and governmental agencies can contribute to programs for international development. Hundreds of thousands of Americans have helped as individuals by such things as sending CARE packages to people abroad. Through churches and other voluntary organizations they have done more. All of these activities promote understanding and good will, and will help to convince others of the values that exist in the American way of life.

Minnesotans do Their Share

This year I stayed in Washington for only one day of the two-day conference, because of the special session of the Minnesota Legislature. I was pleased to note that in this field as in so many others, Minnesotans are among the leaders.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Call it—
"Helping Bud to Blossom"

When his wife left on a visit, Bud Harper promised to take care of her potted plants. He moved them out to the porch where he'd be sure to see them—and then forget them.

Week later, Mrs. Harper asked about the plants in a letter. Bud rushed out, expecting to find them dead. But they were in perfect shape—even the pots had been rearranged.

Naturally, Bud was mystified. Then he found a note on one of the plants: "We'll lose this one unless you put Ammonium Sulphate on it. Pete." (He's the milkman.)

From where I sit, "neighborliness" is a wonderful thing, particularly when it's put into practice every day. This week, for example, why not have some neighbors in for a glass of beer or a cup of coffee? (Serving them their preference in beverages—that's "neighborliness" too.)

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, with a disability I believe is traceable to my war service. Is there a deadline for making application to the VA for disability compensation?

A—There is no deadline. You may apply at any time. However, if you apply within one year from your discharge, payments may be back-dated to your first day as a civilian. Otherwise, payments can become effective only as of the date you apply.

Q—I think a lot of veterans are not clear in their minds about the terms disability "compensation" and disability "pension," as used by the VA. Would you explain?

A—Compensation is a payment made to a veteran whose disability is connected to his military service. Pension is paid to a veteran for a disability not connected with his war service, provided he meets income requirements.

Q—My permanent GI insurance policy has lapsed because I allowed the grace period to go by without payment. What must I do to reinstate my policy?

A—GI permanent plan insurance may be reinstated at any time by payment of all back premiums, plus interest. You must also meet VA's health requirements.

Q—My father took sick more than a year ago and I left school, where I was studying under the GI Bill, to take a job. I understand now that I can continue my schooling. What do I have to do?

A—Get an application from your nearest VA office. Fill it out completely and return it. If you are eligible, VA will send you a certification authorizing you to return to school.

Good Posture Is Urged This Week by Chiropractors

Governor Orville L. Freeman has proclaimed the week of May 3 to May 9 as Good Posture Week throughout the state of Minnesota and has urged the people of the state to take note of this program and has asked their cooperation in publicizing the benefits of good posture to everyone, particularly, the students in our public schools.

Good Posture Week is a national observance originated by the chiropractic profession and is sponsored in this state by the Minnesota Chiropractic Association.

The chiropractic position is that good posture in childhood leads to well-formed adult bodies and the prevention of many unnecessary ills later in life.

PEEKIN' into the PAST

Getting Nowhere? Consider the Ox

It was 1840-1850 before oxen were substituted for slaves to furnish power for treadmills like the one above.

Invented in 1823 in England, the treadmill produced mechanical power at will — in the past man had relied upon wind and water for his power.

Oxen powered treadmills were used to supply power for grain threshers, corn choppers, bone grinders, saw-mills, water pumps and small manufacturing plants.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Feeder Pigs

How much money can you make from producing and selling 20-40 pound feeder pigs? This is a question being asked frequently at the extension office by farmers thinking about feeder pigs.

The answer depends on your production efficiency, value of feeds used, and price received per pig.

You need to make full use of buildings and equipment and have large-sized litters for efficient production. Litter size is more important in a feeder pig operation than in a normal operation because total costs remain about the same regardless of the number of pigs sold per sow.

For example, if you produced six pigs per litter and sold them for $12 each, you would get about $3.70 per pig—based on average feed and operating costs. But if you could produce 10 pigs from the same sow, your return would be $6.40 per pig — a sizeable increase in profit with little increase in labor.

What's more, efficient utilization of feed is important in the feeder pig business. You can lower feed cost as well as increase litter size by limiting the amount of feed during gestation. Experiments show that 4.5 lbs. of good ration is all that is needed daily per pig.

The price you get per pig will vary with the age and weight of the animals when you sell them. Heavier feeder pigs usually bring a price premium. However, additional feed costs, weight loss of the sow and the time loss in breeding back the sow must be charged against this premium.

Another important point you should consider is when to sell old sows. You should plan to sell them in mid-summer, the period of seasonally high hog prices.

Hay Conditioning

Using a hay conditioner this summer could definitely mean higher quality hay in your barn for next winter's feeding.

University of Minnesota agricultural engineers last summer found that hay conditioned with either a crusher or crimper usually could be put into the barn a day earlier than it would have otherwise.

It's an accepted fact that the quicker hay goes into the barn after cutting, he more likely it is to retain its nutrients.

In experiments at the Rosemount Experiment station, it was found that conditioned alfalfa hay was dried down to 22 per cent or less moisture within 29 hours after cutting, which is dry enough for baling. This was hay that wasn't rained on.

Non-conditioned hay, on the other hand, contained from 28 to 43 per cent moisture after the same length of time. It would have taken this hay, in many cases, another 5-10 hours before it would have been dry enough to put up.

These tests were mostly on hay cut at about 10 a.m. Since conditioned hay in good weather was dry enough 29 hours later, it could have been baled on the afternoon of the day following cutting. Unconditioned hay, however, usually couldn't have been baled until the third day.

Four kinds of conditioners were compared and all types were found to give about the same results as far as drying is concerned.

Purpose of a hay conditioner is to crush the hay so it will dry faster. Normally, legume hay leaves dry faster than the stems. By the time stems are dry, leaves are often so brittle they fall off at baling time. Leaves, however, are high in protein, meaning they are important to save.

By helping the stem dry faster, conditioning can mean higher hay quality. Also, getting hay dry and off the field quicker helps a farmer take advantage of shorter periods of good drying weather.

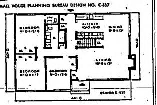
A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-537



DESIGN C-537. The inside bathroom location made possible the valuable closets at the rear entry. Through the use of a bubble or modern roof skylight, it has just as much daylight as an ordinary sidelighted bathroom. Ideally located, the inside stairway provides handy access to the recreation area.

With good ventilating systems available today, the problem of kitchen odors has disappeared and dividers between rooms can be eliminated.

The exterior features pleasing contrasts between the wide horizontal siding, the vertical siding framing the covered front entrance and living room windows. A low pitched roof, wide eave overhang and exposed beams on the front gable make the design hug the ground. Including a full basement, the house contains 21,520 cubic feet and covers 1,230 square feet of ground area.

For further information about DESIGN C-537, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

HOME Garden TIPS

C. GUSTAV HARD
ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, ST. PAUL 1, MINN.

Starting Seeds in the Garden

Many of the summer-blooming annual flowers can be seeded directly in the flower border. These annuals include sweet alyssum, bachelor's button, balsam, calendula, calliopsis, celosia, cosmos, clarkia, larkspur, marigold, moss rose, portulaca, nasturtium, annual phlox, stocks (seven-week), Unwin dahlia and zinnia.

Usually it's most effective to group annuals in the border, using three to five plants to a group. Space the plants six to twelve inches apart, depending upon mature plant size. Plant the seeds very shallow — only one-eighth to one-fourth inch deep.

Often it's hard to identify the seeds you have planted from weeds or other seeds which might be germinating. Plant three to five seeds at each location in the grouping and place a small stick and label by the planting. You can thin the seedlings after they begin to show their first true leaves.

To get a head start with your seedlings, prepare a small section of the border by spading the soil and leveling it with a garden rake. Mark off squares about 18x18 inches — enough for each annual you plan to grow. This small area can be seeded before normal planting time. If frosts or freezing weather is predicted, the area can be covered or protected. Later, when the seedlings are large enough, transplant them to the border.

HOW LONG SINCE YOU'VE READ A BOOK?

Elmer L. Anderson, St. Paul business man heading Minnesota observance of National Library Week, finds that the average library use in this state is four books per person per year. In our 171 public libraries our three million citizens have four and a half million volumes to select from—some of them "personally delivered," as it were, by one of 18 bookmobiles or itinerant libraries operating in the state: nine of the bookmobiles operate out of one or another of our 13 county libraries; altogether they serve nearly a quarter million Minnesota readers. It is encouraging to note that library use has increased 25 per cent in the past ten years, worth hoping for that it will go up at a more rapid rate in the future.

FOREST WEALTH WORTH PROTECTING

Thirty-eight percent of Minnesota is forested, as against 61½% when colonization began a little more than a century ago: Land area is 51,205,800 acres, 31,500,000 were forested then, 19,343,700 new; of which 18,097,600 is rated as commercial. Our annual pulpwood production is close to $150,000,000, lumber a bit above $20,000,000, fuelwood $12,000,000 Christmas trees-wreaths etc. not quite $7,000,000, posts $2,684,500, matchwood-cooperage etc. $2,300,000, sawdust-shavings-novelties $1,550,000, piling-veneer-mine timbers-poles, etc. $5,000,000, for a total annual harvest of forest products running almost $200,000,000. From 1894 through 1938 we have had eight costly and disastrous forest fires, destroying nearly 3,000,000 acres and claiming 903 lives.

Each year the trucking industry buys 900,000 trucks and 70,000 trailers to meet the growing need for truck transportation, and to replace units in the fleet.

Evangelist O. Knutson Holds Special Meetings In Covenant Church

The week of special meetings that was held in the Rosewood Covenant church was concluded on Sunday night. Evangelist Oscar Knutson from Windom brought some heart stirring messages from the word of God that we so badly need today. The last message was taken from Ezekiel 33:11. God has no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live, turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways for why will ye die, Oh house of Israel? Many people from surrounding communities came to hear Mr. Knutson. Groups from Viking, Thief River Falls, Karlstad and Rindal furnished special music each evening.

Farmers Union to Continue Meeting in Viking

The Viking-New Solum Farmers Union local held their regular meeting April 23 at the Viking school. Meeting opened by singing America with Percy Hagen presiding. Mrs. Emil Hellquist read the secretary-treasurer's reports. Budget fund party plans are progressing nicely. Motion was made and carried that meetings continue to be held at Viking during the summer instead of at the Columbus school house. Program was as follows: a solo "I Love You Truly" by Mrs. Milton Oberg; a skit, "Heavy Sleeper" by James Dahl and John Hellquist; a song "When the Mists have rolled away" by four girls, Susan, Sharon and Janet Holmstrom and Sandra Dahl. Harlem Sandberg, 4H club agent from Warren gave a slide travelog of a recent trip through the eastern states. Door prizes were won by Ray Holmstrom and Susan Holmstrom for the juniors. "Church in the Wildwood" was the closing song. Mmes. Ray Holmstrom, Harold Sabo, Emil Hellquist and Engvold Dahl served refreshments.

Four ladies from here attended the CWA spring rally at the Viking Covenant church Tuesday. They were Mmes. Sam Oswald, Lloyd Anderson, Elmer Kron and Arthur Swenson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hellquist and Evangelist Oscar Knutson were Sunday guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Blackwood at Viking.

Sunday visitor at the Edwin Quam home were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Quam and Michele and Bonnie Sullivan all from Thief River Falls.

Mr. J. E. Johnson of T.R. Falls spent Sunday with his son and family, Irwin Johnsons.

Lloyd Rafteseth and little Linda of Moorhead drove up Monday with the new Chevrolet for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rafteseth. The A. Raftesethes took them back that evening and were overnight guests there, also visiting with the Walter Raftesethes, returning home Tuesday.

Guests for dinner Sunday with Mrs. Cora Wood and Chester were the Bernard Wold family of Thief River Falls while Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kron were lunch guests.

Mrs. Minnie Albaugh accompanied her son's family, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Albaugh of Mentor, to Warren Sunday to spend the day at the Ralph Albaugh home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rafteseth of Moorhead came up Saturday to spend the weekend at Walter's parental home, the Alfred Raftesethes. Sunday afternoon joined by Mr. and Mrs. Art Lundell of Kennedy they attended the dedication services at the Mission Covenant church in Thief River Falls.

North Circle

The North Circle sewing group met at the Harold Sabo home Friday afternoon with Mrs. Sabo and Mrs. Clifford Johnson serving. A short program, handiwork and a birthday celebration made up a pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Johnson baked a special cake for the three honored ladies, Mmes. Aug Holmstrom, Tillie Jarshaw and Engvald Dahl who had birthdays this month.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blomberg a week ago Sunday were Mrs. Lydia Johnson, Mrs. Gerda Sagmoen and Bartlett all from Thief River Falls.

Russel Nelson left Friday evening for Minneapolis to spend the weekend with his mother, who has been hospitalized. His mother, Mrs. Ida Nelson, is 88 years old.

Luther League

The Rindal Luther League program Sunday evening, May 3 will be given by the New Solum 4H club in observance of 4H Sunday. Serving refreshments will be the Lambert, Saugen, Anderson and Hellquist families.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

A rather new idea in lamb-raising makes for more efficient use of both land and labor for John Hulteen, Clearbrook. He weans his lambs at around two months of age and never puts them on pasture at all; instead, the lambs stay in drylot until they reach market weight. This makes it possible to put the ewes on poorer pasture, helps eliminate the worm problem, and speeds up lamb production. Last year, Hulteen had 39 lambs that averaged 103 pounds at less than 100 days of age. This system has also shown promise in University of Minnesota research.

Crop growth and evaporation account for about the same proportion of soil moisture loss, USDA and University of Minnesota researchers learned last summer at Morris. Moisture loss in soil where corn was growing totaled 10.14 inches between the end of June and harvest time. Where no corn was growing, soil lost 5.10 inches of moisture—most of which was clearly due to evaporation. So the conclusion was that evaporation loss and use by the plant were about equal.

"We've been fighting this gully for years," Roland Flygare, cooperator in the Kandiyohi county soil conservation district, made that statement as finishing touches were put on a permanent concrete block structure to control a gully six feet deep. William Chadwick, SCS area engineer, helped plan the structure, to make sure it met all specifications. Flygare figures that as a result of the dam, the gully problem is now solved.

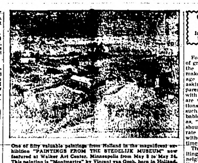
Erosion control isn't the only benefit Harold Dahl, Granite Falls, gets from contour planting. A cooperator in the Chippewa soil conservation district, Dahl told Robert Anderson, SCS conservationist at Montevideo, that contouring corn eliminated the need for tile drainage at the foot of the slope. The contoured rows held the water on the slopes and poorly-drained soil at the bottom was no longer aggravated by surface run-off. Result: higher yields both in lower fields and in those on the slopes.

MINNESOTANS STICK TO LASTS

At 18 Sidney T. Wheeler started to learn the printing trade in the plant of the Stewartville Star; at 62 he's been right there 44 years, and now knows the trade, the plant, and the community pretty thoroughly. . . Gunda Iverson is retiring at Rushford after 48 years of nursing. . . Fifty-one years with the Rock Island, the last 18 in Worthington, have earned for J. J. Chukker a golden life-time transportation pass; he plans to retire soon and start enjoying it. Charles J. Lindblom, Duluth commercial printer, is still at it after almost three score years. . . Four Petersons, father and three sons, have put in 92 years with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. in Red Wing. . . Ranging downward from 40 years, Gaylord's volunteer fire department has a total of 292 years of service in the protection of the community.



One of fifty valuable paintings from Holland in the magnificent exhibition "PAINTINGS FROM THE STEDELIJK MUSEUM" now featured at Walker Art Center, Minneapolis from May 3 to May 24. This painting is "Montmartre" by Vincent van Gogh, born in Holland, who is represented with five masterworks.

HONEST INJUN, LUCKY CRIBBER

Chuck Balster reached Ortonville from Minneapolis with four tires and no billfold. He was surprised and pleased several days later to get the missing billfold from a Minneapolis lady who picked it up on Highway 7 right where he remembered getting out to check a front tire . . . A truly penitent young Indian released from a Crookston jail sentence had hiked a good deal of the way to his Red Lake home when he discovered a spoon in his pocket belonging to the jail; he trudged all the way back, left the spoon, and started his homeward trek again, probably to a more circumspect life . . . In the first cribbage game he ever played, Raymond Duchimeier, Nicollet, drew the perfect "29" cribbage hand that mathematicians say occurs only once in 217,637 games . . . Stimulated no doubt by the popularity of Easter eggs, a Herman Krapf hen near Pipestone labored and brought forth on Palm Sunday an egg 12½ inches around and just about four times normal size.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

The Age of Inquiry

For a child, part of the process of growing up is getting to know the world around him. This makes him curious and by the age of three and four he starts asking so many questions that parents find it hard to keep up with him. Some of his questions are what we adults call "Questions about sex," but to the child such questions as—"Where do babies come from?" are the same as, "Why does it rain?" Parents should try to answer in an accurate but matter-of-fact way, without being emotional or sentimental about them.

Three-year-old Susie went visiting with her mother to their neighbor's house. Seeing their little baby, she decided she wanted a baby brother, too. So she said to her mother, "Where do babies come from?" Her mother replied in a casual way, "They grow inside their mothers." That simple explanation was enough to satisfy Susie. Probably when Susie is a little older, she will ask more quesions and her mother will give her more details.

Sometimes youngsters ask such questions at inopportune times—times when we may have company, or are on a crowded bus, or in a shopping center. At such times, it is good policy to say, "That's a good question, but we will talk about it later." Then, we must remember to answer the question at the earliest opportunity and explain the reason for postponing the answer. The answer should be suited to the child's ability to understand.

Instead of waiting for the child to bring up questions, it is sometimes better to plan to give him whatever information he needs as occasions arise. Some explanations of the body-parts and their functions do much to keep children's attitudes healthy. If they have already been taught the proper names of the parts of the body, it will be easier to explain their functions later on.

Will talking with children about sex bring undue attention to the matter and exaggerate the importance of this human ability? Not if children are used to having their parents spend time telling them about things. Much depends on the way parents have handled earlier questions and how often they have taken time to talk with their children about the many, many interesting things the growing child meets everyday.

Option Taken on New Site of Home for Aged

3½ Acre Tract Lies South of Athletic Field West of Arnold

An option has been taken by the Valley Christian Home Society on three and a half acres of land located in the southwest section of the city. The property, on which it is planned to erect a new home for the elderly, lies north of Highway 32, adjacent to the south side of the Lincoln athletic field, extending westward from Arnold Avenue to the Great Northern railroad tracks.

In his announcement, chairman Waldie Christensen said that several sites had been carefully considered before final action was taken on the Arnold property.

"A great savings will be realized in acquiring the outlying acreage as against the purchase of higher valued property in the downtown area, where the cost of one acre would have been almost five times greater than the entire cost of our present three and a half acres," he pointed out.

Actual size of the new home will be governed to a considerable degree by the total contributions received through the current campaign, and an early meeting with the architect is being arranged by the building committee to give consideration to the most suitable type of building to meet the requirements of our aging citizens.

"We are extremely gratified with the growing response to our campaign," said Christensen. "It shows a real interest for the welfare of our older citizens."

Lions Club Seeks Old Spectacles to Be Sent Overseas

Asks Residents to Turn in Glasses to Drug Stores or Supermarkets by May 15

The sight conservation committee of the Thief River Falls Lions club today issued an appeal for eyeglasses which will be sent to the overseas needy.

Anyone wishing to donate old but useable eyeglasses of any kind is asked to deposit them at any of the Thief River Falls drug stores or supermarkets before Friday, May 15. They may be mailed also to the Lions club.

The spectacles will be turned over to CARE which will process and send them to India where a critical need exists. Almost 80% of the men, women and children of India are reported to have defective vision.

Similar projects have recently been carried out successfully by several othe Lions clubs in the district, and it is hoped that the people of this area will respond quickly and generously to this worthwhile project, said Dr. O. D. Belch, committee chairman.

Blaze Tuesday in Local Ward Store

Firemen Quench Flames Before Damage Results

Fire in a second-floor switch box at the Montgomery Ward store at 8:45 p.m. Tuesday was quickly brought under control with no damage other than to the box and wiring.

According to William Foster, manager of the store, the switch arced when it was turned on earlier in the evening and, although no fire was evident, an electrician was called in to check the equipment.

The switch, when check, arced again but was not considered to be a hazard. Until fire was discovered, the equipment was kept under observation.

Malcolm Magnuson, assistant manager of the store, smelled smoke later in the evening and found the switch box ablaze. Firemen were called and ventilating fans were turned on to rid the floor of smoke.

Using CO2 extinguishers, city firemen were able to put out the fire with little trouble

Historical Society to Elect Officers at '59 Meeting Tuesday

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Pennington County Historical society will be held Tuesday evening, May 12, at 8 o'clock in the court house assembly room, Probate Judge Herman A. Kjos, president, stated today.

He added that the historical museum in the court house, now in process of preparation, will be open to inspection during the evening.

In behalf of St. Hilaire members of the society, Mrs. Arvid Dahlstrom and Mrs. Oscar Gunstad will contribute items of historical interest from that community. Included will be a tattered American flag bearing 38 stars, a wood carving from a pine plank taken from the former Markham Hotel in St. Hilaire, an old geography dating back to 1872, and a copy of the Minneapolis Journal for November 11, 1918, announcing the end of the first world war.

A group of Goodridge school pupils under the direction of Orville Jensen, principal, will present a map of the county showing the names of all original homesteaders.

3 Lincoln Bands in Concert Tonight

The Lincoln junior high band, the Prowler band and the concert band will appear jointly in a concert this evening in the high school auditorium under the baton of John Moum, with David Thorstad serving as assistant conductor. Following separate programs by each band, the three groups comprising 168 young musicians will join in the rendition of the march, "On the Street."

Members of Local Chamber Going to Moorhead Monday

President Sig Quam to Be Leader of Delegation to Regional Workshop

Sig Quam, president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, announced today he is organizing a delegation from here to attend a regional indoctrination workshop for local chamber officers and members which will be held in Moorhead on Monday, May 11, at the Frederick-Martin Hotel.

National Chamber studies show that the demands made upon local chambers of commerce are greater than at any time in the history of chamber of commerce effort. This workshop will discuss the use of organization techniques which help the local chamber meet these demands.

The session will be led by Dwight B. Havens of Washington, D.C., manager of the National Chamber's local chamber of commerce service department, and the nation's outstanding authority on chamber of commerce administration. He is a veteran of 23 years experience in the organized business movement and was formerly manager of the Rochester, Minn., Chamber of Commerce.

Assisting Mr. Havens will be the following National Chamber staff specialists: Jerry Pratt of Minneapolis, manager of the Northwestern division, and Richard Bally of Sioux Falls, S. D., National Chamber district manager for Minnesota and the eastern parts of Nebraska and North and South Dakota.

These men will discuss chamber programming and financing, committee organization, duties and responsibilities of officers and directors, and other related subjects.

Lincoln Editors Named for '59-60

Mary Bishop, Log Editor, Don Wennberg Yearbook

Mary Lee Bishop has been appointed editor of the Lincoln Log, high school newspaper, for the coming school year, and Don Wennberg was named editor of the Prowler yearbook for 1960.

Sandra Jenson will serve as assistant editor of the Log, and Judy Wold will be assistant editor of the Prowler.

Other Lincoln Log staff heads will include Jane Ballingrud, news editor; Judy Unruh, feature editor, and Mark Larson, assistant; Steve Embury, sports editor, and Phil Jorgenson, assistant; Pat Hornseth, business manager; Rita Flom, exchange editor; and Tom Mehlhoff and Bob Brown, photographers.

Staff heads of the Prowler will be announced later.

$1,173 Is Raised in County Cancer Campaign to Date

A total of $1,173.19 had been collected up to Wednesday in the cancer fund drive being conducted in Pennington county, it was announced today. This figure is about $500 short of the quota assigned the county, but scattered returns are continuing to come in from the city and the rural areas. Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes, city chairman, announced that the drive will not close for another week or two.

Creamery at Holt to Be Liquidated, Members Decide

At a meeting held Thursday, April 29, shareholders of the Holt Cooperative Creamery decided by a vote of 73 to 6 to suspend operations. The directors, headed by Walter Steinhauer, president, and two other members were authorized to liquidate the organization and distribute the proceeds of the sale. This committee will determine the closing date.

House, Senate Wrangling on Tax Increases

Governor Declares That He Will Veto Any Sales Tax Bill

"It looks like the income tax payers will have to carry most of the load," says Chairman Donald Wright of the Minnesota state Senate tax committee, seeking ways to balance the state's multihundred million dollar state budget.

His statement came after the group had spent two hours Tuesday discussing, but taking no action on the omnibus tax bill, already passed by the House.

Wright, appearing on television after eight days of the special session, charged that Gov. Freeman and his administration had made no effort to keep state expenses at levels taxpayers can afford.

"We are faced with a very extravagant state administration," Wright said. "The question before you and us is how the additional money can be raised. We will do our best to work out a fair solution to the financial crisis brought about by this money - spending administration."

Referring to the governor's statement Monday that he would veto any sales tax measure, Wright said this limited the lawmakers to further income tax boosts or selective sales taxes, with income tax payers bearing the brunt.

His statements came as the Senate finance committee debated the subject of merit increases for state employees in the next two years, a project that had been turned down by both houses during the regular session.

The group was told that, to continue the automatic system now in use for those increases would cost an added $1,847,960 for the ensuing biennium.

The matter was laid over until Wednesday when Sen. Donald Sinclair, Stephen, said he wanted to work out some kind of percentage plan for the pay boosts.

STOP SIGNS Work began this week on the installation of stop signs at the intersection of Third st. E. and LaBree ave. N. Using a concrete saw to cut through the sidewalk, Bradley Smith, left, and Vincent Dalager started work on laying electrical cables beneath the streets. The installation will probably be completed in about three weeks. Work on signs at the intersection of First st. E. and Main ave. has been completed. Dalager Electrical company of Morris is the contractor.

VFW Post to Hold Annual Poppy Sale Saturday, May 16

Melvin Hoffman, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2793, announced today that the VFW will conduct its annual Buddy Poppy sale in Thief River Falls on Saturday, May 16. Hoffman also stated that Roy A. Jorgenson would serve as campaign chairman for the 1959 sale.

"I can think of no man in our organization who has worked as hard over the years to insure a good sale," Hoffman said, "and I know now that with the chairmanship in his hands, we are assured of success.

"If we are to meet our poppy quota, we will have to get enough salesmen on the street. This is where our friends and neighbors can be of such great assistance. Anyone desiring to help in this worthy cause can do so by contacting Jorgenson. It is not necessary to volunteer for a full day. Even a few hours will be greatly appreciated," Hoffman concluded.

Rodekuhr Elected to Head TRF Legion Post; Honor Old Members

CHAS. W. RODEKUHR

Charles W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor, was named to succeed Ormond Johnson as commander of Ecklund - Holmstrom post of the American Legion in its annual election Tuesday evening. Rodekuhr served with the Army Combat Engineers in the European theatre during World War II and was overseas two years.

Others elected were James Smillie, Clair Larson, Milo Gulbranson and Milan Borsheim, respectively first, second, third and fourth vice commander; Orville Hanson, finance officer; James Cuppett, chaplain; Steve Austin, executive committee; and E. O. Peterson and Alvin Anderson, executive board for two-year terms.

Another feature of the evening, in addition to the election, was the award of continuous membership cards, cap patches and pins to all members who have belonged to the post continuously for 40 years. Those qualifying for the award include:

Council Talks Fire Fighting in Rural Areas

Five Townships Are Asked to Increase Their Contribution

A counter-proposal calling for greater financial contributions toward the purchase of a rural city fire truck by five townships was made by the city council at an adjourned meeting Monday evening.

Under the proposal, the city could contribute 25% of the cost of the truck estimated to cost $18,000, while the townships of Silverton, Smiley, Excel, Agder and Norden would pay 75%.

Under the original agreement, representatives of the townships agreed that each would pay $3,000 toward the truck's purchase, a total of $15,000, while the city would pay the balance plus the cost of equipment. The proposal submitted to the voters of the townships in March and approved was that no more than $3,000 was to be spent by any one township and that the fund was to be raised through assessed valuation of property.

Later, the townships submitted to the council a total of between $11,000 and $12,000 which would be raised through this method with various townships paying different amounts according to the total assessed valuation of property in their township. This would leave between $6,000 and $7,000 which would need to be raised by the city.

At the Monday evening adjourned meeting, council members learned that the old city fire truck, which it was first thought could be traded in as a part of the city's share in the new truck, would have to be retained according to a letter from the board of underwriters. In addition, the purchase of a minimum of $1,000 worth of equipment would be necessary and additional garage space would need to be provided. The council agreed that greater financial participation by the townships would be needed.

In other business, the council approved the request of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association for the use of certain facilities for the 10th annual Dairy Day. The alley between the city Auditorium and Second st. W. between Main and Knight aves. will be blocked off during that day, light poles in the business district will be decorated and the Arena will be used.

Mayor O. D. Belch reported to the council on the progress of the installation of stoplights at the corners of Third st. and LaBree ave. and at Main ave. and First st. and secured the council's permission to order signs to inform the public of the location of city parking lots. The marking of parking spaces on the Fourth st. lot after surfacing was also discussed.

There was considerable discussion on the possibility of street work with Mayor Belch proposing the scarifying and oil treatment of the five blocks of First st. E. from Crocker to highway 59. Alderman A. J. Rau questioned the use of oil before the use of a salt and gravel mix was explored and further investigation will be carried out. The cost of oil per block would be $24, according to one council member, and the expenditure of funds for the salt and gravel mix would be much less, Alderman Rau said.

3 Princess Entrants from Pennington to Be Selected May 15

Pennington county's candidates for the regional Dairy Princess contest, to be decided on Dairy Day, June 9, will be selected at the Share The Fun contest to be held at the municipal Auditorium Friday evening, May 15. Three county candidates will be selected.

Nominations for this contest are now in order. The candidates must be high school seniors or within the age bracket of 17 to 20. They must be residents of Pennington county or the areas of neighboring counties served by the Pennington county extension service; and they must be of a farm family that is active in dairying.

Further information may be obtained at the county extension office in the court house or from the office of the Chamber of Commerce in the Auditorium.

Pennington Board Has Quiet Session

Relatively Few Matters Were Handled Tuesday

Relatively little business was transacted at the regular May session of the Pennington county board of commissioners Tuesday, May 5.

A delegation from Hickory twp. appeared before the board to request that work be done on a one-mile section of road between sections 19 and 20. The board promised to use county equipment and personnel for the work when it became available.

The sum of $25 was set aside for use by the village of Goodridge for the proper observation of Memorial Day, and $250 was made available from the general revenue fund for the county law library.

Joseph Seidel was re-appointed by the board as county highway engineer effective May 1 for a four-year term at a salary of $666.66 a month.

The county engineer reported that two new signs have been installed. One was put at the east end of the stub road which goes east from Highway 32 past the Family Bowl and the other was installed in Polk Centre twp. on the northeast corner of section 13 on county road 51.

FILINGS END TODAY

With four filings to date in the annual school board election, this afternoon is the deadline for aspirants to enter their names.

Humphrey Urges Thief River Funds

U.S. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey this week notified the Times that he had urged the Senate appropriations committee for a favorable report on the allotment to the Corps of Engineers of $15,000 for the projected Thief River watershed survey and $300,000 for the Ruffy Brook flood control project for the fiscal year of 1960.

Ole Hedalens Note 50 Years Of Wedded Life

An open house was held at the Ole Hedalen home Sunday, May 3, from 2 to 5 p.m., to honor Mr. and Mrs. Hedalen on their golden wedding anniversary.

A tiered wedding cake with gold trimming centered the serving table, with Mrs. Palma Strand pouring, and Mrs. Einar Barstad cutting the cake. Acting as hostess was Mrs. George Hedalen of Seattle, Wash., assisted by Mrs. Knute Knutson of Goodridge and Mrs. Norden Nelson.

Rev. Otto Dale spoke at the short program, extending congratulations from their many friends and relatives. Mrs. Hedalen was presented with a corsage and Mr. Hedalen with a boutonniere.

The honored guests have lived in Thief River Falls since 1916, Mr. Hedalen having worked in the round house for 15 years and for the past ten years has served as custodian at Trinity Lutheran church, at which he is still serving part time. They have two children, George of Seattle, Wash., and Selmer of Minneapolis.

Relatives and friends attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. George Hedalen of Seattle, Wash., Selmer Hedalen of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Hegrenes and Lila of Lockhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hegrenes and family of McIntosh, Engebret Tostenson, Nels Tostenson, Mrs. Ed Ingebretson, Mrs. M. Christianson and Mrs. S. H. Robinson, all of Leeds, S. D., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Leiran and Mrs. Knute Knutson of Goodridge and many relatives and friends from the Thief River Falls area.

BOB BREDESON CLEANERS

St. Cloud Host to Women's Clubs State Convention

The sixty-fifth annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs will be held in St. Cloud Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 12, 13 and 14.

The theme for the convention is "All Growth Depends on Activity," with Mrs. O. S. Savig of St. Cloud, serving as general chairman for the convention.

Registration will take place Tuesday, May 12, at 1 p.m. in Hotel St. Cloud to follow up with board meetings throughout the day. Luncheons and meetings of the various committees and delegates will take place during the three days with the banquet to be held in the Wintergarden of Hotel St. Cloud with state president, Mrs. M. L. Malmquist, presiding. The address for the banquet will be given by Dr. Naim Sesein, St. Cloud professor.

The awards for various departments will be given at the 12:30 luncheon Thursday, the 14th.

According to Mrs. C. W. Vorachek, three delegates from the Thief River Falls club are expected to attend the convention.

Mrs. Myrle Mullen Feted At Shower

A bridal shower was given at the Fred Harbott home Saturday evening, May 3 in honor of Mrs. Myrle Mullen.

Following an evening spent in a social manner, Mrs. Mullen was presented with a number of lovely gifts. Lunch was served at the close by the hostess, Mrs. Fred Harbott.

Guests attending were Mrs. Albert Severson, Mrs. C. J. Olson, Mrs. C. Taxeraas, Mrs. Louie Cerny, Mrs. Frank Strang, Mrs. William Lubitz, Mrs. M. R. Leverson, Nina Larson and Augusta Monroe.

Gloria Anderson LuVerne Mathson Wed Saturday

Miss Gloria Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson of Trail, became the bride of LuVerne Mathson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mathson of Oklee, Saturday, May 2, in Trail.

The double ring ceremony took place at 8 p.m. in the Sand Valley Lutheran church at Trail and was officiated by Ralph Chelsen. Miss Judy Berg of Trail was at the organ, playing the nuptial music and accompanying Miss Patty Paulson as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta, featuring a ruffled skirt, tapered sleeves and a high neckline with a Peter Pan collar. Her pearl earrings were a gift of the bridegroom and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white baby carnations.

Her maid of honor, Miss Rosemary Lund of Thief River Falls, was attired in a ballerina length gown of pink lace over taffeta, featuring a strapless bodice and a net stole. The bridesmaid, Miss Audrey Langle of Oklee, wore a blue gown similar to that of the maid of honor with a jacket of lace. They carried bouquets of red roses and white baby carnations.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Darrel Mathson of Milwaukee, Wis., his brother, while Gary Anderson served as groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Anderson chose a dark blue suit with white accessories while the bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy blue suit with white accessories. Their corsages were of red roses and white baby carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 100 relatives and friends. A tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the bridal table. Pouring were two aunts of the bride, while two aunts of the groom were cutting the cake. Hostess for the reception was Mrs. Henry Lund of Trail assisted by the waitresses Gloria Peterson, Kathy Aakness and Linda Handy, all of Trail. Miss Darlene Broen was at the guest book while Miss Nellie Westlake of Thief River Falls was in charge of the gift table.

For "going away" the bride chose a pink cotton sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Mathson will be at home at Milwaukee, Wis., where the bridegroom is employed.

Mrs. Mathson is a graduate of Gonvick high school and has been employed at Parkins Corner Drug in Thief River Falls for the past several months. The bridegroom is a graduate of Oklee high school and is employed at a steel plant in Milwaukee.

Relatives and friends from Oklee, Plummer, Goodridge, Thief River Falls, Milwaukee, Wis., and the surrounding area attended the wedding.

WED 25 YEARS Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Arneson observed their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, May 3, when a number of relatives and friends held a surprise party at their home.

Halvor Arnesons Feted Sunday on Silver Wedding

A surprise anniversary celebration was held at the Halvor Arneson home in this city Sunday, May 3, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Arneson's 25th wedding anniversary.

A four-tiered wedding cake centered the serving table for a dinner served by the self-invited guests. Mrs. Walter Jelle and Mrs. Knute Arneson cut and served the cake, while Mrs. Gordone Jelle poured. A gift was presented by Oliver Howland to the honored guests on behalf of the guests present.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Englund and family, Mrs. Tellef Torgerson and family Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jelle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jelle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jelle and Cindy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jelle and Brenda, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Satre and Gary, Mrs. Helen Newhouse, Leonard and Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. Gullick Byklum, Mr. and Mrs. John Byklum and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Howland and Lynette, and Mr. and Mrs. Knute Arneson, all of Grygla, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Johnson and family and Ole Arneson of Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. Harland Lee Jr., and Laurel, Harvey Woods and Tellef Arneson of Thief River Falls.

Applicants for Social Security Are Given Advice

Manager of Grand Forks Office Tells Public to File Applications Early

One of the goals of the Social Security Administration is to pay benefits as promptly as possible to those persons entitled to payments, Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office stated today.

To do this, Kistler said, it is necessary for the person claiming benefits to make inquiry for payments at his local social security office. A worker should inquire for payments before he retires if he knows he will be retiring on a certain date. This will give the Social Security Administration and the person claiming benefits time to get the information and evidence together to establish his rights to the payment before the time his first check is due.

Generally, evidence will be required to prove the age of the retired person and the age of his wife. This may be a birth certificate or other record of age that is old and reliable. Also, evidence of the worker's earnings in the taxable year that ended before he plans to retire is necessary. This may be a copy of the income tax return for self-employed persons or the W-2 forms for wage earners.

Mr. Kistler again stressed that for prompt payment of your first social security check "inquire before you retire" at your Grand Forks social security office.

Rural Youth Parley Set for Nebraska

Regional Conference Scheduled June 5 to 7

Wahoo, Nebraska, will be the site of the Western Regional Conference for Rural Youth members, June 5-7, announces Home Agent Roberta LeBourveau.

The conference is open to members of Young Men and Women and Rural Youth and other rural young people between 18 and 30 years of age. Eight states are included in the western region: North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Kansas, Missouri and Minnesota.

Under the theme "Review-Preview," the conference will celebrate its 10th anniversary. Keynote speaker will be Governor Ralph Brooks of Nebraska.

The opening assembly is scheduled for Friday afternoon, June 5. Sessions will be devoted to discussions covering such topics as vertical integration, courtship and marriage, recreational training and sports. Regional officers will be elected at the conference.

Assisting in the planning of the conference were two Minnesotans, Anita Sauck, Lake Lillian, first vice president, and Laurette Schell, state 4-H agent, one of three advisors for the western region.

Information on cost of the meeting and registration procedure may be obtained from the Pennington county extension office.

Dozen People Appear in Court Here Monday

An even dozen person appeared in municipal court Monday to face a wide variety of charges against them, resulting in their being fined by Judge H. O. Chommie.

Two persons appeared on charges brought by the highway patrol. Jack D. Anderson, rt. 2, Grygla, pleaded guilty to driving over the center line and was fined $10 plus $4, while Merle L. Lundeen, Trail, was found guilty after trial on a charge of speeding 75 m.p.h. at night, and was fined $15 plus $5 costs.

Ervin N. Olson, rt. 1, was charged by the sheriff's office with driving 85 m.p.h. at night and was fined $25 plus $6.30 costs after pleading guilty.

City police cases dominated Monday's court session. Rose H. Forst, Strathcona, pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way resulting in an accident, and was fined $15, which was suspended.

Leonard D. Skaar, rt. 1, pleaded guilty to following another vehicle too close, which resulted in an accident, and was fined $15 plus $4 costs.

An illegal muffler cost Michael St. Michel, Red Lake Falls, $5 plus $4 costs after he pleaded guilty to the charge, while Charles L. Wessel, city, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Teddy Nesteby, Greenbush, and Cheryl R. Brasseur, Holt, each pleaded guilty to possession of beer by a minor and each $10 fines, while Lyle D. Groslie and David A. Stokke, both of this city, pleaded guilty to possession of beer by minors and each was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Lyle T. Bjorge, rt. 3, pleaded guilty to driving too fast for conditions and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

Two Canadians, Peter R. Chermichan and David P. Fox, both of Winnipeg, forfeited $15 bond for non-appearance on speeding charges.

Louis W. Borchert Succumbs; Rites Set For Friday

Louis W. Borchert, prominent local business man, died Monday, May 4, at the University Hospital in Minneapolis at the age of 59.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon, May 8 at 2 p.m. in the Community Methodist church with Rev. Henry Friedman officiating. Interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery and the body will lie in state at the Green Funeral home until 10 o'clock Friday morning and at the church one hour before time of services.

Louis Walter Borchert was born at Mentor, Minn., April 16, 1900. He attended grade and high school at Mentor and there grew to manhood. On March 6, 1926 he was united in marriage to Ethel Johnson at Moorhead, Minn., after which they lived in Oklee for a short time before moving to Thief River Falls in 1927.

In 1950 Mr. Borchert established the Borchert Trailer Sales at Thief River Falls, and sales offices at Grand Forks and Babbit, Minn. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Elks and Eagles lodges and the United Commercial Travelers.

Surviving are his wife, Ethel, one son, Clinton of Grand Forks, two daughters, Mrs. Lowell Larson of Grand Forks and Devera of Moorhead, his mother, Mrs. L. W. Borchert Sr. of Mentor and two grandchildren; also two brothers William of Moorhead and Julius of Thief River Falls; three sisters, Mrs. Buford Hogan of Lead, S. Dakota, Mrs. Howard Bringgold of Sioux Falls, S. Dak. and Emily Borchert of Washington, D.C.

He was preceded in death by his father and son Dale.

Rev. S. Tallakson, Once Pastor Here, Died Wednesday

The Rev. Selmer L. Tallakson, one-time Thief River Falls pastor, died Wednesday evening at the age of 73 at Hoople, N. D. where he was serving as interim pastor. Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning. Mr. Tallakson served as pastor of Trinity church here from 1925 to 1928, and then went to Fergus Falls where he served 18 years until 1946. He also was a pastor at Roseau from 1909 to 1915.

Final Rites For Frederick Dablow Are Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Frederick Dablow, retired Soo Line locomotive engineer, were held Tuesday, May 5, in the Community Methodist church. Officiating was Rev. Henry Friedman with interment in the Greenwood cemetery. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Frederick Dablow, a resident of Thief River Falls for the past 55 years, died at Northwestern hospital Friday, May 1, at the age of 76. He was born Sept. 2, 1882, at Morris, Minn., where he attended school and grew to manhood.

In 1904 he came to Thief River Falls with his brother John, who homesteaded east of Thief River Falls. On Dec. 26, 1907, he was united in marriage to Lena Wieck at Thief River Falls where they had since made their home.

Mr. Dablow was employed for the Soo Line for 43 years, as a locomotive engineer. He was a member of the Young Pine Lodge of Odd Fellows and also of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Surviving are one daughter, Marie of Eagle Rock, Calif.; four sons, Charles of Thief River Falls, Gordon of LaPorte, Ind., Richard of Fond du Lac, Wis., and John of Cambridge, Minn.; also two brothers, Ed of Morris and Carl of Wahpeton, N. D.; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Buckentine of Minneapolis and Mrs. Grant Erickson of Morris, also eight grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, two sisters and one brother.

Mrs. Asa Kezar Succumbs; Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mable Kezar were held Tuesday, May 5 at 2 p.m. in the First Lutheran church at Middle River. Rev. James Hanson officiated with interment made in the church cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Collins Funeral home.

Mrs. Kezar was born March 4, 1912 in Thief Lake township, Marshall county. She died suddenly at her home in Middle River Friday, May 1 at the age of 47.

She attended school and grew to womanhood at Thief Lake and was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. On May 23, 1932 she was united in marriage to Asa Kezar at Holt, since when they made their home in Middle River.

Surviving are her husband, two daughters; Barbara, Mrs. Junius Otto of Warren and Karen at home; two sons, James and David, both at home; also three sisters, Frances, Mrs. Milton Kezar of Middle River; Anna, Mrs. Harry Hanson of Crookston, and Laura, Mrs. Henry Quick of Danville, Ill.; five brothers, Bennie Anderson of Bay City, Ore., Elmer and Albert Anderson, both of Middle River, Edwin Anderson of Hibbing and Oscar Anderson of Thief River Falls.

She was preceded in death by her parents, two brothers and two sisters.

Infant Johansen Twin Dies in Fargo

Deanna Ruth, one of twins, a son and a daughter, born Friday, April 21 to Mr. and Mrs. James Johansen of 1438-14½ St. S. in Fargo, died Sunday, April 26. The twin brother is named Dean Rodney.

The Johansens have four other children, Kathy, Joy Lois and Paul. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Johansen of Fergus Falls and Rev. and Mrs. G. L. Halmrast of Mentor, formerly of Grygla.

Funeral services were held April 30 at the DeLamere Lutheran church at De Lamere, N. Dakota with Rev. Halmrast officiating.

Kin of County People Seek $15,000,000 from Federal Government

After 14 years, the husband of a former resident of this area is being given the opportunity to present his case before the U.S. Court of Claims which, if won, would result in collecting $15,000,000 from the United States.

The man is Robert Fairbank of Honolulu, Hawaii, the husband of the daughter of Ole Skaar, rt. 1, Thief River Falls.

Back in 1903, a federal law ceded certain lands to the state of California with the provision that if the land was "known mineral land," the federal government would keep title. Fairbank's father bought 156 acres of this land which didn't seem to qualify as "known mineral land." In 1916, the Fairbank family offered rights to the land to the United States but the offer was refused when the government declared the land to be worthless.

Three years later, oil was discovered on the land and the family leased it to the Standard Oil company of California. After years of federal investigating and checking, Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, ruled administratively that the land had been "known mineral land" in 1903 and the holders of the property were kicked off without compensation.

In 1940, the supreme court ruled that Ickes had the authority to make such a decision and refused to review the question of how anyone could have predicted in 1903 that there was oil on the property. Standard Oil and many others dropped the matter at that point and the oil company even paid $7,000,000 to the government in back royalties.

In 1956, Robert Fairbank was able to get a California representative to introduce a resolution which may lead to his family's recovery of $15,000,000. The judiciary committee of the house of representatives recommended the resolution and the bill was passed asking the U.S. court of claims to rule whether the land was in fact "known mineral land" in 1903 and how much, if any, to pay on the Fairbank family $15,000,000 claim.

Hearings started this month on the matter.

Carver Co. Winner Farm Safety Award

Pennington County to Receive Award of Merit

Carver county has been named, for the second year in a row, to receive the Minnesota Safety council's highest award for farm safety activities.

A bronze plaque for 1958 safety work will be presented to the county at the Governor's safety award dinner in St. Paul Tuesday evening, May 19, according to A. V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety council, and Glenn Prickett, extension farm safety specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Awards of merit from the safety council will be presented to Pipestone, Wadena, Pennington, St. Louis, Watonwan, Jackson, Sherburne and Olmsted counties.

The Carver county safety program was headed by Dale Smith, Carver county agent and county safety council secretary. Activities in 1959 involved cooperation among 23 4-H clubs, 31 home project groups and other farm and home groups and commercial organizations.

Railroad Pensions to Be Liberalized

Congress Passes Bill; Awaits President's OK

The U.S. Senate completed congressional action Tuesday on a bill raising railroad retirement benefits 10 per cent.

The measure now goes to the White House for action by President Eisenhower.

In addition to increasing benefits of retired workers the measure calls for an average increase of 20 per cent in unemployment benefits.

Under the bill checks of about 364,000 retired railroad workers would be boosted from an average of $118 to $130 a month. Payments of 133,000 wives of husbands of deceased workers would be raised from an average of $52 to $57 a month.

The increases would be financed by higher payroll taxes on both railroads and workers for the retirement payments — the present tax of 6¼ per cent each would go up immediately to 6¾ per cent and on Jan. 1, 1963, to 7¼ per cent on each.

For the unemployment benefit system, the bill provides taxes against the railroads graduated from 1½ per cent to 3¾ per cent, instead of 1½ to 3 as under present law.

Unemployed workers now get 26 weeks of benefits. Under the bill, those with 10 to 15 years service would get 39, those with more a full 52 weeks.

Another .52 Inch Rain Here Tuesday

Brings Total for First Week of May to 1.02 In.

Another .52 inches of rainfall Tuesday plus the half inch which fell Saturday and Sunday raised the total for May to date to 1.02 inches to soak the parched northwest Minnesota area.

Thursday morning dawned bright and clear and, despite an overnight low of 31, the mercury is expected to rise to near 50.

According to the KTRF weather forecast, the day is expected to be partly cloudy and not so cool as Wednesday. Tonight, the temperature is predicted to be from 32 to 38 and warmer weather is expected tomorrow with partly cloudy skies.

The lowest temperature this week was 30 degrees Tuesday night and the warmest was 77 Sunday.

The coolest spot in the nation this morning was West Yellowstone, Mont., which had a 16-degree reading. The warmest place yesterday was, again, Presidio, Texas, which had a 94.

Over 200 Persons Enjoy Newfolden Concert Sunday

Over 200 people from the Newfolden Community school area turned out Sunday afternoon, May 3, to hear the annual spring concert by the Newfolden high school vocal groups under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Olson.

Large groups performing were the senior choir, senior girls' chorus, junior choir, and the junior girls' chorus. Ensembles were the senior girls' sextet, junior girls' sextet, and the boys quartet. Soloists were sopranos, Karen Carlson, Janice Olson and Sharon Nelson; tenor, Eugene Moen; and bass, Donald Engelsrud.

This was the farewell concert under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Olson who has directed the grade and vocal music in the Newfolden Community school for the past three years.

Elmer Mickelson of TRF Manager of Warren Firm

Olson Implement company of Warren became Massey-Ferguson, Inc., Friday as the Massey-Ferguson company took over the operation and ownership of the farm implement firm founded by Howard Brothers in 1947, says the Warren Sheaf.

Elmer Mickelson of Thief River Falls, district manager for the M-F company, has been named manager of the concern. Mr. Mickelson is married with a boy, 17, and a girl, 10, and he originally comes from Carrington, N.D.

A. W. Hensrud of Kennedy and Karl Turnlund, former salesman, will handle sales for the new firm and Henry Hammerback will continue operating the shop. A parts man and mechanic will be added to the staff.

Arthur and Harry Howard, originators of the business, will spend their time managing their extensive farming interests.

The glasses will be turned over to CARE which will process them and ship them to India. It is estimated that nearly 80% of the population is in need of glasses.

The T. R. Falls Lions are conducting a drive for glasses at the present time. Anyone wishing to contribute useable glasses is asked to deposit them at any Thief River Falls drug store or supermarket.

CATCH THE DOODLER

By F. L. Rowley

GEORGE RANDOLPH stopped talking in the middle of a sentence. He glared at his secretary. "Judy, would you read back that last paragraph?"

Judy gulped. She had only caught the last three words. She looked guiltily up at the big man.

He nodded. "I thought so. Something's troubling you, girl."

Judy laid her shorthand pad upon the desk. "I've got a date for this evening," she said.

"Is that all? Thousands of girls must have dates for tonight—yet I dare say the work moves along."

"I—I'm not sure I want this date—that is, oh, I'm all mixed up," she blurted.

"Now don't start blubbering," he warned hastily. He sank into the big leather chair near her desk. "Tell me about it," he invited.

Judy wiped her eyes. "His name is Bob Steele."

"Jones, Smith, Steele—all the same to me," he said with a shrug.

Judy shook her head. "That's just the trouble; he's simply wonderful!"

"Oh? So what's the problem?"

"I've practically promised to marry him, and he's just a—a cook in the diner across the street."

"So that's it! And when you started working for Randolph and Swanson you expected to do better? I'll bet you thought you'd fall in love with one of the boys attending State University?"

Judy blushed. Mr. Randolph had hit the nail on the head. The offices of Randolph and Swanson were in the very shadow of State University. What better spot for a charming young lady to meet a budding lawyer or doctor?

"Love is a funny thing," Mr. Randolph said kindly, "and it has a strange way of ironing out its own problems. Your Bob Steele may own a chain of restaurants some day. But what's this?" He reached over and picked up Judy's shorthand pad.

"Some of Bob's doodling," said Judy with a shrug. "I bought a new pad on my lunch hour and Bob scribbled all over the back page while we were talking."

"Very interesting," said Mr. Randolph without taking his eyes from the pad. "May I have this sheet, Judy?"

Judy nodded. She watched as he stuffed the sheet into his coat pocket. Then he began to dictate to her again as if nothing had happened.

It was ten minutes before quitting time that afternoon when Mr. Randolph called her into his office.

He was smiling. "Just came from the hamburger stand across the street," he explained.

Judy turned cold. "Oh, you shouldn't—"

"Don't worry. I wouldn't embarass you. Your Bob wasn't there anyway, but I did have a nice chat with the owner."

"Oh?"

He picked up the scrap of paper and held it out to her. "D'you know what this 'doodling' is? These are symbols used by engineers. Bob Steele is a very bright man. This fulcrum he's designing might conceivably work. The Firm of Randolph and Swanson would be happy to take him on when he's finished his schooling."

"Schooling?" Judy sat down.

Mr. Randolph nodded. "He's only working during his lunch hour to help pay his way through State University. I imagine he'll 'surprise' you with the news of his approaching graduation."

Then Mr. Randolph ushered Judy out—quickly. She knew that he couldn't stand to see a woman cry—not even for joy.

TRF WMF Circuit to Meet at Roseau Church Tuesday

Mrs. C. M. Isaacson of This City, Circuit President, Will Preside at Meeting

The spring convention of the Women's Missionary Federation, Thief River Falls circuit, will be held Tuesday, May 12, at the English Lutheran church in Roseau. Pastor of the church is the Rev. Jacob Andreason. The morning session will begin at 10 a.m. and the afternoon session at 1 p.m., with the circuit president, Mrs. C. M. Isaacson of Thief River Falls, presiding.

The convention address by Mrs. J. L. Rendahl of Moorhead, the sermon by the Rev. E. Silrum of Badger, and the group discussion by members of the Grygla WMF will all center around the convention theme, "Hold Fast the Word of Life."

Following the custom of having two WMF presentations at each convention, Mrs. J. McMartin, cradle roll secretary, and Mrs. G. A. Gustafson of St. Hilaire, missions secretary, will report on their respective fields of service.

Special music will be furnished by the Roseau high school chorus and the Cloverettes of Roseau.

The circuit president, Mrs. Isaacson, as well as the second vice president, Mrs. C. L. Williams, and the secretary, Mrs. Stanton R. Dahlen, are members of Trinity WMF of Thief River Falls.

Allot $2 Million for Baudette Job

Air Force Releases Funds, Rep. Odin Langen Reports

Congressman Odin Langen received word Wednesday from headquarters of the United States Air Force that it has released $2,052,000 under its military construction program for the following construction at Baudette Air Force station: Radar tower, electric power plant, electric distribution system and utilities.

Langen is now checking with the Air Force installation regional representative relative to opening dates for bids and other details.

In addition to being important to the standpoint of national defense, this large project will be of great benefit to the economy of northern Minnesota, Langen said.

State Asks Bids on 16 Miles on No. 89 in Marshall Co.

The Minnesota highway department will receive bids May 22 on eight trunk highway construction jobs estimated to cost $1.7 million. The bids will be received at the new State Highway building in St. Paul at 10 a. m. (DST).

These projects include construction of three bridges and the improvement of more than 30 miles of trunk highways located in Hennepin, Marshall, Meeker, Wright, Mower, Pine, St. Louis and Wilkin counties.

One project in Marshall county calls for 16¼ miles of plant-mixed bituminous surfacing on T. H. 89 from its junction with T.H. 219 to the north county line.

Crookston Man Is VFW District Head

Half-pints Appeared in Parade at Fergus Falls

Roy Rowley, life member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post 1902 of Crookston, was elected Ninth district commander for the coming year at the organization's district convention at Fergus Falls, Saturday and Sunday.

Other officers who will serve with Rowley are: Arnold Monsrud of Roseau, senior vice commander; Floyd Hovland of Ada, junior vice commander; Harold Anderson of Thief River Falls, chaplain; Lester Gunneson of Ada, quartermaster; Morris Perna of New York Mills, surgeon; Ray Hanson of Breckenridge, judge advocate; Arthur Bakken of Fergus Falls, club committeeman; Frank Dettinger of Detroit Lakes, three-year trustee; and Ardelle Hagen of Crookston, loyalty day chairman.

The Thief River Falls post was represented by Roy A. Jorgenson, Harold Anderson, Selmer Dimmen, Hjalmer Rafteseth and Ernest Thune. They carried the colors of the local post in the loyalty day parade in which Thief River Falls was also represented by the Bridgeman Half Pints.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

Under a bill proposed by the state House of Representatives Monday, the legislative sessions would be extended from 90 to 120 days.

The sponsor of the bill, Rep. Aubrey Dirlam of Redwood Falls, said that the reason behind the proposal was that 90 days simply aren't enough to take care of the state's business.

From a daily examination of news stories in regard to the antics of the legislature this year, it would seem that even 120 days would be insufficient to take care of state business. While items of major consideration have been pushed aside by those of lesser importance, the "representatives of the people" have accumulated considerable "swivel chair" time slicing the state into impossible time zones to the delight of everyone else in the United States except the people of Minnesota.

With time in the special session fast running out, there is little doubt that we who pay the bills will again be handed a group of hastily-passed and ill-considered decisions. Lawmakers with special obligations to fulfill or with private axes to grind will have a hayday during the closing moments of the session and the "horsetraders" will be able to deliver the goods for special interest groups.

Minnesota is in no position to pay for the results of such a spectacle. Anyone who can see as far as the state of Michigan can see what happens when the income is insufficient to pay the expenses of government. That is why the words of one state representative should have earned him more than a few line Monday.

In contrast to Rep. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul who sponsored a bill calling for a state-operated sports arena for the Twin Cities area, we hear the words of caution of Rep. George French of Minneapolis. French suggested that with the current budget some $83,000,000 short of income, it might be well to think about how money can be raised rather than how it can be spent.

This, of course, earns no legislator any headlines and little more than brief mention. The mundane idea of taking care of first things first has become so "old fashioned" that no politician would propose it. Representative French, whoever he is, will probably lose when and if he ever runs again because he used some sense.

The change which affects most people after they have been elected to the ligislature is well known to most voters. What goes on during the annealing process to which all legislators are apparently subjected when they first go to St. Paul which seems to affect their judgment of both time and values?

Dry Cleaning at Home Held Unsafe

County Home Agent Warns of Dangerous Practice

You may be asking for an accident by dry cleaning winter clothing at home before storing it away this spring, warns Home Agent Roberta LeBoutveau.

Many hazards are connected with the practice of dry cleaning at home. There is no absolutely safe way to dry clean garments at home, and there is no absolutely safe dry cleaning fluid, according to Glenn Prickett, extension safety specialist at the University of Minnesota. Many dry cleaning fluids such as gasoline, benzine and naphtha look harmless but are explosive or volatile. These flammable liquids should never be used indoors or outdoors in home dry cleaning, he says.

If dry cleaning must be done at home, use a non-flammable, non-explosive solvent. However, dry cleaning fluids such as carbon tetrachloride produce vapors which are harmful to breathe. For safety's sake, therefore, any dry cleaning should be done out-of-doors. Hang cleaned garments where the air circulates until the garment is thoroughly dry and most of the odor is gone.

Many persons develop a skin rash after dry cleaning at home. All in all, it is safer, wiser, and usually less expensive to have garments sent to commercial dry cleaners, the University specialist says.

Many homemakers make a practice occasionally of going over their upholstered furniture and their rugs with spot remover or cleaning fluid. If you plan to spot clean, use a non-flammable solvent and be sure to have windows or doors open so the room is well-ventilated, for safety's sake.

Kavanaugh Studio Displays Photos in Show at Fargo

Several photographic prints by Walter Kavanaugh of Kavanaugh Studio were accepted for display during the North Dakota Professional Photographers' association convention May 4 and 5 at the Graver hotel in Fargo.

The convention print exhibit in the hotel lobby was made up of the best of the many entries submitted by members of the association.

Accompanying Kavanaugh to the two-day convention were Mrs. Elnar Scholin, free-lance colorist from Thief River Falls, Ray Wells, retoucher for the studio, Mrs. Wells and Miss Rosalie Fonnest, studio receptionist.

Prints, both colored and black and white, accepted for display at the convention are now on display in the Kavanaugh studio display window on Main ave. N.

$2,000 Boat Rig Taken at Erskine

A 16-foot, canvas-topped Rich Line aluminum boat with a white and gold, electric-starting 35 h.p. motor, believed to be a Johnson, on a red boat trailer, was reported stolen from the B-Z Sales Co. at Erskine last night or early this morning, Polk county Sheriff Carl Knutson reported today.

The stolen marine outfit was valued at approximately $2000, Knutson said, and asked that anyone seeing such a rig should report it to him or to local law enforcement officials.

U. S. Marine Corps Deserter Taken Here Last Sunday

Alertness of Two Area Men Is Credited with Arrest of Penna. Man

A deserter from the Marine corps was apprehended early Sunday morning through the alertness of two area men who noted supicious circumstances concerning a hitch-hiker they picked up about two and a half north of Holt.

The men, Donald Brekke and another whose name was not listed by local police, noticed the 1949 model station wagon belonging to Al Brunelle, city, in the ditch near where the hitch-hiker was "thumbing." After picking up the man and talking to him they decided to search him after their suspicions were aroused.

Following this, they brought the man to the home of Patrolman Donald Myers of the local police force, who is an acquaintance of Brekke's. The local police station was notified sortly after 4 a.m. that Brekke and the other man had brought the deserter to Myers' home.

Meanwhile, Brunelle had laughed off another person's story at the Family Bowl, to the effect he had seen the Family Bowl station wagon at Holt earlier Sunday or late Saturday evening.

However, Brunelle and his wife discovered, upon preparing to go home shortly after 3:30 a.m., the man's story was no laughing matter—their station wagon was missing from the parking lot at the Family Bowl. The theft was reported to police at 3:45, and the patrolmen in the police car started the search about 4 a.m.

Almost immediately afterwards the call came from the Myers residence and Patrolman R. O. Nelson and Bennie Miramontes were dispatched to pick up Brekke's captive, who said he was Robert C. McBride, 25, Bloomsberg, Pa., that he had deserted from the Marine corps not long ago, and that he was also on federal parole for stealing a car in another state.

He told police he had taken the Brunelle vehicle from the Family Bowl parking lot earlier in the night and driven to Holt, but was forced to abandon it when he ran it into the ditch along highways 32-59.

Police Chief Elton Cummings praised Brekke and his companion, whose home addresses were not given, for their alertness in apprehending McBride. He said their efforts cleared up what would have been a very difficult case had McBride not been caught. Both men are employed near Baudette and were enroute home when they captured the deserter and car thief, Cummings said.

McBride is being held here, pending further investigation.

Local Lions Hosts at Zone Gathering Wednesday Night

Ninety Lions and Ladies Attend Social Gathering in the Elks Club Rooms

Ninety Lions and ladies representing six area clubs shared in an enjoyable zone social evening in the Elks club rooms Wednesday night. Clubs represented were Warren, Hallock, Roseau, Karlstad, Newfolden and Thief River Falls.

President John Peterson presented James Parkins, deputy district governor, who conducted the program. The principal speaker was Ben Jansen of Hallock, international Lions counselor. Also speaking briefly was Carl Olson of Karlstad, zone chairman.

Four vocal numbers were rendered by a girls' quartet made up of student nurses serving temporarily at Northwestern Hospital.

Local Girl Scouts served as waitresses at the dinner which preceded the meeting.

Confirmation Set at St. John's Sunday

Dedication of New Cross to Be Held after Service

Confirmation services will be held in St. John's Lutheran church Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Members of the class are Elaine Arlt, Kay Becker, Laureen Benke, Kathleen Hartje, Rheta Helgenset, Wanda St. Martin, Judy Timm, Judith Weigel, Donald Bjerke, Arnold Geske, Wayne Helgenset, Myles Koop, Donald Laufman and Adolph Meyer.

The class will be vested in the traditional white. Sound amplification will be used in the catechism review and for the confirmation vows. At 11:45, immediately after the confirmation service, the stately 50-ft. steel cross recently erected at the main entrance of the church, will be dedicated.

Members of St. John's Building committee, representatives of the Men's club who sponsored the cross as their special project, and the confirmation class, will participate in the dedication rite, together with the pastor. Standing at the foot of the cross, the class will sing "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." The new St. John's church was dedicated in June of 1958. This is the second children's class to be confirmed in the church.

RR Valley Medical Society Met Here

Minneapolis Doctor Was Guest Speaker Tuesday

Thirty physicians and their ladies assembled in the Elks club rooms Tuesday evening for the annual spring dinner meeting of the Red River Valley Medical society.

Dr. H. D. Clapp of Crookston, president, was in charge of the program, which included a paper on "Cholesterol Metabolism," by Dr. Rolf Andreassen of Minneapolis, cardiologist at General Hospital.

Members of the society's auxiliary unit met following the dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Martin.

Prowlers' A. Hjelle Allows Warren 1 Hit

Prowler righthander Arlan Hjelle was within one strike and one out of hurling a seven-inning no-hit and no-run game against the Warren Ponies in a district conference baseball game played at Warren on Monday night. With the Prowlers leading by a 7 to 0 score entering the last half of the 7th inning, Hjelle, who flashed a fine fast ball and a deceptive curve, walked Warren's Tom Howard. The next two batters, Arnold and Dougherty, were Hjelle's eleventh and twelfth strikeouts; but Dave Mauch, a pinch-batter, swinging righthanded, had a count of two strikes and one ball when connected for a solid smash into right field, and when the ball squirted past the Prowler right fielder, Mauch sprinted around to third base for a triple and Howard tallied Warren's lone run. Jerry Cook whiffed to end the game.

After a pair of scoreless innings, the locals notched four runs in the 3rd frame. Harley Drees gained first base on Bob Bossman's high throw, and then stole second; Jerry Jorgenson beat out a bunt; and Eddie Lietzow walked to fill the bases. Paul Saurdiff grounded to shortstop, and when Duane Yeado made a quick and low throw to second, and all hands were safe, with Drees and Jorgenson scoring. Hjelle then banged a single into center field, scoring Lietzow and Saurdiff.

In the 4th, walks to Drees and Jorgenson, by righthander Yeado who had replaced Howard on the mound for Warren in the 3rd inning, and Lietzow's groundout to first, put Prowler runners on second and third. Saurdiff singled to left field, scoring the two runners, boosting the Prowler lead to 6 to 0. Hjelle was safe on an error, Gary Anderson walked to fill the bases, and Weckwerth's ground ball to shortstop, forcing Anderson at second, scored Saurdiff with the Prowlers' final tally.

The Prowlers will meet the Oslo team in a conference game on the Fair Grounds diamond on Thusday evening, with game time at 6:00 P.M. On Friday night, the Prowlers will play the Fertile Falcons at Fertile in a night game; and on Monday night, on the Fair Grounds diamond, the locals will play a return game with the Warren Ponies, game time for the Friday and Saturday night games is at 8:00 P. M.

Alley Cats Win in Thursday League

Bowling Team Piles up 25 Wins and 11 Losses

The Thursday evening "mixed" league ended its bowling schedule last Thursday. The Alley Cats won first place with a record of twenty-five wins and eleven losses. Members of the winning team are Mary Washnesky, Teen Berg, Marv Washnesky and John (Snort) Langseth.

The Pin-knockers, with a mark of twenty-four wins and twelve losses, were the runners-up, trailing by one game. Team members were Shirley Lee, Purnell Tunheim, DuWayne Bakke and Dale Magner.

The Beetles — Jan Buen, Bess Lang, Millard Peterson, and Fred Jensen — were the third place winners, posting a mark of twenty-three wins and thirteen losses.

There were ten teams participating in the league competition.

Stock Car Racing to Resume Sunday on TRF Speedway

First 200 Mothers at Track to Receive Roses, Chuck Meister States

The third year of stock car racing will get under way next Sunday at the Thief River Speedway, Chuck Meister, president of the Northwest Racing association announced today.

A good season is in prospect with a substantial increase in cars and drivers over previous years, Meister said. Time trials for Sunday's event will get under way at 2 p.m. with racing events set to start at 2:30.

In observance of Mothers' Day the first 200 mothers at the track will be given roses, Meister stated. Due to favorable weather conditions the past week a very fast track is expected to favor the Sunday grand re-opening of the speedway.

For those whose appetites were not sated at their usual Sunday dinner the concession stand is open for business.

Newfolden Nine Wins Fifth in Row

Defeats Middle River 11-1 in No-Hit Contest

The Newfolden Nordles ran their consecutive victory string to five games behind the no-hit pitching of Dennis Bakke at Middle River on Monday, May 4, as they took the measure of the Skippers, 11 to 1. John Haglund, portsider, won game number four on Thursday, April 30, as he spun a nifty three-hitter to defeat the visiting Argyle Eagles, 10 to 0. This leaves the Norlies with a season record of 5-1, having dropped the opener to Strandquist, 4 to 3. The Nordlies travel to Strandquist on Thursday, May 7, for a return game.

Bakke's no-hitter was kept from being a shut-out in the sixth inning when Gullikson gained first base on an error by Ueland, stole second base, gained third base on a fielder's choice and came home on a passed ball. Bakke struck out 10 Skippers and walked 8. The Nordlies picked up 9 hits, including 3 for 4 by Bakke.

The Nordlies backed up Haglund's three-hit pitching against Argyle with 11 hits to gain an easy 10 to 0 shutout. Haglund gave up 5 walks, 2 in succession, to start the third inning, but fine defensive play by the Nordlies shut the door on the Eagles. This was Haglund's third win of the season against no losses.

Conflicting Reports

The city's trout fishermen have been filing conflicting reports on their results in the opening weekend of the Minnesota trout fishing season. Leo Pahlen reported in with a limit catch of trout, none of trophy size though, taken out of the Mud river north of Bemidji. He stated that the trout were very active.

Al Bacon and Chuck Davis came home with a string of 15 trout, and they fished the Kabekona creek south of Bemidji. Bill Ranta, who is perhaps the city's most avid trout fisherman, fished in the vicinity of Walker, but his luck was only fair. Bill has a fondness for lake fishing when angling for rainbows and brooks, but this season his favorite lake did not produce. He provided the information that a number of lakes, which had been stocked by the game and fish department, were "frozen out" during this past winter.

Jack Houfek and George Carlson were out "trouting" on Sunday, too, fishing several streams north of Bemidji, O'Brien being one, but they managed to catch only a short string of six trout. Jack maintains that the trout are plentiful, but that we need some warm weather, and rain, to bring a rise in the trout fishing. And, too, according to Jack, the suckers are still spawning, and until the sucker run has subsided, the trout fishing will be below par, for the trout are sucker-spawn feeders.

A couple of Ontario-bound trout fishing parties, for brook trout, that is, are being organized. Leo Pahlen and Red Lake Falls' Howie Johnston are completing plans for a June trip to the Nipigon river. And late in May, Dr. Jim Disse and Bill Ranta intend to fish the famed White river.

Couldn't Be Closer

With the exception of the Northwest Beverage team's three-and-a-half game lead in the Commercial league, the league championships, with but a couple of weeks of bowling remaining, are still in doubt.

As of last week, the closest race was that in the American league, with the Union State Bank holding a scant one-half game lead over the second place Rotary club team. Undoubtedly the two teams will battle down to the final week, with the title "up for grabs." We'll make a modest wager on the Rotarians, because of their experience, to win the championship. On this Rotary club squad are such bowlers as Roy Oen, Ed Hamerski, Stan Dahlen, Andy Williams, Red Benson, Bart Wagenstein, George Mostue, and Jub Prichard. That's a bona fide championship roster.

Against the Rotary, the Union State Bank club will send such untested "youngsters" as John McGinley, Bob Baker, Red Kortuem, Bill Watzke, Ken Onken, Maynard Scilley, Jim Womack, and Bob Flynn.

As we said, our wager on the Rotary is very modest.

Meet Re-Scheduled

The five-team Northwest conference track meet which was to have been held here on Tuesday afternoon was postponed because of rain and threatening weather. The meet has been re-slated for Tuesday, May 12.

Boyer's Golfers

Coach Jack Boyer's Prowler golfers won their second meet of the season on Tuesday afternoon, when, by a 10 to 8 margin, they defeated the Bemidji Lumberjacks on the local course. The match was arranged on a point system, with six golfers to a squad. The Prowlers' Ronnie Solheim, with a 44-40 for an 84, posted the low score. Bemidji's Bob Kennedy, with a 46-42, for an 88, was the runner-up. Other Prowler squad member's scores were Bob Brown, 93; Mark Chommie, 98; Bob Pearson, 99; Phil Jorgenson, 105; and Steve Embury, 109.

The Prowlers will play a return match against the Lumberjacks at Bemidji on Friday.

Northern Minny League Opens

The Northern Minny league, a seven-team circuit this season, will begin play on the 1959 schedule on Sunday, May 10. The games on Sunday's schedule, afternoon tilts, will find Bagley playing at Cass Lake, and Erskine meeting Eldred at Eldred. Eldred is a newcomer to Northern Minny league play, but it is expected that the team will be a strong contender for the title as the club will draw heavily on Crookston's supply of baseball players.

The Thief River Falls Thieves won't be moving into league play until Sunday, May 24, when, in a night game, they meet the Bagley Merchants on the Fair Grounds diamond. Manager John Drury hopes to arrange a pair of exhibition tilts for the locals before the club enters into league competition.

May Declared Safety Month by Governor

May was declared "Safety Month" by Governor Orville L. Freeman after considering the number of traffic safety emphasis programs scheduled for that period.

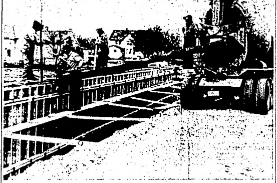
"Minnesota will join in with the other states where motor vehicle inspection is not compulsory," the Gevornor said, "and devote May to vehicle safety lanes in our communities. It has been reported to me by Donovan Clough, St. Cloud, state chairman of this voluntary program, that safety check lanes will be conducted in at least 30 cities of the state.

"This is a good program and I urge everyone to take advantage of a local inspection. Last year, one out of four of nearly 25,000 cars were found to be mechanically deficient in voluntary safety checks. May is a good month for this inspection, so that you can be sure your car is in good shape for summer driving."

May is "Bicycle Safety Month" also. Bicycle dealers and various service organizations are joining together in developing safety clinics and programs for bicycle riders. An outstanding one will be held in Duluth where the PTA and the police department will be conducting bicycle safety programs and inspection clinics in 40 elementary schools in the Duluth area.

"Bicycle safety is as important as, if not more important than, any of our safety programs," Governor Freeman said. "These youngsters are the motorists of the next generation, if they live to become driving age. The lessons they learn will make them better drivers later. Last year there were 444 traffic accidents involving bicycles, in which seven persons were killed and 416 injured. Make this month, and every month, bicycle safety month to insure long lives for our children."

At the end of May, the American Legion, department of Minnesota, has designated the eve of Memorial Day as "Legion Safety Day." Uniformed war veterans will be out at controlled intersections providing safety tips and emergency telephone numbers for motorists. This is the second year of the Legion program; last July 3, over 700 men and women took part in the statewide activity.



WAREHOUSE With footings already in, workmen started pouring cement for the foundations of the new 208 x 322-foot warehouse addition for L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc., between State and Arnold aves. S. A 50 x 100-foot garage and repair shop will also be constructed adjoining the northwest side of the addition on State ave. The land for the addition has been cleared and three houses on the property have either been moved or razed.

Chicken Best Buy for Month of May

'U' M. Marketing Agent Asks Public to Eat More

Buy of the month for the main dish at the family dinner table is broiling-frying chicken.

Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota, reports that broiler-fryers are due to be so abundant in May and so reasonable in price that they head the U.S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for the month.

Consumers will want to take advantage of the tenderness of these young chickens by choosing a variety of ways to cook them. They may be barbecued over the backyard grill, broiled, fried or baked. One of the easiest methods, Mrs. Loomis says, is to bake them in a hot oven. Brush each piece lightly with oil or soft fat, season with salt and pepper and place pieces skin side down on a rack in a shallow pan and bake at 400 degrees (F). After 30 minutes turn pieces and baste with pan drippings. The chicken should be done in about an hour.

Another plentiful protein food will be turkey in family sizes, 16 pounds and under. Pork will be another good meat buy all month, since farmers will continue to send large numbers of hogs to market during May. Along with the big pork supplies will be more lard for pastries and other baking.

An abundance of milk and dairy products is expected this month because milk production will be approaching its peak.

Grocers to Meet in Minneapolis

Food Retailers to Open Convention Next Sunday

About 750 grocers in Minnesota will meet Sunday, May 10, at the Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis, at the convention of the Minnesota Food Retailers.

Grocers attending will represent all sections of the state, and all sizes of grocery stores—from the husband-and-wife operations in the corner store, to the great super-market chains and independents, according to Clarence J. Schiller, St Paul, president.

Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. they will hear a talk by Edward C. Hampe, Chicago management engineer, on efficient management of a grocery store, arrangement for traffic potential, and handling and check-out procedures.

Monday afternoon there will be a panel on non-food items, including soft goods, housewares, health and beauty aids and appliances.

Monday night banquet speaker will be Howard Viken of WCCO, and entertainment by the Minneapolis Honeywell chorus.

2nd LT. RODGER ELOFSON TAKES SPECIAL COURSE

Marine 2nd Lt. Rodger H. Elofson, son of Mrs. Alma Elofson of Thief River Falls, and husband of the former Miss Alice Streblg of Grand Forks, N. D., graduated April 11 from the communication officers orientation course at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia.

During the course, students are familiarized with the duties of an infantry battalion communications officer prior to being assigned to units of the Fleet Marine Force.

"I would rather lose in a cause that some day will triumph than to triumph in a cause that I know some day will fail."
—Woodrow Wilson

Castro's Ambition

Fidel Castro, Cuba's new strong man, evidently has ambitions that extend far beyond the limits of his present island empire. His speeches in our country were friendly and reassuring. He was an admirer of Thomas Jefferson. He was opposed to Communism or any other form of dictatorship. He was a friend of America and what he wanted mainly was trade and tourists.

Reports from the Caribbean and South American countries suggest that the Castro who visited there was quite a different type of fellow. Down there he was more the rabble-rousing revolutionary. He got a big hand for his declaration of independence from the United States. But he also declared that our country must adopt another Marshall plan of aid for Latin American countries, where, as one American reporter states, "He is the very symbol of anti-Americanism." In those areas it is taken for granted that he "is headed far to the left in economics and politics."

As time goes on, the bearded Castro probably is going to become more and more a factor in the politics of the Caribbean and South American countries. It is significant that Communists in those countries are Castro cheer leaders, indicating that whether or not he is one of them, he is, for the time being, serving their purposes.

Castro could develop into one of our top-level problems. Cuba may become too small for him.

Crisis in Education

Dr. Benjamin Fine, for many years education editor of the New York Times, calls attention to an interesting problem in college administration. "American education is in danger of losing its leadership," he says. "The college president has become a combination fund-raiser and business manager." Dr. Fine then names some of the college presidents who recently have retired from the administrative level to devote more time to "teaching, writing and research." He says:

> "So we find colleges seeking businessmen, big-name community leaders or retired executives to head their faculties — on the assumption, no doubt, that a man with proven business ability can successfully operate the big business of present-day universities."

We can see no cause for alarm in this development. On the contrary, there is much to be said in favor of dividing the operating and academic responsibilities of school management at all levels. It is difficult to find a man who is well qualified to direct the problems of both administration and instruction. And, from our observation the crying need of education today is better management and greater efficiency.

Much progress has been made in solving a similar problem in hospital management, but efforts to relieve doctors of the responsibilities of business management of our public institutions is still resisted by the medical profession. Most of the objection to the separation of responsibilities for operation and instruction in our schools probably would come from our educators.

A Common Level

Increased competition in foreign markets, and here at home by foreign imports, are bringing increased pressure on Congress for more drastic import curbs. Under the pressure of politics they will come gradually. Their coming will be the beginning of the end of our country as the world's greatest industrial nation.

We cannot maintain our position of industrial leadership without world trade. As we create barriers to world trade we will isolate ourselves from the commerce that is essential to our survival. As we raise barriers to the imports from other countries, other countries will refuse to buy our products.

The only way we can maintain our position of leadership as an industrial nation is to remain competitive. For some time now we have enjoyed the benefits of low production costs, achieved by mass production methods. Our machines have given us a big advantage over the hand labor of the rest of the world.

Now we no longer have the advantage of low production costs. Several countries are producing at lower costs and selling for less. In order to meet that competition in the world markets American industry has established production units in countries where production costs are lower than here. American capital is meeting world competition realistically. American labor has an unemployment problem that probably will become increasingly difficult.

The answer to the importation of barb wire from Germany is not an import duty that will keep that German-made wire out. The right answer is the production of barb wire in our own country at a price foreign producers cannot meet, taking into consideration transportation costs.

It should be clear to all that we are pricing ourselves out of world markets, and the increased volume of foreign-made goods now available here must be recognized as proof of the fact that in some fields we are pricing ourselves out of our own market.

What is the answer? Maybe profit margins are too great. Maybe management costs are too high. Maybe wages have been increased too much in relation to productivity. One thing certain is the inevitable leveling off of world living standards. Gradually the spread between the American standard of living and the world standard are going to approach a common level just as sure as water seeks its own level.

In the process of change most of the adjustments will be gradual. Some of them will be abrupt. And for us, some of them probably will be unpleasant.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Hi, Sweetheart," said the smart aleck to the waitress as he entered the restaurant. "Where have you been all my life?"

The blonde sized him up coldly for a moment, then replied crisply, "Out of it, thank goodness!"

A visitor to Arizona, talking to a sun-browned native, commented on the lack of rain. "Doesn't it ever rain here?" the tourist asked.

The native thought for a moment and said, "Mister, do you remember the story of Noah and the Ark, and how it rained 40 days and 40 nights?"

"Sure I do," said the tourist.

"Well," drawled the native, "we got a quarter of an inch that time."

Your Office in Washington

by Congressman
ODIN LANGEN

Four pieces of legislation highlighted the activity on Capitol Hill this week. The Kennedy-Ervin labor bill, as amended, reached the House side on Monday after its passage in the Senate. Many House members have already attacked the bill as "soft;" correcting symptoms, but not causes; and requiring only reporting when it should be requiring reform. So, a long, hard-fought battle is probably forthcoming.

The House of Representatives took action on three bills during the week. It passed a bill increasing benefits to retired railroad workers; passed a three billion-plus appropriation bill for running the Department of Health, Education and Welfare during fiscal 1960; and sustained the President's veto of a bill which would have given final authority on REA loans to the Administrator of REA rather than the Secretary of Agriculture.

The Space Age

Recently, members of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics were treated to something similar to a "flying saucer" ride. In hearings on transport vehicles of the future, these members hovered and moved on a flying platform which keeps itself aloft and moving by pushing compressed air down against the ground surface a short distance below it. According to testimony, this and many other such vehicles will be ready in the not-too-distant future to transport passengers and cargo at very fast speeds, skimming along just above the ground surface.

Another Mr. and Mrs. Langen

During the past week, it has been a real pleasure and joy for us to have my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Langen, out here. After some thorough sight-seeing as a group over the weekend, Dad has spent a great deal of time this week attending sessions on the Hill, while Mother and Lillian have attended a luncheon for Mrs. Nixon and a breakfast for Mrs. Eisenhower, among other things.

Mothers' Day

This coming Sunday is Mothers' Day, a day we set aside each year to recognize the many and great contributions of every family's "First Lady." On May 18, 1918, a joint resolution of Congress became law, setting aside the second Sunday in May each year for this purpose. Each year, also, a presidential proclamation of the event is made.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

from the Desk of SENATOR
HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

The Labor-Management reform bill — On April 25, the Senate passed by a vote of 90 to 1 the Kennedy-Ervin labor-management reform bill. I was proud to be one of the original sponsors of this measure. The overwhelming vote of approval indicates that it is a strong, workable, fair and effective reform measure.

Few bills have ever received as long and careful consideration. As passed by the Senate, it will eradicate abuses which have come to light in the labor-management field without jeopardizing legitimate activities of the American labor movement.

It is worth noting that opposition to the Kennedy-Ervin bill has come largely from corrupt unions which have been expelled from the AFL-CIO and from those who seem more interested in destroying the labor movement than in promoting reform.

I am hopeful that this bill will pass the House. The need for such legislation is too well documented to permit its defeat. I know that there are some who disagree with certain features of the bill and those who feel it does not go far enough. The important thing to keep in mind, however, is that this bill represents a long stride forward.

As the noted columnist Walter Lippmann says: "It would be a great pity if in an excess of zeal and of righteousness this very promising bill were lost."

Basic Provision of Bill, 1.1555

Reporting — Unions must file with Secretary of Labor and make public detailed reporting of financial and administrative data. Safeguards are provided against misuse of union funds. Union officers must report possible financial conflict of interests. Employers are required to report expenditures to "middlemen," "labor spies" and on loans to a union or union officers.

Elections—National union officers are limited to 5-year terms, local officers to 3. Honest elections, including secret ballot, are insured.

Rights of Members—The right of members to free speech, assembly, nomination of officers, and due process in disciplinary actions is guaranteed.

Picketing — Blackmail picketing is prohibited; also picketing within 9 months after a union has lost an election.

Hot Cargo — The hot cargo contracts in the trucking industry are outlawed.

Taft - Hartley Amendments — Building Trades unions are permitted to sign "pre-hire" contracts; strikers are made eligible to vote in de-certification elections, representation elections may be held without NLRB hearings.

Penalties — Criminal penalties are provided for embezzlement of union funds, false reporting, false entries, extortion picketing, violation of trusteeships, and illicit payments to "middlemen," employees and union officials.

Enforcement Powers—The Secretary of Labor is given adequate authority to compel compliance with the Act's provisions.

MORE MONEY THAN FORT KNOX...AT INSURED SAVINGS AND LOANS

The United States has a gold reserve of $20.4 billion—the bulk of it located at Fort Knox. It's the backbone of the U. S. currency system.

Yet the reservoir of savings at the 3,900 FSLIC-Insured Savings and Loan Associations like ours is more than double the amount of U. S. gold at Fort Knox.

These associations, now located in every state, have promoted thrift and home ownership for 128 years.

Locally owned and managed, Insured Savings and Loan Associations like ours boast a phenomenal record of growth. Within the past 10 years, savings at these Associations have increased four-hundred per cent. Americans on the average put in $54 million and withdraw $35 million every day.

Keeping money on the move, home loan experts at Insured Associations invest savings principally in first mortgage home loans—sound investments which earn good returns. Last year alone more than $1.4 billion in earnings were paid to savers by these institutions.

Here your money works hard to earn more money. Savings are well-protected by substantial reserves and sound management. In addition, accounts are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Clearly, here's a safe, profitable way to invest trust, pension, endowment, corporate and personal funds. Why not talk to us now?

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

The Wise Choice of Toys

On Johnny's fourth birthday, his father bought him an expensive electric train set. For a few days this held Johnny's interest and he loved to sit and watch the train go. But then, he lost interest and went back to his blocks and tools. After all, he could only sit and watch it go. As often happens, father enjoyed it far more than four year old Johnny.

Often an adult is attracted by playthings which are only of limited interest to the child. To be of value, toys must be durable and adaptable. Children enjoy for years their sandboxes, blocks, balls, tools, wagons, dolls, dolls' furniture and other toys out of which they can make something or with which they can do something different; but it does not take them long to get tired of the toys they only watch. Unfortunately, most mechanical (wind-up) toys are of this latter type.

Various things need to be considered when choosing toys for a particular child. We need to consider the youngster's interest and ability; his age and his needs. Other questions we need to ask are: (1) Will it stimulate self-activity? (2) Is it durable, safe and sanitary? (3) Is it of simple construction? (4) Is it artistic? (5) Can it be used in various ways? A good example of such a toy is blocks. They will serve a child for a long period of time as a good basis for his medium of expression. The blocks can become a train for him to ride on, a garage for his car, and innumerable other things.

Incidentally, it is not always necessary to buy expensive toys. Mary may be more interested in a dozen clothes-pins and a few pieces of cloth to wrap around them than in an expensive doll. Little children are interested in making, building, and doing things, rather than in watching. Wise choice of toys will encourage this.

We can save many "every-day" things which can be made into interesting play material. The child can often help to make others. He could soak labels off cans, fill a rattle wih rocks and do other odd jobs. Oatmeal boxes can be made into pull-toys, etc., toilet-paper tubes into rattles, blowers, etc. Packing boxes can be put out in the backyard — cut windows and doors and it will become a play-house, giving endless pleasure to children. Orange crates can be made into stoves, with coffee can lids for burners and spools for knobs. These are things that never cease to interest children.

Strandquist . .

Mrs. Ed Stenman, Strandquist

Mr. Denbrook and Mr. Wagner, architects of the firm Wells and Denbrook of Grand Forks met with the local school board last Thursday evening, April 30, for the purpose of getting the board's final approval of the plans.

Mr. Debrook stated that his firm will put on extra force in order to prepare the blue prints as quickly as possible so that advertising for construction contractors can get underway. In order to comply with state specifications the plans have been changed in order to add approximately 1000 sq. feet of space. This was acquired by taking the industrial arts room out of the west wing of the original plans and moving it to the east side of the gymnasium thereby making use of the whole east wall of the gym for one side of the ind. art room. According to the architect's estimate these changes will increase the cost of construction very little, if any.

All elementary teachers and four of the high school teachers have been rehired for the 1959-60 school year. Earl Waterworth, ind. arts teacher, and Ardis Willander, English teacher, have resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Fields and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark of Stephen called on Mrs. Lee Kimbrough Saturday after they had attended the funeral of Mrs. Annie Bjorkman.

Mrs. Lee Kimbrough accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kimbrough up to their cabin at Lake Bronson Sunday. Canadians were already there on a picnic!

Feted on 88th Birthday

Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson and Fern, Mr. and Mrs. Yngve Berggren and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gotfred Berggren and Betty Lou, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Lindstrom of Argyle, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Aune and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Aune and Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Larson and family all of Newfolden, Holger Haugard, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hansen and Mrs. Hilma Lofstrom, Mrs. Louis Larson and Janice gathered at the Bennie Berggren home Sunday afternoon to help his mother, Mrs. Ingrid Berggren, celebrate her 88th birthday. Mrs. Berggren does all the housework and cooking and is surely mentally alert. We all enjoy her wit and hope she'll have more happy birthdays.

Open House on 85th Birthday

Another birthday was celebrated when the family of Ole Thompson held open house for him at the Edwin Lefrooth home Sunday afternoon. Between 85 and 100 relatives, neighbors and friends' gathered to help him celebrate his 85th birthday. Eight of their children and families were present but Myrtle and Red who reside in Montana were unable to come home. Mr. Thompson is hard of hearing but otherwise bears his age well and we join in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Feted at Pink and Blue Shower

A pink and blue shower was held in the Bethesda Lutheran church Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Harlan Henrickson. The program began with a hymn by the audience, devotion by Mrs. Ingvold Rokke, a vocal duet by Mrs. Daryl Haugen and Mrs. Philip Boen. Mrs. Wally Larson and Mrs. C. Lindgren each gave a reading and a vocal solo was given by Mrs. Philip Boen. Mrs. Henrickson was presented with a baby rattle corsage and was recipient of many lovely gifts after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Daryl Haugen, Mrs. Philip Boen, Mrs. Paul Flaten and Mrs. Ingvold Rokke.

The funeral for Mrs. Annie Bjorkman was held Saturday afternoon in the Bethesda Lutheran church with Rev. C. Lindgren and Rev. Revenas officiating. Mrs. Douglas Thun organist. A duet was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Lefrooth and sols by Gilbert Olstad. Martin Anderson, Martin Peterson, Ingvald Rokke, Edward Carlson, Wm. Wikstrom and Ted Kimbrough served as pall bearers. Annie Mathilda Lindberg was born in Sundsvall Angermaanland, Sweden Aug. 8, 1868. She came to America in 1892 and was married to John Peterson in 1899. Mr. Peterson died in 1912. She married Albert Bjorkman in 1913. They moved to Strandquist in 1916. Two foster children were taken into their home, Mrs. Christine Pherson of Everett, Wash. and Leonard Bjorkman of South St. Paul. Albert Bjorkman passed away in 1947. Mrs. Bjorkman passed away at Warren, Minn. on April 29 at the age of 90 years, 8 months and 21 days. She leaves to mourn her departure her foster children, a niece, Mrs. Anatwick of Minneapolis, a sister-in-law, Mrs. Martin Peterson, a brother-in-law, Mr. Erhard Bjorkman, 4 grandchildren, 9 great grandchildren and 3 great great grandchildren.

For an outboard motor to operate most efficiently, the Outboard Boating Club of America recommends a check to be certain the motor is in the exact center of the transom and the drive shaft is vertical to the water while running. If the motor is tilted forward, the stern will be squat; if it is tilted backward, the bow will dig in.

Wider Roads
for the cost of narrow ones
Now, no community has to build dangerous narrow roads! Safer, wider Asphalt roads cost no more than narrow roads, made of other heavy-duty surfaces.
And the well-built Asphalt road is designed for safety. No other type of road gives you better traction . . . or has lane markings that are so clear, so easy to see, night or day.
The Asphalt road's surface is glare-resistant. And it's seamless for smooth riding without that thump, thump, thump from expansion joints.
No other road offers the taxpayer so much: in safety, in driving comfort, in miles of road per tax dollar. Isn't this the road you want for new construction?

Boat Safety Law Will Be Effective July 1

With the enactment and signing of the Boat Safety Bill, the first official action of George A. Selke, conservation commissioner and administrator of this law, was to send copies of the new law and letters to county sheriffs charged with enforcement and others concerned with administrative duties.

"We ask the indulgence of sheriffs, auditors and boating public during the time needed to establish administrative procedure, prepare forms and records and to disseminate information for compliance with the act," Selke wrote.

Major provisions of the law are:

It becomes effective July 1, 1959, and licenses expire on December 31, 1960. The number first issued shall be the same if continuously renewed. No political subdivision shall require additional license.

Fees shall be: for watercraft rented, 75 cents; watercraft 16 feet in length 75 cents, and 25 cents for each foot over 16; dealer's license $5.00.

No license required for boat covered with federal or approved license of another state; federal, state or local agency owned watercraft.

Violations of this act shall be: operation of a watercraft in a reckless or negligent manner which causes a person to be killed; operation which obstructs the normal and ordinary navigation of the waters; operation within an area set aside as a swimming or bathing beach; operation of a watercraft to tow a person on water skis, or other device without the operator or another person being able to continuously observe the person being towed or a safety device approved by the commissioner; operation of a watercraft overloaded or equipped with a motor beyond safe power capacity.

A violation of the provisions shall be prima facie evidence of negligence; the sheriff of each county shall enforce the provisions of the act, maintain a program of search, rescue, posting, patrol and inspection of craft for hire. He shall investigate watercraft accidents and drownings, and make reports to the conservation commissioner.

The commissioner shall promulgate regulations for applications, numbering of craft, and other details he deems necessary to carry out provisions of the act.

Selke advised that such information will be supplied as it becomes available.

The lines in the palm of the hand simply are creases caused by the folding of the hand. The "life-line" only means the hand is folded more tightly, perhaps.

Governor to Present State Safety Awards

Winners of the 1958 state traffic safety contests will be honored at the annual Minnesota Safety Council Presentation dinner at Hotel Saint Paul, St. Paul, Tuesday, May 19, according to A. V. Rohweder, Duluth, president of the council. Governor Orville L. Freeman will present awards to Minnesota cities and counties which have been adjudged as having contributed substantially to the state's traffic safety efforts.

For the third successive year, the capital city of St. Paul will receive a bronze plaque award for the top over-all program in Group "A" cities, with over 100,000 population. Awards of merit in traffic safety education and traffic law enforcement will be awarded to the cities of Duluth and Minneapolis.

Fifteen cities will be recognized with awards of merit for activities in various fields in Group "B", between 10,000 and 100,000 population, Group "C" between 5,000 and 10,000 population, and Group "D", between 2,500 and 5,000 population.

In traffic safety education: Austin, Faribault, Hibbing, Rochester, St. Cloud and Virginia in group "B" cities; Fairmont, International Falls, and Northfield in Group "C" cities; Hutchinson and St. James in Group "D" cities.

In traffic safety engineering: Fergus Falls and Red Wing in Group "B"; and Anoka and Marshall in Group "C".

In the county division, an award of merit will be presented to Ramsey county for the ninth consecutive year as the winner of Group "AA", having 50,000 or more population, for its work in traffic safety engineering.

Other awards of merit in the same field will be presented to: Group "AC" 20,000 to 25,000 population — McLeod and Nobles counties; Group "AD" 15,000 to 25,000, Cottonwood county. Group "AE" 10,000 to 15,000, Lincoln and Watowan counties.

No awards were recommended by the Safety Council Award Committee in Group "AB", counties having between 25,000 and 50,000 population, and Group "AF", less than 10,000.

More than 800 state and industrial safety leaders are expected to attend the dinner which highlights the state's safety activities. This presentation dinner is one of the three main meetings of the council including the annual and summer meetings. The affair recognizes the tremendous efforts of government units and industrial plants towards safety on and off the job.

Name Leaders in June Dairy Month Project

State leaders and principal events of June Dairy Month—the nation's biggest food promotion in which Minnesota is the traditional pace-setter — were announced Wednesday.

Heading the annual, all-out dairy foods sales thrust and salute to dairymen will be Vice President Ron Kennedy of F. H. Peavey & company, pioneer Minneapolis grain and milling firm, and Minnesota's lady, Mrs. Orville L. Freeman.

Kennedy, director of personnel and public relations for Peavey, is a prominent spokesman on farm economy. Mrs. Freeman, wife of Minnesota's governor and vivacious mother of an 11-year-old son and 13-year-old daughter, is regarded as one of the state's most capable women speakers.

They will headline the annual June Dairy Month kickoff luncheon in St. Paul's Hotel Lowry May 26. Some 400 representatives of agriculture, business, education, government and news media will attend.

Sharing the spotlight as official "hostess" at the luncheon will be Minnesota's 1959 June Dairy Month mascot cow, "Twin Oak Lue," a purebred Milking Shorthorn champion owned by Hugo Ziegler of Green Isle, Minn. The 7-year-old "Lue" represents all of Minnesota's 140,000 dairy cows of milking age. She will be on stage with other dignitaries at the luncheon.

June Dairy Month will be observed on the community, county and regional level as well as with statewide activities. Retail food stores, dairies and other segments of the dairy industry will join in special promotions which will include picnics, festivals, community pageants and food sales.

Dairy farm girls — some 2,000 of them — will compete in preliminary contests throughout the state for selection of the next Princess Kay of the Milky Way. Ten finalists will be named at 10 regional Dairy Day celebrations. One of them will be crowned Princess Kay of the Milky Way VI at the Minnesota State Fair Sept. 2.

Here is the schedule of regional Dairy Days:

Region I at Thief River Falls, June 9; Region II at Aitkin, June 11; Region III at Fergus Falls, June 21; Region IV at St. Cloud, June 23; Region V at Appleton, June 18; Region VI at Glencoe, June 22; Region VII at Anoka, June 27-28; Region VIII at Lewisville, June 25; Region IX at Blue Earth, June 29; Region X at Red Wing, June 13.

Lovely Diane Schroeder of Rindal, reigning Princess Kay of the Milky Way, will appear at each of the 10 regional celebrations as well as at the kickoff luncheon. Diane already has made more than 325 appearances since her coronation at the 1958 State Fair and she will make dozens more throughout June.

The largest concrete shell roof in the world is in Paris, France. This roof, which looks much like a corrugated concrete "big top," spans 720 feet between supports on the triangular building of the 5½-acre Industrial Exposition Hall now under construction. The structure is one of the architectural marvels of the world.

One cubic yard of concrete placed four inches thick will cover 81 square feet, or 54 feet if placed six inches thick.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

She won't be guest of honor at any Mother's Day banquet. But who cares?

Her glory has always been greater than mere national recognition.

She wears her orchid in her heart.

She doesn't want speeches. But she'll find inspiration, as always, in the pastor's sermon.

And sitting there in church, with her grown up boys and girls, she'll recall the days when first they toddled along to Church School.

And she'll thank God!

Yes! She'll thank Him that it doesn't take a Mother's Day to bring her family to God's House!

Ah, the beautiful Spring, when Nature in all her forms is expressing love, goodwill, and the joy of living. Orioles and brown thrashers sit peacefully in tree tops singing of love and fidelity to their drab little mates. House wrens will soon be hustling for food to fill the mouths of their beloved offspring and singing too—singing lullabies and songs of love in the spring all nature seems to sing of peace on earth and good will to all.

That's the way it is in the beautiful spring, or that's the way it was until the prying, ruthless eye of the scientist invaded this season of tranquility. Now we have facts and figures, but what has become of our springtime tranquility, love, and good will?

Ornithologists tell us most convincingly that our treetop songster is not singing love songs. No, indeed. He is hurling forth a definite challenge to would-be invaders of his territory. An exact interpretation is not yet available but what the grosbeak outside your window is threatening to do to any other grosbeak who might invade his trritory could not be printed were it translated.

I once heard two orioles sing their beautiful song with much fervor and almost in unison. After a short search I found the birds standing face to face on the same limb. They were ruffled and ready to fight and each seemed determined to sing the other out of the tree. They were certainly not singing love songs.

Another time an English sparrow decided to take over the occupied wren house in our back yard. The wren dove at him constantly and lost many feathers in the encounters. Between dives he sang his cheery little song though he was in the midst of what might have been a fight to his finish, had I not plucked a few feathers from the sparrow with the neighbor boy's BB gun.

And speaking of fidelity, it is not uncommon for a wren to lead a double life, having two mates at the same time. In fact, when leading such a double life, male wrens have been known to kill all of the young in one nest to avoid the obligation of feeding two families. And if one of a pair of wrens should be killed, the faithless companion is often remated within a few hours.

Now what about these songs of good will toward all? The wren has come to be regarded in some quarters as little less than a tiny fiend. According to the late Dr. Roberts of Minnesota bird fame, wrens have been discovered puncturing the eggs of its neighbors and pitching them out of the nests to such an extent as to clear the territory of all other nesting birds. Of course, this perhaps is done only by the smartestwrens who wish to eliminate competition from their hunting territories.

Now that this article is about finished, can you think of any good reason why such a morbid story should have been told? Is there a moral or a lesson to be learned? Surely one must have a good reason for telling people, even though it be true, that the breast of a robin in song is bursting, not with love, but with threats and defiance. A reason there must be and a reason there is. My lawn is brown instead of green, my wife had to re-wash all my white shirts that were hanging on the line yeserday, and today I take fiendish delight in exposing a few of these phoney singers of spring love songs. However, neither you not I are really being convinced because we don't wish to be. And I know very well that the song of the brown thrasher in our back yard tomorrow morning will be one of beauty and love to me — scientists, ornithologists facts and messy shirts be hanged.

Fun Party

Don't miss the big Farmers Union Budget Fun Party at the Viking school house Saturday, May 9, at 8:30 p.m. A play, "Henry's Mail-Order Bride," a comedy skit, musical entertainment, a men's style show, are the highlights of the program.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Farming on the level whipped the water erosion problem on the 160-acre Henry Mattson farm near Pequot Lakes last summer. The soil was eroding badly, so Mattson put in 10 acres of contour strips. He liked the results so well that he plans to do more this year, according to Ray Norrgard, Crow Wing county agent. Mattson will put in grassed waterways and a short diversion terrace this spring.

"I killed two birds with one stone." That's how Donald T. Paulson, cooperator in the Freeborn county soil conservation district describes his conservation system. He turned a hillside seepage problem into a water supply for his cows with a pond in a pasture at the far end of the farm. Elmer Miller, SCS conservationist at Albert Lea, helped set up the system.

If dry weather ruins crops this month, don't despair. Several crops can be planted after mid-June and still produce good yields. As an example, listen to this report from Rodney Briggs, University of Minnesota agronomist: Last summer, he planted corn and sorghum—both in rows 42 inches apart—in the middle of June. Both crops yielded 5 tons of forage when harvested in September. Other good emergency crops are soybeans, sudangrass, millet, rape, buckwheat and winter rye. Millet, sudangrass, and sorghum can all be planted as late as August 1.

Plant corn in wheel tracks with four-row planters? Certainly, says Curtis Overdahl, extension soils specialist at the University of Minnesota. Some tractors can have the rear wheels spaced about 46 inches apart, with the front axle widened to 120 inches. This four tracks—one for each planter opener. Other tractors can be modified so the rear wheel tread extends to 120 inches, with the front tread at about 40 inches. Third, some farmers bolt an extra set of wheels to the rear axle, so you have 4 rear wheels spaced 40 inches apart. Finally, there are four-row planters with their own press wheels for wheel-track planting.

ideas from other editors

From the South Pasadena Review, South Pasadena, Calif.: How valuable is newspaper advertising to the retail merchant?

Here's what the president of a Montana department store has to say: "If I were suddenly restricted to one and only one advertising medium, I would board up the display windows, discontinue all interior and departmental selling displays, eliminate all informative show cards, discontinue all sales meetings and sales incentives, stop all telephone selling—and continue an aggressive business-building advertising investment in the newspapers."

This merchant also terms newspapers "the total selling medium." What advertiser could ask for more?

From The Lincoln Times, Lincolnton, N. C.: We are tired of reading the bunk about movie stars, although we seldom get further than the headlines, or glance at some "pink-cloud" picture.

Since we are not an avid fan of the movie magazines, we do not subject ourselves to the asininity which makes up, for the most part, their contents. Nevertheless, we keep running across copy, in our scanning of the news, which turns our stomach. Most of it is publicity pap put out by hack-writers, who are paid for turning out the mush.

Little in this hokum, usually peddled as feature stories, is true or accurate reporting. In the first place, the paid publicity writers always paint a rosy picture of newly-married movie stars—even though these marriages have a strange history of ending up on the rocks more than fifty per cent of the time.

And, always, the little children, which the movie stars have become parents of, either by birth, by a trade of fathers, or by legal arrangements, are reported to be the biggest things in their parents' lives.

But their parents couldn't believe this, in most cases, or they wouldn't wind up living the hound-dog lives they lead in Hollywood.

In summary, disregard the bunk. It is strictly for the birds and the morons who think movie stars are what the movie books pretend they are.

Sunday's Sermon

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

GOOD SAMARITAN

WHEN Jesus and the lawyer talked about the great commandment in the law and the lawyer asked who his neighbor was, the master told the story of the man who fell among thieves and was aided by the Good Samaritan. This story was the answer of Jesus to the lawyer's question.

The lawyer pretended to great confusion as to the range and scope of his obligation. How was he to know who his neighbor was? So some persons today may express great uncertainty as to the objects of their neighborliness. Are his neighbors they who dwell just beyond the division fence or the property line, in their own section of town or city, based upon proximity. But the basic idea of a neighbor is need. A neighbor is the man in need, whether he dwells next door or across the world.

And if you feel a neighbor's need and give him a hand, whoever he may be, you prove yourself a good neighbor and a "friend indeed" because you are a "Friend in need."

Of the three who saw the wounded man that day in the long ago, surely the man who had mercy on him was neighbor to the man who fell among thieves. Our neighbor is the man in need whom we must love and serve.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—My Korean GI term insurance policy has the letters "RS" before the policy number, which means I can exchange it for the new-type term policy, costing much less. Will that new policy be good for the rest of my life?

A—No. The new policy is not renewable after your 50th birthday; but may be converted to a permanent plan before then if you want continued protection.

Q—I am applying to VA for compensation for a disability I believe is service-connected. My service was during peacetime. If VA grants me compensation, will it be at the same rate as for a veteran who served during the war?

A—No. Unless your disability was incurred under extra-hazardous conditions, such as simulated warfare, your compensation if allowed would be at 80 per cent of the wartime rate.

Q—As a World War II veteran, I know I have a GI home loan deadline coming up soon, on July 25, 1960. Does that mean I must have all my loan arrangements completed with a lender by then?

A—No. That is your deadline for applying for a loan. You have up to a year after that in which to complete loan arrangements.

Q—If a veteran's GI insurance premiums are being paid by someone other than the veteran insurance, will VA send premium notices directly to the person making the payments?

A—Yes, but only when the veteran authorizes VA to do so, in writing.

Corps of Engi[illegible]s Asks Permission to Conduct Soil Tests

Donald Ludwig, chief of the real estate division of the St. Paul district of the Corps of U.S. Engineers, met with officers of the Thief River Development Association and representatives of other local organizations Thursday. He stated that a cross-section study of the Thief River channel will be started by the planning and reports branch the latter part of June.

For the purpose of this preliminary survey, soundings and soil tests will be taken at 22 points between Thief River Falls and Thief Lake, about one per mile. Soil tests will be made both by hand and machine borings.

Before these tests can be made, the government must have a right of entry permit from each land owner and the purpose of his visit was to explain this need and secure local assistance in obtaining the owners' consent. Thief River Development association members agreed to secure these permits in Marshall county and the six checking points in Pennington county will be covered from Thief River Falls. The processing of the forms will be handled by Stanley Mortenson, secretary of the Red Lake River Drainage and Conservancy district.

Mr. Ludwig presented a map of the watershed on which the suggested check points were noted. The names of the owners of the designated land had not been determined. He pointed out that a permit signed by a tenant would be acceptable if owners were not available.

Arrangements Set for Purebred Ram Sale Here Sept. 14

Saturday, Aug. 1, to Be Final Day for Entries, Secy'. Roche Announces

The 11th annual purebred ram show and sale will be held in Thief River Falls on Monday, September 14th. Breeders from 18 Northern counties will show their rams in the morning, with the sale beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The 1959 ram sale is being held at an earlier date than previously to assist the breeders in the purchase of purebred rams for early breeding, J. M. Roche, secretary, stated. The trend appears to be moving toward earlier lambs to insure higher income, he said.

Fifty of the top rams of the show will be sold at the afternoon sale. Johnny Clow of Orleans, Minnesota, will be the auctioneer. Breeds eligible for entry include Shropshire, Columbia, Hampshire and Suffolks. Closing date for entries is August 1 to insure ample time for publicity of the sale.

Donald Anderson of Grygla Visits Norway Relatives

Donald Anderson of Grygla, who is serving in the United States army, has been on leave from the army in Germany to Bykle Satesdalen, in Norway, visiting relatives for ten days. He has been in Hoslemoe, Nylund, Teten, Bykium and Mosdol. His grandmother, Mrs. Thora Anderson, who resides at Grygla, was born in Bykle Satesdalen and emigrated to the United States in 1900. After Anderson is relieved from the service in June, he and his wife will return to their former teaching positions in St. Paul.

Postmasters, said the bulletin, should note that these schemes are lotteries even tho tickets may be obtained without making a purchase, and are hence unmailable.

Five Local Women at Library Parley Held in Crookston

Director of Minnesota Library Division Speaks at Conference Thursday

Nearly forty librarians and trustees of library boards in Minnesota attended a district meeting sponsored by the Minnesota Library Association and the library division of the state department of education at the Crookston Elks club rooms Thursday.

Greetings to the conferees were extended by Mayor A. O. Myrold, a former member of the Crookston library board.

Highlights of the conference were reports on the rapid growth of county and regional library services in Minnesota and elsewhere during the past year by Hannis Smith, director of the library division and Emily Mayne, supervisor of extension library; and an extensive discussion of retirement benefits for public employees in Minnesota under PERA by Gordon Williams of the central office in St. Paul.

O. J. Hemmingson presided over the trustees meetings which discussed budget making under the direction of Mrs. Sealander of Detroit Lakes, and qualifications for trustee appointees with Mrs. H. O. Chommie of Thief River Falls leading that discussion.

Hosts for the meeting were members of the Crookston library board under the leadership of O. J. Hemmingson, president.

Representing Thief River Falls at the conference were Mrs. Chommie, Mrs. N. A. Holen and Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, trustees of the Carnegie library; and Miss Bertha Hastad and Miss Inga Thompson, assistant librarians.

Report Top Herds in DHIA in April

Stenberg Herd Leads with 51 Lb. Butterfat Average

Twenty herds with 458 cows were tested in the Red Lake-Pennington DHIA during April, it was reported by George Janssen, supervisor. Eleven herds averaged over 25 pounds of butterfat. Nine herds average 40 lbs. or over. The five high producing herds are reported below.

Top herd for April was that of Art Stenberg of Thief River Falls with an average milk production per cow of 1309 lbs. and 51 lbs. of butterfat. The Maynard Mehrkens herd of Thief River Falls produced 1271 lbs. of milk and 47 lbs. of fat. 1301 lbs. of milk and 46 lbs. of butterfat was recorded for Charles and Dale Svendsgaard of Goodridge.

The John Burtness herd produced an average of 1300 lbs. of milk and 46 lbs. of fat. The Don Bruggeman herd produced 1190 lbs. of milk and 45 lbs. of butterfat.

Eagles to Elect Officers Tuesday

The local aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will conduct its annual election of officers in the aerie hall Tuesday evening, May 12. A. B. Kriel, president, announced today. He added that a stag supper and initiation is scheduled for Tuesday, May 26.

Two Pennington county 4-H events and selection of Dairy Princess candidates are scheduled to take place next Friday, May 15, in the city Auditorium. Starting at 7 p.m. the good-grooming contest will be held with 4-H boys and girls 12 years and under being judged first. This group will be followed by boys and girls 13 years and over.

This contest is not judged on the best clothes that the contestant may wear. The entrants will be scored on: one, general impression which includes personal grooming, poise and costume; two, grooming of person — posture, hair, face, hands; and three, clothes-care and choice.

Folowing the good grooming contest, a share-the-fun festival will be held, starting at 8:15. Acts entered in the festival may be musical dramatic, folk or square dancing or novelty numbers such as stunts and skits. All 4-H'ers are eligible. The acts are limited to six minutes. The public is invited to view the events. There will be no admission charged.

Following the 4-H contests the candidates in the Princess contest for Northwest Dairy Day will be introduced and the county winners will be announced. 4-H clubs are reminded to send in names of girls for the princess contest. The girls are to be 16 to 21 years of age who graduate this spring and who live on a dairy farm.

Aeronautics Chief Confers in TRF on No. Central Status

Makes Study of Traffic in Connection with Coming Hearing by CAB

Dale MacIver, commissioner of the department of aeronautics, and two of his staff members, were in Thief River Falls Thursday. They conducted a preliminary field check for information that might be presented at forthcoming hearings to establish the need for continued North Central service in the area. With MacIver were Stuart Ransom, attorney for the department, and Carl Benson, department air line representative.

Meeting with a local group at a noon luncheon, the visiting officials reported on Civil Aeronautics Board hearings on the need for continued service which they had recently attended in Texas. Based on their observations on these hearings they made several recommendations for the preparation and presentation of the Thief River Falls application.

Mr. MacIver stated that there now are 90 cities threatened with a loss of airline service because of their failure to board the five passengers a day which the CAB has fixed as a reasonable minimum. Among these 90, Thief River Falls is 14th from the top of the list in the average number of boardings. "Your city needs to make only a comparatively small gain to meet the CAB reqirements," he said.

Following a study of the material assembled in the preliminary field check there will be a more comprehensive follow-up survey by the department.

History Society to Elect Tuesday

Annual Meeting Slated at County Court House

Election of officers will be the principal business to be disposed of at the annual meeting of the Pennington County Historical society Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the assembly room on the lower floor of the court house.

A nominating committee consisting of J. M. Roche, Reuben Lockrem and Millard Nelson, appointed by Judge Herman A. Kjos, president, will submit a slate of candidates.

The society's museum in the court house, now in its initial stages, will be open to inspection during the evening, and St. Hilaire and Goodridge groups will present several items suitable for display.

Remodeling Bids on Liquor Store Put Off

Council Votes Last Friday to Postpone Opening to June 29

At a special meeting of the city council Friday afternoon, a motion was adopted to extend bids for remodeling the liquor dispensary to June 29.

During the discussion which preceded the action, it was decided to split up the proposed work at the store and to accept only those bids which the council finds most acceptable.

Council president Bob Carlson opened the meeting with the question of just how far the council should proceed with remodeling plans and Alderman A. J. Rau expressed that unless the work would result in decreased operation costs, he felt that the expenditure would not be justified. Alderman Roy Lee said that it was necessary to increase the revenue of the store and that he felt the increased business which would result from the remodeling would be worth the expense.

K. Russell Anderson, architect for the project, then showed plans for the project and there was a discussion on what changes could be made.

In a discussion on the financing of the project, the opinion was expressed that the public had not been informed on how the cost would be paid. "Nothing would be paid out of the city treasury," one cuncil member said. "The entire cost would be paid out of liquor store funds." It was further explained that much of the project would be paid with funds raised through a reduction of liquor store stock.

Alderman Rau noted that, as a member of the street committee, considerable "heat had been put on" him in regard to street work.

Following the passage of the motion to extend the period for bids, the council adjourned.

Vangi Thorkelson Wins News Story Prize at Hamline

Vangi Thorkelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Robert Thorkelson of Thief River Falls, was the recipient of the Charles M. Drew prize for news writing during Hamline university's Honors day convocation on May 6.

The award of $20 is given to the student who has contributed the best news story published in the college newspaper during the year.

Prizes and awards were given to exceptional students in the fields of English, art, science, speech, journalism and Christian service.

County Home Project Stages Achievement Day Program May 6th

Observance of National Home Demonstration week in Pennington county was highlighted by an Achievement Day, held Wednesday, May 6, in Zion Lutheran church.

The Achievement Day climaxed the 1958-59 extension home program in the county.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, home agent-at-large, University of Minnesota. She spoke to 120 homemakers on "Understanding Ourselves and Others." Mrs. Gifford stated that the objective, for learning to understand oneself and others, is the need to work together in home, club, community and in other things that are important to everyone. "We always need help from others in getting special jobs done and a better understanding of oneself helps strengthen faith in our ability and that of others," said Mrs. Gifford.

Mrs. Alton Carlson, president of the home council, was mistress of ceremonies for the program. Group singing was led by Mrs. Thaddeus Szymanski, accompanied by Mrs. Emil Sanders of Cloverleaf.

Other program highlights were a vocal solo by Mrs. Arnold Hammer, Smiley; a reading, "Her Busy Day," Mrs. Julian W. Lendobeja, Smiley; a vocal trio, Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom, Mrs. Edgar Naplin and Mrs. Melvin Melin, accompanied by Mrs. Veral Mosbeck, all from Black River; and a musical skit given by Mrs. Ted Beiswenger, Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, Mrs. Julian W. Lendobeja, Mrs. Anton Torkelson, Mrs. Martin Rehm and Mrs. Anton Torkelson.

Each homemakers group had a colorful exhibit of handicrafts, made by the members.

The Achievement Day was planned by the Extension Home council. Committees in charge were headed by Mrs. Frank Heinz and Mrs. Edwin Swanson, food; Mrs. Melvin Molden, Mrs. Alvin Burstad, exhibits; Mrs Alton Carlson, Mrs. Ronald Tollefson and Mrs. Ted Beiswenger, program; Mrs. Earl Peterson and Mrs. Emil Sanders, reception.

MISS JEANNE DAHLEN

Miss Jeanne Dahlen, a sophomore student at Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter, has been accepted as a member of the Student Project for Amity among Nations (SPAN) for the summer of 1960. This summer group study is sponsored by the University of Minnesota, and students are accepted on the basis of their character, interest and scholarship.

The prospective SPANer chooses a study project topic and then spends the three summer months of 1960 abroad working on the topic. Jeanne will be confining her investigations to Austria. Upon returning to college in the fall, she will then write a paper on the results of her project research.

Jeanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Dahlen and is a chemistry major at Gustavus. Activities in the Gustavus band, the Dean's list, and the Theta sorority keep her busy.

Along with the other students at Gustavus going to various countries under SPAN in 1960, Jeanne will have orientation meetings during the school year in Minneapolis, and will do some preliminary research on the topic she has chosen.

Deserter from Marine Corps Is Given Air Police

Robert C. McBride, a deserter from the U. S. Marine corps, who was arrested here last week after he stole a car from the owner of the Family Bowl, was turned over to air police from the Grand Forks air force base this weekend, police reported today.

McBride, a native of Pennsylvania, will probably be turned over to Marine authorities by the Air Force.

Prizes Awarded in Jaycee Project Thursday Evening

Esther Jensen, Regional Winner in Essay Contest, Presented with Trophy

The regular meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the Legion club rooms Thursday, with Glenn Peterson, president, in charge.

Ken Onken, chairman of 'My True Security" project, presented gifts and certificates to Esther Jensen, Carmen Peterson, Chad Jewitt and Mary Demetrellou, winners of first, second, third and fourth places respectively. Onken also presented Esther Jensen a trophy for winning first place in the region.

Miss Thora Skomedahl, senior English instructor at Lincoln high, accepted the Region three trophy which is presented to the high school where the regional winner attends. Esther Jensen and Carmen Peterson gave their essays by way of tape.

A delegation of Thief River Falls Jaycees consisting of Ralph Foster, James Carlson and Dick Stokke attended the Jaycee meeting in Red Lake Falls to help conduct the election of new officers.

The next meeting was set for May 21 at the American Legion club when W. E. Dahlquist will tell of his travels in Africa.

Four Candidates for Two Posts on TRF School Board

Filings in the annual Thief River Falls school district election to be held Tuesday evening, May 19, at Lincoln high school, came to a close last Thursday afternoon with four candidates in the field for the two directors' posts to be filled. Those who have entered their names are Dr. M. D. Starekow and Wm. Thompson, both incumbents seeking reelection; and Dr. James O. Disse and Dr. R. M. Helm.

Short Term of District Court Expected Here

Only Three Actions Calling for Service of Jury Are Listed

A short May term of Pennington county district court is in prospect as Clerk of Court Henry Storhaug late last week completed the calendar of cases, numbering only five. Included are three actions calling for jury consideration and two divorce cases to be heard by Judge J. H. Sylvestre, who will preside.

Up to Friday County Attorney L. W. Rullen had no entered any criminal cases, and he said he thought there would be none.

Court convened this morning for the calling of the calendar, and following a conference with the attorneys. Judge Sylvestre will decide if and when the petit jury will be summoned to report for duty.

Cases on the calendar due to be heard by a jury unless otherwise disposed of are those of the State vs. Anna Barzen, an appeal in condemnation proceedings; Jack D. Boyer vs. M. G. Johnson, a suit for property damages arising out of an automobile accident; and John A. Taylor vs. St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance Co., based on an insurance claim.

Bands, Orchestras of Grade Schools Perform Tuesday

Combined Groups Will Give Concert at 8 p.m. in Lincoln Auditorium

The combined bands and orchestras of the Thief River Falls grade schools will present their annual spring concert Tuesday evening, May 12, beginning at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

The band is composed of sixth grade students from all schools and the orchestra of fifth and sixth grade students. Both groups are under the direction of James Solsten, orchestra director of Lincoln high school. The orchestra will be accompanied by Janice Anderson, Lincoln high school senior student, at the piano.

Admission to the concert is 25c for adults and children will be admitted free. Funds will be used for the purchase of instruments.

Governor Sets Fast Time for State May 24

Will Continue Only until July 1 Unless Legislature Acts

Gov. Freeman Saturday ordered daylight saving into effect immediately in those areas now under daylight saving time and set 2 a.m. May 24 as the date for starting fast time in the rest of the state.

His order will end daylight saving on July 1, the day the 1957 statewide fast time law expires.

This leaves extension of daylight time past that date up to the state legislature now in special session.

The governor acted after a Friday supreme court ruling that the governor said "makes it imperitive" to act.

The governor expressed the hope that the senate would approve the 22-county fast time bill already passed by the house to "end this confused situation."

In its ruling the court said that county boards of Hennepin, Ramsey and Anoka counties had no authority to order daylight saving time into effect, but that the later statewide law imposed the duty upon the governor to fix uniform time for the entire state.

"Absurd as the ending date of July 1 may be, under the opinion of the court and the law enacted by the 1957 legislature, and in the absence of any further action by the legisalture, I have no choice but to set the date.

"The legislature can remedy this situation. The house of representatives already has acted to allow the principle of home rule to prevail—to permit certain counties to establish daylight saving time by local option and to allow the rest of the state to remain on standard time.

(The house passed a bill to permit county boards of 22 counties along the eastern and northern borders to adopt daylight saving.)

"If the senate will concur in the house action, the rural areas may still keep the standard time they want and this confused situation can be ended. I hope the senate will so act."

Rural TRF Youth Admits Showing Lewd Literature

Pleads Guilty in Local Municipal Court; Given 90-day Suspended Term

An 18-year-old rural youth was given a 90-day suspended jail sentence Thursday, after he pleaded guilty in municipal court to display of lewd literature to a minor.

Paul Puppe, rt. 1, city, had originally been charged with copying and possession of obscene literature, a gross misdemeanor. On the recommendation of County Attorney L. W. Rullen the charge was reduced to displaying the material to a minor, which is a misdemeanor.

Puppe, who has no record of previous offenses, had been warned of possession of obscene literature previously and some of the material had been confiscated. He was arrested by city police after he had been caught with the material in possession the second time.

The 90-day jail sentence handed Puppe after he pleaded guilty was suspended on conditions set forth by the court.

In another case the same day, David Rogers, city, was found guilty, after trial, of failure to heed a school bus stop sign, and was fined $20 plus $5 court costs. Rogers was arrested by the highway patrol on a complaint by a school bus driver.

In a hearing held May 8, Gilbert Rolfson, rt. 1, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to failure to heed a stop sign and was fined $10, which was suspended, plus $4 costs, which was paid.

Magsam-Porter Vows Exchanged In Euclid

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Carol Marie Magsam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Magsam of Euclid, and Dennis Porter, son of Dick Porter of Red Lake Falls, Saturday, April 25, in Euclid.

The single ring ceremony took place in the Presbyterian church and was officiated by Rev. Kayon Palmer. Mrs. Lloyd Owens was at the organ.

For her wedding the bride chose a pink suit with matching accessories and a bridal corsage. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Curtis Kramer of Euclid, her sister, wore a beige sheath dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Samuel Porter of Crookston, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron, wearing a pink sheath dress and matching accessories. Their corsages were similar to that of the bride.

The bridegroom was attended by Samuel Porter, his brother, as best man, with Curtis Kramer, brother-in-law of the bride, as groomsman. George Magsam served as usher.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for immediate relatives and friends. Mrs. Stanley Teal, Mrs. John R. Garry, Jr., and Alice and Arlene Magsam served as waitresses. Mrs. Dake Ayers of Thief River Falls cut and served the wedding cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. James McGlen of Grand Forks.

The bride is a graduate of Crookston high school and the bridegroom served the armed forces for two years. They will be making their home at 129 South Broadway in Crookston, where Mr. Porter is employed.

Beauty Tips
from ME to YOU

By JO ANNE WEDUL

Make your age unimportant. The secret of looking young is in the art of dressing your age.

Wear only what is becoming. Choose your clothes to set off your most interesting points. Every detail counts. Recognize figure changes and buy according to fit, not to the size you have always worn.

With the right clothes, wear the proper makeup. The shape of your brows is determined by heredity but eyebrows that haven't enough curve, length or color can be changed.

The newest eye pencils have fine, sharp points with little pencil sharpeners built into the cap to keep them that way. The beauty trick is to darken your brows without darkening the skin. A dab of cream warmed on your hand can give the pencil an extra softness for accurate shaping.

Match your new wardrobe this spring with a NEW HAIRSTYLE planned PERSONALLY FOR YOU and PROFESSIONALLY given at JO ANNE'S BEAUTY SHOP, 107 EAST THIRD STREET. Call MU 1-4405 TODAY for your appointment.

Tells How to Get Rid of Dandelions

'U' M. Authority Advises Use of Chemical, 2, 4-D

Digging dandelions isn't the best answer to getting rid of this pest in your home lawn.

In fact, R. J. Stadtherr, in charge of turf research at the University of Minnesota, has discouraging news for dandelion diggers: Unless you dig practically all of the root, your work isn't worth the energy it takes; the dandelions will come right back.

As the best weapon to fight dandelions, the University turf researcher recommends a knapsack sprayer filled with 2, 4-D. Use the amino form or a low volatile ester form of 2,4-D, or a 2, 4-D product recommended specifically for lawns. The ester form commonly used for field weeds is highly volatile and is likely to injure nearby flowers and shrubs.

Apply the spray on a still, sunny day when the temperature is between 60 and 70 degrees F., and when the weeds are actively growing. When the temperature is higher, 2, 4-D becomes very volatile and is likely to damage ornamentals. Use the spray according to manufacturer's directions. Hold the sprayer close to the ground so there is less chance of 2, 4-D drifting to flowers and nearby shrubs. It's a wise precaution to use a low-pressure sprayer that restricts the spray to the plants you wish to kill. The 2, 4-D will injure clover in the lawn, but the clover will usually recover.

Dry weather has made dandelions somewhat less susceptible than usual to 2, 4-D. For that reason, a second application in about two weeks may be necessary. To be sure that enough of the chemical is absorbed into the weeds to kill them, add a wetting agent to the 2, 4-D. About a teaspoonful of household detergent to 2 gallons of spray will serve the purpose.

Only One Traffic Accident in City over the Weekend

Only one minor traffic mishap was reported over the past weekend by city police. The mishap occurred at 1:40 p.m. Saturday when a truck driven by Arthur Kolden, Middle River, hooked the door of a car owned by N. L. Olson, city, as Olson was starting to get out of his parked car on the driver's side near the Montgomery Ward store.

Kolden had just made a left turn off E. Third st. onto Main av. and was headed south when he hit the Olson car's door. The impact pushed the car into another parked car, owned by Emmet Mousley, city.

There were, fortunately, no injuries but the Olson car sustained an estimated $170 damages. Damage to Kolden's truck was estimated at $20 and to the Mousley car, $10.

BRT and Auxiliary Plan Convention for May 22 and 23

The 1959 Minnesota state joint meeting of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and auxiliary will be held May 22 and 23, in Minneapolis at the Leamington Hotel. John Griner, administrative assistant (labor relations) of the Railroad Retirement Board, will address the joint meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 22.

Closed meetings are scheduled for the auxiliary and the brotherhood Saturday. President W. P. Kennedy will address the afternoon meeting and a banquet is scheduled for 6:15 p.m. Saturday. Governor Freeman and Attorney General Lord have advised they will attend. President Kennedy will act as toastmaster and will be the main speaker. Dancing is arranged for in the evening to the music of Hal Garven's radio and TV orchestra.

Isaac Newton, who discovered the law of gravitation, was called wicked, and the unbelievers said he was trying to take away from the glory of God by his claim of discovery.

.31 In Additional Rain over Weekend

Total of 1.33 Inches Fell Locally to Date in May

If we had no more rain during this month, we would still have recorded more precipitation than we had during this month last year.

Counting Sunday night's downpour, the KTRF weather station had registered 1.33 inches this month including .31 inch over the weekend. During May, 1958, 1.14 inches of rain fell.

Temperatures have been on the cool side since the 84 recorded on the first of the month and the 86 the following day. During the latter part of last week, daytime temperatures were 59 Thursday and Sunday, 68 Saturday and 71 Friday. Night time temperatures ranged from 39 Sunday night to 52 Friday night.

Considerable cloudiness forming by mid-morning with scattered light showers by afternoon have been predicted by the KTRF weather station. Decreasing cloudiness is expected tonight. Tomorrow, mostly cloudy weather is expected to continue with cool temperatures.

Highs today are expected to be in the 50's and lows tonight from 35 to 40. Westerly winds from 20 to 35 miles an hour are expected to end by tonight.

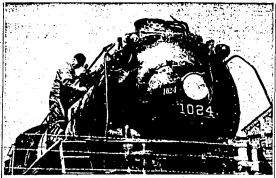
May 17th Program at Gully Saturday

Dreng Bjornaraa, Harold M. Johnson to Give Talks

Speakers at the annual Syttende Mai celebration Saturday, May 16, at 1 p.m. in the village park at Gully will include Dreng Bjornaraa of Minneapolis, a native son of the Gully community, and Harold M. Johnson of Thief River Falls, vice commander-at-large of the Ninth district American Legion.

Victor Aalbu, editor of the Gonvick Leader-Record, will serve as master of ceremonies at the program, which is sponsored by the Gully Legion post. Student of the Fosston high school will provide musical selections.

Carnival rides, concessions and refreshments will be available during the day, and the final event on the program will be a dance in the evening in the Gully auditorium.



SPRING CLEANUP With the coming of warmer weather, residents of the area have come out of winter hibernation to work in their yards and to do their outdoor spring cleaning. At the Soo station, Jim Kelly, 1016 Dewey ave. N., started the annual job of touching up "Old 1024" which has accumulated a few marks of the weather.

Divide Perennials

Perennials that have been growing in the same location for several years often become root bound and bloom poorly. Dividing and transplanting them this spring will give them a new lease on life. They'll produce bigger flowers, bloom for a longer period and be bothered less with disease and insects.

Perennials that can be divided in spring include garden phlox, chrysanthemum, sweet William, delphinium, gaillardia, Shasta daisy, hollyhock, astilbe, painted daisy, daylily, lythrum, evening primrose, hosta or plantain lily, false dragon's head, primrose.

Make the divisions by lifting the entire plant and dividing it with a sharp knife or shovel. The number of divisions depends on the size of the plant or clump. Inspect the clump for presence of disease or insects and discard any infested plants.

Set the plants in the border at about the same depth as they were growing before. Firm the soil around the plants to exclude any air pockets. Water thoroughly. Usually it's well to apply a complete fertilizer after transplanting. Use it at the rate of one pound per 25 square feet or 4 to 5 pounds per 100 square feet of area.

Open Bids in June on Baudette Job

Air Force Gives Langen Tentative Opening Dates

Congressman Odin Langen Thursday contacted the Air Force installation representative for the Missouri River region, Col. James S. Caples in Omaha, Neb., relative to further details on the military construction at Baudette Air Force station.

Col. Caples told Langen that $1,317,000 has been released for construction of the radar station with bids opening about June 9, and construction expected to begin approximately June 20.

$500,000 has been released for the electric prime power system to be built at the Baudette station with bids on this part of the project expected to open about June 16 and construction planned to start about June 30.

State Home Agent Rural Youth Guest

Mrs. Gifford Speaks on 'Understanding Ourselves'

"By understanding ourselves better, we are better able to understand others," said Mrs. Eleanor Gifford at the May meeting of the county's Rural Youth group. Mrs. Gifford is a home agent-at-large with the agricultural extension service, University of Minnesota, and spoke to the group on "Understanding Ourselves and Others."

She also said that it was harder to live alone than to live with others. Yet we think that we are independent, but in this day and age we are very dependent on others, even people we will never see, she stated.

According to Mrs. Gifford, behavior is caused. A person never acts without thinking. Some causes of behavior are physical, cultural influence and emotional needs. Environment and heredity are also important influences on an individual's behavior. Because of this, each person is different and there will never be another exactly the same.

Cookies To Make Again And Again

After a session of gardening, for picnic fare, or for an afternoon snack on the porch, these chocolate chip and peanut cookies are ideal. The chocolate chips are nuggets of rich delight, the nuts crisply delightful.

For the hungry child or teen-ager, or their elders for that matter, we suggest instant chocolate-flavor mix as an accompaniment to these cookies. Just pour the mix into the glass from the little metal spout on the package, then fill to the brim with cold sweet milk.

Chocolate Chip Peanut Cookies

1¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
⅓ cup milk
¾ cup chopped peanuts
1 cup chocolate chips
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift again. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Then add peanuts, chocolate chips, and vanilla. Drop from teaspoon onto greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

National Hospital Week Being Noted

Public Asked to Defer Visits Because of Flu

"The new roads to recovery which medical science is producing are increasingly centered in the hospital," Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern hospital, said today on the opening of National Hospital week.

"The doctor can call upon the disciplined teamwork of many skilled professional and technical workers, and an ever-growing array of scientific tools and supplies," he pointed out.

The local hospital is joining with other hospitals throughout the country in observing National Hospital week, May 10-16. This year's theme, "More Roads to Recovery," will emphasize the increasing number of services offered by hospitals. However, because of the flu situation, the public is asked to defer visiting the hospital until later.

More than 106 tons of iron ore goes into the production of the steel used in the form of mesh and reinforcing bars for a lineal mile of divided four-lane concrete highway as designed in Minnesota for the national system of interstate and defense highways.

The longest prestressed concrete girders—91-feet, 2½-inches long — to be utilized to date in Minnesota were erected for a bridge over Trunk Highway 61 near Newport, south of St. Paul. Each of the concrete girders weighs more than 26 tons. The bridge will be completed this year.

Their Future and Yours Depends on Our Colleges

The number of young men and women who want and deserve a college education will double by 1967. It's a sobering thought.

Our colleges and universities are making a valiant effort to take care of the hosts of eager-eyed young people who are already clamoring for admittance. They have an enormous job to do. For expansion calls for more than adding classrooms, laboratories and dormitory space. There must be a corresponding increase in faculty and in faculty caliber.

Freedom needs educated people. Won't you help overcome this crisis? Help the college of your choice today.

Alderman Honebrink moved that further consideration of bids be deferred to May 19th, 1959 at eight o'clock P.M. Motion was seconded by Lee and carried.

There was presented and read a communication of Northwestern Trailer Court & Sales requesting garbage pickup for trailer occupants and the request was ordered tabled and referred to Health & Sanitation Committee. A communication of Ready-Meter Company, Minneapolis, was read, the same outlining a plan for installation of parking meters in the City on a Free Trial Basis, no action being taken. A request was presented and the same read, by Mission Covenant Church of the City requesting entrance from their property located in Bostead's Second Re-arrangement, to Highway No. 59, which application bore approval of the Minnesota Highway Department. Alderman Lee moved approval of such request, being seconded by Benson and motion was carried.

Discussion was had relative to 1960 Federal Airport Program under which aid could be obtained in proposed improvements to the Municipal Airport. Alderman Honebrink introduced a resolution proposing certain improvements at the airport, directing that the City's Consulting Engineer be directed to prepare plans and specifications for the same, that application be made to the State of Minnesota Department of Aeronautics for State Aid and moved adoption thereof, being seconded by Dahlen. On a Call of the Roll all members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Request was made by Al Bacon, Manager N.W. Bell Telephone Company for permission to install an outdoor telephone booth in front of their building on corner 4th and LaBree Avenue. Alderman Honebrink moved granting of the same, being seconded by Benson and motion was carried. Robert DuChamp, 424 Duluth Avenue North, reported a break of curb box valve in water service to his property, and requested that the City assume One-half of repair cost and the same was ordered referred to the Water & Light Utility Committee. A request was made by J. M. Roche, Secretary of Pennington County Agricultural Society, for an appropriation as aid in conduct of the Pennington County Fair of 1959 and the same was ordered referred to the Finance Committee of the Council. Mr. J. Forberg of the Minnesota National Guard requested permission for use of the City's land in Marshall County for exercises on Sundays of the Guard and such request was by motion referred to the Street Commissioner for his approval. Request of Chas. Krause, Porter's Addition for water and sewer service to his property was ordered referred to the City Engineer and Superintendent of Sewerage System for study.

A communication signed by Olin Hanson, Secretary of organizations of certain County Townships was presented and read, the same being a proposal of Townships of Adger, Excel, Norden, Silverton and Smiley, in a proposed Fire Truck purchase for the furnishing of fire protection by the City to such townships and the sharing of costs in purchasing of such equipment. The same was ordered tabled to a meeting of April 28th.

Mayor Reich presented appointment of Stan Pladsen, 202 Knight Avenue North, as a member of Airport Commission for the unexpired term of Reynold Mattison, resigned. Alderman Honebrink moved confirmation, being seconded by Dahlen. All members voted in favor thereof and such appointment was declared ratified.

Alderman Benson introduced a resolution, being seconded by Dahlen, regulating operation of signal lighting system in the City as to hours of operation and moved adoption. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Dr. W. P. Kaisler, President of City Recreation Board presented recommendations with respect to operation of recreation activities during the season of 1959. Alderman Benson introduced a resolution approving the same as to salaries of personnel and costs and moved its adoption. Alderman Lee seconded the motion and the resolution was passed and adopted.

Alderman Honebrink introduced a resolution approving for payment various current bills and moved adoption, being seconded by Dahlen and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

The meeting was then declared adjourned to April 28th at eight o'clock p.m.

Mrs. Edw. Carlson Dies At R. L. Falls

Mrs. Edward Carlson, a resident of rural St. Hilaire, died suddenly Friday morning, May 8, at St. John's hospital in Red Lake Falls.

No definite date for the funeral services have been set with the Petterson Funeral home of Red Lake Falls in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

Last Rites For Mrs. Satterberg Were Held Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Gunhild Satterberg were held today, Monday, April 11, at 2 p.m. at the Evangelical Lutheran church in St. Hilaire with Rev. Otto Dale officiating. Interment was in the Community cemetery at St. Hilaire with Gulbranson Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Satterberg died Friday, May 8, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 80. She was born Nov. 22, 1878, in Norway, coming to the St. Hilaire community when a young girl. She attended school, was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith and grew to womanhood there. On Dec. 18, 1901, she was united in marriage to Adolph Satterberg at St. Hilaire. For the past two years she has made her home at the Rupprecht rest home in Thief River Falls.

Surviving are three brothers, Haldor and Cyrus Opperud of Litchville, N. D., and Oluf Opperud of Crookston, also several nieces and nephews.

Preceding her in death were her husband, one sister and two brothers.

Lacrosse, the national game of Canada, came from the Indians. The first settlers found them playing a game with crooked sticks and a ball made of hide and stuffed with hair. From this, the game of Lacrosse was evolved by the settlers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Gust Gustafson left for Alexandria a week ago Saturday where they went to attend the funeral of Victor Peterson, who was an uncle of Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Gustafson. They returned here the following evening.

Mrs. Sidney Omlid and Mrs. Henry Hovet of Goodridge visited at the Jesse Skaaren home a week ago Wednesday.

Sunday visitors at the Oscar Peterson home were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Peterson and Gail and Bert Roese. Other visitors at the Peterson home the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miramontes, Hattie Dahlstrom and Martin Peterson, all of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Carl Alberg.

Elinor Gustafson returned home a week ago Saturday after spending several months in Seattle, Wash. where she was employed at the Boeing aircraft plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Skaaren and family, Mrs. Sidney Omlid and Olaf Omlid spent Sunday in Bemidji where they visited with Mrs. Marie Omlid.

Albret Hestekind of McIntosh visited Friday evening at the Pete Nelson home.

Skay's Prowler Ball Club Whips Oslo 7-1

Continuing their happy habit of scoring runs in clusters, coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers, with three runs in the 4th inning and four in the 5th inning, defeated Oslo, 7 to 1, in a district conference game played here Thursday evening. It was the fourth straight win for the locals.

The Prowlers will meet the Warren Ponies on the Fair Grounds diamond on Monday night, with game time slated for 8 p.m. And on Thursday night, May 14, the Red Lake Falls Eagles will meet the locals in a night game on the Fair Grounds diamond.

With the game in a scoreless tie entering the last half of the 4th inning, the Prowlers, on doubles by Arlan Hjelle, Gene Weckwerth, and Gary Klungness, a hit batsman, and a pair of walks, tallied three runs. In the 5th frame the Prowlers notched four runs on a single by Hjelle, a double by Gary Anderson, a couple of Oslo errors, and a single by Eddie Lietzow.

The visitors averted a shutout by scoring a lone run in the 7th inning when Bill Michalski and Bob Nordling hammered out a pair of back-to-back triples, with Michalski scoring.

Righthanders Gary Anderson and Jack Goulet shared the Prowler pitching duties, with Anderson tolling the first five innings, and Goulet hurling the final two innings. Both pitchers gave up two hits apiece.

"Quick, Watson: four needles for four mysteries." A rubber-tired and jet-propelled crowd gathered at Wells to watch a blacksmith shoe two horses, his first in 20 years. . . . Mrs. Richard Herber, Paynesville, called her mother, Mrs. L. G. Hanson, Detroit Lakes, to find out how her father was doing; "Fine, why?". Well, it's a long story, but a postcard cancelled April 10, 1959, said he was in the hospital; it took a lot of conversation to discover that the card had been mailed 13 years previously.—A Remer trapper couldn't figure out how his canoe got full one day he quietly back-tracked and watched; a mama beaver flipped water into the handy container with her versatile tail, and proceeded to give her youngsters swimming lessons . . . Larry Wilson, spading his spring garden at Ortonville, unearthed several hills of prime fresh potatoes.

Planting Small Fruits

Raspberries and strawberries are two of the most important fruits in Minnesota home gardens. Success with them depends not only on good care but also on starting out with healthy, disease-free plants of a good variety.

Small fruits should be planted at one end of the garden along with perennial vegetables, where they will not interfere with plowing and preparation of the garden each year. Plant these fruits as soon as the frost is out of the ground and when the soil can be worked.

Space June-bearing strawberries two feet apart in rows four feet apart. Plant everbearing strawberries 12 inches apart in the rows. Raspberries should be four feet apart in rows six feet apart.

Plant strawberries so the crown is just level with the soil. Don't plant too deep or too shallow. Remove all blossoms from newly set strawberry plants until July 1st. Remove all runners as they form on the everbearing type. On June-bearing types the runners should be spaced not closer than 18 inches and the rows limited to 18-21 inches in width.

When raspberries are planted, cut the canes back to within four to six inches of the soil surface. This will stimulate the roots to send up new shoots that will produce berries next year.

If raspberries are to be grown in hills, leave 6 to 8 canes per hill. If they are to be grown in a continuous hedge row, leave three or four canes per foot. If you have more than this number, remove them this spring. However, most gardeners attend to this job after harvest, when they remove the old canes.

Some good varieties of strawberries for home planting are: June-bearing—Premier, Dunlap, Robinson, Earlimore; everbearing — Red Rich, Superfection, Gem. Good red raspberry varieties are Latham and Newburgh. "September" produces a fall crop as well as a summer crop of raspberries each year.

Dairy Princess Entrants Named in Beltrami Co.

Three Beltrami county girls were chosen as candidates to compete for the District I dairy princess title in the contest in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 9. Those selected were Bonita Christenson of Tenstrike, Bemidji state college sophomore; Joanne Benson of Blackduck, Bemidji college junior; and Mary Lou Lundberg of Solway, Bemidji high school senior.

Thieves Play Eldred 3-3 in Five Innings

After the Thieves had scored four runs in the top of the 6th inning, breaking a 3-all deadlock, the rains came and forced the calling of the exhibition game played at Eldred on Sunday afternoon. With the score reverting to the 5th inning, the game was officially declared a 3-all tie.

In the big 6th inning, John Drury gained a walk, the sixth given up by southpaw Tom Fenno the Eldred hurler. Harley Drees lofted a short fly to second base, and Larry Gilbertson was retired on a foul pop to the third baseman. Drury, who had stolen second, scored on Darryl Rude's single to left-center. Marv Mansfield and Gene Leslie drew walks, loading the sacks, and then Frank Gunderman poled a triple over Dave Munson's head in center field, driving in three runs. Arlan Hjelle grounded out, pitch to first, retiring the side, and then the rain.

The Thieves gained a 2 to 0 lead in the 1st inning when Drees, striking out on a breaking curve, reached first base when the ball bounded away from the catcher. A wild pitch moved Drees to second base. Gilbertson bounced out, short to first, with Drees advancing to third, and on Al Buness' low throw to third base, Drees came in to score. Rude whiffed. Mansfield, a newcomer to the Thieves' roster, beat out a hit to shortstop, and scored when Leslie lined a triple into right field.

The Thieves increased their lead to 3 to 0 in the 2nd inning on doubles by Hjelle and Drees.

The Eldred nine, who clubbed out nine hits in the abbreviated tilt, scored two runs in the 2nd inning on a single by Haugild, a sacrifice by Fenno, a double by Bill Hulst, and an error on Buness' ground ball.

Eldred knotted the game at 3-all in the 4th inning on an infield hit by Bill Hulst, a sacrifice by Russ Sylvester, and a fielder's choice. Drury in right field came up with an important play when, with runners on first and second, two out, Dave Munson drove a single into right field. Drury fielded the ball quickly and threw a strike into catcher Larry Gilbertson who made the tag on Buness at the plate.

Prowlers 10, Fertile 1 in Game Friday Night

The Prowlers supported Harley Drees' thirteen-strikeout and three-hit pitching with near-errorless defense and a thirteen-hit attack, including five doubles, as coach Ralph Skay's club defeated coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile Falcons, 10 to 1, in a interdistrict baseball game played at Fertile on Friday night.

The Falcons gained an early lead when they tallied a run in the last half of the 1st inning. Jerry Olson, the lead-off batter, was walked; Rod Olson popped out to third baseman Arlan Hjelle, but then Wayne Nelson slammed a hard-hit ground ball to shortstop, and when the ball, on an erratic bounce, rolled out into left field, Jerry Olson came in with the score.

The Prowlers added a three-run cluster in the 4th inning on doubles by Drees and Saurdiff, plus a pair of Fertile errors. A single run in the 6th inning, on singles by Saurdiff and Hjelle and Weckwerth's ground-out, closed out the game's scoring.

Wilson Bros., vs. Oen's Appliance.
Northern Chevrolet vs. Times.
The Pharmacy vs. Disse's Optimists.
Coast-to-Coast vs. Starckow Clinic.

The Thief River Trap Shoot league began match competition for the 1959 season last week, and the Oen's Appliance, Dr. Jim Disse, and Coast-to-Coast squads marked up victories. The best match of the evening proved to be a contest between the Wilson Bros. and the Northern Chevrolet, and the result was a standoff, with each team marking up a 119 score.

Roy Peterson of the Wilson's scored a perfect 25. Several shooters posted 24's, among them Cy Schantzen of the Wilson's, Dr. Jim Disse, Don Olson of the Coast-to-Coast, Erling Torgerson and Walt Anderson of the Northern Chevrolet, Hank Storhaug and Jerry Amundgaard of the Oen's Appliance, and Tony Dorn of the Pharmacy.

A number of shooters chalked up 25's on a handicap basis: Jim Rude of the Times had 21-6; the Coast-to-Coast had three 25's, with Olson having a 24-3, Walt Fisher a 23-3, and Darrell Wood a 21-8; the Wilson Bros. had a pair of 25's with Roy Peterson's 25 and Orville Feragen a 17-8; the Northern Chevrolet carded two 25's in Torgerson's 24-3 and Anderson's 24-4; Oen's Appliance came in with two 25's in Storhaug's 24-4 and Jerry Amundgaard's 21-1; while the Pharmacy had one 25 in Dorn's 24-1.

To Remove Debris in River Tuesday

TRF Water Sports Club Sponsors Cleanup Bee

With the fishing and boating season about to open, members of the Water Sports club of Thief River Falls will make the river a safer place for boating with a project which they will undertake Tuesday, May 12.

Beginning at 6:30 p.m., club members will use their boats to patrol the river for the removal of floating debris which has already caused expensive damage to motors. Lines will be attached to tree limbs, logs and other hazards which will be towed ashore for disposal.

According to Stanley Gibson, president of the club, members will meet at Boy Scout park where refreshments will be served after the cleanup bee.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

We'll Pick the Rams

With the permission and cooperation of the weatherman, the Northwest conference track and field meet will be held here on Tuesday afternoon, with the first event scheduled to start at 1:30 P.M.

The tournament had been originally slated for last Tuesday afternoon, but the weather closed in and forced a postponement.

And it appears that coach Ambrose Kramer's Roseau Rams, making their debut as a member of the Northwest conference, will make their bow in a championship manner, for the Rams are rated as the tournament favorite.

Last Friday, in the Beaver Relays at Bemidji, the Rams rolled up a total of 32¼ points to win the Class A title. And as an indication of Roseau's squad strength in comparison to the other Northwest conference teams we will state that Crookston Central scored 14¾ points, East Grand Forks 8½ points, Bemidji 5 points, and Thief River Falls 3 points. The Prowler points were collected on a third place finish in the sprint medley relay.

Correction

In commenting on last week's 10 to 8 win by coach Jack Boyer's Prowlers over the Bemidji Lumberjacks in a match played over the local course, we stated that Phil Jorgenson had carded a 105. Phil has corrrected us on his score, stating that he came in with a 95. Golf is tough enough without having a scribbler add ten strokes to a golfer's score!

Last Friday, the Prowlers participated in a twelve-team tournament— Grand Forks Central, Detroit Lakes, Fargo Central, Bemidji, Crookston, Hawley, Coleraine, Grand Forks St. James, Walker, Thief River Falls, Mahnomen, and East Grand Forks—played over the Birchmont course in Bemidji. The Detroit Lakes squad won the title with a fine 332 total, edging out the Grand Forks Central squad by one stroke. The Prowlers, with a 377 total, finished in tenth place.

People Urged to Get Polio Shots to Guard Against the Disease

While the Thief River Falls community has been fortunate the past four years or so in escaping a serious incidence of polio, there is no assurance that the good luck will continue indefinitely, Dr. H. Paul Wendt, city health officer, reminded local citizens today.

He called attention to the advisability of men, women and children taking advantage of the protection afforded by obtaining three inoculations of Salk vaccine.

As evidence of the effectiveness of the full series of vaccine shots, Dr. Wendt cited the case of Detroit, Michigan, U.S. city hardest hit by polio in 1958.

Doctors analyzed 580 of the 590 polio cases in Detroit last year to late October. Among 265 victims who had received some Salk vaccine, there were 70 paralytic cases and two deaths. Among 316 victims who had not received any vaccine, there were 202 paralytic cases and 17 deaths.

As for those who got shots:

There were 69 cases of polio among persons who had received one shot. Slightly more than half were paralytic.

There were 73 cases among persons who had received two shots. Only about one-third got paralytic polio.

There were 114 cases among persons who had received three shots. Only one-tenth were paralytic.

There were nine cases among persons who had received four shots — the full course of three plus a booster. In this group, none had paralytic polio.

Tree Farm at Park Rapids Destroyed

Arson Suspected in Costly Badoura Blaze

Guilty or not of turning wildfire loose you lose. Wildfire in forests, grasslands and tree farms has no respect for anyone. More than a million dollars in fire losses may result this spring according to latest reports. It is the worst spring fire season Minnesotans have known.

The Northwest Paper company of Cloquet lost a tree farm containing pine timber worth several hundred thousand dollars in the worst fire of the season near Badoura southeast of Park Rapids. William MacConnachie, manager of lands and timber for the paper company, reported that the company lost the best timber that they own when the tree farm burned. Fire investigators reported finding evidence that an arsonist may have caused the fire.

More thousands of acres have burned from malicious and careless fire that got ou of hand this spring. Governor Orville L. Freeman said, "The greatest immediate threat to our forests and tree farms is fire. We are making impressive progress in fire prevention. General progress can be indicated by figures which summarize fire damage. Since the inauguration of the Keep Minnesota Green program in Minnesota 15 years ago there has been an average of 925 fires annually which have burned an average of 52,505 acres of which 15,137 acres were timber.

"In the 15 year period preceding organization of Keep Minnesota Green there was an annual average of 1,602 fires burning 215,543 acres of which 77,207 acres were timber. At the present time the state division of forestry is giving fire protection to over 17 million acres of state, county and private land."

Families Can Enjoy Safe Boating

More and more American families are purchasing pleasure boats these days. Present trends indicate that the family boat will soon join the family car as standard equipment. Because of new developments in boat building, women are becoming increasingly enthusiastic about the water. Today boats are no longer just part of the equipment for all male fishing trips.

A factor that has greatly influenced the mother of the family toward this type of family recreation, is the increased safety features incorporated in boat manufacture. A woman looks at a family boat more from the standpoint of safety than speed and lines. No woman wants to trust her loved ones on the water in any craft that does not have the most advanced safety features. Today she can insist on the purchase of a boat that she can trust.

Many boats, she has found, have rigid polystyrene foam fitted beneath the seats. Each cubic foot of this material can support 55 pounds in the water. For example, a boat built to carry four people and an outboard is unsinkable when equipped with this flotation material. This same rigid plastic is also being used extensively as a buoyancy material for rafts and docks.

Slight Decline in Hog Prices Is Seen

'U' M. Experts Foresees Lower Prices by Summer

Prices farmers receive for hogs this summer and fall will most likely take a drop, but the decline isn't apt to be as severe as it was in 1955.

Current outlook, according to a University of Minnesota extension man, is for hog prices $3 to $4 lower than last fall, when prices ranged from $16 to $18 per hundred.

But farmers can look for better prices than 1955 for several reasons, according to Kenneth Egertson, livestock marketing specialist.

First, he says, population growth since 1955 has been enough to take care of a larger total pork supply than we had that year. Second, there is less per capita beef in supply now than four years ago, meaning less competition from beef.

Third, Egertson says farmers are producing and marketing hogs in more orderly fashion than ever before.

For the immediate future, Egertson expects hog prices to move up until late June, but not as high as 1958 levels. Highest prices will probably be near $18 or $19 per hundred—compared to $24 in summer, 1958.

According to surveys of producers' intentions, hog men in the nine leading hog states expect to farrow about 9 per cent more sows in the March-June period than at the same time last year. This, Egertson says, means more hogs will go to market after the seasonal low in marketings of late June or early July—about 10 to 15 per cent more than in 1958.

Even though prices will remain relatively favorable, it will still profit farmers in the long-run to top off hogs at acceptable market weights, Egertson says.

He feels the real critical period for the present hog cycle will be in 1960, when the supply of pork will reach a peak. Prices will most likely go substantially below 1959 levels unless farrowings do not increase as much as now expected.

Plans Are Set for National Parley of Legion in State

Convention to Be Held in Minneapolis During Week of August 22-27

The American Legion has taken on the job of promoting Minnesota's vacationland and resort area nationwide in connection with the 41st annual National convention in the Twin Cities Aug. 22-27.

The more than 2,700,000 members of the world's largest veterans organization are already being urged to "plan your vacation to include the convention," according to national convention headquarters in Minneapolis.

Minnesota will get story, picture and feature treatment in some 950 Legion publications, headed by the American Legion Magazine, monthly periodical with nearly three million circulation, which spotlighted state fishing in its April issue.

In order to coincide with the state's summer vacation season, the Legion is opening its convention earlier than at any time during its 40-year history. There have been only three previous August conventions. The conclaves are traditionally held in September or October.

About 100,000 visiting Legionnaires and their families are expected to be in Minnesota for the convention.

Hospital, Nursing Home Fires Topic

To Be Discussed May 19 at Crookston Workshop

Fire prevention and control will be the subject of a seminar to be held at Crookston city hall at 1 p.m. Tuesday, May 19.

This workshop is one of a series designed for nursing homes, boarding care homes, and homes for the aged. It is sponsored by the Minnesota department of health and arranged by Miss Virginia Brouns, R.N., nursing consultant.

The program will cover prevention of fire in nursing homes or hospitals, followed by a movie "Fire in Your Hospital." Following coffee, the second half of the afternoon will tell what to do in case of fire and the use of fire equipment. The subject will be discussed by Clarence Cherry, deputy fire marshall and William Herbert, fire chief at Crookston.

Administrators, operators, and nurses from nursing homes, homes for the aged and boarding care homes will attend. Interested persons who work in schools or other public buildings are invited also.

How About A Price Cut?

Big Steel and Big Labor have started their talks about a new labor contract. For the first time in more than a decade the steel industry appears to be determined to hold the line against higher labor costs. Since the 1946 strike settlement there has been a continuing spiral of wage and price increases. We now have a 48c dollar. Economists tell us that at the rate we are drifting, in another ten years our dollar probably will be worth only 35c.

The terms of settlement of the wage dispute in the steel industry are especially important because they will set the pattern for wage scales in other industries. As steel goes, so goes inflation. And that is why President Eisenhower has stated that the government may be forced to intervene if the nation is threatened with another round of wage and price increases.

It is unfortunate that the final settlement of labor disputes of such far-reaching consequences are left entirely to the representatives of labor and management. Too often, in recent years, Big Business and Big Labor have settled their differences without regard for the public interest. This public-be-damned attitude has brought temporary gains for labor and industry but neither labor nor industry will enjoy any permanent benefits by wage and price increases that place our production at a competitive disadvantage with the production of other nations.

And we already are feeling the pains of such competitive disadvantages. For the first time in many years we are importing more than we are exporting. Last year $2,300,000,000 of our gold reserves left the country in payment of our unfavorable trade balance. In the last two weeks, the New York Times reports, we lost $179 million in gold or more than in the entire first three months.

Reports the Times:

> "In any case, some major figures in the international financial world have concluded that it is imperative that the United States not allow any resumption of inflation, on international payments grounds alone. Some believe that the steel settlement this summer will have a major bearing on the situation, for both practical and psychological reasons.
> "The gold outflow has also reinforced the determination within the Government to use the Government's fiscal and monetary weapons—balanced budgets and "tight money"—to prevent renewed inflation."

The situation has our Canadian neighbors worried. Commenting on the international trends the Toronto Globe and Mail comes up with these conclusions:

> "The U.S. trading position is a reflection of the increasing competition in world markets. The manufacturers of Western Europe and Japan can undersell many American-made products anywhere in the world—including United States itself. Quality is comparable and delivery often better.
> "Simultaneously with this penetration of the American market, the efficient new foreign industries have been moving in on traditional U.S.-export markets, with their lower-priced goods. As a result, American exports declined 10 per cent last year compared with 1957.
> "All of this underscores the fact that the U.S. has built up a high-cost economy which is fast losing its ability to compete with the rest of the world. The current outflow of gold is a sober warning that U.S. management must cut costs and increase efficiency, that U.S. labor must expect only those wage increases which are justified by increased productivity. It is a warning to Canada, as well. We are tied to the dollar, we share its ups and downs. And we, far more than the U.S., must live by foreign trade."

As the Globe and Mail points out, we have "built up a high-cost economy which is fast losing its ability to compete with the rest of the world," and we have a few adjustments to make that are not going to be pleasant.

It isn't only Big Business and Big Labor that are to blame. Government, at all levels, is responsible for much of the difficulty. Our need for cutting costs and increasing efficiency extends into such fields as health service and education.

We have been nipping at the inflation lence an unpleasant symptom of a hangover bottle for many years. Every time we exper- we pour ourselves another slug of the same poison. The sobering-up process is not going to be easy.

The first step in a return to honesty and straight-thinking certainly is to put a stop to inflation. The most reasonable solution for the labor dispute in the steel industry would be to hold the line on wages and reduce the price of nails and barb wire. Just a small cut in the price of steel would be a most encouraging development, a move in the direction of a more competitive economy and increased employment. A small cut in the price of steel would be the equivalent of a wage boost for every American.

Lower prices will be much healthier for all of us than higher wages.

Suits Us

We are satisfied with the outcome of the Morse-Luce argument. Senator Morse did a good job of discrediting himself. Mrs. Clare Booth Luce will not be our ambassador to Brazil. Suits us.

Our objection to the appointment of Mrs. Luce is not based on any lack of respect for her personally. The appointment was objectionable because it was political, as too many such appointments, made by the present as well as preceding administrations, have been.

Our diplomatic service is not going to attract the type of career men it needs as long as top positions are passed out as political plums. Better that top positions be filled by selection from the ranks of those who are qualified by training and experience.

The British do a fairly good job of keeping party politics out of their foreign service.

Sales Tax Out

The St. Paul Pioneer Press thinks Governor Freeman waited much too long before proclaiming that he would veto a sales tax bill. "It would have saved a lot of legislators' time, taxpayers' money and everybody's temper" if he had made his announcement early in the session according to the St. Paul paper, which states:

> "Why this announcement was delayed until Monday and well into the special session is a mystery that his statement does not remove. The reasons he gives against a sales tax were just as valid three weeks ago or for that matter three months ago, as they are today.
> "If those considerations are controlling now, they were present with equal compulsion at all times since the regular session began in January. His explanation that he wanted to give the proponents of a sales tax a chance to introduce a bill simply does not explain why he kept this intention under his hat all this time.
> "Since Governor Freeman would veto a sales tax if one were sent to his desk, that solution of Minnesota's onerous financial problem is out of the question for the next biennium, and it would be a waste of time for members of this Legislature to give it another thought. And with it must also go any hope of giving substantial relief for oppressive tax burdens or improvement to the business and industrial climate of the state.
> "These things having been established by the governor's statement, the next business before the Legislature is to see what kind of a financial package can be found that will meet the needs of the state for the next two years with the least possible burden on already overloaded taxpayers."

Study of Language

(New York Times)

A high school girl in New Jersey has touched off an interesting discussion by writing to more than a hundred prominent persons to ask an evaluation of the study of Latin. Almost all the replies, including those of the Vice President, two Supreme Court justices and several college presidents, gave a warm endorsement to the usefulness of classical language study.

At this time the question is far from merely academic. We are in a period of vastly expanding world-wide relationships. What we do and what we spend in doing it are under constant scrutiny and frequent criticism. Obviously we wish to do a better job with the resources at our command.

The critics, both sympathetic and otherwise, are agreed that one of the drawbacks to our effectiveness in various enterprises is our lack of adequate language foundation. Our professional Foreign Service recognized this years ago and has made language training an essential part of preparation for any overseas service. Now, however, our representatives abroad have multiplied to such an extent that adequate training is often difficult, if not impossible.

It is logical, therefore, to ask our schools and colleges to put fresh emphasis on language study and to give such assistance to them as may be needed in special cases. We have not hesitated to cry for more instruction in mathematics and physics under certain pressures. We should be no less eager to provide other equally useful tools.

Minnesota June Dairy Month Leaders Named

★ ★ ★ "Twin Oak Lue" meets Princess Kay of the Milky Way ★ ★ ★

Mr. Kennedy
Chairman

BIG FOUR in Minnesota's 1959 June Dairy Month campaign are pictured here. Ron Kennedy, vice president of F. H. Peavey & Co., Minneapolis grain and milling firm, is state chairman. Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, wife of Minnesota's governor, is Minnesota chairwoman. Mascot cow of the month-long dairy foods promotion and salute to dairy farmers is "Twin Oak Lue," a purebred Milking Shorthorn owned by Hugo Ziegler of Green Isle. Getting acquainted with "Lue" prior to the May 26 campaign kickoff is pretty Diane Schroeder of Kindal, reigning Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by
Orville L. Freeman

A young father that I know is going to have to increase the amount of money he spends to support his family, and he is overjoyed at the prospect. He is happy because the reason for his increased expenditures is a new, young son. He knows that he can't support three children for the same amount that was adequate for two. He knows that his bills for milk and groceries and food and medical care will all be increased. But he is happy and proud, nevertheless, because he has high hopes for the future of his son.

More Children

Minnesota, too, has more children to take care of than it had two years ago. Our school attendance increases by 20,000 each year. It costs more money to provide them with teachers, with classrooms, with playgrounds, and with parks. And it will be a long time before these children will become taxpayers. But I can not believe that the people of Minnesota really begrudge these children the extra cost for their education. I believe that we are proud of them and that we have high hopes for their future.

The Legislature and Taxes

I try to avoid controversial topics in these columns, even when controversies are at their height. Now that there exists a real controversy over taxes as the Legislature meets in special session, I should like to remind the people that—underlying this controversy—there are basic facts about which I hope there is no serious disagreement. The paramount fact is this:— that whatever may be said in the heat of controversy, — whatever may be said about spending, — it does cost more to provide more services for more people. Every state in the nation is facing this problem.

The Senate and Appropriations

Headlines are making much of the fact that there exists differences between the Senate and the House, and between the Senate and the Governor. But these differences, fortunately, do not really mean that the Senate would refuse to spend more money. In the years past the "Conservative" Senate has usually voted more money for appropriations than the "Liberal" House. And in the weeks just passed the Senate voted appropriations amounting to 70 million dollars more than they did two years ago. At this writing it seems as if they are raising that figure.

How to Raise the Money

I believe that it is important for the people to realize that the real controversy is about how to raise the money. I know that there are few people who think we should curtail our services for the aged and our education for the young, but I believe their numbers are indeed very few. Few elected officials are willing to suggest any specific cuts in services.

Therefore it would be most serious if we should permit a controversy over how to raise the money to result in failure to raise enough to maintain services. Let's keep these matters in their proper perspective. As Minnesotans I believe we all want to improve, rather than curtail, the educational opportunities we offer our children. I believe we want to improve our services for the ill and the handicapped.

I hope we can disagree about the merits of various methods we might use to reach these goals in a manner and on a level of mature responsibility as citizens in a democracy, so that this disagreement will not jeopardize the goals on which we all agree.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA contact representative at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—I have a dental condition which resulted from an injury on maneuvers while in service but for which I am not entitled to receive compensation. Is there any deadline in my case for applying for outpatient dental treatment?

A—No. Veterans whose service-connected noncompensable dental conditions or disabilities resulted from service injuries may apply at any time and receive as many treatments as are needed.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran going to school part-time under the G.I. Bill. To help me plan my school program to get in courses I need for graduation credits, please tell me how long a time I have to complete my training.

A—You have eight years from the date of your discharge to complete training under the Korean GI Bill. But you may not train beyond Jan. 31, 1965.

Q—Because of financial difficulties I'm finding it hard to make the payments on my World War Two permanent plan GI life insurance. Could I change to some permanent plan with a lower premium?

A—Yes. That is possible. For example, if you are now paying on a 20-year endowment policy you could change to ordinary life. This is different from the wording on your policy which says no change is possible. However, the law governing the wording on your policy has been changed.

Q—I received a monthly compensation check from VA for a disability incurred in Korea service. Does this automatically entitle me to vocational rehabilitation training?

A—No. The law requires that a disabled veteran be in need of vocational training to overcome the handicap of his disability. If need should be established in your case, you would be permitted to train.

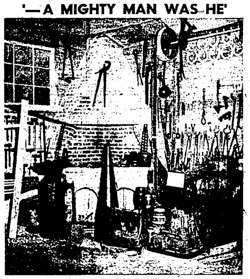
'—A MIGHTY MAN WAS HE'



There are many young people today who have never seen a blacksmith shop! But not many years ago it was one of the busiest places in town.

Shoeing horses was a basic part of the "smithy's" job. But he also made or repaired wagon wheels, made clevises, singletrees, neckyokes and sharpened plow blades, to mention a few of his regular services.

Each blacksmith had a forge and a bellows for heating the coals to white hot for shaping the iron and steel he used. His anvil was the emblem of his trade and his strong arm was trained and skillful.

PTA To Meet May 13

The regular meeting of the Middle River PTA will be held one week later than usual on Wednesday, May 13. At this time Mr. H. E. Weir will present his beginners band in concert as the PTA program.

Scheduled for this meeting, the last of the current school year will be the annual election of officers. The band mothers will also have their annual meeting for the election of officers and any other business which may come up before the group.

High School Band Tours Canada

The Middle River high school band members spent last Friday and Saturday at Winnipeg and other Manitoba points for their annual band concert tour. The musicians loaded into busses driven by the bus drivers, Reuben Engevik and Juel Aase and accompanied by Mr. Weir, their instructor, and Supt. Robert Prickett. From Neche they crossed the border into Canada and into the town of Gretna where the band played an hour concert in Gretna's fine, new school building. The Gretna students brought a fine lunch which they shared with the band. At about 12:30 they left the cheering students of Gretna and came to their next stop at Altona at 1:00 p.m. where the band was welcomed with greater enthusiasm. Rina Griffin and Kathryn Qualey played solos Rena and Jeanne Bagley took part in a year book exchange ceremony with the Student Council officers of Altona school at Altona. Larry Holmes caused considerable excitement by his great height and his magnificent performance on the bong bongs.

The band arrived in Winnipeg about 5:30 p.m. Thursday. Three or four Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce members were waiting at the Marlborough Hotel. Without letting us wash up we were ushered into the dining room where they were served a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. The meals were paid for by the Loblaws, who were opening a super market. The band paid for the meal by playing a half hour concert on the porch of the supermarket building. The band held the attention of quite a large group of listeners. When the band arrived back at the hotel, they received the sad news of Jimmy Kezar's mothers sudden death. Mr. Weir brought Jimmy and Janice Prosser back to Middle River Friday night and the band spent the night and Saturday in Winnipeg.

The band members, the drivers and Mr. Prickett thought the trip was the best one the band ever had. The tour was a fine climax to a good band year and a fitting reward to the fine students who make up the personnel of the band.

a peek at THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

OUR morals, apparently, are going from bad to worse . . . A recent article in the entertainment weekly Billboard, stated that radio and TV censors have become more tolerant and broad-minded about the lyric content of songs . . . Many of the spicier tunes from Broadway shows, previously banned, are now being aired . . . Several songs which once had to have lyric changes are now being heard in their original form . . . For example, Cole Porter's "I Get a Kick Out of You" once had to have a line changed from "Some Get a Kick From Cocaine" to "Some Like Perfume From Spain" . . . The song is now being performed with the original line.

Several of the songs from "Annie Get Your Gun," "Oklahoma," and other shows which were once considered too racy are now being performed . . . The relaxation of censorship is attributed to the fact that the public no longer considers many of the lines and songs offensive . . . Wonder how the public was polled?

PLATTER CHATTER

CAPITOL: This company is going all out for stereophonic albums and they've just issued some "music" for record libraries . . . One is a stereo concert by that terrific Kingston Trio . . . including their best-selling single "Tom Dooley," this one contains such other tasty bits as "They Called the Wind Maria," "When the Saints Go Marching In," "Raspberries, Strawberries," "Banua" and others . . . Then there's Dean Martin's "Sleep Warm" directed by Frank Sinatra, no less . . . Songs include such dreamy items as "Dream," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "Good Night Sweetheart," "Sleepy Time Gal," "All I Do Is Dream of You," etc.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

The Shy Child

Mary was a shy, quiet girl of ten. Her teachers were very fond of her, because she did as she was told and was no trouble at all. The little girl usually played alone, and at least from outer appearances, seemed quite happy. Because of her quietness, her needs were overlooked. Her teachers did not realize that Mary had a problem and needed help. The other children in her class mistook her shyness to "stand-offishness" and so had nothing to do with her. This made Mary withdraw into herself still more.

For years her mother had hoped that Mary would outgrow her shyness. Fortunately she now realized that she would have to help and give extra love and affection to build up Mary's self-confidence. I feel the things this mother did to get at the problem were very sensible, indeed. For one thing she arranged dancing lessons for her daughter, because that was one thing Mary was interested in. Secondly, she arranged to have a few neighborhood girls her daughter's age for an informal get-together. She turned the kitchen over to them and let them bake cookies and prepare coffee. Working together in an informal atmosphere, made them all feel at ease with each other. Gradually Mary started "coming out of her shell" and in time became more and more friendly and out-going. To be sure all this took time and a great deal of encouragement.

There are many causes of shyness in children. A feeling of inadequacy is one of the most common ones. A child may lack confidence to initiate contact with other children. Such a youngster needs his parents' love and trust and opportunities to build up social skills.

Sometimes a sensitive child, who is coaxed to "Come and say 'How do you do' to Mrs. White" may become extremely shy. At other times we may, without thinking, thrust our little oddler into the arms of a friend (who may be a stranger to the child), with the suggestion, "Give Aunty a big kiss." A child needs time to adjust to new persons and situations. We need to go slow in encouraging their social development. If we are friendly and out-going, the chances are our children will be, too.

AG PRODUCTION CONTINUES TO GAIN

"Agriculture is in the midst of the most extensive and far-reaching technological revolution it has ever experienced," says the Federal Reserve Review. "In the short period since 1940 crop yields per acre have increased 40 per cent, productivity per animal breeding unit 30 per cent, and output per farm worker has more than doubled. While this is not the first agricultural revolution, it is one of unprecedented rate and duration. The explosion in productivity was triggered by the vast expansion in demand following the outbreak of war in 1939, and to date it continues unabated." Rising income led to new investments and techniques, while food processing and distribution have made technological advances, all of which add up to continued advancement. Animal productivity is pointed up by a husky sextet of lambs born recently on the Ed Welckle farm near Hanley Falls—completely baffling veterinarians and all concerned.

MORE PROOF...it pays to feed PURINA

"Our feed costs are under 13.3¢ a dozen"

These young folks have added a good extra family income by spending two or three hours a day with their laying flock of 1,055 layers. They're the Kenneth Kingsburys of Mapleton, Minnesota.

Last November and December the flock was laying at a clip of over 76%, and when visited in January seemed headed for a strong 80%-plus rate.

The carefully kept Kingsbury records show that the growing cost was 55.5¢ per bird. The figures also revealed it was taking only 13.3¢ worth of feed to make a dozen eggs.

SCANNING THE NEWS

A MATHEMATICAL congress in Moscow three years ago set the stage for a joint U.S.-Soviet Union venture which will be realized soon in the completion of a Russian-English dictionary of the mathematical science in the U.S. and its English-Russian counterpart in Russia.

The U. S. half of the project is expected to be finished in June. Some 30 compilers at the University of Michigan are working under the direction of A. J. Lohwater, associate professor of mathematics, who is preparing a first draft of the dictionary. It will contain about 12,000 words.

Lohwater, who knows Russian, was one of the first two American mathematicians to visit Russia since before World War II when he addressed the All Soviet Mathematical Congress in Moscow during 1956.

Among the non-technical matters discussed were questions of scientific exchange and increased contacts between scientists.

Says Lohwater: "One possibility was the collaboration on Russian-English and English-Russian scientific dictionaries which could simultaneously fill a serious need and bring together scientists of both countries."

Until World War II, he explains, Soviet scientists generally wrote in either French or German—both understood by most American scientists. After the war, however, the Russians began using their native language. "The number of translations, most of them made long after publication, were so few that exchange of information between U. S. and Soviet scientists left much to be desired," Lohwater said.

"American scientists must be able to read Russian if they are to know what the Soviets are saying in their papers. In this respect, the dictionaries will be extremely useful," he adds.

Before leaving Russia, Lohwater made tentative plans concerning the dictionary with the Soviets. On his return, he enlisted the support of S. H. Gould, executive editor of the Mathematical Reviews. After two years of communication and paper work, the two men visited Russia last year and negotiated a working agreement with the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

Lohwater, upon his return, was given a grant by the National Science Foundation to finance part of the dictionary study. Work began in November, after the U-M mathematician recruited 30 workers, all well acquainted with the Russian language. The group, which includes European refugees and advanced students with Slavic backgrounds, had to be trained in the compilation of mathematical words.

Lohwater expects the Russian-English and English-Russian dictionary to be published in 1960.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. L. A. Bress, Cincinnati, Ohio: I remember the old-time wash machine when I lived in Price Hill as a small child on a farm which my father rented for $20.00 a month.

We had pumps and wells on this farm to get our water. We children helped carry the water in by buckets so mother could heat it up on a wood stove.

When the water was hot enough, mother filled the old wooden wash machine and my two sisters and I would take turns pulling the lever on top—back and forth—until our arm got tired, then it was the next girl's turn.

We had lots of fun and good times, along with the bad and tragic ones, as we three girls were very active.

In winter, the three of us girls went sled riding. Sometimes our uncle would join in and we would stay out until we nearly froze. We'd go in and mother would get us warm again and then we would go out again.

We loved it.

This was about 50 years ago but the memories are so fresh it only seems like yesterday.

We moved from this farm when they put a road through the land. We often walked back to see how the old neighborhood was—we could still see the big old oak trees beneath which we so often played. Now the trees are gone and there are houses everywhere.

We all enjoyed this old farm very much.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Conservation is a family affair. That's the motto of the Marsten Madsen family near Arco. According to Lincoln county agent Arnold Claassen, the Madsens have adopted these conservation measures since moving on their 240-acre farm in 1947: a better crop rotation, heavy use of fertilizer, waterways, 4-H conservation projects and wildlife protection. Carsten this year was a regional winner in the farmer-sportsman contest, has been active in pheasant raising and predator control, in conjunction with the Arco Sportsman's club.

Corn Yields from a terraced field were above average for the area last year for Cliff Pieper, Lismore, a cooperator in the Nobles county soil conservation district. Why? To a great extent because of terraces, Pieper says. He used the Nobles SCD terracing machine to construct the terraces in fall, 1957. He plans to do more terracing this year.

Wheel-track planting is a four-barreled help to Vince Cain, cooperator in the Swift county soil conservation district. According to Edwin G. Johnson, SCS conservationist at Benson, Cain lists these four advantages of the practices: First, it saves several trips over the field, since corn is planted directly in wheel tracks on freshly-plowed but undisked soil; second, only one cultivation is necessary; third, soil is in better condition at the summer end; fourth, costs were lower while yields were as high as under conventional procedure.

Minnesota farmers in 1958 used 14 per cent more fertilizer than they did a year earlier. Yet, according to W. P. Martin, soils department head at the University of Minnesota, much state land is still going fertilizer-hungry. He says fertilizer is one of the best tools farmers have to beat the cost-price squeeze thru more efficient production. Research shows a dollar invested in fertilizer can easily return $3 to $5 in increased profit.

The WORLD OUTDOORS

by MIKE BENNETT

Recently, the author was having good luck with a certain lure in Elkhorn Creek, one of Kentucky's favorite bass streams. But the Elkhorn is quite rocky, sometimes tough on lures.

This particular day, despite what some authorities say, the black bass seemed to want only a certain color of the lure they were favoring. This was fine with me until I lost one that hung into a rock in deep water and another to a bass that broke my light leader against the rough edges of an underwater ledge.

"I've got another one," my fishing companion volunteered, as he opened up one of the biggest tackle boxes I had ever seen. "It's in here somewhere," and he proceeded to rummage about. After five minutes, he still hadn't found it. I hopped into the car, dashed up to the general store up the road and was back with two lures in a jiffy. My friend was still looking. He never did find it, not that day. But declares he has one, and promises to show it to me if it ever works its way to the top of his tackle box.

I can't deny that my friend is a good fisherman. He catches his share, every time. But I do think he has "excess baggage" with him when he carries a tackle box that contains so many lures he couldn't possibly use them all in one day—and that is so crowded he can easily spend more time looking for a lure than fishing with it.

A selection of several lures, bolstered by spares, is enough for any fishing day. These can be kept in a small tackle box that will fit into a pocket and eliminate the necessity of carrying excess baggage.

Highlighted by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe's first score since "My Fair Lady," M-G-M's 'Gigi' comes to the screen with an all-star cast. On the sofa are Leslie Caron and Louis Jourdan. Standing are Maurice Chevalier, Hermione Gingold and Eva Gabor. An Arthur Freed production, the musical was filmed largely on locations in Paris in CinemaScope and color. At the Falls Theatre starting Sunday, May 17-19.

Are You Throwing Pennies Away?

Homemakers who do not give proper care to fresh vegetables in refrigerator storage, may actually be throwing money away. When sections of lettuce, one or two green onions or leaves of salad greens have to be thrown away because they have wilted or decayed, pennies, in a way of speaking, are being thrown into the garbage can.

Proper storage of vegetables will result in good flavor when served and will minimize vitamin loss. Here are some suggestions on how to care for a number of vegetables which are used to help give meals variety and interest.

Leafy vegetables such as lettuce and cabbage should have all withered leaves, any discoloration or signs of decay, removed before storage. Never soak lettuce or greens, but simply rinse under running water and dry off excess moisture with a paper towel. Wrap carefully in transparent saran film and store in the refrigerator. This plastic wrap which molds itself around the vegetables is excellent for such foods. It helps keep natural moisture in. Also, it helps prevent transfer of odor in the case of such vegetables as onions and cucumbers. This film will aid in bringing greens to the table crisp and fresh.

Other vegetables that should be rinsed before storage are: Artichoke, asparagus, green beans, lima beans, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, carrots, cauliflower, celery, cucumber, salad greens, lettuce, green onions, peas, peppers, radishes, spinach, tomatoes and fresh turnips. In the case of peas and lima beans, they should not be shelled until ready for use. All of these vegetables after being washed, dried and wrapped in saran, should be stored in the refrigerator.
